Are You A Critic?

There are many residents who profess to know everything and who continually criticize the negotiation committee for their delay in informing the people of the proceedings of the negotiations or the lack of information of the various meetings.

If these critics would just stop to think how their attitude is proving detrimental to the solution of this problem; how these members of the committee are laboring day and night to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion at the earliest possible day--they would not heap undue criticism upon these people who have been entrusted with the responsibility of representing the Japanese in these negotiations.

They have done a splendid job in trying to improve our welfare.

Let's not change our horse in the middle of the stream!
