Transportation and Motor Vehicles; Child Passenger Seat Restraints

University of the Pacific, McGeorge School of Law

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/nlr

Part of the Legislation Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/nlr/vol1983/iss1/101

This Legislative Review is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals and Law Reviews at Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Pacific Law Journal Review of Selected Nevada Legislative by an authorized editor of Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact mgibney@pacific.edu.
alcohol content. 88

In addition, the validity of blood alcohol testing has recently been questioned. 89 Some experts assert that blood alcohol content may actually increase after an accident or arrest. 90 Consequently, a person not legally intoxicated at the time of the alleged violation may reach that level during the period of delay before the evidentiary test. 91

Constitutional issues may also be raised by provisions of Chapter 426 that require first-time DUI offenders to wear distinctive garb 92 while performing work for the community. 93 Under existing case law, an individual's personal appearance is protected by the due process clause 94 and a restriction on that right may violate personal liberties. 95 For these restrictions to be valid, there must be a legitimate state interest that is reasonably related to the regulation. 96 Therefore, this provision of Chapter 426 must be sufficiently tailored to justify the interest of the state in punishing drunk drivers. 97

Transportation and Motor Vehicles; child passenger seat restraints

NEV. REV. STAT. §484.— (new).

AB 307 (Swain); 1983 STAT. Ch 589

Chapter 589 expressly establishes requirements for the use of federally approved child passenger seat restraints. 1 In addition, Chapter 589

1. 49 C.F.R. §571.213 (1982) (establishes federal standards for child seat restraints); 1983 Nev. Stat. c. 589, §1, at 1888; see also id. c. 589, §1(3), at 1888 (providing that a violation shall not be considered a moving traffic violation under NEV. REV. STAT. §483.470); 1983 Nev. Stat. c. 589, requires that all children under three years of age must be secured in a seat restraint while being transported in the rear seat of a vehicle registered in the state. A safety belt may be used if the child is three or four years of age and is in the rear seat of a vehicle registered in the state.

Any person who violates the provisions of Chapter 589 will be subject to a fine ranging from $35 to $100. The charges will be dismissed, however, if the violator presents proof of purchase or rental of a restraining device to the court within fourteen days of issuance of the citation.

Exempted from the requirements of Chapter 589 are persons transporting children (1) as a means of public transportation, including a taxi, school bus or emergency vehicle, or (2) in a rented vehicle. Also exempt are persons who possess a signed statement from a physician stating that the use of seat restraints or safety belts for a particular child would be impractical or dangerous because of the child's weight, physical unfitness, or medical condition. Finally, the requirements of Chapter 589 are inapplicable if (1) all seating positions with safety belts are occupied, (2) preference in the use of safety belts is given to children under three years of age, and (3) all unrestrained children under five years of age are in the rear seat.

§1(4), at 1888 (providing that a violation shall not be considered negligence in any civil action, or negligence or reckless driving under Nev. Rev. Stat. §484.377); 1983 Nev. Stat. c. 589, §1(1)(a), at 1888.

2. Id. c. 589, §1(1)(b), at 1888.

3. Id. c. 589, §1(1)(c), at 1888.

4. Id. c. 589, §1(2), at 1888.

5. Id.

6. Id. c. 589, §1(5)(a), at 1888.

7. Id.

8. Id. c. 589, §1(5)(b), at 1888. The physician's signed statement must be carried in the vehicle. Id.

9. Id. c. 589, §1(5)(c)(1), at 1889.

10. Id. c. 589, §1(5)(c)(2), at 1889.

11. Id. c. 589, §1(5)(c)(3), at 1889.

Transportation and Motor Vehicles; slower drivers—use of highways

SB 407 (Committee on Transportation); 1983 Stat. Ch 341

Prior law imposed a duty upon the driver of a motor vehicle travel-