CARS FOR BUSINESS ONLY

Drastic restriction due to the tire shortage have been placed concerning the use of passenger cars and trucks. The impossibility of securing tires accounts for the policy, Mortimer Cooke, chief of transportation and supplies, announces.

Trucks and cars are now assigned only to necessary duties. This includes the redistribution of food stuffs, coal, wood, and other operational duties to keep the supply lines open.

Special requests for the use of cars for unnecessary occasions will not be honored.

PERMITS NEEDED TO VISIT FARM

Those desiring to visit the farms must obtain written permit from Eric E. Eastman, chief of transportation and supplies, announces.

THE DANZUKAS HAVE NINE CHILDREN

A symbolic example of harmony and happiness in marriage, the Danzukas have nine children; seven boys and two girls with ages ranging from 26 years to two years. Their eldest son, who just turned 26 last Tuesday, is Pvt. Orville Danzuka stationed at Ft. Laramie.

Another son, Sam, has already received his questionnaire and is now waiting for his physical examination.

COUPLE MET IN THE DALLES IN 1916

Mrs. Danzuka, who was a cook in one of the largest hotels in The Dalles, Oregon, frequently dropped into the restaurant. Inevitably Lorean and George met. Lorean, being a cook, could do nothing else but fall in love with George and nothing could be done except, you guessed it! FAMILY TO RETURN TO THE DALLES

The Danzukas like it here, but their hearts, like all of the colonist's, yearn for their home, the Wasco Reservation in The Dalles.

The children and the mother will leave for The Dalles sometime this week where they will be among people with whom they lived all their lives.

George Danzuka hopes to follow soon, for then his job awaits him.
