106TH COMMENCEMENT

Five Doctorates Conferred

The largest number of doctorates for work completed on the Stockton campus were presented during Pacific's 106th commencement June 9. Three of the five doctorates are the first awarded in Pacific's program for college teacher preparation.

President Robert E. Burns conferred degrees on 447 students, and awarded 194 recommendations for teaching credentials. Of 377 graduates who received bachelor's degrees, a dozen graduated with high honors, including Tiger football stars Steve Olds and John Alsup. An additional 79 students graduated with honors.

Special Honors Conferred

The Order of Pacific was conferred by Pacific's president on Lois W. Winston of Oakdale, composer of the college hymn, Pacific Hail, and on Martha F. Pierce, retiring English teacher. Honorary degrees were awarded to the Rev. Richard W. Cain, superintendent of the Los Angeles District of the Methodist Church, Doctor of Divinity; the Rev. Robert N. Boswell, district superintendent of the Fresno District of the Methodist Church, Doctor of Divinity; and Richard D. Drexler, pianist on the faculty of Illinois Wesleyan University, Doctor of Music.

Fathers Make Awards

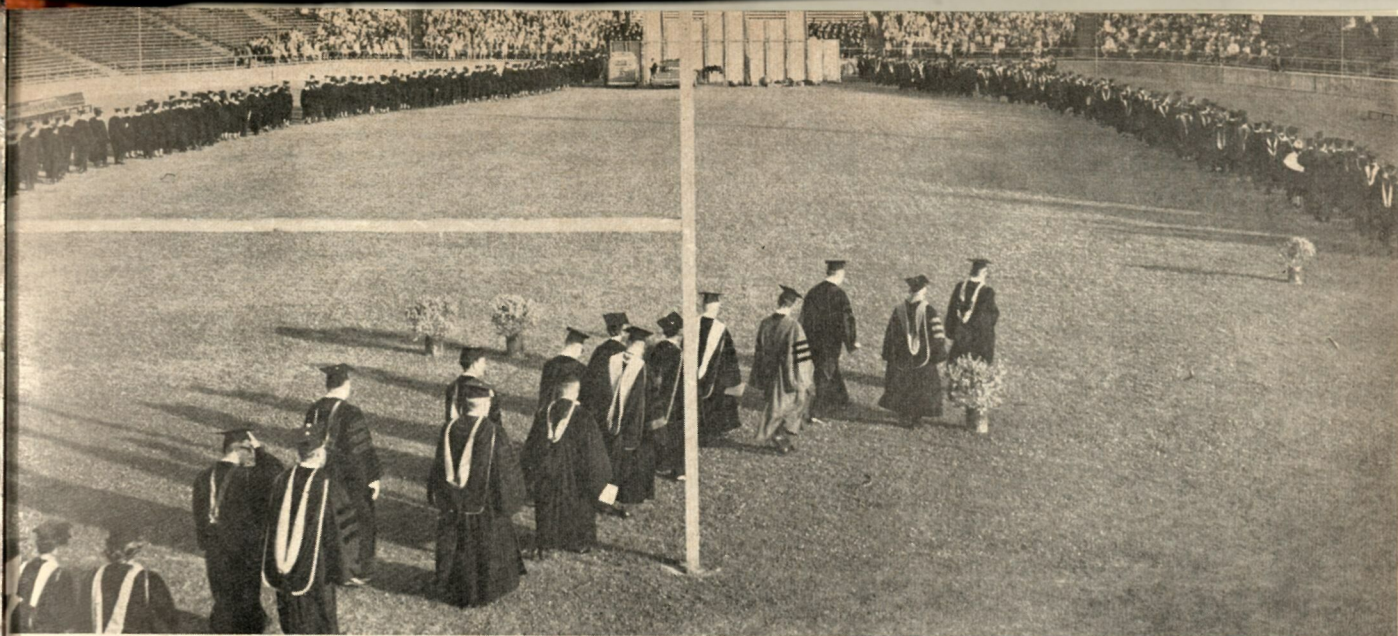

Two graduates received their diplomas from their fathers. Liana Fowler Porterfield of Lodi received her diploma from the Rev. Ernest M. Fowler, who gave the commencement invocation. David L. King received his from Dr. Lloyd H. King, a Pacific professor.

Master's degrees were awarded to 59 candidates.

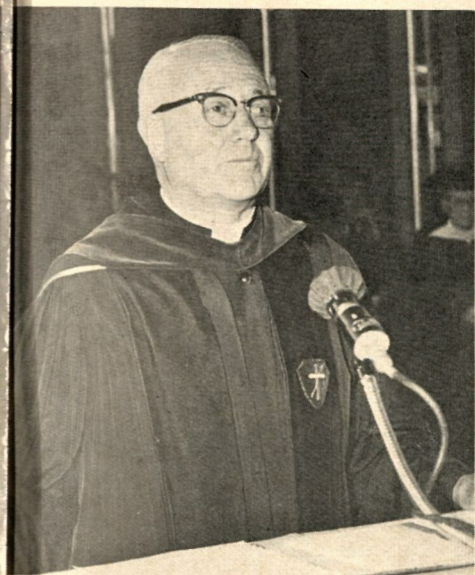

Three men receiving the Doctor of Philosophy degree were Irvn Wilfred Davies, Jr., Reedley; Julian Joseph Hamerski, Stockton; and Jack Charles Hileman, Torrance. Doctor of Education degrees were awarded to Louise Marie Bachtold and Bev Fassett Peairs, both of Sacramento. Six men received the Doctor of Pharmacy degree.

Selected as outstanding seniors were Joel C. Hancock, III, and Ann Louise Miller, both honor graduates.

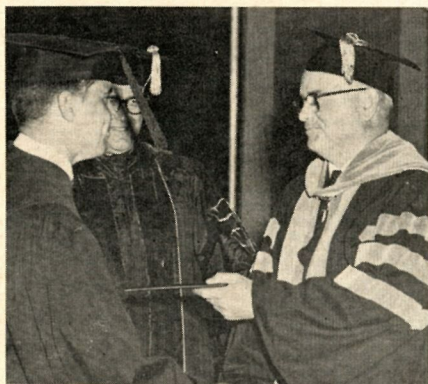

ON THE COVER: Lois Warner Winston, composer of "Pacific Hail," accepts congratulations from Dr. J. Russell Bodley, dean of the Conservatory of Music and a former classmate at Pacific. The Order of Pacific was conferred on Mrs. Winston by President Burns for her outstanding service to the university. The composition written by the young coed in 1923 was officially adopted as Pacific's alma mater in the fall of 1924. Mrs. Winston currently teaches the sixth grade at Cloverland school.

- 1—The 106th University of the Pacific Commencement program got underway in Pacific Memorial Stadium, June 9, as the procession of 477 students made its way across the field to the strains of Robert Gordon's "Pride of Pacific," played by the Pacific band.
- 2—Methodist Bishop Donald H. Tippet of San Francisco urged the graduating class of California's oldest chartered university to light the candle of freedom and equality and carry it forth as a beacon for the world. The commencement speaker discussed "Neglected Chapters in Early American History" before more than 1000 parents and friends attending the evening exercises.
- 3—David L. King of Stockton, who graduated with honors, received his diploma for the Bachelor of Arts degree from his father, Dr. Lloyd H. King, professor of education at Pacific.
- 4—The Order of Pacific was conferred by President Burns on Miss Martha F. Pierce, associate professor of English, who has chosen retirement after 35 years service to the university.
- 5—Rev. Richard Wilson Cain, the youngest man ever to have been selected district superintendent of the Los Angeles District of the Methodist Church, was awarded the honorary degree, Doctor of Divinity, by Dr. Burns. Rev. Cain delivered the sermon for the baccalaureate service Sunday morning on the topic "Now—For You and Yours."

"Bud" Sullivan Heads Homecoming

Homecoming 1963 promises to be the "biggest and best ever" from all indications to date. Class reunion chairmen are busy putting together enthusiastic committees—working on details for their classes' annual trek "back to Tigerville."

Cornelius "Bud" Sullivan '55, Alumni Association director and Homecoming chairman, estimates that more than 2000 grads will be on hand for the gala affair on October 12.

Plans to date include a football game with Fresno State, dancing at the Stockton Golf and Country Club, and a tour of the new alumni office in the Robert E. Burns Tower.

George Bralye '38, heading the Silver Anniversary of the Class of 1938, claims his group has some "new ones" up their sleeves that will make it impossible for classmates to stay away. Chris Greene of the '58 committee is challenging all previous Five Year Reunion attendance records. He indicates '58'ers will hold the title for the greatest first reunion of any class in the history of Pacific.

In all, eight classes will hold reunions—1958-1953; 1948-1943; 1938-1933; 1928-1923. The executive committees and chairmen are scheduled to meet on campus June 29 to finalize their plans. Details of where and when will be in the mails soon.

Foundation Aids Spanish College

The Hancock Foundation of Nevada, a charitable foundation established in Reno in 1948 by the late J. B. Hancock, has made a grant of $2,500 in support of the Elbert Covell College program in bilingual education.

In a letter to Dr. Arthur J. Cullen, director of Pacific's second cluster college, the members of the board expressed support of the philosophy that is being developed in the Spanish-language school.

Plaque Recognizes Agribusiness Founders

Founders of the new Program in Agribusiness at the University of the Pacific were honored at a banquet in Elbert Covell Dining Hall May 23. A bronze plaque, bearing the names of 35 Agribusiness Founders' Club members was unveiled by Robert Lloyd, director of the program, and Monroe Hess, assistant director.

The Agribusiness Program, a new concept of agriculture including all its relations to industry, will begin in the fall of 1964. The program will offer classes to a select 35 to 50 students, each holding a bachelor's degree or equivalent and having some background in agriculture.

Business Conference in November

The fourth annual Business Conference, to be held November 14 and 15 on the Pacific campus, will carry the theme, "Agribusiness Looks at Today's Marketing Revolution." Outstanding persons in the fields of agriculture, business, and government will be featured during the two-day meeting.

"We expect to have the same high caliber of speakers and panel participants that we had in April of 1962," said Lloyd. The conferences are sponsored by the Department of Business Administration, under the chairmanship of Dr. Arthur Beckwith.

Nationally Prominent Speakers Expected

The 1962 three-day conference attracted such men as Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman; Dr. Edward Teller, the noted nuclear physicist from Berkeley; Dr. Raymond Miller, visiting lecturer from Harvard University, and head of his own international public relations firm; and a number of other leading agribusiness men from across the nation.

The conference will begin with registration before noon November 14, and will end after lunch Friday, November 15. The conference is expected to develop the marketing picture from the international, to the national, to the state and local level.

Mulder Composition Gets Standing Ovation

Dave Mulder, who was awarded his Master of Music degree from Pacific June 9, received a standing ovation for his original composition performed at the Student Composers Symposium of Western States in Salt Lake City last month. Mulder's "Theme and Variations" was one of three orchestral works performed by the 90-piece University of Utah Symphony Orchestra. Approximately 30 representatives from a dozen schools attended the symposium.

Pacific's Pulse

AS WRITTEN BY AN INTERESTED SOPHOMORE
TO PACIFIC'S ACADEMIC VICE - PRESIDENT

You asked me recently, "How does it feel to have your finger on Pacific's pulse?" Here is what I feel on this rainy spring night:

Activity all around me as I stood outside the science building at seven-thirty; the roaring political argument going on in the Y, kids scurrying to the library, dodging winddrops from the dripping sycamores, KUOP ablaze with lights as Pacific students ran the evening's broadcasting. The enormous variety of sounds that come from clattering typewriters in Covell Hall, a fraternity song drifting over from the Circle, and the polyphony down in the music annexes that results when one mingles the Tchaikmanoff Third Concerto in one room with a ballet orchestra rehearsal in the other. The swoosh of tires on wet pavement, and leaves dripping in the rain.

The familiar voice of one of my friends from Covell as she ran across the street in her beloved wrinkled lab coat, hailing me to come up to the parasitology lab while he worked on some slides. The smell of the lab, so unfamiliar to a music major, fascinated me as did the efficiency with which she handled the equipment; but most of all, the way she looked when she spoke of realizing how immense life is, and how she wanted to go back to India where she had once lived to help fight disease and ignorance. I wish I could describe the look on her face at that moment, but I can't. Perhaps it's just as well.

For here, tonight, I feel something I haven't for a long time—something nameless that one grasps only on a night like this, after a long and sometimes frustrating academic year. It is a kind of respect for the sort of people who make this university live.

For here, amid all the problems that beset a private college from the fraternity-sorority controversy up to the struggle to make financial ends meet on the administrative level, are the leaders of their generation. I think of the ones I know, going into the Peace Corps or to India to fight disease, staying up into the small hours arguing what democracy does work; students from all departments and all backgrounds who possess a vision and a strength so far-reaching as to frighten you a little—who take the time to be patient, who take care of each other, and who give those less endowed with drive or intelligence or hope something to look up to. This is what I see tonight, and part of what I call the spirit of Pacific.

I just thought I'd let you know it's still here.

—An Interested Sophomore

A YEAR IN FRANCE

Miss Ethelwynne Erickson, a French major who graduated with high honors from Pacific this month, has received a Fulbright grant for a year's study at the University of Paris in France.

The Pacific coed, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Erickson of Hornitos, has been a student of French under Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kreiter, professors of modern languages at Pacific. Her collegiate activities have included memberships and offices in Spurs, Knolens, Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, and Delta Gamma. She was listed in the 1963 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Miss Erickson will sail from New York aboard the France on September 19.

Phi Eta Sigma Establishes Pacific Chapter

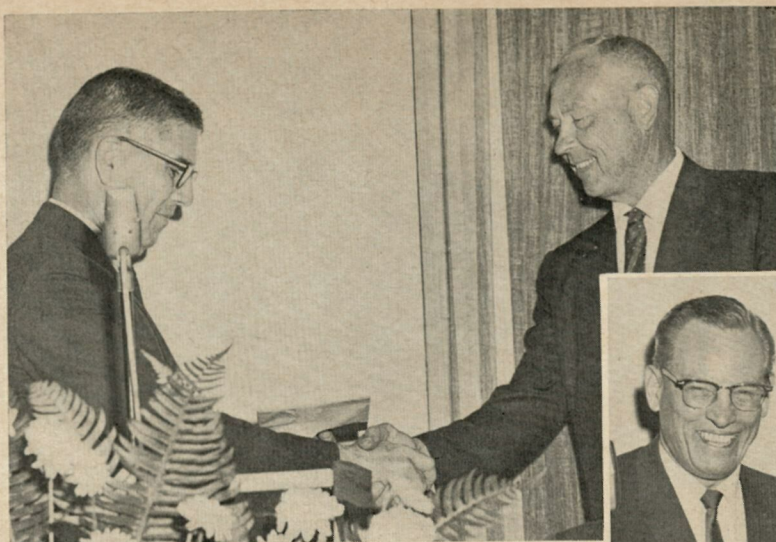

Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholastic society for freshman men, has established an active chapter on the University of the Pacific campus.

Ten Pacific freshmen were initiated as charter members when the Pacific Chapter was installed on May 26. James E. Foy, grand secretary of the society from Auburn University, presented the charter to Dr. Robert E. Burns. Dr. Gordon G. Zimmerman, dean of men and associate professor of speech, was named faculty adviser.

Speaker for the occasion was Dr. Elliott Taylor, scholarships officer. He spoke on the topic "Freedom Is Up To You."

Phi Eta Sigma, founded at the University of Illinois in 1923, directs all of its efforts toward lifting the standards of scholarship among freshman men. All freshman men who earn a scholarship average equivalent to or better than one-half of the highest grade, and one-half of the next highest grade in their first semester of college, are elected to membership.

Charter members are Robert William Fisher, William Judson Darden, James Boyd Norton, and Samuel Lewis Meyer, all of Stockton; Gary Louis Heath, Oroville; Douglas Harry Haner, Oakland; Rodney Gene French, Tracy; Leslie Eldridge Gerber, Monrovia; Karl Michael Van Meter, Pt. Mugu; and Dana Ross Smith, Fairfield.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD was presented to Harold Easterbrook, right, by Dr. Harold S. Jacoby.

OUTSTANDING ALUMNUS AWARD was accepted by Carlos Wood, right, from L. Eugene Root.

ALUMNI DAY

"The Professional School in the Pacific Picture" was the theme for the 1963 Alumni Day, May 4, featuring a series of afternoon programs centered around the activities and research developments of each school. Phil Comfort was general chairman for the day.

Two concerts in the Conservatory Auditorium were presented for the entertainment of visiting alumni and for parents of some of the students currently attending Pacific who were on campus for the spring Pacific Parents Day meeting.

Musicians in the alumni group relived some of their campus moments as they performed again in concert, under the baton of Professor Horace Brown. The grads played as a tribute to their director, who retired from the Conservatory faculty this year.

Band Director Gordon Finlay led the Pacific Concert Band in its home concert performance of both original and standard compositions. The 54 instrumentalists had recently completed a concert tour to Fairfield, Dixon, Susanville, and Carson City, Nevada.

PACIFIC PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patton of San Leandro were named national chairmen of the Pacific Parents organization during Spring Parents Day activities May 4. Mr. and Mrs. Patton succeed Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keller of Martinez. Shown at an informal dinner get-together are, seated left to right, Donald G. Smiley, director of Pacific Parents; Jess Rudkin, assistant to the president; Mrs. Smiley; Mr. and Mrs. James O. Williams, Stockton; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Peirce, Hillsborough; Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Vogt, Palo Alto; and H. D. Laymen, Glendale. Standing left to right are Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Tippet, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brady, Glendora; Mr. and Mrs. Patton; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hair, Alamo; Mr. and Mrs. John Cupples, Atwater; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Clark, Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Warnock, Kentfield; and Mrs. Laymen.

Alumni Fund Drive

The Pacific Alumni Association has set a goal of $150,000 for the 1963 Alumni Fund Drive.

With a major emphasis on increasing Tiger Club membership, area meetings have been scheduled in Saratoga, Piedmont, San Rafael, Sacramento, Stockton, La Canada, New York, and Honolulu, according to Donald E. Payne, executive manager.

Dr. Warren B. Martin, provost of Raymond College, led a tour through Pacific's first cluster college, explaining the program and features of the three-year liberal arts school.

Several distinguished guests were present at the Alumni Banquet Saturday evening to honor Carlos Wood, recipient of the Outstanding Alumnus Award. Those paying tribute included Dr. Arthur E. Raymond of Los Angeles, retired senior vice-president of Douglas Aircraft Company and consultant to the Rand Corporation; and Lt. General Donald L. Putt of Palo Alto, vice-president of United Aircraft Corporation, in charge of coordinating the west coast activities of the operating divisions and subsidiaries. The award was made by L. Eugene Root, president of Lockheed Missiles & Space Company, and a former classmate.

Harold Easterbrook, Redwood Valley, was given the Distinguished Service Award for his work in establishing the Tiger Club. The award was presented by Dr. Harold S. Jacoby, dean of the College of the Pacific.

Pharmacy Alumni Elect

George Silva, Sacramento, was elected president of the Pharmacy Alumni Association. Other pharmacy officers are Gerald Biagini of Modesto, vice-president; and Carol Nelson of Lodi, secretary.

Engineers Plan Second Annual Reunion

The School of Engineering will hold its second annual reunion Saturday, September 21, the date of the opening game of the 1963 football schedule. Coach John Rohde's Tiger varsity will be pitted against Colorado State in Pacific Stadium.

A reunion dinner to precede the game is being planned. A chartered bus will be on hand to take grads and their guests to the stadium where a block of seats will be reserved, according to Chairman Pete Wallace '59.

Pharmacy Awards Dinner

The Pacific School of Pharmacy, in cooperation with the American Pharmaceutical Association, presented its Eighth Annual Awards dinner in May.

Dr. Samuel L. Meyer spoke on the topic, "An Old Man Spoke" to nearly 300 students and guests attending the event. The banquet following a reception, sponsored by Gamma Nu chapter of Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical fraternity. Dr. Donald Y. Barker was master of ceremonies.

Approximately 40 honors, in the forms of scholarships, awards, grants-in-aid, and senior awards, were presented during the evening.

Arden Pratt of Long Beach was the recipient of a scholarship for $1200, a new award this year. The Perfect Photo Film Company scholarship is presented to the third year student with the highest grade point average in the professional school, and who is a resident of the Los Angeles area.

Allstate Supports Driver Education

Dr. Carl Voltmer, left, professor of health, physical education, and recreation, received an Allstate Foundation check for $1,500 on behalf of the university for support of its outstanding driver education program. The program makes scholarships available to teachers who wish to become qualified driver education instructors.

Donald F. Craib, Jr., district representative of the Allstate Foundation, made the presentation at a luncheon held on campus.

Pacific, the first western college to introduce a complete teacher training program in driver education, has passed 131 teachers through its summer driver education courses over the past four years. These teachers have taught the course to more than 10,000 high school students and over 1,000 adults.

Astronomy and Space Science Institute for 1963 - 1964

An $8,030 National Science Foundation grant has been awarded to Pacific for an In-Service Institute for 30 elementary school teachers from the Stockton area.

A course in astronomy and space science, under the direction of Dr. John V. Schippers, assistant professor of education, will be conducted on Saturdays during the 1963-64 school year. Dr. Floyd Helton, professor of mathematics, and Dr. Henry Osner, professor of astronomy at Modesto Junior College, will staff the Institute.

PUBLIC RELATIONS DIRECTOR APPOINTED

Harold M. Kambak, director of public relations at Augsburg College in Minneapolis, has been named to succeed Edgar M. Crigler as director of public relations at Pacific. Crigler has accepted the vice-presidency at Saint Paul School of Theology Methodist in Kansas City, Missouri.

Kambak, a native of Highmore, South Dakota, directed the public relations department of Augustana College in Rock Island, Illinois, before joining the Augsburg College administrative staff in 1958. He previously was an advertising executive for the Porter Paint Company in Louisville, Kentucky, Archer Daniels Midland Company in Minneapolis, and McCann-Erickson, Inc., and Simoniz Company in Chicago. He will assume his responsibilities at Pacific on July 15.

The new director is a graduate of Augsburg College, and is doing graduate study at the University of Minnesota. He has done additional study at the University of Colorado, University of New Mexico, Northwestern University, Augustana College, American Academy of Art in Chicago, and Graphic Arts Institute of Illinois.

Kambak holds memberships in several national learned societies, including Pi Gamma Mu, social science; Pi Kappa Delta, speech; Sigma Delta Chi, journalism; and Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising. He is also a member of the Minnesota Press Club, American College Public Relations Association, American Alumni Council, Public Relations Society of America, and Sigma Chi, national social fraternity. He is currently president of the Minneapolis Public Library Friends.

Coming to Stockton with Mr. and Mrs. Kambak will be their two children, ages 15 and 11.

Article Describes Covell College

An article entitled "A Spanish-Speaking College in North America," by Dr. Samuel L. Meyer and Dr. Arthur J. Cullen, has been published in the May issue of Liberal Education, the bulletin of the Association of American Colleges.

It's Alumni Camp Time!

by ROBERT HENNING '42
ALUMNI CAMP COORDINATOR
PRESIDENT, PACIFIC ALUMNI CHAPTER, MONTEREY COUNTY

This year the annual University of the Pacific Alumni Camp will be held from July 7 through July 13. The popular Silver Lake camp will attract hardy alums of all ages from far and wide.

A family camp offers a vacation period that may be a little different from independently planned vacations. There are some advantages that may have appeal to those who are tired of cooking and planning and looking after children all summer long. If you are among these, you may want to give some attention to your Alumni Camp and to the inherent advantages of a family camp arrangement.

Renew Past Friendships

It is nice to reflect upon an opportunity to reacquire oneself with old classmates and friends, to meet their families, and to have one's children share in experiences with the other's children. The common bond of the university background further stimulates interest in persons other than immediate contemporaries.

Social facilities at camp are organized pleasantly and loosely enough to avoid any hint of compulsion. A camp recreation director and a camp naturalist are both concerned with the social welfare of campers. About the only compelling force I have ever felt in a number of years in attendance at Silver Lake Camp is the dinner bell, which seems to ring with the precision of a metronome, calling campers to the mess hall with an appeal which is very difficult to resist.

Director is Pacific Grad

The camp is located at Silver Lake, which is at the 8000-foot level in the Sierras. It is owned and operated by the Department of Parks and Recreation, City of Stockton. Emil Siefert '47 is director.

The camp gives to each camper's family a tent or cabin, each built on a concrete floor, equipped with electricity, and suitably furnished with beds, mattresses, dressers, and clothes racks, to name the essentials—there are others. A meal ticket entitles the camper to make the long climb to the great hall on the mountain-side three times daily. The meals bring much more than mere satisfaction to fill the bill for mountain fare. On occasion, they approach outstanding creativity in cuisine.

For a Change in Pace —

Facilities for swimming, fishing, and boating are readily available in a natural setting. Alpine flowers abound in and around countless mountain meadows, lakes, streams, and valleys. In a culture given way to plasticized comforts, campers will find relaxation in the comfort of solid wood and old leather. In a similar way, he may find refreshment in associations with other former Pacific students.

Costs at Silver Lake are very reasonable, with rates for varying age groups. For camp information and reservations, write Department of Parks and Recreation, City Hall, Stockton, or call HOward 5-5751.

Conservatory's Horace I. Brown Retires After 30 Years

Professor Horace I. Brown, director of Pacific's orchestra, has retired after 30 years on the Conservatory faculty. He conducted the Conservatory orchestra for the last time at the annual commencement concert June 7.

Mrs. Brown, also on the Conservatory faculty since 1934, is an accomplished teacher and cellist. The Brown duo has served with the Stockton Symphony Orchestra since their arrival in Stockton in 1933.

New Conductor from Southern California

Ralph Matesky, supervisor of instrumental music in Compton City Elementary School District and an assistant professor in the music school of the University of Southern California, will succeed Professor Brown. The new associate professor of violin will also become conductor of the Stockton Symphony, succeeding Fritz Berens.

THE FACULTY WORLD

DR. ROBERT SMUTNEY, chairman of the Department of Ancient Languages, is studying at the American Academy in Rome.

DR. GORDON ZIMMERMAN, dean of men and associate professor of speech, was guest lecturer at a recent Speech Assembly at the University of California at Davis.

ROBERT L. LLOYD, director of the Program in Agribusiness, received his 36th patent February 19, issued for a buoy for mooring vessels. His other patents are concerned primarily with food products and food processes.

DR. CARL C. RIEDESEL, professor of physiology and pharmacology, has written an address entitled "Pharmacy's Role in Civil Defense." The paper was published in Proceedings of the 21st Annual Meeting, District No. 8, American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy and National Association of Boards of Pharmacy.

DR. WILLIAM D. NIETMANN, chairman of the Department of Philosophy, will present a paper to the Thirteenth International Congress of Philosophy, meeting in Mexico, D. F., September 7 through 14. His paper, "Language and Ontology," which will be presented at one of the Plenary Sessions of the Congress, is one of a limited number being published by the International Congress before its meeting. It is also being published in a volume to honor S. Radhakrishnan, noted Indian philosopher and president of the Republic of India, on his 75th birthday.

Dr. Nietmann is editor of the Pacific Philosophy Forum, published by the Pacific Philosophy Institute which he founded. In a review, Rosemary Neiswender, assistant librarian for the Rand Corporation in Santa Monica, wrote, "Most college and university libraries will want to add the Forum to their collections, both as an excellent example of the dialectical method in philosophical exposition, and as a sourcebook of original contributions from members of the younger group of academic philosophers."

ROBERT H. STEWART, chaplain and director of religious life, will attend the North American Staff-Faculty Conference in Montreal, Quebec, and the Institute of Higher Education in Nashville, Tenn., during June and July. Following the Montreal Conference, June 24 through July 4, Rev. Stewart will address the chaplain's worship workshop in Nashville. He has been commissioned to read his paper, "Planning and Developing Chapel Services," during the four-day meeting.

STANWORTH R. BECKLER, associate professor of music, received nation-wide recognition for his Suite No. II for Orchestra when it was given honorable mention at the Albuquerque, N. M., Civic Symphony 1963 Competition.

HENRY R. SPIESS, director of placement, received a Certificate of Merit from the Victory Link PTA Council recently. Mr. Spiess was a member of the Antioch School District personnel for 17 years. While a principal at John Fremont School in 1949, he was presented an Honorary Life Membership in the Parent-Teacher organization.

DR. EDWARD POHLMAN, assistant professor of counseling psychology, has completed an annotated bibliography on psychological aspects of birth and population control. The 500 items, on IBM cards, are coded for sub-topic classification. Twenty sets of the bibliography are being distributed to others working in this field.

DR. J. RUSSELL BODLEY, dean of the Conservatory of Music, was guest conductor at the annual Festival of Sacred Music in Livermore April 28. The event featured the voices of 10 choirs from the Livermore-Pleasanton area.

DR. RICHARD T. LOUITTIT, assistant professor of psychology, will participate in a research program for college teachers at the University of Michigan, June 10 through August 16, sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

DR. DONALD DUNS, assistant professor of speech, co-authored an article with Franklin Haiman of Northwestern University, entitled "Validations In Communicative Behavior of Attitude Scale Measures of Dogmatism." It has been accepted for publication in the Journal of Social Psychology.

MAX POLINSKY, assistant professor of pharmacy administration, has written an article entitled "The Study of Pharmacy Personnel; a Field Project," which is scheduled for publication in the summer issue of the American Journal of Pharmaceutical Education.

DR. SAMUEL L. MEYER, academic vice-president, gave the address at the second annual convocation of Methodist students and faculty of Bakersfield College May 5. He recently represented the educational institutions of Stockton at the Stockton civic banquet commemorating the 100th anniversary of the founding of Saint Mary's College.

DEAN HENDERSON E. MCGEE, national director of the American Society of Civil Engineers, addressed student chapters of the Society at the University of Utah, Utah State University, and Brigham Young University during May. He also spoke before the Utah Section of the Society and the California Society of Professional Engineers at their annual meeting.

DR. HOWARD K. ZIMMERMAN, professor of chemistry, was one of 30 invited speakers at the International Symposium on Boron-Nitrogen Chemistry held in Durham, N. C., recently. His paper on "Relations Between Structure and Stability in Boroxazolidines" will be published in the August issue of Advances in Chemistry.

FACULTY RESEARCH LECTURE

DR. CARL RIEDESEL

Dr. Carl C. Riedesel, professor of pharmacology, delivered the 13th Annual Faculty Research Lecture, May 15, on the topic "Substances Used in Folk Medicine." The formal event was held in Grace A. Covell Hall.

Before joining the Pacific faculty in 1956, the prominent pharmacist and researcher was on the faculties of the University of Nebraska and Idaho State College. He previously had been both a retail and hospital pharmacist.

Since coming to Pacific, the lecturer has been engaged in a research project, seeking a natural plant source for an active constituent, with the effect of insulin, that may be taken orally. His research specialty is in the field of choline absorption.

Dr. Riedesel, chairman of the physiology and pharmacology department at Pacific, is the author of a laboratory manual for vertebrate physiology, widely used in American colleges and universities. Other published works include a laboratory manual in pharmacology and several scientific papers, including studies of metabolism of barbiturates, intestinal absorption factors, and toxic aspects of a number of common garden flowers.

PACIFIC GRANTS FIRST D. D. S. DEGREE

The 112-year-old University of the Pacific granted its first degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery June 12 at the War Memorial Auditorium in San Francisco.

The School of Dentistry, College of Physicians and Surgeons, which became a part of the University of the Pacific last July, held its 68th annual commencement. Forty-nine graduates received their degrees and heard Dr. Samuel L. Meyer, academic vice-president, deliver the commencement address. The distinguished educator spoke on the topic, "Science—Master or Servant of Men."

FIRST ANNUAL

Chris Kjeldsen Memorial Swim Meet

The First Annual Chris Kjeldsen Memorial Swim Meet will be held at Stagg High School in Stockton, August 16, 17, and 18. Official measurements of the 25-meter swimming pool were taken by University of the Pacific engineering students early this month in preparation for the amateur events.

A special trophy will be presented to the Stockton area swimmer who "best represents the outstanding example of honor, sportsmanship and courage" exemplified by the late Chris Kjeldsen, University of the Pacific swim coach until 1962.

John Ostrom, UOP swim team member, plans to enter the meet to take a crack at the Senior Men's 100 meter butterfly record now held by Dick Jacobberger of Aquabears Swim Club of Oakland. Ostrom is a member of the 400-yard freestyle and 400-yard medley relay team which set a new Pacific record this year. Before enrolling at Pacific, he swam for the Berkeley YMCA team under Totto Yamachita.

Pacific "Cubs" Will Enter Competition

Donna Swagerty, 17-year-old swimmer for Kelly Kjeldsen's West Lane Tennis Club swim team, holds nearly every team record for her age group at West Lane. Donna is the daughter of two Pacific grads, Floyd and Melva Boone Swagerty.

Jackie Jane Fergusson, 16-year-old diver for Stockton Swim Club, sponsor of the meet, was All-County Diving champion in 1962 and runner-up in 1963 for the GAA in high school countywide competition. She is also a daughter of two ex-Pacificites, Dr. Kenneth H. Fergusson and June Sprague Fergusson.

Possible New Records

All events for the meet will be swum at the 25-meter distance instead of the usual 25-yard distance, to give competitors a chance to set a Pacific Association AAU record. Meet Director Isabel Handler of the Stockton Swim Club has scoured the PA records and turned up over 40 events which have not had records set in the Pacific Association.

By the time the sun sets next August 18, Stockton should be the proud possessor of over 40 new records, all made in the name of the dearly loved Chris Kjeldsen.

Pacific Associates Report

NAMED DIRECTOR OF PLACEMENT

J. A. Thomason, administrative assistant at Pacific since his retirement from the position of school district superintendent last September, will become Pacific's new director of placement. The popular development staff member will replace Henry R. Spiess who will retire soon.

Thomason retired after 40 years service in California public school systems, and was given professional recognition by three California governors, Warren, Knight and Brown. He is currently a member of the evaluation panel of the California Teachers Association for Central California, and is a member of the study committee on changing boundaries of county supervisorial districts.

Thomason received his B.A. and M.S. degrees from the University of Idaho, and did additional work at the University of California and the University of the Pacific.

Honors Given At Spring Meeting

More than 200 Pacific Associates and friends of Pacific attended the annual spring meeting May 17 in Grace Covell Dining Hall. Featured speakers were President Robert E. Burns, Dr. Samuel L. Meyer, academic vice-president, and Robert R. Winterberg, executive assistant to the president on financial affairs.

Dr. George M. Hollenback of Encino and Lesley Jackson of San Francisco were presented special engraved plaques in recognition of their contributions to Pacific and its School of Dentistry. Dr. Hollenback contributed $135,000 to be used toward construction of the new dental building. Mr. Jackson donated $250,000 to be divided evenly between the College of Physicians and Surgeons and Elbert Covell College.

President Thomas F. McKeegan challenged fellow Associates to keep pace with the progress of Pacific in the future.

Stereophonic - Hi Fi Needed

Raymond College has a need for a new stereophonic hi fi to be used in the Raymond music room. A cabinet is not necessary since facilities are already available for housing the equipment. Filling this need could be a worthwhile project for some of the Associates, and would be greatly appreciated by the Raymond students and faculty.

International Harvester Donates X-Ray Equipment

X-ray equipment, valued at more than $10,000, has been given to the University of the Pacific by the International Harvester Company, Stockton Works. The x-ray machine, complete with accessories, will be operated on campus in the School of Pharmacy, under the direction of Dr. Carl Riedesel.

Taking part in the presentation were, left to right, Dr. Riedesel and Professor Max Polinsky of the School of Pharmacy; Jess R. Rudkin, assistant to the president; C. H. Hostetter, Stockton Works manager for International Harvester; and A. E. King, industrial relations manager for Stockton Works.
