On Wednesday evening, February 3, 1971, the Forum on National Priorities will be presenting the eminent author Seymour Melman, currently a professor at Columbia University.

The program will consist of a dress dinner in the Raymond College Great Hall at 6PM with Mr. Melman's lecture to follow at 7:30 also in the Great Hall. Following his talk Mr. Melman will answer questions from the audience.

In his address Mr. Melman will be discussing such issues as who decides technology? the priorities of technology, the limits of technology; under the general topic heading of "Technology for War or Life."

This is an excellent opportunity to hear about the much-discussed technology of our times from an expert.

We hope to see you and your friends there!

At this time the Forum would like to invite you to our next program following Mr. Melman, which will be an appearance by Alvin Toffler.

Alvin Toffler is the noted author and social critic and self-proclaimed "social futurist." He is the author of the current best seller and very talked-about book Future Shock.

Just what is future shock? Would you like to avoid having it? Would you like to find out what the future is going to be like? This will be your chance.

It's happening on February 18, 1971, 8 PM, in the Raymond Great Hall. Be sure to come; and tell your friends.

We will be in touch with you for our future programs.
Remember: Seymour Melman - Wed. Feb. 3.
Alvin Toffler - Thurs. Feb. 18.
