Farley to Address Graduates

RETURNS: Former Dean Fred L. Farley will speak to the Class of 1956 on June 10.

Dr. Fred L. Farley, now of Carmel, the only man who has served Pacific in three deanships—Dean of Men, Dean of the College, and Dean of Graduate Studies—will address the class of 1956, their parents and friends, the Pacific faculty, and representatives of the public generally who attend the 99th commencement program of the college in Baxter Stadium, Sunday evening, June 10, at 7:00 p.m.

The beloved academic administrator and professor of ancient languages retired in January, 1955, with emeritus status. He and Mrs. Farley, a former Pacific professor of English, have since occupied their home by the sea and have become equally revered members of the Monterey peninsular community.

The commencement address will be followed by the conferral of 236 baccalaureate degrees in arts, science, music, and civil engineering; 49 masters degrees in arts, sciences, music and Asian studies; 3 doctoral degrees in Asian studies; honorary degrees, and the Order of Pacific.

President and Mrs. Burns will receive the graduates, their parents, and all friends of the College at the traditional President's Reception in Anderson Social Hall following the academic ceremonies.

BLAUFUSS to Head Alumni

George Blaufuss of Napa, graduate with the class of 1939, was elected president of the Pacific Alumni Association on Alumni Day, May 12.

The young business leader will take over the alumni position on July 1 from Marlitt Stark of San Jose of the class of 1927. The president elect recently headed up the organization of a Napa chapter of the association.

Stark presided at the annual campus banquet which capped the Alumni Day program when the new officers were presented. Others elected are Glenn O'Dale of Vallejo, class of 1933, vice-president; Howard Lewis of Stockton, class of 1941, treasurer; and Mrs. Bradford Crittenden of Stockton, class of 1934, secretary.

Nine graduates were elected to two year terms on the statewide alumni council. They are Hamilton Briggs and Thomas George of Stockton, Thomas Cotter of Piedmont, Mrs.

Charles Welch of Lodi, Edgar Parsons of Sacramento, Maurice Wood of San Jose, Bruce Orvis of Farmington, Stephen Goodman of San Jose, and William Fox of Concord.

The Alumni Association honored Rockwell Dennis Hunt with a special award, presenting a scroll which cited his many services to Pacific as an alumnus, teacher, and historian over a span of more than 60 years. Hunt, who had been a teacher at Pacific before the turn of the century, returned after a long career at the University of Southern California, to become the first director of the California History Foundation at COP. In response to alumni recognition, he declared, "We live to learn. Education is never ending."

During the alumni day program delegates listened to panel discussions on COP athletic policies, the future prospects of the College, and the future organization of its alumni body. Executive Manager Van Sweet reviewed alumni activities for the past year. Members of the Pacific Half Century Club held a special luncheon and reunion session.

President Robert E. Burns addressed the banquet session, speaking on five forceful facts for the future. He said that population increases, domestic use of atomic energy, automation, rising living standards, and more leisure time will be the factors shaping life in the future. "This does not mean we are headed for Utopia," he cautioned. "Human relations are likely to be at high tension during periods of rapid change such as we are facing now."

NEW TRUSTEE:

Dale G. Hollenbeck of Stockton, President of the Thornton Canning Company, was named to the Pacific Board of Trustees in March. An outstanding leader in the development of the Pacific Associates organization, Hollenbeck is regional Vice-President of the statewide boosting group for San Joaquin County. He is the second Associate to be elected to the 36 member governing board from the membership of the Associates.

THIRD ALUMNI CAMP SET

All reservations for the third annual Alumni Summer Camp at Silver Lake should be received by July 1, according to Van Sweet, Executive Manager. Camp runs from July 28 to August 4 at the beautiful Amador County Stockton municipal vacation site. The Pacific camp, under excellent direction, is for complete families—kids and parents.

Complete information and application forms were printed in the Part I edition of the May Pacific Review. All further information is available by addressing the Pacific Alumni Association, College of the Pacific.

Masonic Scholarships Announced

A $1,000 scholarship for graduate study in public school administration will be awarded by the California Grand Lodge of Masons for a year of study at the College of the Pacific, Stanford, or the University of California according to the announcement of Grand Master Edgar V. Stewart, Jr., of Los Angeles.

Another similar scholarship will be made available at the University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, or the Claremont Graduate School. Applications are now available through the deans of the schools of education at each of the six institutions. They must be presented by candidates for the awards by June 1.

Applicants do not have to be currently enrolled in a college but must be eligible to register at one of the participating schools for graduate study in educational administration related to public education. While they will be judged in all phases of acceptability for advanced study, candidates must also submit an essay on the origin, development, and purpose of public schools. The Public Schools Committee of the Grand Lodge will judge the papers for their quality and originality, and for the practicality of proposals they may present.

Dean J. Marc Jantzen of the COP School of Education declares "the program will stimulate advanced study at the doctoral degree level which will help to produce much needed school administration leadership."

Announcement of the winning scholarship contestants will be made June 15, and the awards will be available for use on July 1.

Vierling Kersey of Van Nuys, chairman of the Masonic committee, says the plan is "the pilot run of a continuing scholarship program to be conducted by the Masons of California."

PRESIDENT ROBERT E. BURNS and DEAN LLOYD M. BERTHOLF were among 14 Northern California delegates to the 2-week quadrennial Methodist General Conference at Minneapolis, Minnesota. The world-wide conference is the denomination's law and policy making gathering. It last met in San Francisco in 1952. Dean Bertholf headed the elected delegates from the California-Nevada Methodist Conference. He is the Conference's lay leader and a member of several boards, including the church's national Board of Lay Activities. He served on the committee on lay activities at the Minneapolis conference. Dr. Burns served on the education committee. He is a member of the church's national Board of Education and formerly was a member of the University Senate.

PACIFIC OFFERS Summer Travel-Study

There is still time to make application for places on the 1956, 52-day College of the Pacific tour of Europe which departs from New York via Pan American World Airways on June 29.

Pacific Dean and Mrs. Lloyd M. Bertholf are conductors of the party which will visit ten countries in western and southern Europe: Portugal, Spain, France, Italy, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, the Netherlands, and England.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bertholf spent a year in Europe when he received a Rockefeller Fellowship and visited most of the places included on the COP itinerary. They speak German and French, and are students of wide cultural interests — scientific, literary, artistic, and religious.

Two 16-day tours through Alaska are also on the COP travel schedule, managed by Director of Tours Elliott J. Taylor. The northwest groups depart from Seattle July 1 and July 29, going to Juneau, Whitehouse, Fairbanks, Mt. McKinley Park, and Anchorage, with many side excursions to pick up the principal towns and scenic wonders of the area.

With collateral reading and writing college credit may be earned on any of the summer trips. Academic registration is optional, however, and the general public is invited to apply along with students and teachers who join these excursions.

Complete descriptive material and applications are available by addressing Elliott J. Taylor, College of the Pacific, Stockton.

A world politics discussion group which will meet weekly was organized at Pacific last March. The program is presented by University of California Extension and the American Foundation for Political Education.

REUNION: Former Pacific Conservatory Dean Charles M. Dennis, visits with his one time pupil, J. Russell Bodley, who became Dean in 1955. Now a resident of Sonora, Dennis is teaching a music education class at Pacific.

He retired recently from his post as supervisor of music for the San Francisco schools.

Pacific Organist Retires

Longest in service at Pacific among the faculty of the Conservatory of Music, Allan Bacon, Professor of Organ, completes a 34-year COP career as of the June tenth commencement.

Thousands of alumni will long remember Allan Bacon at the console of the Watt Memorial Organ in Pacific Auditorium thundering out Bach chorales or deftly releasing the most delicate effects of Debussy impressions.

He has presided at this and other Pacific instruments since 1922, performing a vast repertoire of the world's greatest literature for pipe organ.

Born in St. Louis, the teacher-virtuoso studied under private teachers there, in Chicago, and in Los Angeles. After teaching privately himself, he entered the college music world at Parsons College, Iowa, in 1919 where he taught until his appointment to the Pacific Conservatory, then located in San Jose. He was originally chairman of both the organ and piano departments and was known many years as a "two instrument" man.

Always a student, and recognized for his keen philosophical thinking, Bacon completed his formal education at Pacific, earning both the bachelor and master of music degrees, meanwhile advancing rapidly as a writer of musical analysis and criticism, a concert artist, and lecture-recitalist.

Three times Bacon toured professionally, coast-to-coast, presented at the greatest organs in the United States and Canada. In 1919 he toured in Europe; in 1951 in Mexico. Throughout northern California he has given uncounted piano lecture-recitals as well as his many home concerts in Pacific Auditorium and the Morris Chapel.

National music journals have published numerous of Bacon's reviews and articles. In 1953 his book, The True Function of Church Music, was published. In 1955 Pacific published his paper, The Music of the Future, which he had delivered as the fifth annual Faculty Research Lecture, and in which he presented striking predictions of the characteristics of music in the atomic-global age.

Professor Bacon has long been active in the American Guild of Organists and is a member of other music societies, Phi Mu Alpha and Pi Kappa Lambda. He is a past president of the Stockton Knights of the Round Table and a member of the First Congregational Church.

With Mrs. Bacon, he has long resided at 125 W. Stadium Drive in Pacific Manor where their family grew up. Their three children are Mrs. Doris LaMond of Stockton, wife of a Pacific Conservatory piano professor; Stanley H. Bacon of San Pablo; and Mrs. Caryl Mac Kirkpatrick of Sweetwater, Texas.

LT. PHILIP SMITH MEMORIALIZED BY SCHOLARSHIP FUND

A revolving loan fund scholarship for study in international relations at Pacific has been established in memory of First Lieutenant Philip Thomas Smith of the United States Marine Corps. Attached to the 251st Squadron of the First Marine Air Wing, Lt. Smith was killed while on flying maneuvers over Okinawa on October 27, 1955. Son of Frank Thorton Smith, long prominent Stockton choral leader and singer, Lt. Smith was a COP degree candidate when he entered the Marine Corps in 1951.

The scholarship fund, which already contains several hundred dollars, was started by the 251st squadron, a sister squadron, the 121st Marine Air Group—and the Stockton College Troubadors, choral organization directed by his father of which Lt. Smith was a member.

Two other community singing groups conducted by Frank T. Smith,

FORMULA FOR SCHOLARSHIPS: Peter Van Der Meulen, Personnel Director of the Stockton division of the Fibreboard Corporation, hands checks for $1600 to President Robert E. Burns. The funds are for scholarships in the department of Chemistry, of which Dr. Emerson J. Cobb (right) is chairman. Three scholarships for entering freshman, and one for a senior are provided by the gift. This is the second year that the big manufacturing concern has supported the chemistry department program.

the Monday Nighters and the Tuesday Eves, have placed six flowering cherry trees on the campus near the Irving Martin Library in Lt. Smith's honor. A bronze plaque inside the building will permanently record the gift.

While he was on duty in Korea Lt. Smith had charge of distribution of materials for construction of churches, schools, and hospitals in the Seoul area. He earned the warm friendship of the native community by his many services including the organization of a new Sunday School. It was these services which prompted designation of the memorial scholarship funds for the international relations field in which Pacific has developed an inter-departmental major curriculum.

"Things Will Hum This Summer"

Pacific Summer Sessions, a thirty-year development organized first by Dr. G. A. Werner and later directed by Dean J. Marc Jantzen, have become one of the most intense periods of campus activity.

Jantzen expects enrollment during the two five-week 1956 terms, which start June 19 and July 23, to push the 2000 mark, a figure which tops full and part time enrollment in the spring and fall semesters by 200.

In addition to regular summer enrollees, the annual Folk Dance Camp will bring 250, and Pacific Music Camp 300. A series of Methodist Church related workshop sessions for laymen and ministers will draw a few hundred more. Add the more than 300 who will attend the Pacific Philosophy Institute sessions and the total number of people who will do one sort or another of summer study with COP connection will be well over 3000.

Summer offerings are not all confined to the Stockton campus. Graduate studies in the affiliated American Academy of Asian Studies are at 2030 Broadway in San Francisco. Biological sciences are pursued at the Pacific Marine Station at Dillon Beach in Marin County. Drama is in the hands of the Pacific Theatre Columbia Company which operates in Tuolumne County at the restored, gold rush Fallon House Theatre in Columbia State Park. The philosophy discussions are assembled at the Zephyr Point Conference Grounds, Lake Tahoe, Nevada.

A resident teaching and administrative staff of 75 will be augmented by 28 visiting professors from institutions as far flung as Columbia University, Washington State College, University of Colorado, the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, and Michigan State University. Of special interest to alumni, the visiting teachers include Pacific sociology graduate Jack Parsons, class of '35, now assistant professor of social work at the University of Washington.

Twenty major departments are represented in the summer curriculum. Education offerings are the most extensive as hundreds of teachers and school administrators in service, as well as prospective educators, enroll. Several professional workshops are scheduled in this field.

Other special features, unique in the Pacific summer pattern, include the service and training program of the coordinated clinics in speech correction, remedial reading, music therapy, and child play therapy, and the fourth annual Family Life Education Workshop.

Complete catalogues of the summer sessions are available on order to the office of Dean Jantzen.

by CARROLL R. DOTY
ATHLETIC NEWS DIRECTOR

COACH - DIRECTOR: Jack "Moose"
Myers now does double duty for COP
Sports.

A move unique in College of the Pacific athletic annals came April 16 when President Robert E. Burns appointed Head Football Coach Jack "Moose" Myers as Acting Athletic Director, replacing Paul Christopulos who resigned.

It marks the first time Pacific has ever combined the jobs of football coach and athletic director, although Earl R. Jackson served several post-war years as track coach and director.

At 31 years of age, Myers is one of the youngest athletic directors in the nation at a college with a major athletic program. Burns' move was in keeping with the general "youth movement" throughout the land in athletic administration.

Myers has indicated he is going to take his time in appointing an assistant director to replace H. L. Stern, who resigned with Christopulos. Meanwhile, Basketball Coach Van Sweet is giving up his duties as alumni secretary to move into the athletic department fulltime and aid Myers in administrative duties.

As football coach Myers has proven to be an excellent public relations representative of the college, as well as having a fundamental grasp of the problems of athletic administration. His appointment has been received with great enthusiasm by supporters of the school.

Pacific's won-lost record in spring sports showed improvement over the past three seasons but still wound up with more losses than wins. With four of six schedules completed, the Tigers took 19 victories against 23 defeats and one tie. Track and field had the best record with 8-1. Swimming was 4-4, rugby was 2-6-1, and baseball was 5-12 (the 35 game losing streak was broken the second game of the season). Tennis and golf run through May, but so far the netters have compiled an 0-8 mark and the golfers a 2-6.

Highlights of the track season were school record breaking performances by Charles Curtis, who did 9:52.0 in the two mile, and Jack Marden, who did 1:56.0 in the 880. Tom Perry went the entire season undefeated in the high and low hurdles and George Lane turned in weekly iron man stunts, winning points in the shot put, discus, javelin, broad jump and high hurdles.

Baseball showed steady improvement, and with no seniors on the starting nine Skip Rowland figures to have a club ready to turn in a wining season next spring. Chris Kjeldsen's already thin swimming team loses several point-winners by graduation, aren't bright. However, John Rohde's and prospects for their replacement ruggers came strong at season's end and figure to be tough in '57.

During spring football practice, the Tigers will put on special scrimmages on Saturday, May 12, for Alumni Day, and on Saturday, May 19, for Block "P" Day. The latter day all Block "P" winners are being invited to watch the head-knocking in the afternoon and then join with the coaches on an outing which will feature hot dogs and beans. Attempts are being made to contact letter winners of past years personally, but if some are missed, just show up and join in the fun.

THERE HE GOES: Dick Bass, sensational footballer from Vallejo, who will cavort at left half for the 1956 Tigers, is pictured romping 85 yards against San Jose State's freshman last fall while he played with the Bengal Cubs. He tallied 9 TD's in 3 games and averaged 13.6 yards per carry from scrimmage.
