The list of names as it appears in this program includes actual and potential graduates for the 2017–2018 academic year. The above “graduation with honors” distinctions are contingent upon final grade point average calculations at the completion of all relevant degree requirements. The official list of graduates and honors awarded for each graduation date of the 2017–2018 year is maintained by the university registrar.

HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTEES

Alpha Sigma Lambda

Alpha Sigma Lambda is the national honor society recognizing excellence among nontraditional students, meaning those who have returned to college later in life and who achieve academic excellence while also fulfilling adult duties of work and family life.

Mikayla Wagner

Phi Beta Kappa

Founded in 1776, Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest academic honor society in the United States and the first fraternity to use a Greek letter name. The society embraces principles that lay the foundations of personal freedom, scientific inquiry, liberty of conscience, and creative endeavor. Phi Beta Kappa recognizes the highest achievement in the liberal arts, with a small number of members selected from among the top 10% of their class. Nationwide each year, about one college senior in a hundred is invited to join Phi Beta Kappa.

Phi Kappa Phi

Among honor societies that induct members from all academic disciplines, Phi Kappa Phi, founded in 1897, is the nation's oldest, largest, and most selective. Invitation is extended to graduating seniors and graduate students in the top 10% of their class, and to juniors in the top 7.5% of their class. The mission of the society is to recognize and promote academic excellence and to engage the community of scholars in service to others.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE OF THE PACIFIC

College of the Pacific — a school of arts, letters and sciences — is the original and largest unit of University of the Pacific.

Although founded in 1851 as the University of the Pacific, the institution was for 60 years primarily an undergraduate liberal arts college. In recognition of that reality, its name was changed in 1911 to the College of the Pacific, and thus it remained for the next 50 years.

When President Tully C. Knoles moved the College of the Pacific from San Jose to its new campus in Stockton in 1924, he brought with him faculty representing seventeen of the current eighteen departments in the college. At that time the faculty of the college also included faculty of a conservatory within the college and of departments of education and engineering.

In 1961 the growing institution reclaimed for itself the name University of the Pacific, and in the following year conferred the name College of the Pacific on its liberal arts college.

In 2012, the School of International Studies, while retaining its autonomy as a school, became part of the College of the Pacific, offering students and faculty the added benefits of a larger community and increased opportunities for interdisciplinary collaboration in international scholarship and curricular offerings.

The distinctive mission of the college now, as for the past eight generations, is to provide its graduates with a superior liberal arts education, preparing them to assume the responsibilities of leadership, both civic and professional, in their later lives.

The college makes a difference in students' lives through its student-centered approach to the teaching of the arts, letters and sciences. Faculty members take a personal interest in student development throughout their university career and often stay in contact beyond graduation. They spend time with students outside of class during office hours, advising and participating in campus events. They are attentive to individual learning styles and regularly rethink their teaching methods in order to help students learn better.

Not only are members of the faculty widely recognized for their leadership in developing effective teaching practices, their one-on-one mentoring, and their encouragement and direction of undergraduate research, but also for their cutting edge research and creative work in the arts, letters and sciences. Faculty members in the college have authored and edited books with the leading university presses, regularly publish important research results in top scholarly journals, garner research grants from funding agencies such as the National Science Foundation, the National Endowment for the Arts and the National Institutes of Health, and participate in performances or displays of their creative work in distinguished venues.

This scholarly and creative activity spills over into our classrooms and informs the close faculty-student working relationships characteristic of the college, inviting students into a shared journey of discovery. In each of its 29 majors and 37 minors, the college provides opportunities for students to work with masters in liberal arts subjects and to gain further experience through a variety of placements in internships, fieldwork and research projects. While some of these majors and minors prepare students for entry into professional or graduate school, others lead directly to careers in the performing and visual arts, the humanities and the social and natural sciences.

For students in the college, a liberal arts education is not a mere addition to a professional or graduate education, but rather its foundation. We believe it informs and liberates their understanding of difficult issues and transforms them to become — first and foremost — self-reflective, knowledgeable and ethical persons.

Subsequently they are able to command a broad perspective in their professional careers, committed to the welfare of their communities and well prepared to assume the responsibilities of leadership.

PACIFIC HAIL!

Words and Music by Lois Warner Winston '23

From o'er the rugged mountains standing high;
From out the broad low valleys, 'neath the sky;
Our alma mater calls, We cannot fail,
Our voices blend in praise, Pacific Hail! Pacific Hail!

Long may her flaming torch give out its light;
Long may her spirit guide us in the right;
To her we pledge our hearts, We dare not fail;
To her we raise our song,
Pacific Hail! Pacific Hail!
