Interdenominational Control Is Voted for Pacific at Conference

Protestant Churches to Provide Endowment; Representation On College Board

A resolution to make the College of the Pacific interdenominational in control was unanimously adopted at the California conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church denomination meeting in San Francisco this month. The report and resolution was submitted by Rev. Royal A. Simonds of Central Church in Stockton and chairman of the conference board of education. It is expected that this will prove the most important step taken for the future greatness of Pacific.

The general plan for making the college interdenominational calls for participation by all the Protestant evangelical congregations of Northern California in providing endowment, and representation on the board of trustees and faculty in proportion to their support.

The commission of the board of education was instructed to confer with commissions of the other denominations and to work out detailed plans during the ensuing year for adoption at next year's conference.

The proposal to make Pacific interdenominational came up at last year's convention, where a recommendation to this effect was offered by the educational board. The conference accepted it and instructed the board to investigate for a year the advisability and possibility of enlarging the other denominations in closer co-operation in the support and direction of the college. Outstanding denominational leaders were found to be virtually unanimous and enthusiastic in their endorsement of the prospective program.

Pacific has always been under the Methodist sponsorship but has continually had students and faculty members of various denominations. The enrollment of young people of other churches has increased very noticeably since California's oldest college became its newest by locating on the Stockton campus six years ago.

The Methodists feel that they could continue operating the college success-

Esther Warner Is Second Pacific Girl to Receive Pilot's License

Esther Warner, sister of Harold "Windy" Warner '29 and Lois Warner Winston '23, is the second minister's daughter at Pacific to get a pilot's license this year. She is the daughter of Rev. Carl Melvin Warner Hon. '14, of Burlingame. The first pilot's license issued to a girl at Pacific is in the possession of Katherine Case '28, daughter of Rev. A. J. Case of Reno, Nevada.

These two are the only girls who have received licenses at the Pacific Flying School under the direction of Lieutenant Chester Winston. The other eight successful pilots have been boys. They are: Ralph Hughes, Elton Hamilton, Kenneth Hamilton, Barney McCallum, Forest Rand, John H. Roberts, Milford Butler and Arthur Clements.

European Educator Will Lecture at Summer Session

Special lecturers, concerts and Little Theatre productions will be a part of the Summer Session program at Pacific this year. They will be given in the evenings and will be open to friends of the college as well as to students.

Dr. Paul Dengler, Director of the Austro-American Institute of Education at the University of Vienna, will be one of the first lecturers. According to Dr. J. W. Harris of the Education department he is the outstanding educator of Europe. Dr. Dengler is in California this summer as a visiting professor at the University of California.

The special schools of the session are attracting much attention this year. Ten days before the opening of the summer classes, over two-thirds of the sixty places available in the Demonstration School were filled by grammar school pupils. Parents are rapidly taking advantage of the exceptional opportunity to let their children receive special training during the summer.

Miss Trinidad de Mora, a graduate of the University of Barcelona, will teach at the Spanish Language School this year. She will assist Dr. Abel Alarcon, director, and Miss Evelyn Miller, social director. Courses are offered in Spanish grammar, conversation, and literature, and the social activities are arranged to acquaint the students with Spanish life and customs. Spanish music; lectures on art, literature and travel; games; playlets; and a fancy dress party are among the things planned for the social evenings. There will also be luncheons, picnics, and swimming parties.

Other departments which are offering courses this summer include: Education, Engineering, English, Geology, Bible and Religious Education, Biologic Sciences, Chemistry, Economics and Sociology, History and Political Science, Graphic Arts, Mathematics, Music, Modern Languages, Physical Education, Philosophy, Speech and Law.

Senior Gift Is Pavement of Walk in Front of Conservatory

Pavement of the walk from the Conservatory steps to the curb sidewalk is the gift of the 1930 class to the campus. The Seniors feel that this sidewalk is one of the most needed things on the campus.

The present gravel walk has been very unsatisfactory during the winter months, for the weatherman consistently orders rain on the nights when recitals and Little Theatre performances are held in the auditorium. It is the one section of the campus where the public treads the most frequently, and is therefore a place that should present a good appearance. Faculty members and students are agreed that the seniors are spending their money wisely.

Social Hall Is Dedicated To W.C. Anderson on Alumni Day

Social Director

Miss Evelyn Miller, who has studied and travelled extensively in Spain and South America, will again direct the social activities at Pacific's Spanish Language School.

Two Honorary Degrees Are Awarded This Year

Chief Justice William H. Waste of the Supreme Court of California and Oliver H. Langdon of San Francisco were awarded honorary degrees from Pacific at this year's Commencement exercises. Judge Waste was presented to President Tully C. Knoles by Associate Justice John E. Richards '76 for an LL. D. Degree and Mr. Langdon was presented by Dr. A. C. Bane '81 for the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Judge Waste is a graduate of the University of California where he received the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy and Bachelor of Laws. He began practicing law in Oakland in 1894 and was judge of the Superior Court of Alameda thirteen years.

Last year he was designated the Chief Citizen of Berkeley, where he has been president of the Y. M. C. A. since its organization. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the college.

Mr. Langdon has been director of religious education in the California Conference of the Methodist Church since 1923. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Homecoming Day November 1; Pacific Will Play Fresno State

Homecoming Day will be Saturday, November 1, this year.

Pacific's opponents in the football game that afternoon will be the Bulldogs from Fresno State College. The Alumni luncheon, a Little Theatre production, and other events are being planned to entertain alumni, former students and friends of Pacific.

Reserve the date now and come to Pacific's seventh Homecoming in Stockton.

Over Two Hundred Present at Dinner; Officers Are Re-elected

The dedication of Anderson Social Hall, the Alumni Dinner, and the President's reception were the outstanding features of this year's Alumni Day. Informal reunions were held also by the various social organizations on the campus.

"Anderson Social Hall" was the name dedicated to the building which is the social center of the campus, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Anderson of Los Gatos who gave $35,000 toward the payment of the debt on the Hall. President Tully C. Knoles accepted the gift for the College, President Thomas F. Baxter of the Board of Trustees spoke on behalf of the board, and Robert Burns, president of the Associated Student Body, expressed the appreciation of the students.

President Marshal Hale of the Alumni Association presided over the dinner program which was as follows:

Vocal solos by Lucille Fox Green '24, accompanied by Bozena Kalas '18; violin solos by Virginia Short '22, Miss Kalas, accompanist; vocal solos by Flossita Badger '18, Miss Kalas, accompanist; and a group of songs by the Knoles Quartette, George Knoles '28, Tully Knoles Jr. '32, P. Walline Knoles '25, and Gordon Knoles '29.

Lyman M. King '87, State Director of Finance, gave a very interesting and humorous talk on "Pacific and California." He mentioned a number of Pacific alumni who are holding important public positions, but said that it is not entirely essential that one should bask in the limelight of public notice that his or her life shall be a useful one. The two words, "useful" and "conspicuous," he declared, are not necessarily synonymous. He pointed out the opportunities for service in the business and professional world and stressed the importance of the non-conspicuous positions. He reminisced a bit about Pacific, lauded the good work of Miss Etta Booth under whom he developed his artistic tendencies, and concluded by stating that Pacific is an asset to California.

The members of the 1930 class were presented to the Alumni Association for membership by Dean Fred L. Farley. President Hale welcomed them and Vernon Hurd, President of the Class, responded in behalf of the seniors. President Hale read letters of greeting from Dr. Frank W. Blackmar '81 of the University of Kansas and Vice-President Edith M. K. Tibbetts, who is traveling in Europe. Dr. A. C. Bane '81 read a sonnet sent by Henry Meade Blande '87, Poet Laureate of the state of California.

The present officers were re-elected for the ensuing term. The meeting was concluded with the singing of Pacific Hail.

Among the two hundred and twenty-five alumni, former students, faculty members, and guests who attended this affair were:

All Quiet on the Pacific Front

Commencement has come and gone again. Ninety-eight members of the Class of 1930, on June 9, stepped from the College of the Pacific Chapel into the world outside, armed with Bachelor Degrees. They, like the members of the Class of 1929, 1928, and the others down through the years, turned from the past regretfully, but toward the future hopefully.

The Pacific Campus was truly quiet after Commencement. The stillness has changed somewhat, however, with the making of arrangements for the fifth Summer Session. Advance registrations indicate that this summer's attendance will be the largest since the organization of the Summer School.

Inquiries concerning the approaching regular Session are continuing to be made, and it is expected that the new Campus at Stockton will be anything but quiet after the present vacation period.

ing the summer months and in September they will go to San Diego where George will teach History in the High School.

At 6:30 o'clock on Commencement morning, Edith Griswold '30 became the bride of Arthur Farey '29 at a unique ceremony held in the Chapel of the Central Methodist Church of Stockton.

Professor George Colliver officiated at the ceremony which was unusual in sentiment, for the bride and groom each composed their own vows. For the double ring ceremony, the bride's ring was made from the groom's fraternity pin and the groom's ring was made from the bride's sorority pin.

Dorothy Griswold was maid of honor and Ruth Farey '28 and Eleanor Derby
'31 were bridesmaids. Fowler Furze '32 was best man, and Harold Griswold and Greydon Milam '30 were attendants.

Margaret Rader '31 whistled a group

Gray of Turlock were married on the

Dr. and Mrs. John L. Burcham in Stockton. After the ceremony which was read by Dr. Burcham, a breakfast was served in the Burcham home. They Harold Noble '16 were the attendants and Minnie McArthur Raub '26 sang.

They will reside in Stockton.

Vesta Raynsford '27 and Harold Chastain '29 were married Sunday evening, June 8, at the Westminster Presbyterian Chapel in Sacramento,

Alumni, Seniors Secure Positions Through Pacific

The problem "What are you going to do next year" has already been satisfactorily solved for many seniors and students who have been taking graduate work at Pacific this year. Many are accepting positions with business firms, a large number will teach, and a representative group of the class of 1930 is planning to return to Pacific for graduate study.

Miss Grace Carter, appointment secretary, announces that the following Pacific people have secured their teaching positions for next year thru her office:

High School positions: Margaret Beattie '29, Biology at Manteca; Cleotis Brown '26, Science at Lincoln; Katherine Case '28, Physical Education at Manteca; Ruth Farey '28, Graphic Arts at Clarksburg; Anna Louise Keck '29, English and Dramatics at Escalon; George Knoles '28, History at San Diego; Gordon Knoles '29, History at Pacific Grove; Victor Ledbetter '29, Physical Education at Lakeport; Lorene Lewis '29, English and Spanish at Fortuna; Marian Rice '27, Music and English at Elk Grove; and Lucille Yager '29, Physical Education at Central High School near Fresno.

Klyne Headley '28, who has been at Montezuma School for Boys since his graduation, will teach music at the high school in Redwood City. Mrs. Bess Ward '30, will teach secondary and elementary music in Pacific Grove, and Eileen Butterworth '30, will teach high school music, vocal and instrumental, at Dos Palos.

William LaBerge, a graduate student at Pacific, will be the Principal at the grammar school in Salida. Ila Owen '29, who has been at Los Banos this year, will teach at Pacific Grove grammar school. Among the members of the class of 1930 who will teach in grammar schools are: Alice Mae Totman, Brentwood; Dorothy Opsal, principalship in Dallas District near Corcoran; Isobel Fletcher, Ceres; Helen Morrison and Sue Drouin, August school near Stockton; Gertrude Schuckman, music in all grades at Bakersfield; Ruby Tremain, Banta; Aileen Ellerson, Riverbank; and Eloise Ames, Biggs.

Dr. R. G. Aitken Is Appointed Director of Lick Observatory

Dr. Robert Grant Aitken, former member of Pacific's faculty, has been appointed director of Lick Observatory at Mount Hamilton by the Board of Regents of the University of California. He will succeed Dr. W. W. Campbell who retires July 1.

Dr. Aitken has been at the Observatory since 1895 when he resigned from his position as Acting Principal of the Academic Department and Professor of Mathematics at Pacific to become assistant astronomer at Mount Hamilton. He later became astronomer and on July 1, 1923, was appointed associate director when Dr. Campbell, director, relinquished active direction of the affairs of the observatory to become president of the University of California.

He holds many honors and a notable record of service. The honorary degree, Doctor of Science, was conferred upon him by the Board of Trustees of Pacific in 1903. To his credit in astronomical annals the discovery of 3000 double stars is recorded, an achievement for which he was awarded the Lalande prize by the Academy of Sciences of France in 1906. He holds membership in many scientific organizations and in 1925 was president of the Pacific division of the American Academy for the Advancement of Science.

Bachelor, Master and Honorary Degrees At Commencement

Ninety-eight seniors, clad in academic robes, marched across the stage of Pacific's Chapel to receive their bachelor degrees at Pacific's seventy-third commencement June 9. Eighty-six of these received Bachelor of Arts degrees and the other twelve, Bachelor of Music. One Master of Music degree and eighteen Master of Arts degrees were conferred upon graduates of Pacific and other educational institutions. Honorary degrees were conferred upon Judge William H. Waste and Oliver Langdon.

The Honorable Vierling Kersey, State Director of Public Education, delivered the Commencement address, and President Tully C. Knoles conferred the degrees. Glen Halik of the Conservatory faculty played a violin number, "Russian Airs" by Wieniawski. He was accompanied by Bozena Kalas '18.

Sixty-eight students were recommended by the School of Education for teaching credentials. Sixteen of these were general elementary and twenty-five were general secondary. Other types of credentials were: Junior High School, Secondary Public School Music, Secondary Piano, Secondary Physical Education, and Administration. Among the Pacific alumni who received general secondary credentials included: Jean Humphreys '27, Katherine Case '28, George Knoles '28, and the following members of the class of '29: Celia Adams, Leona Bohnert, John Farrar, Herbert Gwinn, Anna Louise Keck, Gordon Knoles, Victor Ledbetter, Jane Leist, Lorene Lewis, Elta Livoni, Margaret Minasian, Genevieve Opsal, Alice Patterson, Alice Pylman, Iris Sears Stout, Ruth Smeland, Maida Strong, and Marian Van Gilder.

Alumni Afield

is the alumnus to whom we owe unbounded gratitude for the present lovely campus of Pacific. It is through his untiring efforts that the ground for the new campus was secured from the J. C. Smith heirs and the first steps were taken under his direction to interest the citizens of Stockton in the project. In 1918, Dr. John L. Seaton, then president of the college in San Jose, told Dr. Bane that Pacific would come to Stockton if he would secure for it a twenty acre campus and one hundred thousand dollars for one building. Dr. Bane's efforts resulted in a forty acre campus and $600,000. He now serves the college as vice-president and is rapidly building an endowment fund.

He received his A. M. degree from Pacific in 1886 and his D. D. in 1905. He was a reporter on the San Jose Herald for two years after his graduation from college and then became City Treasurer and Tax Collector of the Garden City. He practiced law there from 1883 to 1886. In that year he began his ministerial career in the Grace Methodist Church south in Stockton. Other south Methodist churches in which he preached were at Sacramento, San Diego, Oakland, and Trinity in Los Angeles. After he became a member of the California Conference, he was at Pacific Grove, and California Street and Howard Street Churches, San Francisco.

After seven years there, he was appointed State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of California, and in 1914, Financial Secretary of the National Anti-Saloon League. He served as Pastor of Central Methodist Church in Stockton for six years until 1924 when he was appointed District Superintendent of Oakland District of the California Conference.

Always active in civic affairs, Dr. Bane was a charter member of the Stockton Kiwanis Club in which he holds a life Honorary membership. During his college days he was an active member of Rhizomia and holds membership in the Masonic Lodge, Odd Fellows and the Native Sons of the Golden West. His recreational hobbies are baseball and lawn bowling.

He was married in 1881 to Florence C. Harrison. Their daughter, Bethel, a registered nurse, is a graduate of New York Hospital. Their son, Therman, is a graduate of West Point and served in the World War as Chief of Engineers of Air Service of the U. S. Army. He is now Chief of the Technical Division and first vice-president of the Aviation Corps in New York City.

James Corson Is General Advisor For Freshmen

Freshman week at Pacific opens September 9 next fall. A series of events are being planned to acquaint the freshmen with the college, the faculty and students. James Corson '27 is general advisor for the freshmen. Assisting him are seven faculty members who will each have charge of a small group of new students.

The first and most feared event on the week's program is the matriculation examination, Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium. That evening the Associated students will hold a rally in the gymnasium to entertain the new students and teach them Pacific's songs and yells. The college aptitude examination, physical examinations, and special assemblies will occupy their time Wednesday and they will register Thursday. Members of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet are planning a trip to Twain Harte Lodge for all freshmen men late Thursday afternoon while the Big Sisters entertain the freshmen girls at a dinner and a party in Social Hall.

The Freshman-Sophomore tie-up, a football rally and the student body reception are the main events of Saturday, "Orange and Black Day."

Sophomores and upper classmen will register Friday and Saturday and classes begin September 15.

Pi Kappa Lambda Members Hold Reunion Luncheon Alumni Day

Members of Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary music fraternity, held a reunion luncheon on Alumni Day with President John Gilchrist Elliott presiding. Elizabeth Graham Kimball and Hoyle Carpenter, the two members of the senior class who were recommended for membership in this organization, were initiated.

Pacific Professors Conduct Classes In Character Training for Children

Professors George H. Colliver and Carleton Wood of the Religious Education Department have been conducting classes in character training at the Woodrow Wilson Grammar School in Stockton each Monday and Wednesday afternoon this term. Seventy-eight children of the first six grades attend these classes on their own time after the regular day's work is completed.

The work is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association through its department of spiritual training, and is the only experimental class of its kind in Stockton. The purpose of the work is to supplement the regular educational program.

Some of the underlying objects are:

To teach the broad principles of Christianity.

To stress character aims as the chief purpose of the education of a child.

To demonstrate that parents approve of and will support such training.

To demonstrate that the children will respond even at the sacrifice of play time.

The program curriculum consists of story telling, dramatization, memorization of hymns, prayers, scripture, projects and various kinds of handwork. Each child has a scrapbook in which he pastes pieces of poetry, songs, and pictures depicting some phase of study, such as friendship, kindness, thoughtfulness, or benevolence.

This pioneer work necessarily involves a great deal of work on the part of Professors Colliver and Wood, who give unstintingly of their time and effort. It is truly a "labor of love" on their part, as they receive no material remuneration whatever for their efforts, and even bear much of the expense.

Miss Hinsdale Writes Article For Book on Speech Education

"The Place of Speech in the College Curriculum" is the title of an article written by Miss William Hinsdale, head of the Department of Speech. It appears in a new book entitled "Cultural and Scientific Speech Education Today," which describes the state of speech and dramatic education today and the direction of the training of tomorrow.

The volume contains articles on public speaking, personality training, oral reading, story telling, drama and play production written by leaders in speech education in western United States.

Honorary Society Is Organized For Pacific's Creative Writers

The Chrysalis Club is the newest organization on Pacific's campus. Sophomores and upperclassmen who have done outstanding creative work in literature will be eligible to membership. It will be strictly an honorary society which aims to further the interest in creative writing at Pacific and to improve present writings.

The first meeting was held at the home of Miss Martha Pierce, instructor in creative writing. At bi-monthly meetings, original work, as well as current literature, will be read, discussed and criticized.

Interdenominational Control

fully as they have been and with reasonable improvement, but they believe that with the new situation in Stockton and the support of the entire San Joaquin valley, the future of Pacific, with the quality of work necessary and the expense of the faculty, is a huge undertaking for a single denomination.

Pacific, under the proposed plan, will be the only Protestant Christian College of Northern California. It is believed that the united control will afford a wonderful opportunity for a larger future for the institution than could otherwise be had.
