Homecoming Program '58

SEVEN CLASSES HOLD REUNIONS

From the "100 years ago" theme of 1957, the 1958 Homecoming motif swings all the way to "Pacific of the Future" — a label calculated to stimulate an exotic train of futuristic and space-age floats in the Annual C.O.P. parade at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, October 18, which begins the Homecoming Day program. Junior Alan Hill of Palo Alto is director of the cavalcade which will march the Pacific Avenue route from Harding Way to the campus. In announcing the schedule, Executive Manager Mel Nickerson emphasized that Alumni headquarters for the day will be maintained in the lounge of the new Women's Residence Hall, open from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. and from 12:30 to 5:00 p.m. Please register here. Headquarters will also be the scene of a continuous, "all day" reception with faculty members greeting their former scholars.

The colorful new dining hall here will also accommodate the general Alumni luncheon at 12:00 p.m. where faculty hosts will be at each table and Dr. Samuel Meyer, new Academic Vice-President will address the returned collegiates. Fraternity and sorority circles will be buzzing with luncheon reunions at the same hour.

Seven classes will stage reunion dinner-receptions before the 8:00 p.m. football game. The 35-year class of 1923 will dine in the President's Dining Room, Anderson Hall at 4:30 p.m. Mrs. Homer Bodley is chairman. Guest of honor will be Marian Barr Smitten, Dean of Women, Emeritus.

Elliott Taylor and Harold Jacoby, two class of '28 products who have careered it at Pacific, are co-chairmen for their mates of 30 years ago who will banquet at 4:00 p.m. in the Anderson "Y" Center. The special faculty guests are Dr. and Mrs. Tully C. Knoles, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Stanford, Professor Hebert Jonte, and C. E. (Swede) Righter, well remembered Pacific coach from 1923 to 1933, and Mrs. Righter, the former Margaret Williamson.

The quarter-century class of 1933 will meet at 4:30 in Anderson Dining Hall with Kenneth Stocking and Hil-muth (Dutch) Ulmer as hosts. Two former faculty members with their wives, Conservatory Dean Charles M. Dennis and teacher-coach Harold Cunningham will be faculty guests along with two couples from the present staff, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Noble and Mr. and Mrs. Art Farey.

The Reef, Lincoln Village restaurant, will be 4:30 rendezvous of the class of 1938, chairmaned by Dale Parlier and Beck Parsons. Dr. and Mrs. James Corson (he is Superintendent of the Modesto school system) and three Carmelites are the faculty guests. The latter are former Dean Fred L. Farley and Mrs. Farley, and Professor of Mathematics, Emeritus, Charles M. Corbin.

Ellis Lind of KSTN fame will greet his 1943 classmates at 4:30 p.m. at Risso's Restaurant. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kjeldsen, Ellen Deering, Dean and Mrs. Edward Betz, and Mr. and Mrs.

DeMarcus Brown—all on the active list—will represent the faculty and staff.

The ten year class has a 4:00 p.m. dinner date at Bruno and Lena's along with Dr. and Mrs. Charles Norman, Dr. and Mrs. Allen Waldo, Doris Richards, and Prof. and Mrs. Irving Goleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reynolds and former Dean of Women Mrs. Clarence Peterson (Harriet Monroe) are guests of the five-year class of 1953 at the House of Murphy at 4:00 p.m. Geoff Thomas and Al Muller are hosts.

A barbecue dinner and rally at 5:30 p.m. in Pacific gymnasium awaits all alumni not affiliated with the anniversary classes. Park here and you are parked for the game when C.O.P. hosts University of Cincinnati in the renewal of an intersectional series that is now balanced at two victories each for Tigers and Bearcats.

The football aftermath is a reunion and dance at the Stockton Ballroom.

Programmed to give the maximum opportunity for Pacific fellowship on a class, fraternal, or all-college basis, Homecoming '58 is expected to draw the biggest turnout yet registered.

THE PLANNERS: Wearing the modern duck-billed frosh dinks, these chairmen for the 1958 Homecoming class reunions, being instructed by Director Mel Nickerson, are Hilmuth Ulmer and Ken Stocking '33, Elliott Taylor '28, J. Russell Bodley '23, Al Muller '53, Ed Hannay '48, and Ellis Lind '43. Other class hosts not pictured are Harold Jacoby '28, Dale Parlier and Beck Parsons '38, and Geoff Thomas '53.

The CAMPUS NEWS Front

By ARTHUR FAREY

On September 27 Pacific dedicated the largest structure on its campus, the new Women's Residence Hall for 400.

Opening of the $1,585,000 building is the latest climax in a post-war expansion surge that has seen the erection of 20 units including, notably, the Irving Martin Library, West Hall, Owen and Bannister Halls, and Pacific Memorial Stadium. The new residence hall boosts the plant valuation of the College — grounds, buildings, and equipment — to $6,250,000. When Pacific moved from San Jose to Stockton in 1924, its old campus was sold for less than $100,000.

A dining room for 410, two large recreational lounges, six smaller lounges each with kitchenette, a library, reception lobby and offices, apartments for supervisory personnel, and two large patio areas are included in the new facility as well as 200 residence rooms. Howard Bissell and the firm of Clowdsley and Whipple, associated Stockton architects, effectively planned what is Pacific's biggest, most modern and lavish structure, but which fits perfectly into the prevailing architectural pattern of the campus.

The Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency provided all but $50,000 of the construction cost. The latter amount, and some $150,000 for furnishings, represents private gifts. Aided largely by the Pacific Associates, the drive for these funds will be completed this year. The federal loan calls for an amortization schedule of 40 years, but if the hall is operated near capacity it will retire the loan in a shorter time.

By releasing the 270-capacity South Hall-West Hall quadrangle to men, the opening of the new building actually provides more new campus space for men than women. The total housing capacity is now well over 1000.

ENROLLMENT CLIMBS

Pacific conferred 352 degrees at the 101st commencement June 8, then greeted 1548 full time students on September 15 to open the fall semester with the greatest enrollment in the 108 year history of the College. The classes are well distributed: 400 freshmen, 358 sophomores, 386 juniors, 343 seniors, 58 graduates. Of the total, men are 807, women 741.

These figures show Pacific thoroughly reestablished as a four year and graduate school. Lower division classes were resumed in 1951 after a 15 year interim during which Pacific and Stockton (junior) College were coordinated institutions.

The new enrollment peak also pushes close to the projected "1750 full time students for Pacific's foreseeable future"—an estimate of the faculty and administration formulated hardly four years ago. As a policy, this projection will apparently be put to the acid test within two years—maybe only one. Just how far is the future of an institution "foreseeable"?

COMMENCEMENT HIGHLIGHTS

A journalism major, Joan Ulrich of Saratoga topped the class of '58 degree winners with a grade point average of 3.97 to earn highest academic honors. She was Pacific Weekly editor.

Baccalaureate degree recipients included Lois Warner Winston of Oakdale, author of the beautiful "alma mater" hymn, Pacific! Hail!—sung by Pacificites for more than 35 years. Mrs. Winston has previously been published as "class of '23."

Alumnus L. Eugene Root, class of '28, now Vice-President of the Lockheed Corporation and General Manager of its Missile Systems Division at Sunnyvale, was among four who accepted honorary degrees. The engineering graduate was awarded the degree, Doctor of Science.

Doctor of Divinity degrees were conferred upon two Methodist district superintendents, Dr. Carl Stocking of Fresno, and Dr. John William Black of Fullerton. Dr. Stocking now is General Program Secretary of the California-Nevada Conference.

To commencement speaker Fuad Sarruf of Lebanon went the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws. He is Vice-President and Secretary of American University in Beirut. A countryman, Fuad Nahhas, was among the 1958 degree winners who heard him declare "There is no such thing as resting on one's laurels, either in the United States or in the Middle East, in the struggle for freedom, for dignity, for creative peace."

The highest "Pacific family" honorary award, The Order of Pacific, went to Dr. Ernest E. Stanford as he retired from a long Pacific career as Chairman of the Department of Botany, posthumously to Dr. George H. Colliver, founder of the Department of Bible and Religious Education who died Decem-

FACULTY EXPANDS

Pacific began the new academic year with a new Academic Vice-President on the job, Dr. Samuel Meyer, whose appointment was announced in the February Review. Other appointments to the faculty include ten full time teachers representing several outstanding colleges and universities. Eight of the group hold the Ph.D. degree. They are Jesse S. Binford, Asst. Prof. of Chemistry, from University of Texas; Roland E. Johnson, Asst. Prof. of Psychology, from Ohio State University; Arthur H. Maynard, Prof. of Bible, from University of Miami; Edmund T. Peckham, Assoc. Prof. of History and Political Science, from Rice Institute; Perry J. Rockwell, Jr., Asst. Prof. of Education and Psychology, from University of Wisconsin; Richard D. Settle, Asst. Prof. of Speech, from Michigan State University; Edmund F. Soule, Asst. Prof. of Music, from Salem College; John Suchy, Prof. of Pharmacy, from Montana State University; Norman P. Van Walterop, Inst. in Pharmacy, from Smith, Kline and Franch Laboratories, Philadelphia; and Thomas E. Young, Asst. Prof. of Physics, from Rice Institute.

NEW STAFF APPOINTMENTS

Include Robert Stewart to the new Pacific post of Director of Religious Life, from University of Arizona where he was Director of the Wesley Foundation Student Center; Glenn Price, Director of the Westerner Foundation office to be located at Pacific; Vera Brooke, Assistant Director of Development, from Oakland where she supervised public relations activities for the Goodwill Industries; and William Tunnell, Director of the Athletic News Service.

TRAVEL for CREDIT

Pacific sponsored travel for the year ahead includes two round-the-world itineraries, according to the announcement of Elliott J. Taylor, Director of Tours.

President Robert E. Burns, in company with Ted F. Baun of Fresno, President of the Board of Trustees, will conduct a nine-week trip departing San Francisco January 15 and traveling eastward via Great Britain, Germany, Austria, Turkey, Egypt, Jordan, Israel, Lebanon, Pakistan, India, Thailand, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Formosa, Japan, Korea, and Hawaii.

Dr. Alonzo Baker, Pacific Professor of Political Science, guides a second global excursion leaving San Francisco June 17 and traveling westward. The 72 day schedule does not include England and Germany but picks up the Mediterranean nations of Greece, Italy, Spain, and Portugal. It will be Dr. Baker's second circumnavigation in four years.

person, and the line would be exactly one mile long—a long way of saying that 5280 people saw one or more of the five productions given a total of 32 performances by DeMarcus Brown's unique Pacific Theatre summer troupers at Columbia Historic State Park.

Summer was a busy season all around, a far cry from the days when a college shut down for three months between semesters. Enrollment for the two regular five week sessions on the Stockton campus was over 1500. Both the Pacific Music Camp and Pacific Folk Dance Camp were over 1957. In addition to several educational

Dean and Mrs. Edward S. Betz will conduct the annual two-week "Flight to Mexico" popularized by Mr. Taylor. During the same period, Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Stuart, Western Americana experts at Pacific will escort a chartered bus schedule on the "Apache Trail" through the U.S. South West area. In the spring they will again conduct the long popular California Missions and Historical Landmarks Tour, and in the summer of 1959 will offer the second annual "Beaver Trail Tour" through the Pacific Northwest to British Columbia.

All Pacific tours are open to alumni, teachers, students, and the public generally. All provide the opportunity for earning college credit through collateral reading and writing assignments. Registration for academic credit, however, is not required for enrollment in the travel parties.

For all information, detailed itineraries, costs, accommodations, conditions, and reservations, address Elliott J. Taylor, Director of Tours, College of the Pacific, Stockton 4, California.

workshops presented by Pacific, the Methodist Supply Pastors Summer School, convention of the Wesleyan Service Guild, School of Missions of the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Presbyterian Leadership Training School kept the campus humming. Activity at the Pacific Marine Station, Dillon Beach, is on the climb again. The 11th annual Pacific Philosophy Institute, forced to leave its Lake Tahoe setting after ten years, did not draw as well at White Sulphur Springs, Napa County. Director William D. Nietmann will try Asilomar on the Monterey Peninsula in 1959.

Pacific and the...

"Pursuit of Excellence"

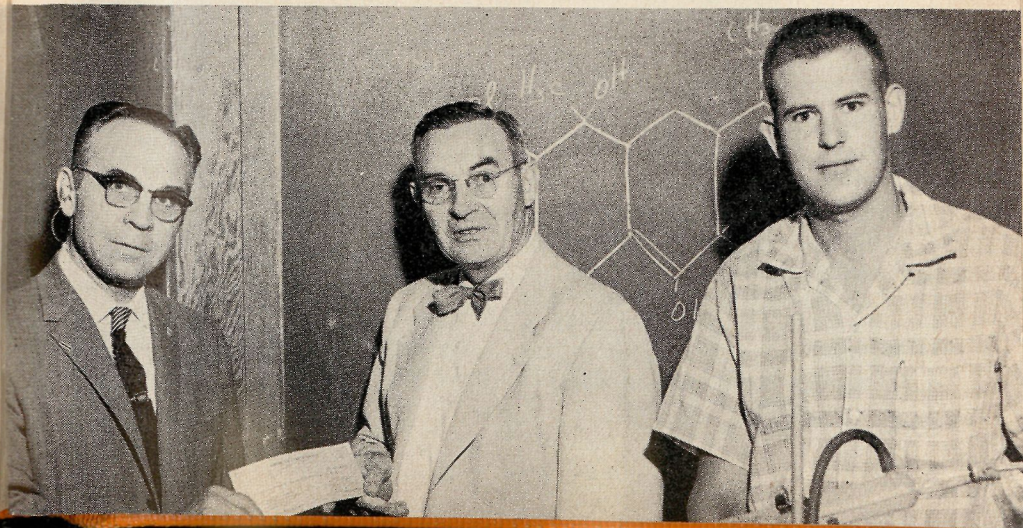

For the first time in the 108 year history of Pacific the question of putting a ceiling on student enrollment is no longer an academic one. The registered consensus of faculty and administration is that 1750 students should be the maximum for the Pacific campus and the Pacific type of educational program—for the "foreseeable future." This policy is about to meet the acid test. How far is Pacific's future "foreseeable?"

If this concept sticks, Pacific must actually begin to reject qualified applicants as early as the fall of 1959, certainly no later than 1960. Enrollment today is over 1560, 15% over last year. Another jump of the same proportion and Pacific bumps heads on this projected ceiling. Will it give way?

Pacific has always subscribed to the educational practices and values considered to be inherent in the "small" college. At the same time it has always been glad to grow. It is exciting to report that Pacific now claims its largest student body ever, but even more gratifying to point out that these students entered across the highest threshold of academic admissions requirements yet established here. Pacific growth is not to be measured in size alone.

Nevertheless, California's first college has reached another "where do we go from here?" juncture. In 1872 Pacific went from two little buildings in Santa Clara to a new 20-acre campus in San Jose. In 1924, the question was answered by moving 75 miles to Stockton and a 50 acre campus, now grown to 72. After 35 years, what many Pacific educators believe to be the right student population is not more than two years away. But the next answer will not be a physical relocation.

Unless the idea of keeping Pacific among the "small" colleges of America is entirely set aside, expansion cannot be its essential objective in the future. A relative matter, "little Pacific" may not be so diminutive in the college world as the title suggests. Among the privately endowed institutions only three in California handled more students last year than Pacific: University of Southern California, Stanford University, and the University of San Francisco.

What Pacific really seeks in the future revealed itself in the process of defining its objectives and organizing its financial needs for public consideration. Pacific wants to grow in quality. Pacific wants to climb toward the highest attainable levels of academic standards and campus life experience. Quality, not quantity, is the key to Pacific's future place.

The 35 year era on the Stockton campus is characterized by expansion. Pacific sold its San Jose campus and buildings for $77,000. Today the plant valuation — buildings, grounds and equipment — is $6,250,000. Enrollment has increased 700 percent. Happily, Pacific standards "expanded" no less rapidly.

Hence Pacific's latest developmental presentation is titled Pacific and the "Pursuit of Excellence" — A Design for a Decade. The quoted phrase is from the soon-to-be-published, scholarly Rockefeller Brothers report on the status of higher education in America today. The Pacific adaptation of this theme calls for $10,000,000 in new resources in a ten year period.

To be sure, there are building projects in the design — nine of them. They are estimated, however, as only one-third of the total objective. Further, they do not represent any proposed new academic extensions. They are physical facilities required to maintain and advance the quality of teaching and student life. They include added space for science, education, music, drama, women's physical education, library, men's residences, student social facilities, a program of modernization and redevelopment in many departments, and finally a great gothic tower with carillon to center the main academic quadrangle and to symbolize the objective of the whole enterprise — excellence.

More than half of the dollar objective is assigned to various endowment aims including student scholarship and loan funds, the California History Foundation, the Knoles Foundation in Philosophy, The Hunt Chair of History, and a quarter of a million in unrestricted endowment.

The third element calls for $100,000 annually to insure advances in teaching salary scales and the balancing of annual operational budgets, and for the elimination of an approximate $700,000 indebtedness. These are the costs of quality, the price of excellence, as estimated by Pacific management today.

It points to an era of refinement and enrichment of the College program, rather than the expansion of quantity. Pacific will now seek to focus the interest of its constituency

FRATERNAL CENTENNIALS

RHIZOMIA AND EMENDIA CELEBRATE AT HOMECOMING

Rhizomia (Rho Lambda Phi) and Emendia (Epsilon Lambda Sigma), the oldest college fraternity and sorority in California, respectively, will each make special observance of the 100th anniversary of its founding during the Pacific Homecoming schedule, October 18.

More than 200 Rhizites and wives have made reservations for the events which will recall the organization of their order on November 26, 1858. A "centennial kit" awaits each member when registration begins at their campus house at 11:00 a.m. Favors and a fashion speaker will put the focus on the ladies when the Rhizomia party lunches at The Reef Restaurant at 12 noon.

Chartered busses will carry the group to the Stockton Country Club for a 5:00 p.m. banquet, and back to the campus for the 8:00 p.m. football on the building of quality, inviting them to join in the "pursuit of excellence."

What new demands, what fresh opportunities, what changes in educational philosophy, what findings from "space utilization" studies may emerge within a decade are not "foreseeable." But however its specific objectives may be amended, to search after excellence cannot of itself be a wrong emphasis, and many of Pacific's long established departments and projects need better support to maintain and advance their services.

Nor is Pacific's pursuit to be merely a chase after dollars. The re-examination of the whole educational and life game. After the battle, the fraternity party will join with the all-alumni dance at the Stockton Ball Room. Arrangements for Rhizomia were headed by Joe Hodson.

Alumni of Epsilon, founded November 12, 1858, will gather for a luncheon at noon in the recently renovated sorority house on campus. If the day is sunny, tables will be set outside. A block of seats has been purchased for the football game in the evening.

From 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. Epsilon is sponsoring a dance at the Country Club, open to members and friends, with music by Jimmy Limbaugh's orchestra. Co-chairmen are Mrs. Bertram Maurer (Carol Cole x45) and Mrs. C. A. Lease (Doris Warren).

Mrs. Harry Tremaine (Mervel Hammell '42) is president of Epsilon Sigma Lambda Board. Linda Getchell a junior from Redding, is serving as alumni secretary at the house.

experience pattern is involved. Within a year, to point only one specific example, the College will appoint a qualified authority to conduct a two-year research project toward the possibility of a new, integrated, "general education" program for Pacific undergraduates.

The problem of expansion that American higher education faces to serve the oncoming waves of college age youth is fantastic. Even more difficult will be solving the problems of securing the standards of excellence which the production of leadership requires.

Engineering Advances at

The College of the Pacific School of Engineering now has 60 major students enrolled: 24 freshmen, eight new-transfers, and 28 previously enrolled. The announcement in 1957 of school status for the previous departmental organization, coupled with the development and dedication of Baun Hall exclusively for the School, has put new focus on engineering career training at Pacific—and students are responding.

Growth of the School will strengthen male enrollment for Pacific. Only one "coed" is among the majors. "She didn't do it to get a husband," asserted Adelbert Diefendorf, Dean of the School, "she didn't need to."

Three majors are now available: Civil Engineering, Engineering Management, and Engineering Sciences. A curriculum in electrical engineering is next in the development plans. Some study of nuclear engineering has been introduced. The first candidates for the master of science degree are now at work in the school.

Six graduates of the school received bachelor of science degrees at the 101st commencement in June. Three are now junior engineers with the California Highway Department: Arthur Coleman, Earl Fukamoto, and Charles Price. Stanley Brockhoff is in graduate study at Stanford University, Victor Meyer joined the firm of Robert Snyder, Stockton consulting engineer, and George Tchobanoglous is a teaching assistant in the College of Engineering at the University of California.

Physical development of the Baun Hall facilities was advanced recently by equipment gifts from the Asphalt Institute of San Francisco, and C. Robert Clarke of Honolulu. Two installations for testing of bituminous road construction materials were given by the Institute.

Clarke, a Pacific engineering graduate of 1950 and now President of the Clarke-Halawa Rock Company, Ltd., of Honolulu, has presented $2500 worth of special equipment to outfit a new laboratory for the physical testing of concrete and Portland Cement.

The School now stages an Annual Highway Engineering Conference with the cooperation of the California Highway Division, Association of General Contractors, League of California Cities, California Trucking Association, County Engineers Association of California, the Portland Cement Association, the Asphalt Institute and more than 40 business firms.

The published Proceedings of the First Annual Highway Conference form a 177 page, illustrated book produced in Pacific's duplicating shop operated by Milton Lambertson. It contains the full texts of 16 professional lectures on various aspect of highway construction, control, and maintenance by experts in each subject.

Alumni can do much to assist the new School of Engineering by directing the attention of prospective students to this opportunity for high standard training at an independent, residence campus institution.

SCIENCE AT PACIFIC

Three grants to Pacific teachers for technical research assignments mark increasing recognition for the quality of science education at Pacific: Dr. Emerson Cobb, Chairman of the Department of Chemistry, for the American Cancer Society, will try to combine radioactive isotopes with an antibiotic which has been found to linger in cancer cells for longer periods than in normal cells. In theory, radioactive tetracycline remaining in cancerous cells would tend to inhibit them without injury to normal cells . . . Dr. Herschel Frye, Assistant Professor of Chemistry, for the Research Corporation of New York, will measure the rate or velocity of certain esterification reactions, research data important in the progress and applications of chemistry . . . Dr. Donald L. Lehmann, Assistant Professor of Zoology, for the U.S. Department of Health, will experiment with the differential cultivation of some amphibian trypanosomes (blood parasites similar to types thought to be related to heart diseases).

In the School of Pharmacy, to help generate support for research projects, The Institute for Pharmacological Research has been organized under direction of Dr. Carl C. Riedesel, Chairman of the Department of Physiology and Pharmacology, and with the counsel of Dr. N. S. Van Matre, newly appointed Assistant Professor of Pharmacy from the University of California at Davis.

KEEPING UP with the ALUMNI

NEL FRANCES WILLISON of 1215 Jefferson St., Port Townsend, Washington, writes in appreciation of receiving the Pacific Review and Alumni Bulletin, but remarks it is not often that people she knows are mentioned. A music major, she recalls that after the death of her father in 1906 she went abroad for three years, living most of the time with a French family. Returning to the United States she lived in New York with a married sister who died ten years ago. At present she lives with her sister Geraldine.

Last year Nel wrote a history of their little Episcopal Church, "Little Old St. Paul's" and currently is occupied in writing a book about Discovery Bay, which lies nine miles west of Port Townsend and was discovered by Vancouver in 1791.

Dr. HAROLD S. TUTTLE, an educator for more than half a century, is now pastor of the Union Church in Lanai City on the island of Lanai, Hawaii. This summer he returned for the third time in five years to teach summer session at Colorado University. He and Mrs. Tuttle had planned to retire in the Hawaiian Islands after 14 years at the City College of New York, and ten years in leadership training at Lewis and Clark College in Portland, Oregon. But before they left Lewis and Clark he was called to the island church.

Dr. Tuttle earned both Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts degrees at Pacific. Later he was graduated from the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley. Columbia University conferred his Doctor of Philosophy degree.

HAROLD (HAL) LUCAS and his wife, Mayfred, of Berkeley, left June 9 by air for his new post in Rangoon as Fraternal Secretary serving the Rangoon Y.M.C.A., Union of Burma.

FRANCIS W. SPRADLEY, student on the San Jose campus, 1920-22, is renewing old ties with Pacific. He lives in Highland Park and operates a real estate brokerage office at 5911½ North Figueroa Street, Los Angeles, where he has been located for 20 years. He and his wife, Nanette, have nine children, seven sons and two daughters, five of whom were graduated from various schools in June—a circumstance which prompted a congratulatory telegram from Governor Goodwin Knight.

Sheepskins were in order for their fourth son, Joseph, with a Ph.D. in engineering from UCLA; their oldest daughter, Susanna (mother of six sons) who returned to Franklin High School to complete her schooling and serve as valedictorian of her class; Thomas, from Los Angeles City College; Andrew, Los Angeles State College; and Mary, from Luther Burbank High School. Not on the roster of graduates are David, teacher in Baldwin Park; James, in the U.S. Army; John, returned from four years in the Navy and now attending night classes at Los Angeles City College, and Mark, 7.

OTTO RECKNAGEL '27, is tax collector of Solano County and has been in public service for 17 years. For 11 years prior to his election as tax collector in 1951, he was chief deputy county clerk. He thinks his job one of the most interesting in county government.

C. ERNEST DAVIS, former executive secretary, Christian Education Commission, Church of the Brethren, with headquarters in Elgin, Illinois, retired from this position as of August 31. MARK PARSONS (M.A. '52) and FAY QUISENBERRY both of Modesto Junior College faculty, were awarded American Cancer Society scholarships for a special session on health this summer at the University of California at Los Angeles. Mark is physical education and hygiene instructor and varsity football coach. Miss Quisenberry is dean of women and has been giving attention to the screening of students interested in the field of medical technologists.

GALEN M. "STUB" HARVEY, in a recent "reminiscing" letter to the editor, recalls when he was not only the biggest but oldest freshman on campus in '38. After two years his father sent him to Whittier College where he "—felt it would be best for me to soak up some Quaker culture, too, now that I had been—contaminated with Methodism." He served on the Pacific Weekly staff as radio editor and wrote a column, "The Cat's Whisker." "Stub" was promotion manager for the fiftieth football season celebration for Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg in 1939.

Known professionally as "Mr. Big", "Stub" recently completed a four-month engagement as organist and pianist at a Portland restaurant, Berg's Chalet. He left in September to give a series of Hammond organ concerts throughout the midwest under the supervision of the University of Minnesota.

CLARENCE COMPTON, associated in various posts for the past 12 years with Capwell's, outstanding Oakland retail store for more than 69 years, is manager of the new six million dollar Capwell's El Cerrito. The firm's fourth store, just opened, has a staff of some 350 and an annual payroll in excess of $1 million. An enthusiast in woodcraft and model railroads, Compton makes his home in Orinda with his wife, the former MARIAN PEASE, a daughter, Leslie, 16, and a son, William, 9.

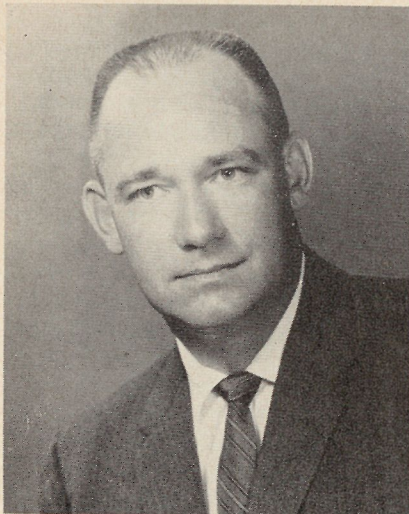

LAWRENCE SHORT, notable music major from Pacific and now music director at Burlingame High School, had the rare opportunity this summer to take a group of 34 wholesome, healthy, happy, and talented American youth, members of his high school orchestra, to the European continent.

At the invitation of Thurston Davies, director of the United States Pavilion at the International World's Fair in Brussels, and in observation of the International Music Festival, Short's string orchestra was invited to appear, the only such student group to be presented at the American Pavilion.

A successful whirlwind campaign raised $40,000 to finance the 27-day trip via "polar flight." Result: "A superb performance—the practicing, discipline and determination paying off in a manner to exceed all expectation," according to San Francisco Columnist Marjorie Trumbull, who accompanied the group; and the opportunity to prove to the world that it is possible to foster high cultural literacy in an ordinary American public high school. Miss Trumbull paid tribute to Director Short, "their extraordinary, gifted teacher," and to Miss Virginia Short of the Pacific Conservatory faculty, one of his former teachers (but no relation) who also went along, "whose moral support and musical knowledge have contributed so very much to the entire project."

In a talk before the Stockton Rotary Club after his return, Short said in conclusion, "These poised, talented, and vivacious youngsters were the best ambassadors we could send to foreign

By BILL TUNNELL
DIRECTOR ATHLETIC NEWS SERVICE

With come-through performances at two key positions, College of the Pacific could enjoy a moderate amount of success this fall in the gridiron wars. However, the spots in question are in the hands of inexperienced personnel, always a shaky proposition at best.

IF Gary Hubb or Herman Urenda are able to handle the quarterback chores and IF Bob Mazzuca or Jerry Jerner are up to taking charge of the center post, this could be one of the better Tiger squads.

Hubb has the only experience at the signal-calling position among the four quarterback hopefuls and that was but 10 minutes with the Varsity in one game in 1957. Urenda performed brilliantly for last year's frosh, but the big step may be too much for him in one year. The other two candidates—Chuck Verduzco, a transfer from East Contra Costa J.C., and Earl Moreno, transfer from Stockton College—are very much in the battle for the job.

Jerner, Modesto J.C. transfer, and Mazzuca, Stockton College transfer, have the necessary qualifications for the center job, but again experience is lacking.

The strong points in the Tiger attack will be the running of Dick Bass, All-American candidate said to be one of the best college runners in the nation, and Jack Larscheid who carried the load for the Bengals for the past two seasons while Bass was injured, plus two great ends in Speedy Ola Murchison and rugged Bob Denton and good depth and experience in the interior line.

Denton has rung up more playing minutes over the past two seasons than any other Tiger and at 6'-4", 235 pounds is big enough to take care of himself. Murchison is more of the gazelle type at 6'-3", 210 pounds and moves at a 9.7 clip in the 100-yard dash and has clocked 21.1 in the 220.

In addition to Denton, last year's starters returning in the line include

Willie Hector at right guard is a sophomore and according to line coach Don "Tiny" Campora is one of the best performers he has ever seen. At 6'-2" 205 pounds, Hector was clocked in spring track meets at 9.9 for the dash and 15.0 for the high hurdles.

Fullback is well under control with the hard-running Ken Uselton, backed by letterman Henry Wallace, shifted from left halfback. The right halfback spot is in the hands of three capable performers, Bobby Hicks, Tony Aflague and All-American J.C. transfer Gene Stafford from Reedley J.C.

The Tigers may have problems, but they also have some great assets. All in all, it should be an interesting season.

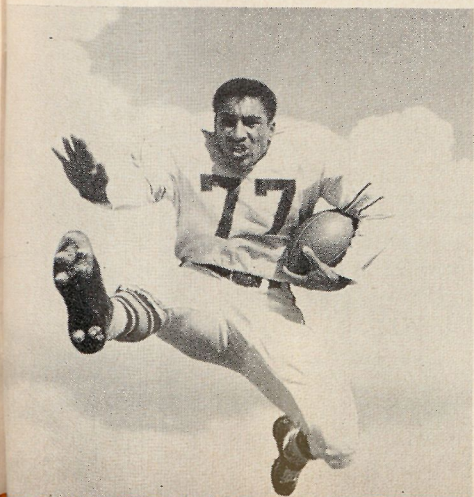

TIGERS WIN AT CALIFORNIA

Showing tremendous spirit and poise the Pacific Tigers came from behind three times to defeat the University of California Bears 24 to 20 in a stunning season opener at Memorial Stadium, Berkeley.

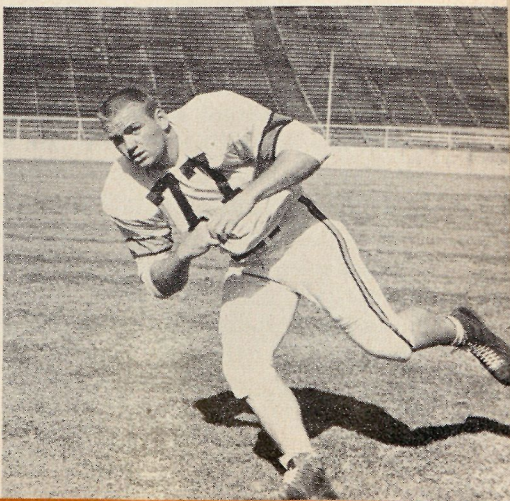

Halfback Dick Bass, playing under the heaviest pre-season pressure ever exerted on a College ball player, accepted the burden of proof and demonstrated his All-American caliber. Coming back after a year of gridiron inactivity because of a broken leg before the start of the 1957 schedule, the amazing halfback ran to a new C.O.P. single game record of 225 yards, and scored 12 points on a TD and three successful after touch down conversion passes. The big one was his 78 yard twister for the second Pacific score.

The Tiger victory was over a highly capable California team. Tremendous quarterback Joe Kapp showed class enough to be Saturday's hero on any weekend but this one. Bass topped everything.

HALFBACK: Dick Bass running on cloud seven.

GUARD: Carl Kammerer, strictly down to earth.

The upset of California immediately projected Bass, the Pacific team, and coach Jack Myers into the national picture—so much so that the foregoing will be news to few Pacific alumni anywhere. The brilliant Pacific opener was a shot heard round the sports world and published copiously across the nation.

So are the results of the season's second tilt with Arizona State, even though the game is three days away at copy deadline for the Pacific Review.

PACIFIC 34 - ARIZONA 12!

Whether it was win, lose or draw, remember the Tigers face the fastest team in the nation. Undefeated since 1956, the Arizona State crew topped national yardage and scoring records for 1957, and claimed the individual rushing champion, Leon Burton. Almost intact, it is the team which swamped the Tigers 41-0 last year. Featuring Bass versus Burton, it should have filled 36,000 seat Pacific Memorial Stadium. There was no better billing in U.S. college football for Saturday, September 27.

If Mr. Bass stays in good condition he may hold a whole helmet full of Pacific and national football records before the season is over. But it's a rugged season. San Jose State was the only Pacific opponent which lost its season opener, and that by only one touchdown to the University of Washington. Washington State, Pacific foe for November 15, merely beat Stanford 40-6.

First to credit other members of the Pacific team was Bass himself. He recognizes and appreciates what capable blocking means to him. Quarterbacks Gary Hubb and Herm Urenda showed in the opener they can create real running and passing threats in their own right. Several other good running backs and tough linemen contribute strongly to the Pacific cause. There is no such thing as a star without a team.

DINNER BEFORE THE SAN JOSE TRADITIONAL

The San Jose Alumni Club will hold the annual pre-game dinner for Pacific graduates and guests in the First Methodist Church of San Jose on Monday, November 3. The principal speaker for the meeting will be L. Eugene Root '32, Vice Pres. and General Manager of the Guided Missiles System Division of Lockheed at Sunnyvale. Campus guests will include Chancellor Tully Knoles and Alumni Director Mel Nickerson. Mrs. Helen Sobczak '46 is in charge of arrangements for the annual affair.

ANNUAL REUNION OF THE "SHOOTING STARS"

The annual reunion of the 1950 intramural basketball champions, the "Shooting Stars" was held the weekend of June 28 at the Fresno home of Robin Rush. Team members include Phil Tippet, '50; Doug Breien, Clark Fisher, Alden Huff, Robin Rush, and Bill Wood, '51; and Walter Baun, Gordon Johnson, Al Smith and Doug Smith, '52.

FACULTY ASIDES

Dean J. Marc Jantzen of the School of Education is a member of a new State of California Commission to Assist and Advise on Certified Employment Practices in the public schools. The Commission resulted from a bill passed at the last legislature calling for investigation of racial and minority discrimination in teacher employment. Dr. Jantzen will represent the teacher training area on the Commission.

Dr. W. Edgar Gregory, Associate Professor of Psychology, has signed an agreement with Wadsworth Publishers of San Francisco to publish his text Personal Adaptability — A Psychological Hygiene, to come off the press next year. The work will be the result of Dr. Gregory's past ten years in teaching mental hygiene courses at Pacific, attended by some 2,000 students.

Islam and the Arabs is the latest in an impressive series of books by Rom Landau, Professor of Islamic and North Africa Studies. First text of its type, the volume was published in England. Landau is official biographer of King Mohammed V, monarch of Morocco.

Dr. Alonzo L. Baker, Professor of Political Science and International Relations, has a five-night a week analysis of the news, "Inside the News," on T.V. Station KOVR, Channel 13, at 10:45 p.m.

Dr. Richard Coke Wood, an Associate Professor of History and specialist in California history, was named during the late summer as a California award winner of the American Association of State and Local History. The award is presented for contribution to better understanding of national heritage on the local level.

Mrs. Fay Goleman, Assistant Professor of Education and Sociology and Consultant in Psychiatric Social Work has been elected president of the Community Council of Stockton and San Joaquin County. Dr. David Bruner, associated professor of sociology, was elected secretary.

Philip M. Iloff, of 1287 Woodland Ave., Chico, Professor of Mathematics at the College of the Pacific, has been elected a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The honor is a recognition of scientific standing.

Helen B. Dooley, Professor of Art, was featured in a one-man show of water colors and oils during the month of August at the Artists Guild of America, Inc. in Carmel. She displayed a collection of 21 works.

Each birthday celebration of Amos Alonzo Stagg touches off an unusual story for national distribution. Just before his 96th Anniversary on August 16, the great coach collected his own life insurance, two policies totaling nearly $11,000. Insurance men say Mr. Stagg beat odds of 100,000 to 3. He is still assisting Don Hall, one of his former C.O.P. centers, in special coaching details for the Stockton College Mustangs.

Dr. Paul A. Schilpp, President of the American Philosophical Association represented the organization at the 12th International Congress of Philosophy in Venice, in September. He is a former chairman of the Pacific Department of Philosophy and Founder and Editor of the famed Library of Living Philosophers.

For Reginald R. Stuart, History Foundation Director, a western award in western motif the embossed, hand painted, cowhide plaque called the "Spur Award" for the best western, non-fiction writing of 1958, given by The New American Library and Rand-McNally. Stuart won with his piece on Jedediah Smith in This Is The West, anthology published by The Westerners.

CRABBE MANAGES KVIE-TV

Successful in coordinating the fund-raising campaign to finance a new Central Valley educational television station KVIE, Channel 6, John C. Crabbe, director of radio and television at Pacific for 21 years, accepted in May the post of General Manager of the new broadcast outlet.

He was executive secretary of the Station's governing body of Central California Educational Television Inc., since 1955 serving on a volunteer basis until December, 1957, when Pacific loaned him to CCET full time for the duration of the fund raising project.

KVIE will begin operations in December and will be affiliated with the Educational Television and Radio Center at Ann Arbor, Michigan, a Ford Foundation Project, which will have available the best educational material in the nation.

A member of the Pacific class of 1937, Crabbe returned to the campus the same year to establish the first major radio curriculum in a western college.

He established Pacific's KCVN, only college owned and operated FM radio station in Northern California. He and Mrs. Crabbe, the former Bobbin Gay Peck '38 and family have moved to Sacramento.

PACIFICANA TO BE ORGANIZED

Mrs. George H. Colliver, Assistant Circulation Librarian at Pacific, and Pacific alumna of the class of 1915, has received the interesting special assignment of developing and cataloguing a special collection of Pacificana. Her work will bring together and identify many books, periodicals, photographs, souvenirs and various artifacts that reveal and document the history of California's first college.

Nearly a half century of continuous Pacific association and professional library experience particularly qualified Mrs. Colliver for this task. Her work will in time create an invaluable service and reference collection.

One of the first special gifts to the collection are the scrap books of former head coach C. E. "Swede" Righter of Burlingame, which present a comprehensive picture of C.O.P. in inter-collegiate athletics from 1923 to 1933, with other sidelights on Pacific in its San Jose to Stockton transition era. Righter will personally present his valuable materials on Homecoming Day, October 18.

Alumni interested in contributing to the special library collection are invited to communicate with the Editor or with Mrs. Colliver.

SCHOLARSHIP AID:

Boyce estate which yielded $21,000 in scholarship aid for men students this year. Isetti, a history major, won a partial tuition grant from the funds for the third time. Explaining the operation of the estate is Clyde Nielson, trust officer for the Bank of America, which manages the estate, held in trust for Pacific. The benefactress, who died in 1954, was a member of a pioneer Lodi family and a 1901 graduate of Pacific. Already tuition grants to 92 students have been awarded from the Boyce funds.

Pacificites in the Political Picture

The current county, state, and national political picture is feeling the influence of Pacific alumni and former students. Winning over the opposition in the June state primaries were incumbents WILLIAM (BILL) BIDDICK '41, state assembly, and ALAN SHORT '43, state senator, both Democrats. On the November ballot FRED VAN DYKE, Republican and a Linden area farmer and former political science major and Pacific athlete, is running for the office of representative of the 11th Congressional District against incumbent John McFall of Manteca. On the county level Mrs. CARTER DUNLAP (BARBARA ALBERTSON '43) was elected to the San Joaquin County Republican Central Committee. JOHN CECHINI '37, a Stagg football center, is in the running for the office of Municipal Judge in Stockton.

Mrs. CURTISS TARR (BETTY MYERS) of 74 Arbutus Avenue, Chico, writes that her husband is the Republican candidate for the United States Second Congressional District from California, which covers 19 counties.

$337 was produced by Alumni Association investments managed by Bernard Piersa. Son of Beck Parsons, class of '38, Rollo is of the third generation of the noted "Parsons family Pacific."

EVA OTT HEADS ROSENBERG PROJECT

A $13,000 grant from the Rosenberg Foundation of San Francisco has launched another educational pilot study at Pacific, an experiment in a supervised internship period for newly appointed public school teachers. One aim of the study is to show how special guidance for beginning teachers may reduce the number who quit the profession after the often difficult first year experience.

Eva Ott, long time Oakland schools principal and until recently a member of the Educational Policies Committee of the National Education Association, resigned her East Bay position to direct the C.O.P. project for the School of Education. She will guide the training of a selected group of San Joaquin and Stanislaus County rural school principals in the special supervision of first time teachers.

The Rosenberg grant is the third to Pacific. Work of the coordinated clinical services, and a teacher education pilot study were previously supported by the foundation.

With the Alumni Clubs

RENDEZVOUS AT BALICO

The Clyde Jones Ranch at Ballico was the scene of a barbecue and swimming party for Stanislaus-Merced alumni in September. Arrangements were made by a committee headed by Jim Bainbridge '36 of Turlock. The group elected Mrs. Louise Blaine '32 president. East Bay Alumnae of Tau Kappa Kappa Sorority enjoyed in August a "get acquainted" party for freshmen girls. A fashion show was held in the home of Mrs. Arnold Ure of Lafayette.

TULLY C. KNOLES SCHOOL DEDICATED: "The elementary school is the most important in our education system. There the youngsters learn the basic groundwork which allows them to do their best in later years," said Chancellor Tully C. Knoles of Pacific in response to the September dedication in his name of the newest school in the Lincoln School District north of Stockton. Presenting Dr. Knoles was his former student, Mrs. Mabel Barron, class of '27, now Superintendent of the Lincoln School District.

Deadline for Fulbright Applications

Approximately 1,000 American college graduates will have a chance to continue their studies in any of 43 foreign countries during 1959-60 under the International Educational Exchange Program of the Department of State, according to the Institute of International Education.

Recipients of awards under the Fulbright Act for study in Europe, Latin America, and the Asia-Pacific area will receive tuition, maintenance, and travel to and from the country of their choice.

The Institute of International Education is receiving applications for these scholarships until November 1, 1958.

General eligibility requirements are U.S. citizenship, a Bachelor's degree before departure, language ability sufficient to carry on the proposed study, and good health. A demonstrated capacity for independent study is also necessary. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age.

Competitions for the 1959-60 academic year close November 1, 1958. Requests for application forms must be postmarked before October 15. Completed forms must be submitted by November 1. Address the Institute of International Relations 291 Geary St., San Francisco 2; or East 67th St., New York 21, N.Y.

IN MEMORY

Miss M. Ruth Smith, professor of modern languages and well known teacher of French at College of the Pacific for 31 years, died September 11 in a Billings, Montana, hospital.

In failing health this past year with a heart condition, Miss Smith was stricken in July while traveling in Yellowstone National Park with her brother, Maxwell A. Smith, a professor in the University of Chattanooga.

Memorial services were held September 18 in Morris Chapel, with Dr. Ward Willis Long, former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Stockton, officiating.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin where she first taught, Miss Smith was a professor at Illinois Wesleyan University before coming to Pacific in 1927. She also taught for Stockton College. Advanced study took her to several American universities and twice to the University of Paris. She had traveled extensively, making five trips to Europe, one journey around the world, and 21 visits to Mexico. In 1950, the ministry of education of the French government honored her by presenting a medal naming her "Officer de l'Academie."

For several years she counseled foreign students at Pacific. During World War II she served as a Red Cross Aide in San Joaquin General Hospital. She was a past president of the F. S. Chapter of the P.E.O. Sisterhood and belonged to several professional societies.

Two sisters also survive, one her twin, Mrs. R. N. Posgate of Weaver-ville, N.C., and Mrs. Eric Ellerby of Lander, Wyoming.

Friends have been invited to contribute to a memorial book fund in her honor for modern language volumes in the College library.

Grace Farey Lundeen, honors graduate with the class of 1924, died June 7 in Italy following a car crash about 60 miles from Venice. She and her husband, Pacific classmate Ernest F. Lundeen, were on a seven months travel itinerary which had taken them first to the Belgian Congo in February and March. Here they visited their son, Lawrence, an engineer supervising construction of a Methodist mission hospital at Wembo Nyama, and his family. Later the Lundeens were touring Western Europe by automobile when the tragic accident occurred.

Mr. Lundeen was hospitalized for 22 days before he was able to return to their home in Vallejo where he is Director of Adult Education for the Vallejo Unified School District. Two memorial services were held for Mrs. Lundeen, one in the Methodist Church of Venice, Italy, on June 29, and the other in the First Methodist Church of Vallejo of which she was a member, on July 29.

Several years the official lay representative of her church to the California-Nevada Annual Conference sessions held at Pacific, she was long a leader in Methodist women's work in both local and conference activities. At Pacific she was a member of Tau Kappa Kappa.

Two other children of the Lundeens also live in Vallejo, a son, Gerald, and a daughter, Mrs. Gene Grieg. A sister and brother of Mrs. Lundeen are both Pacific graduates, Mrs. Charles McCoard of Exeter, and Arthur Farey of Stockton.

Earl B. Withrow, 60, secretary-manager of the Santa Clara Savings & Loan Association and a student at Pacific in 1919 and 1920 when it was located in San Jose, passed away May 3. Member of a pioneer Santa Clara family, he was active in school and fraternal circles and was a member of the Santa Clara Community Methodist Church and of the Rotary Club. An accomplished pianist, he was official musician for many of the organizations to which he belonged.

He is survived by his wife, Eula; a daughter, Mrs. Grace Snively; and a son, Earl E. Withrow.

Roy Willmouth Kelly, Ph.D., member of the class of 1911, passed away May 13. Dr. Kelly served as a consultant to the Food Processors Foundation at Pacific at its institution in 1945.

A management consultant with offices in San Francisco, he earned his masters degree from Harvard in 1916 and his doctorate in 1919. He also had done graduate work at Stanford University. The family home was at 75 Kingston Road, Berkeley.

Brief word has been received that Ruth Emma Ferguson '46 had passed away recently. She was a teacher and lived at Neighborhood House, 506 Fourth Street, Calexico.

Dr. John R. Kenney, 68, of Cathay, Merced County, who served 44 years in the ministry of the Methodist Church, and who was connected with the College of the Pacific during 1955 and 1956 as a field and cultivation secretary, passed away June 8 in a Merced hospital.

Born in Flovilla, Georgia, February 4, 1890, Dr. Kenney spent his entire ministry in California, serving in Methodist churches in Bakersfield, Merced, Visalia, Salinas, Woodland, San Diego, Stockton and Galt.

He also served as District Superintendent of the Fresno District and the Metropolitan District. He later served as a pastor of Glide Methodist Church in downtown San Francisco.

While in San Francisco he served as a President of the Council of Churches and at the time of his death was chairman of Yosemite Park's Church Board, an interdenominational group.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah Kenney; a daughter Mrs. Mary Sue Fry of Berkeley; three grandchildren, and four sisters.

Virgil T. Hargis, a member of the class of 1947, died in August. He was a teacher in the Stockton Unified School District.

Robert Louis Trumbly, 49, teacher, former coach, and dean of men at Lodi High School, during the past 22 years, died September 1 following an illness of several months, although his death came suddenly. During the years Mr. Trumbly continued advanced study at Pacific. He is survived by his wife and four daughters.

Thank You! to Pacific's Generous Donors 1957 - 58

More than 1200 individuals, business concerns, organizations and foundations who contributed to the operation of the College of the Pacific and the building of its permanent resources during the academic year from September 1, 1957 to August 31, 1958, are listed below.

Their gifts specifically helped to furnish and equip the new Women's Residence Hall, to increase the salaries of the faculty, to aid student loan and scholarship funds, to forward various special enterprises such as the California and Western Americana history projects, the Pacific Marine Station, and the Dr. George H. Colliver Lectureship; to add to the endowment of the Hunt Chair in California History, The Knoles Foundation in Philosophy, the Harris Educational Fund; to purchase books for the Irving Martin Library through several memorial book funds, and to balance the total operational budget for the year.

The unified list represents participants through the Pacific Annual Fund and the Pacific Alumni Fund including those whose giving places then in the "Quartias Club," "Century Club," and the "Thousand Dollar Club." Constituency of the Methodist Church, members of the Pacific Associates and the Associates of the School of Pharmacy, parents of students, and friends of the College generally are included.

To Pacific, this giving demonstrates the independent spirit upon which independent institutions are still building. Growing participation in the building of Pacific will insure an association with a college of excellence, free to set its own standards, free to infuse its teachings program with spiritual motivations, free to encourage original thinking and educational pioneering.

Pacific Advents

A daughter, Gale Marie, their first born, arrived August 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Clagett. The new father is Executive Secretary of Anderson Y Center at Pacific.

It's a trio of girls now for Henry Blaud '49, M.A. '57, and Mrs. Blaud (Ada Marie Ruhl Miller '51) of Inverness. Doraine Germaine, born July 3, 1958, was welcomed by Denise and Danielle and a big brother, David Miller, 15.

LeRoy Damilano '50 and Mrs. Damilano are the parents of their first born, a girl, Kala Ann, born May 16, 1958. They live at 2012 W. Harding Way, Stockton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scatena (Huberta Williams '55) of 9291 - 44th S. W., Seattle, Washington, have a new son, Brian Frank, born May 12, 1958. Huberta is a former first grade teacher.

Lt. and Mrs. G. T. Sharp (Valerie Clinkscales '48), now of 1121 Crescent, Corpus Christie, Texas, have a young daughter, Pamela Gayle, born January 26, 1958.

A daughter was born December 31, 1957, to Quentin Talbot '55, a former Rhizite, and Mrs. Talbot (Virginia Vereschagin '54) of Alpha Theta Tau. They have been living at 1564 Hawthorne Avenue, Chico, where Quentin has just completed a year of graduate work at Chico State College.

George A. Lineer V-12 '43-'44 and Mrs. Lineer (Lorraine Marshall '47) welcomed a third child, Megan Marie, born January 14, 1958. Martha is 5 and Thomas 3. The family home is at 178 West 36th Avenue, San Mateo.

A daughter, Marit, was born June 9, 1958, to Sigurd Stautland, M.A. '56, and Mrs. Stautland (Cynthia Cobb '56). Sigurd completed work this summer for his Ph.D. at Stanford, leaving August 19 with his family for his native Norway where he will teach in Bergen.

A daughter, Deborah Yvonne, was born August 31 in the Philippine Islands to Lt. (J.G.) JOHN P. RICH, Jr. '55 and JOYCE RUSSELL RICH '56. John had just made his lieutenant junior grade rank.

Jack Giles '52 and Mrs. Joyce Giles of 13572 Montague Street, Pa-coima, are the parents of a second daughter, Karen Louise, born May 12.

Mrs. Georgey Avery (Sharon Abbott '55), 6110 Fillmore Street, Stockton, writes that she and her husband have a new little daughter, Gail Maree, born September 11. "Big sister," Cynthia Lee, 16 months old, welcomed her also.
