A Pacific Parable in Modern

Hear ye, the parable of the alumnus who came to college to partake of choice morsels of knowledge. He absorbed all truths his Alma Mater put forth and yea he went out into the world with his skin of sheep, his good name inscribed upon it in bold-faced letters. Because there was bestowed upon him the opportunity of a college degree, he went straightforward and found his place in this great land of milk and honey. But alas, he did not realize the numerous sacrifices that had come to pass since 1851 that this degree might be made possible, nor was he concerned that some people were reduced to sack cloth and ashes in the trying periods of his Alma Mater's history. And lo, before forty days and forty nights had elapsed, his Alumni Association called upon him to help carry on the Pacific tradition by first affiliating with the Association and then putting his hand to the plow. His faith in the future was awaited, but he heeded not to this call. He had fallen into selfish pursuits, and thus spent his time and money on himself. He pulled not the pound and thus neither did he profit his college, nor his friends, nor, in the long run, himself. Therefore, whosoever heareth the story of this Alumnus can liken him unto a foolish man who built his house upon the sand, and the rains descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat upon that house; and it fell and great was the fall thereof.—R. E. B.

Life Spreads Pacific

In LIFE'S Parade of Colleges, The College of the Pacific has in its most recent issue, that of Nov. 27, been allotted a three page spread. For this bit of invaluable publicity, it must admitted that the College is primarily indebted to the redoubtable and famous Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg. For this reason, the article and pictures deals mostly with football, showing members of the team (a) in the locker room (b) by the fireside with the coach (c) mowing the lawn, and of one of the most favored athletes with two girlfriends.

Other views show half the campus, (the least pretentious half in favor of including the practice field in use by the team, a night game between the halves, Pacific's glamour girl, and a phony hair-cutting scene of an aggressor San Jose State student.

Incentive of the article was Coach Stagg's fiftieth anniversary as a football coach.

New Kern County Alumni Club Organized

The tenth district Alumni club which meets the goal set by the Five Year Program of Advance was organized on Friday night, October 3, in Wasco by the Pacific alumni in Kern County. Officers elected were Frances Embrey '37 president, of Bakersfield, who is a teacher in East Bakersfield High School and Marion Rice Haycock '28, Secretary, of Wasco. Twenty-two alumni were present at the meeting. President Knoles was the speaker of the evening. Alumni Secretary Burns aided in organization plans.

Lecture and Musical Series Outstanding

Under the auspices of the Pacific Lecture series and of the Conservatory of Music, students of the College and the citizens of Stockton are being offered a remarkably fine program during the season 1939-40.

During November, the lecture series included a speech by Dr. J. Edgar Goodspeed, editor and translator of "The Bible—An American Translation." For many years Dr. Goodspeed was professor of Bible at the University of Chicago; and is a recognized authority on the Bible in this country.

The American Ballet Caravan, with an all-American dance company presented three numbers of unique choreography, each of one act. American folk music, a classic idiom set to the music of Johann Sebastian Bach, and the modern American scene were numbers on the program which appeared in the College Auditorium November 28.

Fresno Club Elects New Officers

Preceding the Pacific-Fresno football game in Fresno on Saturday, November 4, the Fresno Club held its annual fall dinner meeting. President Tully C. Knoles was the featured speaker. Also heard on the program were: Mr. Gerhart, of Fresno, a new trustee of the College, Coach Ralph Francis and Alumni Secretary Robert E. Burns. New officers elected were: President, Frank Heath '30; Vice-President, Glenn Reavis '26; and Secretary, Prentiss Ferguson '24.

Thomas S. Knoles Passes On

On October 13, the patriarch of our well beloved Knoles family, Thomas S. Knoles, 89, died in the home of his son, Dr. Tully C. Knoles. He had been a resident of Stockton for fourteen years. In addition to his wife and Dr. Knoles, he is survived by six sons and one daughter.

Thomas Knoles taught high school in Petersburg, Ill. in 1872, where some years later he was admitted to the bar. With a brother he founded and conducted a newspaper there for many years. He moved to Ontario, Calif., in 1887 with his family, and later lived in Los Angeles for nineteen years.

Oats From Tully's Saddle Bag

DR. TULLY C. KNOLES

- Nearly one-half of our academic year has passed and in most respects it has been a good half. There was a small increase in the size of the Senior College student body, and a large increase in the Junior College: hence more facilities are needed.
- So far the Living Endowment Plan is a success. Charles Warmer has led you well and real aid has come to the College. But I believe that future years will show that this year's foundation work has been much more valuable than is indicated by the financial returns.
- I sense a knitting of personalities and a warming of loyalties that will mean much as the years come and go.
- Alma Mater needs you, grows by you, and lives when you live.

Hunt and Tillman Plan Napa College Reunion in June

Plans are under way by Dr. Rockwell Hunt '90 and Henry C. Tillman '90 to hold a reunion of former students of Napa College on June 15, 1940, on the Pacific Campus. The entire day has been set aside for the activities of the group. Many expect to stay over the next few days to participate in other alumni and commencement activities.

Living Endowment Proves Boon

Contributing alumni to the Living Endowment may congratulate themselves on having made already an appreciable contribution to the college. Among these probably the most pretentious are the new rows of lights for each tower in Baxter Stadium producing one of the best lighted fields in California. The lighting of the field has thereby been increased by one third.

The Library and the Social Science departments also benefited; the former by the addition of new tables and chairs, definitely needed; and the latter by the acquisition of permanent Sociological records.

New metal folding chairs have proved a great improvement over former worn and inadequate equipment used by the College of the Pacific Band, under "Pop" Gordon; and Dean Elliott has expressed thanks to the alumni for clarinets purchased for student loan purposes.

These fine accomplishments are due directly to hard work on the part of Charles Warmer, '36, chairman of the Alumni Living Endowment. A greater income is promised for next year.

Pacific Represented at American Alumni Council Meet

Representatives of Alumni Associations from the colleges of the Western part of the United States will gather at Mills College on December 15 and 16 to discuss suggestions for the improvement of the services of alumni associations. Representing Pacific will be Alumni Secretary, Robert E. Burns, and Charles Warmer, Director of the Alumni Living Endowment.

Also invited to the meetings as special guests will be fifteen College presidents who will outline things that they think might be done by alumni to better themselves through the colleges. Latest advancements in alumni magazines, fund raising, record keeping, etc., will be featured on the program. Techniques that have definitely worked for other colleges are the ones to be presented.

Pacific was represented at the last such meeting held at Salt Lake City two years ago.

Gardner and Carter Have Guest Soloist Roles in Messiah

Virginia Gardner '34, mezzo-soprano, and Carol Carter '34, tenor, have been selected by Professor J. Russell Bodley to sing the guest soloist roles in the annual presentation of the Messiah, Christmas oratorio. The presentation will be made this year on Sunday afternoon, December 10, at 3:00 P. M. in the Pacific Auditorium. This is considered to be the great choral event of the year.

Pacific Given Scoreboard

After much agitation, we are pleased to announce that a new scoreboard will grace the stadium next year! The "go ahead signal" on the new electric board was given a few days ago by the Associated Oil Co. It is said that it will be comparable in size and as up-to-date as any on the Pacific Coast. This will put the finishing touches on the equipment of the stadium and we can now boast of a bowl second to none in Central California.

Schilpp Writes Two More

Former students of Professor Paul Arthur Schilpp will be interested to know that he has two books off the press this year. The first appeared earlier in the year entitled "Kant's Pre-Critical Ethics" and the second is "The Philosophy of John Dewey" where he takes the role of editor to honor John Dewey on his eightieth birthday.

Rockwell D. Hunt '90, Honored at U. S. C.

The portrait of Dr. Rockwell D. Hunt, graduate of the College of the Pacific, and dean of the Graduate School of the University of Southern California was presented to that college at a luncheon in his honor recently.

Painted by Peter Ilyin, San Francisco artist and to be exhibited for 6 months in a Los Angeles art gallery, the picture will take its place at the University among other portraits of men noted for distinguished service to U. S. C.

Attention Alumni Of '95-'01

Is there anyone who can furnish information, however meager, regarding the college days of Homer S. Lea, called General, who attended the College of the Pacific some time around 1895-1897? Charles O. Kates of New York, who is preparing a biography on that gentleman, would appreciate any information available from those who knew or knew of Mr. Lea. Mail your knowledge of him, statistical and informal as well, to Charles O. Kates, Box 102, Flushing, New York.

The Pacific Review wishes to retract an error made in its last issue, included in the personals, stating that Robert Browning, '34, and wife, traveled in Europe last summer. Mr. Browning writes to the effect that the news he discovered in our sheet was most astounding; that he well remembers having traveled in Europe in the company of others, but denies any remembrance of having traveled with a wife. Pending further evidence, he asks his friends to withhold spending any money for presents until some indefinite but happy future. (See elsewhere for news of Mr. Browning's intentions.)

Flying Courses Offered to JC's.

Flying is the new course being offered to students of Stockton Junior college, with the Stockton Board of Education giving approval last October 11 to the Civil Aeronautics Authority Plan.

There are to be only twenty students allowed in the course, with women limited to two, each of whom will be given a thorough ground training course, with 72 hours of classroom work and from thirty-five to fifty hours of flying time. Completion of the course will make all enrollees eligible for a private pilots license.

Instruction of the flight division will be given by Henry Von Berg and Ed Wagner, heads of the Pathfinder Flying Service. Dr. A. T. Bawden will be director of the civil aeronautics course. Ground school fundamentals will be taught by Prof. Roger S. Strout of the physics department. The course began October 23.

Eighty students have applied for the course and elimination will be on the basis of age, and physical fitness.

Two of the profs out—Eiselening Eiselen. Bodley: Definition of an Oboe: An ill-wind instrument that nobody blows good. Jacoby: A politician: A man who stands for what he thinks the people will fall for.
