

1892-03-26

Letter from F. B. Perkins to John Muir, 1892 Mar 26.

F B. Perkins

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence>

Recommended Citation

Perkins, F B., "Letter from F. B. Perkins to John Muir, 1892 Mar 26." (1892). John Muir Correspondence (PDFs). 154.

<https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence/154>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the John Muir Correspondence 1856-1914 at Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in John Muir Correspondence (PDFs) by an authorized administrator of Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact mgibney@pacific.edu.

[17]

San Lorenzo 3/26/92

Mr John Muir

My dear Mr Muir

Your note of yesterday reached me this morning & gave me great pleasure. The hope of meeting you once more & listening to your descriptions & explanations, makes, of this, a red letter day to me. Such an informal conversational address as you suggest, moreover, is precisely what I should of all prefer.

And now I am moved to ask if you will not fix a date for this great favor.

We are as you know a fruit growing community, & after the first of May the busy season is upon our orchard etc. About that time also I am expecting to be absent on a visit ^[?] among my friends at the east. Can you not give us the pleasure during the month of April? I would suggest Thursday evening the 21st inst. That would give the people moonlight for their home going; & in other respects would be very favorable. Any other date after the 17th, however, which would accommodate you, would be agreeable to us. It will be a kindness if you will take the matter into your own hands & notify me as to the date. Will you also kindly state to me the terms on which you will come.

Hoping to hear from you soon and favorably I remain

Sincerely yours,
J. B. Perkins.

01304

01304