ACTIVITIES TELL THAT ITS EASTER TOMORROW

By Yuzio Otsuki

Put on your Easter bonnet, with all the rubbons on it...

The gathering excitement in the colony concerning fluffy, fuzzy hats and dresses, the dominance of yellow and green, Easter eggs, and the excitement for attention, chair practices, ushering in the twilight, and leaping of the "Easter Parade" whirling over the field, station bags and put out in the daytime in the daytime.

The first Sunday in April after the meals the day was
will not unlike a world wide memorial to the resurrection of Christ.

...and the "Easter Parade"
will be in the main street.
...But here
in the colony festivities will still be sincere and undulated joy, with the prevailing atmosphere.

AN EDITORIAL.

LET'S DO OUR PART, TOO.

Publications from Minidoka, Heart Mountain, Topaz, Arkansas, Boston and other relocation projects headline stories about honors accorded volunteers to the Japanese American combat unit by their respective centers.

At Heart Mountain, April 11-12, was designated Salute to Volunteers Week by Project Director Guy Robertson. A community dinner at which prominent Caucasians from nearby town was invited was held.

Saucer pins were given the volunteers by the center residents.

This is what was done at one center in honoring the volunteers who will soon be inducted.

Round of social activities to send these men are being held in various centers except at the Tule Lake Project.

As far as we know nothing has been planned by the community in recognition of the men who volunteered under the most adverse condition.

That they are deserving of every honor which we can show them, there is no question. They are willing to prove the hard way that neat are loyal American's willing to fight and die for the country in which their future lies.

They will be leaving soon for Fort Shelby, Mississippi. Let's give them a loyal send off as we can. Every organizations in the Project should join in giving them every honor possible.

EASTER EGG HUNT

Farm Equipment Should Be Used

(Continued from page 1) their farm machinery to aid in the vital work of producing food for this and other countries, or to resettle on the outskirts where their farm equipment can be put to use.

Farmers owning such machinery will benefit more by selling their farm machinery now than if they wait. This machinery is requisitioned by the Government.

ART CLASS SIGN-UP

The Adult Education Department announces new classes in art, to include pencil and charcoal drawing, painting in water colors and oils, still life, landscape and figure work.

Intructions will be given on the beginning, intermediate and advanced levels. Miss Hiras, art major from San Jose, will be the teacher. Classes will be scheduled for morning, afternoon, and evening.

Advance registering will be held on Saturday, April 24, at 10-11:30 a.m. and 2-4.

The Mess Management section of the Transportation & Supply division has repeatedly requested the mess halls to return all empty milk cans promptly as the vendors can not supply milk to the center unless these empty cans are returned promptly.

With the milk deliveries already reduced owing to the shortage of cans, vendors have threatened to cut off the supply entirely unless all cans are returned immediately to mess warehouse #325, where they can be picked up.

Persons having cans in their homes are urged to return them to their mess halls now, so that milk deliveries can be continued.

P. S. Yes, at the Year Book Carnival.

More On Easter

We climb Castle Rock with the break of tomorrow's dawn. A sermon will be heard. Choirs will sing. And as the morning rays slowly erase the cold mists and illumine the Hope and Faith and all the goodness of Earth and Heaven will swell in their intensity to flood and overwhelm our meager beings.

Blackness, pages over Earth, at this moment. All the Teachings of the Lord is stilled.

It is hoped that tomorrow, midst all the nookyday and nocturnal festivities, the resurrection of the Lord will be kept in mind, and it is hoped that His rebirth of mankind, a rebirth of a Tomorrow that will not send us scurrying back to a forgotten Yesterday...
