PROFESSOR COURTNEY LEE — ANNOUNCER

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Kevin Nagle

Mr. Nagle is the co-founder and former Chief Executive Officer of Envision Pharmaceutical Holdings, Inc, a position he held from its inception before voluntarily stepping down in March of 2014. He served as vice Chairman of the Board of Directors until the company was acquired by the Rite Aid Corporation in June of 2015 for $2.3 billion. Envision was a privately held company and reached nearly $5 billion in revenue in 2014 with very substantial EBITDA year over year during his stewardship. It was one of the five largest prescription benefit managers (PBM) nationally and consistently outperformed its competitors in virtually every critical metric measured by industry analysts during his tenure as CEO. In addition, the company had been recognized for its industry innovation and leadership in transparency in the health care marketplace.

In addition, Mr. Nagle serves as President and sole owner of The Nagle Company, Inc., an organization that is engaged in real estate development, shopping malls and other investments. Currently, he is a General Partner of the El Dorado Hills Town Center, recognized as one of the most successful developments of its kind in Northern California. He also owns several commercial and residential properties in the region. He also owns 25% of Moneta Venture Capital and resides on their Board.

He is also an owner and executive voting member of the Sacramento Kings basketball team and was highly instrumental in leading the efforts with Mayor Kevin Johnson to retain the team in Sacramento. Mr. Nagle is also majority owner of the Sacramento Republic FC, a minor league soccer club who broke every USL record including a national championship in its inaugural year (2014). He is leading the ownership group in bringing major league soccer (MLS) to Sacramento.

Mr. Nagle spent over 13 years in the pharmaceutical industry with the majority in executive management positions in managed care and contracting operations. In 1994, he joined Foundation Health Systems now known as Health Net and co-founded its affiliate, Integrated Pharmaceutical Services (IPS), which quickly became the nation's sixth largest Pharmacy Benefits Management (PBM) Company by 1998. He served in several senior level positions. Mr. Nagle left IPS in 1999 and co-founded HMN Health Services, Inc., a privately held PBM, as Executive Vice President, which was acquired by AdvancePCS (now CVS Caremark) in July of 2000.

Mr. Nagle is also a trustee at Saint Mary's College of California and Chairs the Governance Committee as an executive Board Member. He currently serves as a Board Member (Chairman of Finance Committee) of the St. Hope Public Schools in Sacramento which was recognized in 2011 as Charter School of the Year (PS7). He serves as a consultant to Leavitt Equity Partnership Fund and as a Board of Advisor for UC Davis School of Medicine. He is a Founding Member of Greater Sacramento Area Economic Council. In 2012, 2013, 2014, and 2015, the Sacramento Business Journal voted him as one of the top Leaders and Executives of the Year. In 2016 Nagle was elected to the Long Beach City College Hall of Fame and received a California State University Distinguished Alumni award.

Mr. Nagle has a passion for education reform and healthcare. While supporting numerous philanthropic causes, he has been particularly instrumental in major fund raising campaigns for the St. Hope Foundation and Cristo Rey Sacramento.

Mr. Nagle has an A.A. from Long Beach City College, a B.A., in Political Science and Speech Communication from California State University, Long Beach and an M.A., in Business and Public Administration, from the University of Southern California as well as an Executive Management Certificate in Medical Marketing from the University of California, Los Angeles, Anderson Graduate School of Business. He resides in El Dorado Hills, California. He has two daughters, Lindsay, age 26 and Haley, 23.

2016 McGEORGE STUDENT GIVING PROGRAM

The Student Giving Program leaves a lasting legacy at the law school and instills a sense of philanthropy among the students. This section is sponsored by the McGeorge Alumni Association in appreciation of the generosity of the following members of the Class of 2016.

Jenifer Nicole Gee Thanks for your support Mom, Dad, James, Grandy, Papa, Norm, Stef, Krystle, Kristian, Mr. Ryan, John, Natalie, Jack, Roxy, David, Kelli, and Lillie! Love, Jen

Courtney H. Gamez Mike and my family (biological, by marriage, and by choice): I wouldn't have made it without you. Class of 2016: I couldn't have picked a greater group of people to share this journey with. Forever McGeorge Proud.

Amanda C. Kelly Thanks to Mom for the brains, Dad for the ambition, Ryan for the love, and Oscar Wilde for teaching me I can never be overdressed or overeducated.

Rachel Miller "The one thing that does not abide by majority rule is a person's conscience." - Atticus Finch. Thank you to my Dad and Chad for their unwavering support and guidance.

Richard Duane Silvestri My wife, Wendy, has faithfully supported me in life and law school. I love you! I am also very grateful for the steady support from my three sons: Nathan, Andrew, and Jesse!

Chelsey Ann Smith “An education is the most important thing in the world, next to family. And pie!” - Gilmore Girls

Kayla L. Thayer Because Olivia.

Emily Angela Wieser I would like to give a special thank you to my family, friends, and boyfriend for all of their love and support the past three years. I could not have made it to this point without your constant encouragement and I am so grateful to have you all by my side.

Stacey Marie Westerlund Thank you to all my friends and family, especially my Mom and Mike, for your unwavering love, support, and encouragement through life’s challenges and helping me to reach new heights that I never dreamed were possible! I love you a bushel and a peck!

UNIVERSITY OF THE PACIFIC

PROFILE OF THE PACIFIC

University of the Pacific is an independent, coeducational university serving nearly 6,300 students on three campuses in Stockton, San Francisco and Sacramento. It was established by pioneering Methodist ministers in 1851 as California's first chartered institution of higher learning. Pacific has earned widespread recognition for its deep commitment to teaching and learning, its history of innovation, and the accomplishments of its 60,000 alumni.

As an innovator and leader in higher education, Pacific provided the state with its first chartered medical school in 1858 (which later became part of Stanford, and today is California Pacific Medical Center); its first coeducational campus in 1871; and its first conservatory of music in 1878. It was the nation's first to offer an undergraduate teacher corps program, the first to send an entire class to an overseas campus, the first to establish a Spanish-speaking inter-American college, and the first to offer a four-year graduation guarantee. With its move from San Jose to Stockton in 1924, Pacific became the first private four-year university in the Central Valley. Shortly after occupying the new campus, Pacific established one of California's earliest schools of education. In 1992 it was renamed the Gladys L. Benerd School of Education in honor of the alumna's endowed gift.

Pacific has enjoyed extraordinary stability in administration. Dr. Pamela A. Eibeck began her service in 2009 as the sixth president since the university's move to Stockton in 1924 and the 24th since its founding in 1851.

The university experienced its greatest growth and an expansion into graduate and professional education under the administration of Dr. Robert Burns (1947–1971). The School of Pharmacy opened in 1955. It is now the Thomas J. Long School of Pharmacy and Health Sciences in honor of the Pacific benefactor and Regent who co-founded the former Longs Drugs Stores. In 1956 the graduate school was created, and in 1957 the School of Engineering was established. The Department of Computer Science joined the school in 2002, and the school was subsequently renamed the School of Engineering and Computer Science.

In 1962, the university acquired the College of Physicians and Surgeons, a school of dentistry founded in San Francisco in 1896. In 2004, the school was named the Arthur A. Dugoni School of Dentistry in honor of its dean of 28 years. It was the first time any university in the United States or Canada had named its dental school for the current dean.

Three new cluster colleges were established at Pacific in the 1960s, in the model of British universities such as Oxford and Cambridge. These colleges integrated faculty and students into distinct living and learning communities. Raymond College, established in 1962, was an accelerated, interdisciplinary liberal arts program in which students shaped their own courses of study. Elbert Covell College, established in 1963, was a unique inter-American college. Half the students were from the U.S. and half from Latin America, with classes taught in Spanish. Callison College, established in 1967, focused on non-Western studies with a year of study in an Asian culture.

The cluster colleges were absorbed into the rest of the university in 1982. Their values, including a close-knit learning community, accelerated and interdisciplinary programs, and self-designed majors, have left a lasting impact on Pacific. Their emphasis on global education continued in the School of International Studies, founded in 1987 as the first university-based undergraduate school of international studies in California. In 2012, the School of International Studies, while retaining its autonomy as a school, became part of the College of the Pacific.

In 1966, Pacific broadened its footprint to Sacramento when McGeorge College of Law, an independent law school founded in Sacramento in 1924, merged with the university as the Pacific McGeorge School of Law. In 1977, the department of business administration in College of the Pacific was reorganized as the School of Business and Public Administration. In 1995 it was renamed Eberhardt School of Business in honor of the Eberhardt family's endowed gifts. Programs designed specifically for adult re-entry students were reorganized and revitalized in 1985 through University College, now the Center for Professional and Continuing Education.

Over the last 20 years, Pacific has advanced its legacy of innovation and leadership. Under the leadership of President Donald V. DeRosa (1995–2009), the university invested more than $200 million in facilities renovation and construction projects on all three campuses. Pacific also increased distinctive accelerated programs that enabled students to complete undergraduate studies in combination with professional degrees in pharmacy, law, dentistry and business. The university intensified its commitment to experiential learning, including Pacific undergraduate research, internships, community service and education abroad. Pacific also launched the Brubeck Institute, dedicated to building on the legacy of Dave Brubeck '42, and the Powell Scholars Program, a premier scholarship program for undergraduate student leaders.

UNIVERSITY OF THE PACIFIC

Under the stewardship of Pacific's current president, Pamela A. Eibeck, Pacific is expanding its presence in Sacramento and San Francisco and implementing a bold new strategic vision, Pacific 2020. This vision capitalizes on Pacific's highly regarded academic programs, formative student-teacher relationships and multiple locations to position University of the Pacific to become the best teaching-focused university in California — the first choice for talented students who want excellent programs, close working relationships with faculty, a challenging but supportive learning environment, and an exciting future after graduation.

In 2013, the university received a transformational gift of $125 million from the estate of the late Regents Robert and Jeannette Powell. The Powells were ardent champions of the university's educational mission, and great advocates for access and excellence. In accordance with their wishes, their gift has been endowed and earmarked largely for scholarships and academic programs. A large portion of the gift is being used to encourage others to make endowment gifts through the Powell Match Program. Our donors' generosity and passion for Pacific will mean that generations of students will be able to achieve a superior education.

Pacific is leveraging its presence in three of Northern California's most prominent cities. In July 2014, the university opened a stunning new campus in San Francisco at 155 Fifth Street. The campus provides the requisite space and facilities for the Arthur A. Dugoni School of Dentistry to continue defining the frontiers of dental education. It also expands Pacific's educational footprint and visibility in San Francisco in the health, technology and arts and culture sectors. New academic programs in analytics, audiology, music therapy and food studies began in fall 2015, and additional new programs will be added in the coming years. Pacific's Sacramento Campus is also expanding, offering exciting academic programs at the intersection of law, policy, business, education and health. Anchored by the McGeorge School of Law, the campus is adding graduate academic programs keyed to the needs of a metropolitan region, charting a bold future. A Master of Science in Law degree is now available through the McGeorge School of Law. New graduate programs in business and education launched in 2015 and new graduate programs in public policy and public administration, physician assistant studies and analytics will begin in 2016 and 2017.

President Eibeck has made community engagement a priority for the university. In 2010, Pacific launched the "Beyond Our Gates...Into the Community" initiative in order to forge community partnerships that improve lives in our region. As part of Beyond Our Gates, some 50 community partners have united in an effort to improve early literacy.

The Beyond Our Gates Reading by Third campaign recently received a grant from The James Irvine Foundation to strengthen early literacy programs in the San Joaquin Valley, while the Beyond Our Gates Community Council, an advisory board comprising local leaders, has garnered national attention. Through the work of the council, San Joaquin County has been designated a Community Pacesetter in the area of early literacy by the Campaign for Grade-Level Reading. San Joaquin County has also been named a GradNation Community by the America's Promise Alliance in recognition of efforts to increase high school graduation rates.

Pacific's schools and programs also serve the community in important ways through health and dental clinics, legal clinics and community service. In the 2014–15 academic year, the Arthur A. Dugoni School of Dentistry provided $10 million in uncompensated dental care to patients; students at the Thomas J. Long School of Pharmacy and Health Sciences volunteered an estimated 30,000 hours to provide health-related services to the community; the McGeorge School of Law legal clinics provided free services to hundreds of clients; and student volunteers on the Stockton Campus gave more than 7,600 hours of community service.

On July 1, 2013, University of the Pacific rejoined the West Coast Conference. A founding member of the conference, Pacific shares its sister institutions' long tradition in intercollegiate athletics and their dedication to high-quality academics and athletic success.

Pacific continues to enjoy national recognition for its leadership in higher education, consistently ranked among the best national universities and as a “Best Value” by U.S. News & World Report and Princeton Review. U.S. News also ranks Pacific very high (No.15) for ethnic diversity. The Economist and The Brookings Institution have ranked Pacific the No. 3 best value college or university in California. It is among the top 10 schools in the nation whose graduates exceed expected earnings, according to an analysis by the Georgetown University Center on Education and the Workforce.

The university remains deeply committed to its personal, student-centered approach. Faculty and staff are dedicated to excellence in teaching. Close faculty mentoring, a rich blend of liberal arts and professional education, and a broad array of experiential learning activities that prepare students for lasting achievement are hallmarks of the Pacific experience.

UNIVERSITY OF THE PACIFIC McGEORGE SCHOOL OF LAW

92 years ago, McGeorge School of Law began as a one-room night school in downtown Sacramento in 1924 when it was founded as the Sacramento College of Law. Verne Adrian McGeorge was the founding dean and professor of law. In 1929, the Board of Trustees renamed the school McGeorge College of Law in honor of its founder.

Succeeding McGeorge, Russell Harris was dean from 1930-1933. Gilford Rowland was dean from 1933-1937. Lawrence Dorety was dean from 1937 until the school closed during WWII. The school reopened in 1946 under Dean John Swan. In 1957 Gordon D. Schaber became dean of McGeorge College of Law. That same year the law school moved to its permanent home in a vacant well-baby clinic at the corner of 33rd Street and Fifth Avenue in the Oak Park neighborhood.

The school won full accreditation from the State Bar of California in 1964. McGeorge affiliated with the University of the Pacific in 1966 and began offering day classes the following year. The merger with Pacific paved the way for ABA accreditation (1968) and an explosive growth in enrollment the following decade.

McGeorge's 13-acre campus is a 26-building complex that includes 14 classrooms, a courtroom, student center, student apartments, community legal services offices, and the lecture hall. The McGeorge Legal Studies Center opened in 2011 and houses the Gordon D. Schaber Law Library.

A leader in the study of international law, McGeorge established a presence in Europe in 1974. Anthony M. Kennedy, an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States and adjunct professor of constitutional law at McGeorge since 1965, teaches each summer at the school's International Legal Studies Program in Salzburg, Austria.

Dean Gerald Caplan succeeded Schaber in 1991. In 2002, Dean Elizabeth Rindskopf Parker became the eighth dean of Pacific McGeorge. In 2012, Francis J. Mootz III, formerly of UNLV's William Boyd School of Law, became the ninth dean of Pacific McGeorge. The McGeorge faculty includes 48 full-time faculty and 68 adjuncts recognized nationally and internationally in their fields.

THE ORDER OF THE COIF

The Order of the Coif is a national society for law students that recognizes academic excellence and promotes legal scholarship. Award of the chapter of The Order of the Coif signifies that the school of law maintains scholarship and academic standards of particularly high quality. The McGeorge Chapter was chartered in 1982. Chapters have been awarded to 80 of the 198 law schools accredited by the American Bar Association. Candidates for the Juris Doctor Degree who have been elected to membership are designated by the “[coif]” symbol.

HISTORICAL SIGNIFICANCE OF THE MACE

Originally a weapon of offence used in medieval warfare by a king or a noble, the mace has been refined to a symbolic device used on ceremonial occasions. The mace, as an academic symbol, dates back to 16th century England when Queen Elizabeth I presented a replica of her own royal mace to the corporation of the University of Oxford. She ordered that it be used in all ceremonies to represent the royal presence and the authority given to the university to grant degrees under the royal insignia. King Charles I made a similar gift to Cambridge University in 1625.

Robert E. Burns, Pacific president from 1946-1971, asked Stuart Devlin, an internationally-known London silver designer, to create University of the Pacific’s mace. It was commissioned in recognition of the University’s transition from a college to a university and was first used at a Founders Day ceremony on March 6, 1966. Constructed entirely of silver with a gold plated seal of the University in its head, the mace weighs 15 pounds and is approximately four feet long. It was a gift from Mrs. Winifred Olson Raney, a regent of the University. The mace is displayed at all official University functions, including Commencement and Convocation. It is traditionally carried by the chair of the Academic Council to symbolize the role of the faculty in university governance.

SIGNIFICANCE OF ACADEMIC REGALIA

Distinctive academic dress can be traced back to the universities of the Middle Ages when students and faculty wore robes of the clergy. Today three ranks of degrees are distinguished through variations in the robes, which also indicate the discipline and the university that awarded the degree.

In the United States, gowns generally are black, although a few universities have adopted other colors for their doctoral gowns. The field of learning in which the degree is awarded is shown by the color of the edging of the hood, and in some cases by the color of the facing and crossbars on the doctoral gown. Some of the more frequently seen colors are: white (Arts and Letters), pink (Music), dark blue (Philosophy), light blue (Education), scarlet (Theology), golden yellow (Science), lilac (Dentistry), olive green (Pharmacy), and purple (Law). The colors of the lining of the hood are those of the institution awarding the degree. For example, University of the Pacific is burnt orange and black. An olive green tassel is often worn on the cap to signify the field of Pharmacy, although generally bachelor's and master's tassels are black. Doctoral tassels generally are gold. The left side of the mortarboard is the proper side to wear the tassel after graduation. An individual's degree is revealed by the type of gown and width of the edging on the hood.

For graduates or candidates for the Juris Doctor Degree who are elected to The Order of the Coif, as part of their academic regalia, the traditional white coif is attached to their mortarboard.
