NEXT WEEK . .

The Fresno State College Bulldogs play their final football game of the 1941 season against Coach Dixie Howell's Arizona State Teachers of Tempe. The game will mark the annual Homecoming celebration Thursday, November 20th, Thanksgiving Day. The gridiron tussle will present the Fresno State Bulldogs versus the Arizona State Bulldogs.

As a special feature of the holiday attraction, the Fresno State College will observe the twentieth anniversary of the establishment of intercollegiate athletics. Hundreds of former varsity lettermen will be honored at the game.

In the meantime, Coach James (Rabbit) Bradshaw's Bulldogs will take on the arch athletic rival, San Jose State, in a night game in San Jose on Friday of this week. Plan now to follow the Bulldogs to San Jose. This may be their year to surprise the Spartans and come home victorious.

TRADITION MARKS BATTLE

When traditional athletic rivals meet on the gridiron competition always is keen, the crowd is colorful, and the stunts spectacular. Enthusiasm fairly seems to permeate the whole atmosphere of the stadium and every activity therein.

That is exactly the situation today as the College of the Pacific Tigers and the Fresno State College Bulldogs, two rivals going into their twentieth hectic gridiron game, take the field in Ratcliffe stadium to the accompaniment of cheers, music and merriment.

However, today's athletic spectacle offers more than the spirit of rivalry between two determined teams and the spontaneity of the spectators backing their favorite. This football game also provides the spot for a patriotic demonstration worthy of the celebration of Armistice Day. The colors of our country will be in prolific evidence, symbolizing the battle for democracy, civil rights and freedom of speech and worship now being waged. Although Armistice Day observes the end of the first World War in 1918, it also should be a stimulus to every loyal American today to join in a potent program for national defense. Thanks to the American Legion, Armistice Day is observed wholeheartedly in Fresno with an impressive parade in the morning, a patriotic address, an athletic contest and a grand ball at night.

While deadly war rages in other sections of the world, residents of free United States still may enjoy thoroughly the thrilling game of football. The boys on the turf in Ratcliffe Stadium will be fighting a battle for victory in clean sport. When the game is ended they will shake hands and congratulate the victor. For playing the game hard, fast and skillfully, but with good sportsmanship ever in the forefront, no other athletic coach is more beloved and admired than Amos Alonzo Stagg, leader of the little band of Pacific Tigers.

Coach Stagg opened his career coaching collegiate football fifty-two years ago after he had made an everlasting name for himself and football at Yale University. Although he now is 79 years of age, he is one of the most modern coaches in football. He has developed character in youth simultaneously with developing new methods of play in football. His teams, even in 1941, play the best in the land and always put on a show. Coach Stagg's collegiate teams in fifty-one years, have played 547 games of football, won 322, lost 190, and tied 35.

Since 1933, the Grand Old Man of Football has been at the College of the Pacific. During that time, the Tigers have lost five games to Fresno State and won three. In 1938, a highly favored Bulldog squad was smothered in a third quarter rally, 18 to 13. In 1939, Fresno eked out a 7 to 0 win, and last year only the kicking toe of Little All-American Jack Mulkey brought victory, 3 to 0.

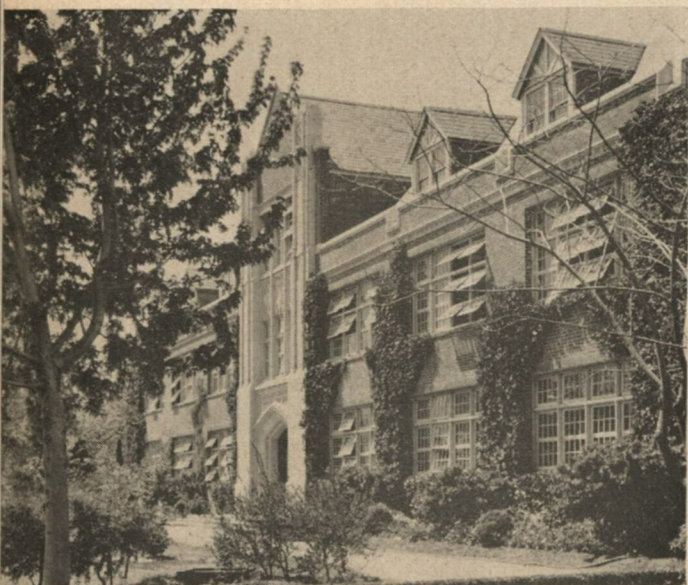

During the nineteen years of COP-FSC rivalry, Fresno has won eleven games, lost seven. Only one game between the schools has been a tie, and that a 0 to 0 deadlock on a rain-soaked field in 1926.

Three Pacific gridders are playing their last game against Fresno State today. They are: Les Dow, star center; Bob Ijams, all-conference tackle, and Aron Rempel, another giant tackle.

Bulldogs of Coach James (Rabbit) Bradshaw's, who will face Pacific for the last time, are: Bud Myers, fullback; Ed Lawton, tackle; Captain Les Terry, right half; Bob Burgess, center; Vernon Humphrey, guard; Vince Valek, end; Dan Conrow, quarterback, and George Kish, end.

College of the Pacific, the oldest college in California, has an attractive campus. Above, is the main entrance to the campus located at Stockton. Below, is shown the administration building presided over by Dr. Tully C. Knoles.

An athletic rival of Fresno State since 1922, the College of the Pacific offers many higher educational advantages as well as a fine sports program. Below is shown the conservatory of music and little theatre.

FESTIVITIES FOR GRADS

You can get something for nothing. This time the honors go to all former varsity lettermen of the Fresno State College. They'll be the guests of honor when the twentieth anniversary of the establishment of inter-collegiate athletics at Fresno State is celebrated at the annual Homecoming game on Thanksgiving Day, 2 P. M., November 20th, in Ratcliffe Stadium.

The main event is between Coach Dixie Howell's Arizona State Bulldogs of Tempe and Coach Jimmy Bradshaw's Fresno State Bulldogs.

Every former varsity F letterman will get a free ticket to the game and in addition, another free reserved seat ticket for his wife or sweetheart. Here's all you lettermen have to do. Just contact Coach J. Flint Hanner by letter, postcard or telephone before November 18th.

Graduate lettermen also are invited to a free buffet luncheon at the home of Myron Anderson, 1828 Yale Avenue, at noon the day of the game.

And here's a reminder to all former students of Fresno State. The annual Turkey Strut, sponsored by the Senior Class and the Fresno State College Alumni Association, will be held at 9 P. M., November 19th, in the ballroom of the Hotel Californian. This is the time for reunion. Don't miss it.

"Darling," comforted Elsie, the Borden Cow, "no baby of mine needs any old horseshoes. How could you be luckier than to have Borden experts watching over your health from the minute you were born? How could you be luckier than to know that when you grow up a brilliant career is waiting for you—producing wonderfully pure, wholesome Borden's Milk?"

"I could be luckier than to get bumps on my head before I grow up," sniffed Beulah, nevertheless listening.

"Your head is quite likely to swell in a different way," chuckled Elsie, "when you realize how many grand foods will depend on the milk you produce. Think of these, for instance, Borden's rich Whipping and Table Cream . . . Creamed Cottage Cheese . . . Old Fashioned Churned Buttermilk . . . Chocolate Milk . . . and that special treat, smooth luscious Borden's Ice Cream—the goodness in all these is due to the Borden skill and care that make all our family's products so fine. And that's what's teaching so many folks a little phrase which means mighty good luck in every home that knows it."

"Am I old enough yet to know it, too, mama?" begged little Beulah.

"Of course you are, my dear," beamed Elsie. "Just listen: If it's Borden's, it's GOT to be good!"
