Colds

Those who patriotically carry out the government's suggestion to conserve fuel by heating their homes at lower temperatures than usual—65 degrees is the maximum—are actually conserving their own health, too.

In England, where it is customary to keep homes at 60 degrees in the winter, the people have far fewer colds than we do in U.S. The reason for it is that there is less contrast between indoor and outdoor temperatures.

The common cold germ has never been tracked down. It has never been seen through an microscope. But because of the behavior of people with colds, medical science knows the germ is there.

Colds are transmitted by contact with people who have them. Thus the first precaution is to keep away from persons who have colds and do not use drinking cups that are used by others.

Since physical resistance is an important factor in preventing colds, a balanced diet is important. Also keep your feet dry, and keep out the drafts.

If the cold is not severe at first, soaking in a hot bath may help. Then get into bed and cover up warmly. A hot drink will help.

A head cold can sometimes be relieved by inhaling steam. The simplest head cold remedy is probably a teaspoonful of salt in a glass of water. Pour a little into the palm of the hand, snuff it up the nose carefully, and then blow it out gently.

Aspirin and quinine and similar drugs will not help a cold but they dull sensitivity and make the sufferer feel a little better.

If a sore throat accompanies a cold, salt and water used as gargle is again a simple and efficacious remedy.

Those Who Go Out May Come Back

Some colonists are saying that those who go out of the Project for private employment on the outside are not allowed to return to the Project. There is no such a regulation and there never will be in the future, it was emphasized by Lorry Ilyeke, leave officer.

There will be some who go out for private jobs and would wish to return here. They will be re-accepted as residents of the Project. However, they are asked to make the best readjustment as possible while on the outside.

There will be no visiting in Tule Lake for those who are relocated, or resettled.

Clarification on those students who wish to visit their families during their vacation time is being awaited.

In order to correct any possible misunderstanding as to the relationship between the use of scrips and income tax, and the collection of sales tax, it was pointed out by the Cooperative Enterprise management that sales taxes must be collected on certain taxable items, regardless of the necessity of paying income tax.

According to the State Sales Tax Act, sales tax must be collected on the sale of certain merchandise not exempt from taxation, such as cosmetics and dry goods, regardless of the means of payment, whether for cash, scrip, credit, etc.

NEED SIGNATURE ON SCRIP TO KEEP PURCHASE RECORD

Because of the rush attending the initial sale of scripbooks in the stores, it is possible that a few books may have been sold without the signature necessary to use at the stores. If any colonist is in possession of these books without signatures, he should bring them to the Co-op office at Warehouse No. 351 for the required signature, it was announced.

Further, the only record that the Co-op has regarding its members' purchases is placed on a white slip which is in each scripbook, giving the name of the purchaser, family number, etc. This white slip, torn out by the store clerk at the time of sale, must be collected and claimed at the Co-op office before this office can account properly for the purchase. If this record is not made, the purchaser will fail to receive proper credit for the purchase.
