THE NEW SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

By Arthur Farey

The College of the Pacific opened its new School of Pharmacy this fall with 38 students enrolled in the first two years of a five-year professional course leading to State Board examinations.

In addition to the basic college of liberal arts organized in 20 major academic departments, Pacific now operates four professional or graduate "schools", in the university use of the term. They are the School of Music, School of Education, American Academy of Asian Studies (San Francisco), and the School of Pharmacy. Two other divisions are now moving toward the status of schools — Engineering and Graduate Studies.

Pharmacy was added to the Pacific picture because retail druggists and pharmacists demonstrated the need for such a school in this area, and got behind a program to help underwrite the expenses of organizing it. There is a shortage of qualified pharmacists in the rapidly expanding California scene. Many California students of pharmacy are enrolled in the schools of other states. The Pacific school is only the third established in California.

Pacific has signed a top flight professional man as Dean of the new school here. He is Dr. Ivan W. Rowland, now Dean of Pharmacy at Idaho State College, who will be on the job at Pacific on February 1, 1956. Meanwhile, Dr. Emerson Cobb, Chairman of Pacific's Department of Chemistry, and chairman of the C.O.P. Board of Athletic Control, has steered preliminary organization of the new school.

Dean Rowland visited the campus ten days ago to meet the first Pacific students of pharmacy and to give them an orientation lecture. He commented on the fact that several young women are enrolled and declared there are excellent professional opportunities in the field for them, especially in hospital pharmacy.

For full information on this new opportunity at Pacific for professional training, address the Director of Admissions, College of the Pacific, Stockton.

HISTORY OF UCLA....

Most American universities date back many ivycovered years and some, like William and Mary or Harvard, trace their antecedents to Revolutionary times. But the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA for short), is only 35 years old. Its 400-acre campus, set against the Santa Monica Mountains with the blue Pacific in the background, is even newer.

What in 1928 was a lonely bean field dotted with live oaks and sycamores, the home of lizards and jackrabbits, is now a busy center of study and research, extra curricular student activities and bustling construction.

Despite the high entrance requirements, its enrollment has mushroomed to nearly 16,000 students — making it one of the top 10 in the nation in size of enrollment.

UCLA is the second largest campus in point of enrollment among the eight campuses of the state university, which is headed by President Robert Gordon Sproul.

Raymond B. Allen, former president of the University of Washington and more recently Director of the Psychological Strategy Board in Washington, D. C., is Chancellor at UCLA. He heads a faculty of 1500 and a staff of 2,500. He directs the activities of 61 departments in 12 schools and colleges and supervises a $18,000,000 annual budget.

In contrast to older American universities which have been building for a century or more, UCLA erected its physical plant during a single generation. Its $60,000,000 post-war buildings are constructed of the same material and share the same architectural feeling as the older buildings. They are, however, simpler in design, in line with increased construction costs.

While physical expansion is the most astonishing single fact about the Los Angeles campus, it has grown rapidly and vigorously in instruction and research — helping the state-wide University of California to maintain its place as one of the "Big Five" in American education, along with Harvard, Yale, Columbia and Chicago.

In the field of science, UCLA is one of the leading centers in the world for the study of atomic physics and physical organic chemistry. It is one of four universities in the United States that has meteorologists for the Army, Navy and Air Force. Its College of Engineering carries on significant studies in aeronautics, ceramics, heat transfer, traffic and transportation and other fields. The UCLA campus has the only cyclotron in southern California. The Atomic Energy Commission has established a $2,000,000 Atomic Energy Project on the campus to study atomic medicine. UCLA's department of astronomy offers the only rocket navigation course in the world. Its College of Agriculture draws students from all over the globe to study subtropical horticulture and floriculture.

UCLA's Medical Center, completed this year at cost of $22,000,000, is expected to set the pattern for the Atomic Age. Containing more than 16 acres of floor space, the Schools of Medicine and Nursing, Student Health Service, and laboratory facilities for research in cancer, heart disease, mental illness, and other scourges.

In the humanities, UCLA has a distinguished record also. Its School of Business Administration, established in 1954, now attracts 1,500 students and is one of the finest in the country. Its Law School boasts the largest enrollment on the Pacific Coast. UCLA's Library ranks eighth in size on a national scale. The department of theater arts combining drama, television, and motion pictures, is one of the most outstanding in the United States. The graduate department of journalism offers the only such training west of Columbia.

Among UCLA's prominent graduates are Ex-Governor Dan Thornton of Colorado, Dr. Ralph Bunche of the United Nations, Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Scientist Glenn T. Seaborg of the University of California at Berkeley faculty, Choreographer Agnes DeMille, Movie Producer Robert Fellows, Judge Victor R. Hansen, Radio Producer John Guedel, Metropolitan Opera Singer Gerald Hines, Judge Thomas Cunningham, Pulitzer Prize Artist Bruce Russell, just to mention a few.

THERE WAS A MAN . . . . .

By Tom Sprague, Stockton Record Sports Writer

Thousands of eyes will be watching his handiwork today, but a vast majority of those eyes will never notice him. Which just about tells the story of his career.

For 3 years at the College of the Pacific, Chris Kjeldsen was playing tremendous football at right guard and his work of course was noticed. But very little recognition was ever given the popular student from Fort Bragg.

But then on Sept. 29, 1934, in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, it was impossible to any more put off the long overdue praise. And it came heaped high and heavy as Kjeldsen inspired the Tigers to hold mighty Troy to a 6-0 victory — and that lone touchdown came on a "fluke" in which USC took possession when a punted ball hit a prostrate Tiger near the COP goal.

Today, as with every home game, Kjeldsen runs the big electric timer. You no doubt have glanced hundreds of times at the clock, but never once at the table next to the visitor's bench on the west side of the field where Chris works.

Kjeldsen's smile and crew cut blonde hair have been part of Pacific ever since his undergraduate days as he joined the staff as a coach after receiving his diploma. His current assignment is the swimming team.

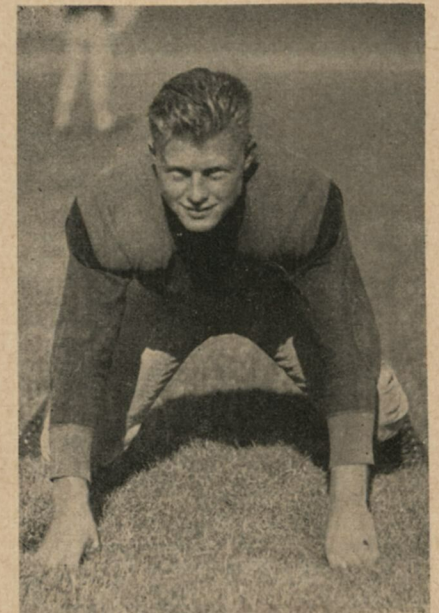

Few people had heard of Kjeldsen in Los Angeles before that game with USC. The talk was all of Cotton Warburton and the great Trojans of Coach Howard Jones.

After the game, Jones told Pacific Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg that Kjeldsen "is a great player . . . I can think of none on the Coast that are as good."

The newspaper story of the game reports that Kjeldsen, playing with 9 stitches in his head on an injury picked up early in the action, "was in the USC backfield on almost every play."

Largely because of his performance in that game, Kjeldsen was voted to the "Little All American" team for that year.

He has been an All American Tiger — and personality — ever since.

THE GAME

By FRANK STEWART

Assistant Director, UCLA News Bureau

Coach-of-the-Year Henry Russell "Red" Sanders is now in his seventh year at UCLA. He has never had a losing season at Bruinville and his 1955 edition is on its way to another victorious campaign, currently boasting a 6-1 won-loss record with three regular games to go and perhaps an added start in the Rose Bowl in the offing.

This is the Bruins' first visit to Stockton, their first game with COP since 1945 but their fourth in history with the Tigers. UCLA leads the series with two victories to one, with the Tigers winning the opener 19-7 in 1943 and losing the next two, 54-7 in 1944 and 50-0 in 1945.

The Bruins come to town this afternoon with lots of respect for ex-UCLA great Jack "Moose" Myers and his up-and-coming Tigers. COP indicated it could cope with the single wing by beating Tommy Prothro's Oregon State Beavers, the surprise team of the current Pacific Coast Conference campaign.

BUT Sanders' Single Wing attack figures to be a mite tougher for the Tigers to handle than the Beavers' was. After all, Sanders is generally considered the country's single wing master and he has some mighty talented performers going for him this season.

Bruins to watch closely include Sam Brown, who is taking his place as one of Sanders' truly great tailbacks with his sensational running, and Bob Davenport, an All-American fullback who not only hits the line with p-o-w-e-r but also is equally outstanding as a blocker and tackler. Then there is Ronnie Knox, who gives the Bruins a potent 1-2 punch at tailback, the key position in Sanders' attack. Knox is a superb passer and punter who also is improving every game as a runner.

And let's not overlook a couple of other dangerous backs in Jim Decker and Chuck Hollaway, shifty wingbacks who can kill a team with their ability to run the famed Sanders reverse. The blocking back duties are capably handled by a pair of juniors named Bob Bergrahl and Bruce Ballard.

Although not boasting the depth they had in the line last year, the Bruins' forward wall is still mighty tough. The key man up front is Captain Hardiman Cureton, a guard with All-American possibilities. And also deserving of mention are Jim Brown, another superb guard who is gaining more attention with every game; Rommie Loudd, a nifty all-around end;; and Gil Moreno, a fine senior tackle who is also worthy of "All" mention.

At center is Steve Palmer, still another standout who figures to return to action after being out with an injury for the past two games. Backing up Palmer is Sophomore Jim Matheny, a real comer.

It's a safe bet that you'll enjoy seeing ALL the 1955 Bruins in action. They play football like they really enjoy the game—and they do!

THE GAME

by CARROLL R. DOTY

The appearance of the UCLA Bruins in Pacific Memorial Stadium this afternoon brings to six the number of different Pacific Coast Conference teams that have played the College of the Pacific on its home ground since the Valley Bowl was dedicated on October 21, 1950.

In that same period of time the Tigers have contested, at home and away, with 13 PCC opponents, winning eight and losing five while tallying 241 points to 163 for the opposition.

All of which sets the stage for the highest ranked team on the Pacific Coast — and the highest ranked ever to play in Stockton — to do battle with a team many will tell you is at least the equal of, if not better than, any team to ever represent Pacific.

UCLA enters the contest favored by from two to four touchdowns, depending on who is quoting the odds, and brings with it six wins against one loss and an overwhelming edge in comparative scores with mutual opponents. The Uclans scored a 21-13 win over Stanford, which had licked the Tigers, 33-14. Oregon State fell to Bruin power, 38-0, while COP edged the Beavers, 13-7. UCLA battered Washington State, 55-0, and the Tigers knocked off the Cougars last weekend 30-0.

Pacific's 1955 record has suddenly blossomed forth as second only to UCLA's among Far Western major teams, equalling USC at five wins and two losses, and the Tigers are working on a five game winning streak, longest of any Bengal team since 1949.

This afternoon will mark by far the toughest test for Pacific's "super seven" line, which has held seven opponents to an average of 122.4 yards rushing per game. The Bruin forward wall is as formidable as they come in the nation and for you who enjoy the spectacle of two hard hitting front ranks moving into each other with plenty of vigor, you might divert your attention from the ball carrier occasionally and watch the impact.

Coach Red Sanders' attack is about as diversified as you'll find around, with All American Bob Davenport, Sam "Touchdown" Brown and Jim Decker handling the ground gaining chores and much-heralded Ronnie Knox using his good right arm for the overhead game. It could be that Knox is licking his chops at a chance to get at COP's somewhat leaky pass defense, which has given up an average of 133.4 yards per game to opposing passers, none of which are supposed to be in the same throwing league with the Bruin star.

It will be up to a pair of pony size backs, 172 pound Ken Swearingen and 149 pound Dewey Tompkins, to carry most of the running load against UCLA, as they have done in most of the past games. Each has averaged approximately 10 carries per game, nearly half of Pacific's rushing plays. Swearingen is averaging 7.0 yards per carry from scrimmage and Tompkins 3.5, but Dewey is also topping the squad in punt and kick-off returns where some of his runs have electrified crowds.

Quarterbacks Jim Reynosa and Bill Jacobs, although not throwing too much, have completed about 50 per cent of their passes but its possible that sophomore Del Whittier will get a chance to unlimber his throwing arm against UCLA. Whittier connected on two for 64 yards last weekend and looked impressive in his first opportunity.

Pacific and UCLA have met three times previously on the gridiron. The Tigers won, 19-7, in 1943 and the Bruins took a 54-7 decision in 1944 and won 50-0, in 1945. Incidentally, a standout for the Uclans in the 1944 contest was a freshman fullback named Jack "Moose" Myers.

This afternoon wraps up the home slate for the Bengals, with one more game against Texas Tech slated for November 19 in Lubbock, Texas. You can bet you bottom dollar you'll be seeing some brilliant football down there today.

Pacific Marching Band

HALF-TIME WITH THE C.O.P. BAND

The nationally famous College of the Pacific Marching Band, under the direction of Arthur Corra, is as equally well known for its difficult musical arrangements as it is for its intricate formations and tricky dances. The time in rehearsal of each of the 77 students comprising the organization amounts to an hour and a half of practice for each minute on the field.

The first ideas for the stunts come early in the spring and summer and are then developed into full-scale productions which are presented during half-time. Mr. Corra personally supervises student arrangers and choreographers in an all-out attempt to make each stunt better than the one which preceded it. Even after the stunt is in the hands of the band are there minor changes to be made, each one bringing the entire endeavor nearer perfection. The many hours of hard work and practice are well worth it, though, if you as a member of the sporting scene enjoy the half-time show.

Assisting Mr. Corra in the preparation of the stunt today were: Don Oliver, Drum Major; Mark Blinoff, Senior Manager; Ray Lippert, Student Director; Betty Hackett, Dance Director; Phil Laing, Librarian.

A FEW WORDS OF UNNECESSARY EXPLANATION

Doodles are a revolutionary new art form that will enable you to relieve nervous tension by Expressing Yourself. Doodling requires an absolute minimum of talent and is a sure-fire method of attaining instantaneous popularity at parties, wakes, weddings and parades. You can become a Party Picasso overnight merely by turning out sketches such as the following.

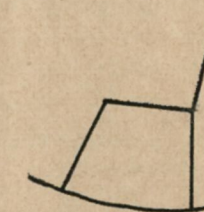

ENTRANCE — "Looney Tunes"

Music: "I Know That You Know"
"Teddy Bear's Picnic"

Title: A Bear Climbing Up The
Other Side of a Tree

Music: "Rock-a-bye Baby"
"Old Rocking Chair's Got Me"

Title: Whistler's Mother Out
Looking For Whistler's Father

This is a difficult Doodle to guess and if you got it correctly, you are probably in need of psychiatric help. A more normal interpretation is: Lunatic—Man Off His Rocker.

A REPORT ON THE TIGER CAGERS....

The sounds of the ball swishing through the net took over the College of the Pacific gymnasium Tuesday afternoon as Coach M. T. "Van" Sweet began putting his Tiger basketball team through its paces in preparation for the 1955-56 season.

Several of the Bengal gridders, Right End John Thomas, Right Guard Galen Laack, Fullback Farrell Funston and Right End George Lane, will be among the 17 players trying out for the current edition of the Tiger cagers, although they still have one more football date with Texas Tech on November 19.

Eight of the Tigers will be new faces to help take up the slack for the graduation of Clyde Conner, Nick Romanoff and Al Mangin, who were standouts for Sweet's five in the past two seasons. The other nine include five lettermen and four non-lettermen.

Lettermen returning are Thomas, Don Brownfield, Cece Ciatti, Don Zumbro and Britt Vail. Non-lettermen are Bob Badger, Laack, Don Stark and Tom Welch.

New players are Dave Davis, 6-4 forward from San Francisco City College, who enters as a junior. Davis was All Conference and All Modesto JC Tournament last winter. Another is Ed Holliday, 6-5 forward from Bakersfield JC, who enters as a junior. He averaged 18 points a game last winter and was second team All Southern California JC Conference.

Hank Wegener, 6-7 center from Carnegie, Pa. played with the COP frosh two years ago and has returned to school.

Paul Williams, a 6 foot guard from Shasta College, and Jim Choate, 6-3 forward from San Jose JC, are another pair of new faces. Funston, at 6-1, played his basketball last winter at Sacramento JC. Chris Greene and Lane are two Tiger athletes trying the sport for the first time at COP.

Mangin is helping Sweet with the varsity while taking a year of graduate study.

This is COP's fourth year in the California Basketball Association, expanded this year to 8 teams. The Tigers will be playing home and home contests with USF, San Jose State, Santa Clara, St. Mary's, Fresno State, Loyola and Pepperdine, as well as participating in the All American City Tournament in Owensboro, Ky., the end of Dec.

All home games this year will be played in Pacific Pavilion.

THE CUBS

Coach H. L. "Lefty" Stern has lined up a stern, 15 game schedule for the College of the Pacific Cubs this winter but things are looking up a bit for freshman basketball at Tigerville.

Three of Northern California's top prep prospects will be performing for the Cubs in Maurice Jones, 6 footer from San Francisco Poly High, who was second All City three years and also city broad jump champion; Don Cockburn, 6-4 from Sir Francis Drake High in Ross, who was All North Bay League twice and third All Northern California last season; and Sid Smith, 6-3 from Mt. Diablo High, who was All Contra Costa County League and led the loop in scoring and rebounding.

Four other boys Stern, and his assistant, Clyde Conner, expect to help the Cubs are Dick Bass of Vallejo, Gil Toso of St. Mary's in Stockton, Bill McGregor from Mt. Diablo and Bob Nicholls from Fortuna.

Title: Man Playing Trombone in Telephone Booth

If you identified this one, it shows you are artistic. The alternate title to this Doodle is found by turning the drawing upside down, it then becomes: Midget Playing Trombone in Telephone Booth (as seen from east side of stadium).

If you turn the picture on its side, counterclockwise, it is subject to a third interpretation: Deceased Trombone Player (as seen from end zone). Not only is this an extremely clever Doodle but it affords you a certain amount of exercise which you probably need.

Material on Doodles used by permission with Simon and Schuster, publishers of several volumes of Doodles by Roger Price.

MERCED UNION HIGH SCHOOL "MARCHING 100"

Merced Union High School's "Marching 100" swings proudly onto the field today to represent the University of California at Los Angeles. A consistent winner in San Joaquin Valley band competition, the Orange and Black of M.U.H.S. has also scored highly and consistently in the All Western Band Review at Long Beach each fall. It has placed seven of the nine times it has entered the stiff competition there, taking several firsts, seconds, and thirds.

Affectionately known as the "Marching 100" to its followers, the Merced Band is famed far and wide for its precision marching. The group's excellent performance here in the Pacific Memorial Stadium last year, both in the music department and in their lusty, enthusiastic support of the University of Idaho team, earned them an invitation to represent UCLA this year.

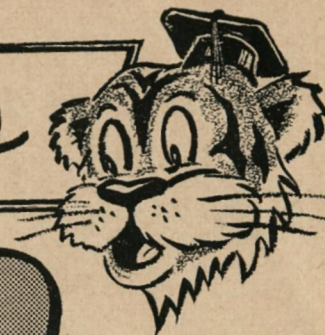

The Merced High musicians use a brisk marching cadence. They figure the hours of practice devoted to perfecting smart execution of their complicated drills are well spent if the fan in the stands approves. Would you like to become a band expert? As the seasoned football fan watches line play and easily spots key blocks, so does the half-time observer watch the ranks and files of the bands which perform.

The "Marching 100" is directed by Fredrik W. Steen, and led by Drum Major Jim Nicolaisen. The Band officers are: Bob Law, President; Alan McMurry, Vice President; Susan Herb, Secretary; Meredith Yates, Treasurer; Noni Randolph, Publicity Director; and Dick Marsh, Band Manager. In front of the drum major you see pretty majorettes Sandy Grahl, Marian Silva, Brenda Candlish, Linda DeMotte, Gene Frederickson, and Linda Little.

So it's on with the game. May you enjoy good listening and good looking.
