Spring Semester Debate Schedule To Be Extensive

Pacific Orators Attend National Forensic Convention; Eight Contests On Campus

Eight debates at Stockton and fourteen in other United States cities are scheduled for men and women debaters at Pacific this spring according to an announcement made by Dwayne Orton, Debate Coach. The extensive program for this semester results from the increasing interest which is being shown by student debaters and those interested in platform speaking.

Pacific's most able debaters, men or women, will be selected by Professor Orton to form a team that will attend the Convention of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity, in Wichita, Kansas, March 31 to April 4. Approximately one hundred colleges will enter the debate, extemporaneous speaking, and oratorical contests at the convention. The contests to be entered by Pacific representatives will be determined after the team is selected. This team will also debate in five cities enroute from the Convention.

Extemporaneous Debate

A special feature of the home schedule will be an extemporaneous debate with Oregon State College on the evening of March 20. The topic for this debate will be chosen at one o'clock on the day of the contest, allowing only a few hours for preparation.

The complete schedule for the spring semester is as follows:

Oregon Normal, February 18, Stockton; Fresno State, February 20, Fresno; Pomona College, February 21, Claremont; Redlands University, February 22, Redlands; Fresno State, February 26, Stockton; Santa Rosa J. C., February 28, Stockton; Santa Rosa J. C., February 28, Santa Rosa; Stan-

Katherine Case '28 Is First Pacific Aviatrix

Katherine Case '28 has the distinction of being the first College of the Pacific girl to receive a pilot's license. She became a full-fledged, licensed aviatrix February 20 when she successfully passed the examinations for Inspector W. K. Andrews of the Federal Department of Commerce.

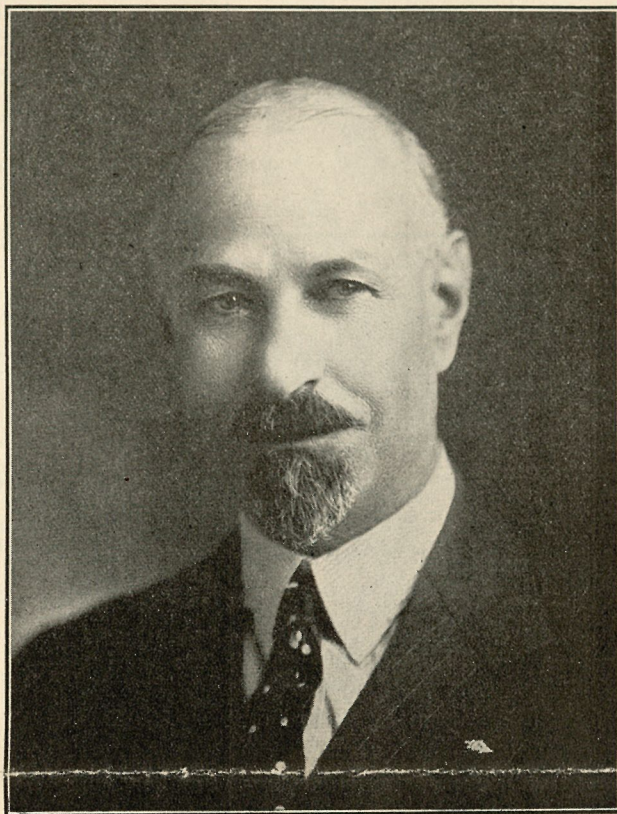

The government test includes two written examinations and one actual flying test. One of the written papers covers all the Air Traffic Rules, and the second deals with the department of commerce regulations governing the operation and inspection of aircraft and pilots. Miss Case's percentage was far above the average in these tests.

She began flying in September, and all her records are exceptionally fine. She made her first solo flight after six and a half hours of dual instruction instead of the usual ten hours.

Miss Case is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Case '97 (Katherine Norton x'97) of Reno, Nevada.

European Summer School Quota Filled; Parallel Tour Is Arranged

Synchronous with the fact that the full quota of thirty-five enrollments for Pacific's Fourth Annual European Summer School has been reached, four months before the date of sailing, comes the announcement that a supplementary, parallel tour to this first quota has been arranged and is open for enrollments. The extraordinary interest manifested in the 1930 tour, under the direction of President and Mrs. Tully C. Knoles, has necessitated this additional arrangement.

Much of the time, group two will merge with group one, the original thirty-five, and will enjoy the lectures, fellowship and sight-seeing with the earlier quota. These later members will travel on the same conveyances when accommodations are possible. Different coaches on trains and separate hotels may need to be used, but this will not preclude a definite binding of the two quotas together.

If by chance, due to illness or other cause, any members of the first group find it necessary to cancel registration, then the first ones enrolling in the second quota will be transferred to make up the list of the original thirty-five. Enquiries continue to come in and it is quite evident there would be great disappointment in many quarters if this parallel tour for later registrations were not arranged.

This year's tour will include seven European countries, the Passion Play at Oberammergau, and an extension into festive Spain.

The football trophy for the most outstanding linesman given annually by Red Busher '25 was awarded this year to Frank Heath, who will graduate in June. The committee for making this choice was President Knoles, Coach Richter, and John J. Peri, sport editor of the Stockton Record.

Rally Committee Wants Old Songs

All alumni who have copies of Pacific songs which were popular in former years are requested by the Rally Committee to send them to the Alumni Secretary immediately. This committee will issue a sixty page song book this spring and it is endeavoring to get copies of all songs ever sung on the Pacific campus.

It will have an orange binding with a Pacific tiger depicted on the cover. It will contain thirty-five pages of Pacific songs, old and new, including those which have been entered in the annual contests, but which have not placed first. The remaining pages will be filled with universally popular college songs. All music will be written in complete piano parts.

Raswell Turner, a sophomore student, is in charge of publishing the book, and he earnestly seeks the cooperation of the alumni.

Summer School Opens June 23; New Features

Spanish Language House Will Be Directed Again By Evelyn Miller

A Modern Demonstration School and a School of Social Sciences are the two outstanding new features of this year's summer school at Pacific, June 23 to August 1st, announces Dr. G. A. Werner, Dean of the summer session.

Marion O. Pease, supervisor of elementary cadet teachers will direct the Demonstration School which will include all the elementary grades. The Social Science School, under the supervision of Professor Paul Schilpp, will offer courses for social workers, administrators and teachers. The purpose of this school is to give social workers special and practical training in their field.

Courses will be offered in practically all departments, including Art, Aviation, and Music. Work in all schools and departments will be on a university basis.

Spanish School

The Spanish Language School, a successful feature of last summer, will be repeated with a larger and better program. It will again be held in one of the sorority houses with the same requirement that the students' English tongues be left outside the portals of the Spanish House. Classes, social hours, and all other activities are carried on in Spanish so that the student is afforded an opportunity to become fluent in Spanish conversation that is not possible in the average classroom. Evelyn Miller, who has spent several years in Hispanic America and Spain and speaks Spanish fluently, will again be the Social Directora.

Commencement Is Advanced To June 9

Commencement at Pacific this year will be June 9 instead of June 16. This announcement was made January 29 by President Tully C. Knoles after a meeting of the College Administration Committee. The advance in dates was necessitated by the change in time for the California Annual Conference of Methodist Ministers which will be June 10 to 16.

The California Conference has been meeting annually in September, but at the November meeting of the Board of Bishops of the Methodist Church, it was decided to hold all subsequent conferences in June. All Pacific Coast Conferences of Methodist Ministers will be held in the spring hereafter instead of the fall.

Alumni Day will be June 7 and Baccalaureate Day will be June 8. Final examinations will begin the afternoon of June 9 and will continue until June 13 according to the announced schedule.

"Alumni Afield"

A new title appears in this issue. "Alumni Afield" is the caption under which will appear sketches of Pacific alumni and former students who are doing vital pieces of the world's work. Pacific's part in training leaders looms large and ever larger.

Any section of the files in the alumni office will give a cross section of the life of places where live our graduates. Teachers, preachers, newspapermen, authors, engineers, doctors, and lawyers are but a few of those who are active in their communities.

Some of Pacific's alumni are recognized more generally than are others. Many of them are in public life, yet the general public seldom realizes that their early training was gained at California's oldest college. To acquaint our readers first, and through them, those with whom they speak, with the part Pacific plays in equipping life's leaders is one of the aims of Pacific Review's new Column—"Alumni Afield."

Commenting on Palm Springs, Mr. Hale said, "It is a beautiful place to be in the winter, because the climate is dry and delightful. It is located at the northern end of Imperial Valley, where one has the privilege of enjoying the beautiful sunrises and sunsets. The change in the tints from the gray dawn gradually changing to light blue, then pink, sometimes mixed with various shades of tan, until the heavens finally light up with the morning sunshine, and the deep shadows on the hills to the west and to the north are very interesting."

Alumni Meetings Held at Teachers' Institutes; Ten Reunions Are Held During Fall Term

Pacific alumni reunions were held during teachers' institutes at Fresno, Pacific Grove, Los Angeles and Oakland in November and December. Teachers, alumni, and friends gathered to renew associations of college days.

These meetings attracted many alumni and former students who had never attended a Pacific reunion since leaving college. These four, five other Pacific alumni gatherings in various California cities, and Homecoming at Stockton, made a total of ten alumni meetings during the fall semester.

The Fresno meeting on November 26 was a luncheon at Hotel Fresno. Paul Easterbrook '24, chairman of the affair, was assisted by Edith Gilman '23. Charles Burns '16, presided over the rally-spirited program which was opened with college songs and yells led by Herbert Ferguson '29. "Herbie" told about the Pacific-Fresno game on Thanksgiving Day at Fresno and cordially urged everyone to attend. Gerald Wallace of the Law Department addressed the group on "Pacific Progress."

Free Dinner

The reunion at Pacific Grove December 16 was the first Pacific alumni reunion held in the Monterey Bay Region. It was an evening meeting at Forest Hills Hotel, the dinner being given free of charge to the alumni by Pierce Parsons '26 and his father, proprietors of the hotel. Each member of the group donated the expected cost of the dinner and sent to the alumni secretary for the general treasury, $15.25.

Dr. John L. Burcham, executive vice-president, represented the college and spoke on "Pacific's Contribution to Education." Olive Hangar '29 entertained with a group of vocal solos.

Charles Easterbrook '27, chairman of the reunion, was elected president and Pierce Parsons, secretary, of the Pacific alumni of Monterey Bay Region. They plan to have similar meetings often.

Los Angeles Breakfast

President Tully C. Knoles was the principal speaker at the Los Angeles reunion breakfast at Hotel Alexandria December 17. His subject was "Pacific's Place in the California Educational System." Musical numbers on the program included vocal solos by Edith Knoles '25 and piano selections by Margaret Stout Reynolds '24. In response to roll call, each member of the group commented on his days

Social Science School Organized on Campus

A School of Social Sciences at Pacific opened with the Spring semester. Professor Paul A. Schilpp, head of the philosophy department, has been appointed chairman of the school which includes the departments of economics and sociology, education and psychology, history and political science, and philosophy. The heads of the departments involved constitute the executive committee of the school.

The major in social science is especially intended to serve the needs and requirements of two groups of students: first, those who expect to be teachers of social science in high school, and second, those who are training for social work and social service. It is not restricted to these two groups, however, but may be chosen by any regular student who feels that this major will meet his need.

'29 Charles Gagnon won the first tournament of the spring season at the Stockton Golf and Country Club with gross scores of 71 and 78, the first score being one under par. Gagnon is a six handicap man.

Pi Gamma Mu Holds Initiation Breakfast

California Alpha Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, National Honorary Social Science Fraternity, held an initiation breakfast January 11th in the College Dining Hall. The five new members who received keys of the fraternity were: Mrs. Fred L. Farley, Professor Dwayne Orton, Debate Coach; Bernita Salmon and Dorothy Funabiki, senior students; Mrs. Thelma Pugh and Gordon Knoles '29.

Dr. Tully C. Knoles addressed the members and Professor Robert C. Root, National Counselor of Pi Gamma Mu and secretary of the Pacific Chapter, conducted the initiation ceremonies.

California Alpha, which was the first chapter of Pi Gamma Mu in this state, was organized in November, 1924, the same year that the fraternity was nationally established. It now has a membership of forty-six students and eighty-eight faculty members. Qualifications for membership are based on high scholarship and interest in Social Science. There are one hundred chapters of Pi Gamma Mu in the United States with over three thousand members.

Pacific faculty members and students who were present included: President Tully C. Knoles, Dr. W. Carleton Wood, Dr. J. W. Harris, Dr. Arthur Bonner; Professors Robert C. Root, Paul A. Schilpp, Dwayne Orton, C. E. Corbin, Luther Sharp; Misses Margaret Anderson '27, Lorraine Knoles '21, Birdie E. Mitchell '27, Bernice Fiola '28, Clara Morris '27, Dorothy Funabiki, Bernita Salmon, Mrs. Thelma Pugh, Mrs. Fred L. Farley, Messrs. George Knoles '28, Gordon Knoles '29, and Gilbert Collyer.

Russell Bodley Composes Eight Piano Number

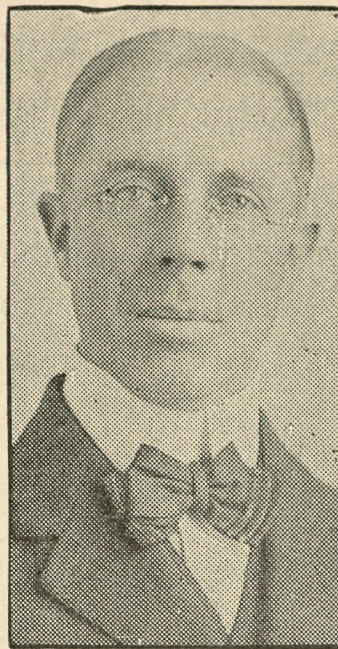

An eight piano number, the first of its kind on the Pacific stage, was the outstanding event on the program of the fourth faculty ensemble recital last month.

Although each of the three numbers was well received by a very appreciative and large audience, the greatest volume of applause went to honor J. Russell Bodley '23 for the Scherzo which he composed especially for the eight pianos and which was performed so delightfully that a repetition was insisted upon, although a no-encore rule prevails at conservatory recitals. Another of the group was "March Militaire" of Schubert, especially arranged for the eight pianists by John Gilchrist Elliott of the conservatory faculty.

The eight musicians were Mr. and Mrs. James Russell Bodley (Beatrice Walton '27), Mr. and Mrs. John Gilchrist Elliott, Miriam Burton '14, Zell Clark, Bozena Kalas '18, and Allan Bacon.

'19 Frances Warren Haynes toured the United States with the Smallman Choir of Los Angeles in November and December.

Alumni Afield

assumed the office of State Director of Finance, February 1, succeeding Alexander R. Herron, who resigned to enter private business.

King attended Napa College in 1883-85. After leaving college, he was a reporter on the Napa Register several years, and has been a newspaper publisher in Redlands for over twenty-five years. He is president of the Redlands Building-Loan Association, one of the largest associations in the smaller cities of California, and has been a director of his local bank for many years.

He is well known in California politics, having been Senator from Inyo and San Bernardino counties for two terms, and stands high among the business men of San Bernardino county. His father was Rev. E. H. King of the California Conference, and his brother, Percy S. King '85, is judge of the Superior Court at Napa, California.

Little Theatre Will Present Old-Fashioned Play In March

"Aurora Floyd," or "A Dark Deed Done in the Woods," will be presented by the Pacific Little Theatre on March 6, 7 and 8 in the College Auditorium.

The play, directed by DeMarcus Brown '23, is an old-fashioned melodrama and will be staged in real old-fashioned style. People who attended shows in the olden days are expected to enjoy the presentation of "Aurora Floyd."

The college band will play in front of the auditorium, peanuts will be sold in the audience, a five-piece "old time" orchestra will be in the pit to furnish music at various intervals, and pennies will be thrown by the spectators.

Students who will take part in this play include: Vernon Hurd, J. Henry Smith, Greydon Milam, Beatrice Churchill, Blanche Farrans, Herbert Gwinn, Douglas Conway, Norris Rebholz, and James Dollings.

The January production of the Little Theatre was "Escape" by John Galsworthy, and "The Makropoulos Secret" was presented February 22nd by the Moroni Olsen Players under the auspices of the Little Theatre.

Stanley Lockey, a junior student, was chosen by Coach Righter as the man who made the grittiest showing in this year's Homecoming Game. The annual award is a college ring given by P. R. Wright to the outstanding player in that game.

Plans Develop for International Week In March

An extensive program is planned for this year's International Week, March 23-30, by Robert Burns, President of the College Y. M. C. A., and thirty other students. The International Week held last year was such a success and the response and support of the student body and faculty so favorable that it has been decided to make it an annual event.

All campus activities will center about Internationalism that week. Arrangements are being made to secure outstanding leaders in International thought as speakers for the chapel and evening programs. These men and women will be invited to spend the week on the campus and each living group will entertain one or more of these leaders, thus affording the students a more personal and intimate association with the visitors.

An international frolic in the Pacific Auditorium on Friday night and an international party in social hall on Saturday night will be the closing events. The frolic program which will be open to the general public will consist of numbers given by the foreign talent on this coast. Saturday night's affair will be open to all faculty members and students, and the foreign students on the campus will wear their native costumes.

ALUMNI WRITE BOOKS ON CALIFORNIA HISTORY

"Gold Days," by Owen Cochran '07 and "Oxcart to Airplane," by Rockwell D. Hunt, '90 and W. S. Ament, are two of the five completed volumes of a set of books entitled "California" which is being published by the Powell Publishing Company. The set will include biography, history and traditions which will be of interest to all who love the story of the Golden State.

"Gold Days" shows the miner at work," writes Roy W. Cloud, secretary of the California Teachers' Association, in a description of these books. "It also describes his leisure time with his games, the dance halls and the women of '49. There were bad men and good. The boom of the mining towns, the lure of the gold mines, and the hardships of the diggings are shown. Owen Coy has devoted his life to the story of California and in 'Gold Days' he tells a story that has become a real living thing with him.

"Oxcart to Airplane" is in the same vein as Dr. Hunt's Short History of California which was recently published. It is the story of transportation. He narrates the trials of the desert traveler. He outlines the work of the pony express rider. He tells of the ox team, the stage coach, the puffing steam locomotive of the early '70's, the automobile and the airplane. He also gives the story of the journey to California by water and details the dangers that beset the argonauts of old on their journey to this western land in search of the Golden Fleece."

A Pacific Philharmonic society was recently organized by the faculty committee on campus organizations. The aim of the society is to become a chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, national honorary music fraternity, which is organized on lines somewhat similar to those of Mu Phi Epsilon sorority.

The Spring semester officers are: president, Lloyd Adams; vice president, Lephall Lasswell; secretary, Hoyle Carpenter, and historian, Louis Beuvig.

Pacific Leads Conference With Seven Wins; San Jose May Tie For Title

The Pacific Varsity completed its Far Western Conference basketball series February 22 with seven wins and three losses. That standing still leaves Pacific in first place for the Conference Championship, but San Jose State with five victories and three defeats has a chance to tie for honors by winning two games from Chico State on February 28 and March 1. If Chico State wins one game from the Spartans, Pacific will have undisputed claim to the title without a playoff.

The regulars of this season's team include Cecil "Moose" Disbrow, Glenn O'Dale, Kent Shuman, Captain Frank Heath, and Vernon Hurd, all of whom have done outstanding playing and deserve much credit for bringing Pacific to first place in the conference standings. Disbrow, Heath, Hurd and Shuman are all seniors and Robin Dunn, reserve center, is also in his last year at Pacific. These men wore the Pacific cage uniforms for the last time in the series with Fresno.

O'Dale, a tall steady player from Lemoore, is a sophomore and is playing his first year on the varsity. Reserves who have done some good playing are Paul Crandall, Everett Tittmore, Clarence Schrader, Bruce Henley, and Byron Van Dyke.

Scores of this season's conference games are:

San Jose State 26; Pacific 27.
San Jose State 30; Pacific 27.
Cal Aggies 22, Pacific 23.
Cal Aggies 23, Pacific 44.
Chico State 34; Pacific 22.
Chico State 24; Pacific 32.
Nevada 12; Pacific 27.
Nevada 21; Pacific 25.
Fresno State 16; Pacific 22.
Fresno State 29; Pacific 21.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR WILL BEGIN TOUR APRIL 6

A Cappella Choir has many out of town performances scheduled on its spring semester program this year in addition to the usual number of local engagements. Dean Dennis has just completed the following schedule for a week's tour in the southern part of the state: Modesto, Sunday morning, April 6; Fresno, Monday; Hanford, Tuesday; Visalia, Wednesday; Delano, Thursday; Taft, Friday; and Bakersfield, Saturday night and Sunday morning on the return trip.

There is also the possibility of a trip through the northern part of the state as far as Susanville. If plans are completed for this tour, it will probably take place late in May.

Among the single engagements being arranged are Thursday, April 3, at the Adelpian Club in Alameda; and Friday, April 4, at the Epworth League of Hughson. Glen Halik, of the Conservatory Faculty, will be the violin soloist for these performances.

An innovation in the Choir's program this year is a group of American songs. Two of these arranged by the American composer, Clokey, are, "Cousin Jedediah" and "He's Gone Away." Also, in this group will be "And the Trees Do Moan," arranged by Harvey Gaul, and "Massa's In the Cold, Cold Ground" arranged by a Scotchman, Robertson. The balance of the program will be numbers from the Roman Catholic and Russian Orthodox Liturgy, and modern part songs.

Students and faculty enjoyed a unique lecture recently by Sam Grathwell of Ellison White lyceum. Grathwell delivered a stirring address on "Tinkers and Thinkers," and held the attention of the audience with vivid word pictures and humor while he pointed out the value of clear thinking. His oratorical ability will be recalled by those who heard him on the San Jose campus in 1916 when he represented Stanford.

Forty Lights Will Be Installed In Baxter Stadium Next Season

Completion of the plans for lighting Baxter Stadium presented by Graduate Manager Bob Breeden '22 will make Baxter Stadium one of the best equipped fields in the country.

There will be 40 lights of the projector type on 40 foot poles patterned after the system used in the Pasadena Rose Bowl. Breeden expects to make several other improvements on the stadium including the erection of a new fence, repainting the seats, rebuilding and moving the press box.

The big night game for Pacific is slated for October 11 with Whitman. Formal dedication of the system will then take place. Only two night college games have been scheduled for next fall, but the Stockton High School will make use of the convenience to avoid conflicts in their schedule.

Contracts for football games have been signed as follows for next fall:

Oct. 3—Loyola at Los Angeles.
Oct. 10—Whitman at Pacific.
Oct. 18—Nevada at Reno.
Nov. 1—Fresno at Pacific.
Nov. 21—Cal Aggies at Sacramento.
Nov. 27—Chico State at Chico.

Chauncey J. Hawkins '96 Writes Book on Religion

"Do the Churches Dare" is a new book written by Chauncey J. Hawkins '96, pastor of the First Congregational Church in San Francisco.

According to a review of the book by H. F. Rall, Dr. Hawkins begins with another diagnosis of religion and the church. He sees ignorance in the pulpit, unthinking traditionalism in theology, and a futile effort to remedy the situation by a program of "activism." Modernism has failed to set forth a clear and commanding faith. His prescription is a new interpretation of Christianity to express and inform the faith of modern man. He discusses the idea of God, the Deity of Christ, Religion or Redemption, and Worship. The book is published by Macmillan Company.

College Chorus Will Present Verdi's "Manzoni Requiem"

The San Joaquin County Branch of the Pacific Alumni Association held its second annual basketball dinner in the College dining hall, December 7th. Walter Pickering '27, presided over the business meeting and program.

Dr. Tully C. Knoles addressed the group, commenting favorably upon the plan of holding an alumni reunion dinner on the evening of the annual Pacific-Alumni Basketball game. Agnes Clark '26 sang a group of three solos, accompanied by Margaret Sweet '28. Between courses Henderson McGee '27, former Pacific yell leader, revived the alumni rooting spirit so that they might give their team the necessary support from the bleachers.

At the conclusion of the dinner, the alumni adjourned to the gymnasium where they watched their team lead the Pacific varsity until the last few minutes of the game when the regulars jumped ahead four points and won with the score 24-20.

Among the former cage game stars who played on the alumni team were: Rube Wood '27, Ham Truman '28, Mollie Stark '27, Chick Stevens '23, and Cherub Royse '28.

The "33" Club is one of the newest organizations at Pacific. Membership is limited to the men belonging to the freshman football squad and their coach, James Corson '27.

Many Alumni Teach In San Joaquin County

Forty-eight alumni and former students of Pacific are teaching in Stockton and San Joaquin County schools this year. This includes the day and evening high schools, elementary grades, kindergarten, and special city school departments.

Every high school in the county has at least one faculty member who has taken work at Pacific. Ripon high school heads the list with four graduates on its teaching staff, the total number in the various high schools being sixteen. The Stockton day and evening high school has ten Pacific representatives on its faculty.

The elementary schools are a close second with twelve Pacific trained teachers in the county schools, and eight in the Stockton institutions.

Two of the four members of the Music Department of the Stockton Elementary schools are Pacific alumni. One of these is Assistant Supervisor of vocal music and the other is an instructor in instrumental music.

San Joaquin County is recognized as having especially high standards and the number of Pacific graduates who have qualified in the teaching profession here is another proof of the excellent training given on the campus.

He was a lecturer in psychology during 1926 before becoming associate professor of education in 1927. He resigned his position in 1928 to accept an offer to join the faculty of the University of Cairo, but ill health prevented his leaving the United States.
