ARIZONA RESETLEMENT
Governor Osborn yesterday appointed a committee to study the extent of Japanese settlement in Arizona and its effects both upon the Japanese and the citizens of Arizona, disclosed the Arizona Republican, April 30.

He said that Arizona is willing to take its share of Japanese in any relocation, but declared that it is unfair to expect this state to burden itself with nearly half of the total Japanese of the nation.

The governor told Senator Hayden, Arizona's senator, that "their (evacuee) employment in this state is highly undesirable."

A YEAR AGO YESTERDAY

A year ago yesterday the little village of Arroyo Grande was evacuated. The issei and nisei in that village were a peaceable lot. They tilled their fields, tended their stores. Prior to the war, they were happy in provincial bliss. They wanted to be left alone; they cared little for the rantings of a Hitler or a Tojo. They were not much interested by nisei complexes or movements. They contributed generously to the Boy Scouts, the Red Cross, and other welfare organs.

Speaking of labor shortages TULE LAKE seems to be having her troubles too. An urgent call is out for garbage help...Volunteer blood donors are asked to report to the laboratory by the blocks. (Wonder how we work it?)

We are not alone in our woes...The PIONEER, official journal of the Amache, Colorado Project, also is sorely in need of reporters, stencil artists, mimeograph operators, and writers interested in literary work...and as one certain song goes...‘...so won't you hear my plea, and take a chance with me, etc....'

Here's a pose we found sandwiched in the TULARE FREE PRESS. Oh heartily, Oh me, I love he, and he loves she, But she ain't me, So me and he, Ain't wait.

YOUTH WEEK OBSERVATION

IMPORTANCE OF TODAY'S NISEI BOYS' GIRLS' WEEK

Youth In Future America Program Told

The Boys' and Girls' Week to be held in this center starting tomorrow brings to mind again the importance of youth, the nisei, to the future of persons of Japanese descent in this country.

In 1941, most of the isssei had been in the country more than twenty years. Their average age was 60. They were getting old. Their sons and daughters were averaging 20 years of age.

It was when the isssei were commencing to hand the reins to their offspring. They had been severely handicapped by cultural, linguistic and educational differences and anti-Oriental and alien laws. With the nisei maturing, they could foresee a brighter future, a greater security year, but more for their children's sake.

Then out of the sky a bomb dropped on Pearl Harbor, Evasion followed. The dreams, the hopes they had nurtured were shattered. The future they had conjured for their sons and daughters was lost in disillusion.

But, now, a year had sped by, a year in which evacuees have had time to readjust their perspective to greater objectively. The future is taking a clearer, a more reassuring aspect. Again the nisei is being associated with the future.

It is well then that youth is accentuated this coming week. The week will bear on added meaning here that is associated with the future. Again the nisei is being associated with the future.
