AN EDITORIAL:
WE'RE ROLLING UP OUR SLEEVES

It's not going to be the same old story of too little—too late. We mean action!

This morning, the entire DISPATCH staff of 24 strong, boys and girls alike, will jump on the outbound truck to the Project farm. We are in the hope that there'll be more people from the other departments joining us in spontaneous willingness.

Our single day on the farm is not a very big contribution as far as our physical effort is concerned, but we hope it does serve as an incentive for many who have yet to realize the meaning of community welfare.

The quickened interest of our common misfortunes and trials should have tended us to think of ourselves as individuals and more of society as a whole.

It's a vain attempt to write editorials asking people to do anything that we wouldn't do ourselves. We're going to see that our little brothers and sisters will have plenty to eat this winter. They won't go hungry, not if we can help it. It's back to the farm for THE DISPATCH.

The publication, however, will not be neglected. Tomorrow's edition will appear on your doorstep as usual.

DISPATCH STAFF:
In behalf of the Harvest Festival Planning Committee, we express our gratitude for your cooperation. Without it, we realize our festival would not have been the accomplishment it was.

LACK OF SPIRIT

In reluctance to respond to a call for help on the Project farm, Colonists have shown a lack of serious realization of the present harvest situation. Men and women are wanted on the farm. They are wanted directly to rescue 140 acres of potatoes, 30 acres of turnips, 60 acres of cabbages, 200 tons of rutabagas, to any nothing of acres of celery, zippa and other vegetables to be used for home consumption.

The responsibility of this utter disregard and shameful apathy lies on our shoulders. True, it's biting cold out there on the farm but a single morning of extreme frost may freeze the food to uselessness. Scarce as fresh vegetables are in the outside, our mess tables will be lean this winter if the crop is not saved in time.

SUCCESSFUL VENTURE

Applause rang loud and long at the opening performances of the International cabaret undoubtedly fulfilling the highest expectation of even the most critical. Your successive audiences, equally enthusiastic, already have seen an all-ages amateur performance, one like never before performed. The production not only looked professional in every detail, but it displayed that the young Colonists - without assistance of any sort - can do on their own initiative.

Although an experimental venture, the cabaret resembles a finished masterful work of art. Pleasing to the ear and the eye, it leaves little to imagination with music supplied by the rapidly-improving orchestra of Woody Ichikawa and the beautiful costumes created by the Project sewing schools. It is our privilege to boast such a group of talents whose ability can overcome the handicap of meager facilities and fund.
AN OPEN LETTER TO UNCLE SAM

I am a second generation Japanese. In contrast to the majority of the people I received part of my education in Japan. Five years ago on Halloween eve I got married but have no children.

My life really began after my return to the U.S. That is because I was just turning twenty, at the time.

Prior to evacuation I was an insurance man. In an establishment composed of Caucasian employees I was the lone Japanese. When I was cut evening visiting a prospect, my wife would spend the time at a P.T.A., meeting enjoying herself. Although we were childless we possessed many acquaintances among the teachers at the public school.

Many times I went to the polling place in the school house. We ran the grant of things by casting for votes for everything from a member of the school board to the Presidential candidates.

We were also members of a Caucasian church. Even now I can see the heavens ascending to the minister and hear the soft voices of the choir. On Sundays too, the good old American custom of going to the movies and to places occupied our time. I was a member of the local P.T.A. and one of the Book league. So our quiet evenings we spent reading new books.

The day after the outbreak of war, I went to the Civil Defense office and offered our services. While ascending in the elevator I shall never forget the mingled feelings I sensed. However, once I was on the defense office the messenger and fellow employees crowded around me to pat my shoulder and said, "You are an American citizen. The fact that Japan is an aggressor is of no enmity to Uncle Sam. Be a good citizen." At a nearby desk, one of the employees who had been drafted, was in his trim military uniform and carried a gas mask along with his coat. I watched him hastily composing a letter to be sent to his far away mother. I realized that the war was actually right in the same room with me and that my tears would fall in my eyes.

Fortunately my wife and I went to the Civil-

COLLEGE LEVEL WORK MAY BE OFFERED HERE

Mrs. Marion Francis, head of Project's Adult Education, returned last Monday from the San Francisco regional office where she has been at the regional conference on adult education and other community activities.

At the opening of the conference, Dr. Francis said tentative plans were discussed for setting up work in collegiate levels in the Project. For the present, however, the work would have to be on the lower division level.

CABARET DOORS WILL BE OPENED FROM 7:45 P.M.

"Cabaret International," which is nightly traveling the different movies, opens promptly at 7:45 p.m. In order to make preparations so that the doors will go on promptly at 8 p.m. the doors will not open before 7:45 p.m.

Tickets are being sold at the door.
Project hog farm is strong as a contributor to the farm management's well-rounded program. The upkeep of the enterprise is solely dependent on Project products and by-products. Hogs will utilize kitchen leftovers and grains produced on the farm.

In their present temporary pens, located across the tracks from the warehouses, 712 hogs are fattening for Colony consumption. 3000 more are scheduled to arrive soon to swell the roster of potential pork-chops, bacon, and ham providers. A large percentage of the Poland China and Chester White breeds represented in the herd are descendants of outstanding purebred stock distinguished for putting on weight and multiplying fast.

Under latest scientific methods, the porkers have been enjoying robust health, with a low mortality rate. The most encouraging note is the rapid construction of the new hog farm located about a mile out of the Colony on the western foot of North Castle Rock mountain. Location is ideal because the towering face of the mountain protects the farm from severe southern and eastern gales, and it also segregates the pork production area from the Colony proper.

Ted Tokuno and George Sakoda, senior foremen in charge of the enterprise, indicated that the transfer of the hogs to the new farm will commence next week.

First of the Colony hogs to leave for home consumption at the Fall River Mills this week. More are expected to follow shortly.

CONTEST POSTPONED...

Due to unsatisfactory weather conditions, the foul shooters' tournament which was scheduled to go on all this week has been cancelled until this Sunday, Nov. 8 on the Block 27 court, starting at 1 o'clock. Persons who have not signed up yet, but who wish to enter may do so by being there.

BASKETBALL MANAGERS WILL MEET MONDAY

Expected bad weather and the wish of many of the boys who are not playing football have pushed the plans for a basketball season here soon despite the fact that it will probably interfere with the pigskin sport.

All block teams or other independent clubs are urged to get together before next Monday so that they will have a team representative at the managers meeting which will be held on November 9th in the Recreation Center at 7 p.m.

The Rec Department has announced that it will furnish all equipment for league games.

V-BALL PLAY-OFF THIS SUNDAY

The scramble for the volley ball championship of Tule lake was narrowed down to a battle between the Sacramento Mikados and the Block 51 team.

Play-off contest is slated for this Sunday, Nov. 8 at the court near Block 48, at 2 p.m.

The Mikados defeated the Blockers 21-16, and 21-14, while the All Americans had a tough battle winning from Block 59 by a score of 21-19, 21-15 last week end.
