NEXT SATURDAY during the intermission of the Boston College - University of Detroit football game the University's Reserve Officer Training Corps will lend a military flavor to the afternoon's festivities. The Cadet Brigade, 900-strong will parade while the band will pay tribute to the armed forces. Parents of the cadets will be here for the game, parade, and an open house program scheduled in Roberts Center following the football game.

DURING THE HALF of today's game youngsters from Needham and Wellesley will compete in an abbreviated football game. The boys, who range from eleven to fourteen years of age, represent their town's "Pop Warner Football League" entry. The two teams were on hand early today to take part in the football clinic held in Roberts Center.

TODAY'S OPPONENT, College of the Pacific, has a record of three wins and two losses. The Tigers beat the University of California (24-20), Arizona State (34-16), and Brigham Young (26-8). Cincinnati, the first team to stop the sensational Dick Bass, beat C.O.P. 12-6. Then last week, Marquette sprung the big one, that Mike Holovak had predicted, by defeating C.O.P. 27-18 and held halfback Dick Bass to less than 30 yards rushing.

THE McHugh Forum

It was a clear and cold day this very day November 1st, thirty-six years ago. It was a big day in the life of Boston College. This was ground breaking day for the Bapst Library. The civic dignitaries were on hand, the members of the Society of Jesus were there, and each took a hand to a shovel and lifted the soil upon which was to rise the beautiful Gothic building.

Among those wielding the ceremonial spade was Rev. Patrick J. McHugh, S.J., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

It seems in the memories of Alumni of the 1920-1935 era there was nothing that Father Packy McHugh did not do. He was a student counselor, an administrator, a hustling and dedicated educator, a priest, a friend, a man with high standards who insisted upon these standards being attained by the students at Boston College.

On November 14th the newest of the multi-purpose buildings at Boston College will be dedicated. It will be named the McHugh Forum, honoring a beloved Jesuit who was so well known and revered by the men who came up the hill from the Lake Street carbarn for their collegiate education.

When Father McHugh died, January 8, 1935, Edward J. O'Brien who was at the time Editor-in-Chief of The Heights wrote, "A man who is a leader of men and can make those whom he guided constantly feel in him they have a true friend, one who imbues genuine confidence and loyalty in all his associates, and who strives unceasingly and sincerely to help others—such a man is truly great. Such a man was Father McHugh. But he did more than encourage and assist. He was man enough to convey his true spirit of cooperation to every student who attended Boston College in the past fifteen years . . . We who are now students of Boston College realize that ours was an incalculable privilege to have had Father McHugh as an adviser and a friend. Although his loss brings extreme grief to us, intensified by the realization that a true friend had gone we gain solace in the knowledge that the mark he made on our character is indelible. WE SHALL BE GRATEFUL. WE WILL NOT FORGET."

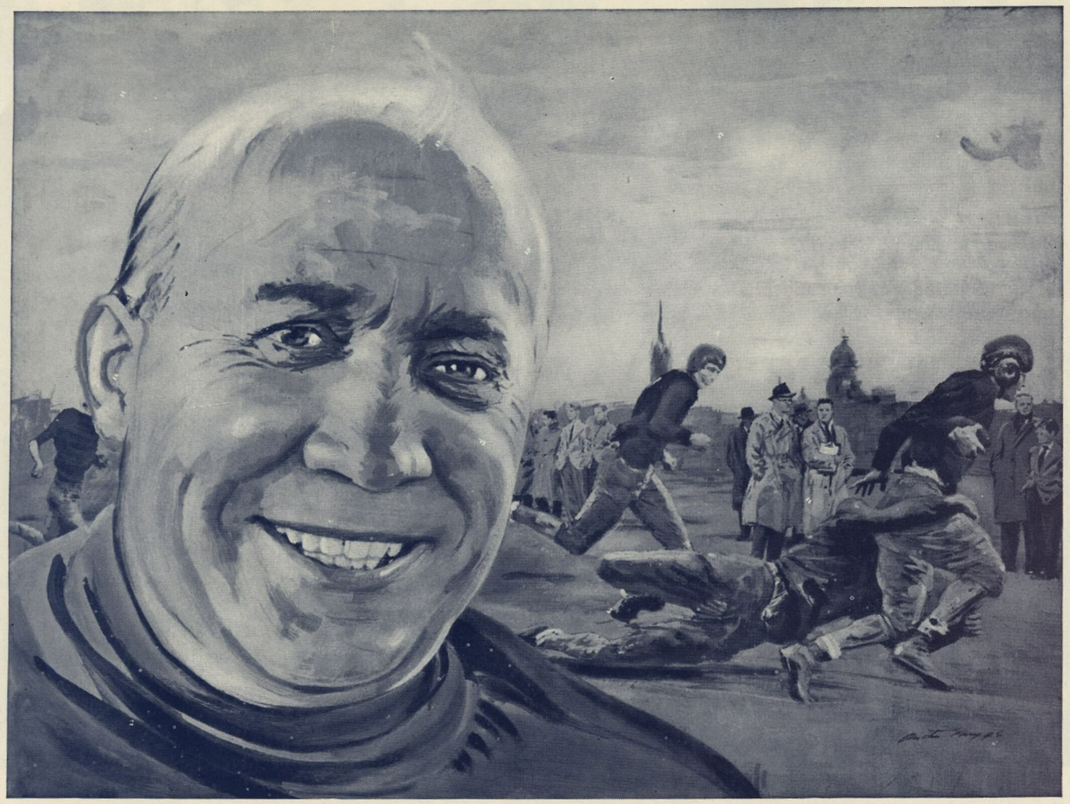
It is appropriate, too, that the Boston College Alumni Association is sponsoring the dedicatory affair for the McHugh Forum. The Skating Club of Boston will present an ice revue starring Carol Heiss and H. Allen Jenkins and other skating luminaries will inaugurate the McHugh Forum.

The ice surface is larger than that of the Boston Garden. Its equipment is the best obtainable. The seating capacity is 4200 for ice events and can be increased to 6500 for meetings, community, cultural and other convocations.

Archbishop Cushing Blessing the McHugh Forum

Carol Heiss and H. Allen Jenkins will star in ice revue of the Skating Club of Boston being presented by the Boston College Alumni Association on November 14 in McHugh Forum.

Tickets for the ice show are available at the B.C. Alumni Association.



They called him The Man-Maker

KNUTE ROCKNE was a big homely man with a wide, warm grin and a tough jaw and the kindest blue eyes you ever saw. He spent most of his life in a pair of messy canvas pants and a sweatshirt, and people looked surprised any time he turned up in a normal collar and tie.

But when Knute Rockne went out of this world, even the President of the United States felt the loss, and wrote a message to the nation. And that seems odd when you consider that all Knute ever did was play a game. It's odd, that is, until you think about it.

Knute's game, as nobody needs to tell you, was football. Knute practically invented football. He thought football the way Beethoven thought symphonies. He was a natural.

Down at Notre Dame, Knute would round up a bunch of ordinary healthy fellows, and go to work on them. He'd teach them how to run, how to stand firm, how to fall down, how to take care of themselves and live right. Boys would grow two inches in every direction under Knute's training. But he wasn't just a muscle man; Knute was a thinker, too. He'd invent plays that would leave the other team wishing they had thought of them first. He made football an exercise for the wits as well as the body.

And Knute could talk. He could talk you into being twice as big, twice as fast, twice as good as you thought you were. They say that one time, after one of Knute's locker-room sermons, one of the boys was so fired up with righteous spirit that he dashed out the wrong door and landed in the swimming pool. (Knute always enjoyed that story even if it wasn't true.)

You can look up the records if you want to—so many winning teams, so many victories, so many fine players. No doubt about it, Knute was the great man of football. But sometimes when you talk to fellows who knew him, now that they've had a chance to think about it, you get the idea that football wasn't Knute's game at all. Maybe, they tell you, Knute was coaching a bigger game than that.

Knute taught boys to be men. He put muscle in their characters. He taught them to want to win—but only to win clean—and to win with the team, for the greatest satisfaction is not to win for yourself, but to win with others.

We've had a lot of men in this country who taught us how to live with manliness, enthusiasm and pride. Some wrote books, some passed laws, some showed us by example. And one of them—as fine a teacher as any—was a homely guy with a tough jaw and kind eyes, who spent his life in a sweatshirt and a pair of football pants.

New Gym, deep squad . . . and Chevalier

" . . . It Looms as a delightful winter."

By ERNIE ROBERTS
Boston Globe

Basketball buffs have been dearly anticipating two additions to the Boston College Scene:

A. The new gym (Roberts Center).

B. Charles (The Campus Cousy) Chevalier.

Now they're both here . . . and about equally spectacular.

It doesn't seem fair, in view of B.C.'s N.C.A.A.-tourney team last winter, to open a basketball preview with the spotlight on an untested rookie like Chevalier.

Especially since the guy off court is a rather frail-looking six-footer, quiet of face and dress, one of the most unobtrusive powers on the Heights.

Yet is it just this disciplined, poker-faced demeanor which heighten's Chevalier's act on the basketball floor.

On court, Chuck is a baby-faced riverboat gambler; a lad who dispatches the enemy and entertains the audience with the best campus ball-handling since Bob Cousy invented the behind-the-back dribble.

Charlestown's Chevalier, of course, was weaned on Cousy's court tactics. Like Bob, he's French and has that Gallic immobility of features under pressure. He also has the strong wrists, big hands (can easily grab a basketball with one paw), sturdy legs.

The image of Cousy is identical when Chevalier steps to the foul line . . . or plays defense with those rapier-like hands . . . or drives from the top of the key with a behind-the-back kickoff.

Don't be led too far down the dream path, however. We are not writing that Chevvie is another Cousy . . . yet. There are certain deficiencies in shooting (although the outside phase was improved considerably last winter) and consistency still to be corrected.

H.C.'s Frenchman always was a facile scorer. B.C.'s rookie ranked only third on his freshman squad last year in average and total. This does not bother his coach too much, however.

"Chevalier has the potential to become a great shooter," says Dino Martin. "He needs to settle down some more but he's made fine strides already."

That '57-'58 freshman team, incidentally, posted an 18-1 record and generally was considered the best crop of court babies in B.C. history. The new gym, a building on the Beacon St. bluff, had something to do with their arrival at Chestnut Hill, too.

Top bets from the rookie crop to make the top ten at B.C. this winter include Chevalier, Kevin Loughery, Ray Falvey, Dick Schaller, Frank Quinn and Frank McArdle.

McArdle, from Yonkers, is a 6-1 forward who was frosh captain but sat out the last half of the season.

Says coach Dino Martin: "Frank could be one of our better scorers; has deceptive moves, fakes very well and maneuvers free when he has that ball."

High scorer from the yearlings is Kevin Loughery, apple-cheeked cornerman (6-3) from the Bronx who averaged 16.8 points.

"Loughery came fast, scored 35 points in one of the games with Holy Cross," says Martin.

Falvey, also 6-3 and from the Bronx, averaged 11.5 points, is rated the steadiest defensive rookie. Quinn and Schaller are both 6-6 pivots with promise from Newport, R.I., and Brooklyn respectively.

"We're having a battle for jobs," reports Martin. "We only lost two starters—Harrington and Lyons—from last year's varsity, still have old reliables George Giersch, Jack Magee and Barry McGrath plus former reserves Luke Latkany, Jack Schoppmeyer, Rudy Von Burg, Jim Power."

* away games

1958-59 Basketball Captain George Giersch received LOOK magazine citation for his outstanding play last winter. Coach Dino Martin (right) expressed approval.

"Frankly I was surprised at our 16-5 record and tourney bid last season. I figured we were a year away. Now we have better overall strength than in my previous five years . . . but also the toughest schedule in that time."

A peek at the nearby list of games will confirm this point. But with the new gym, deep squad . . . and Chevalier . . . It looms as a delightful winter.

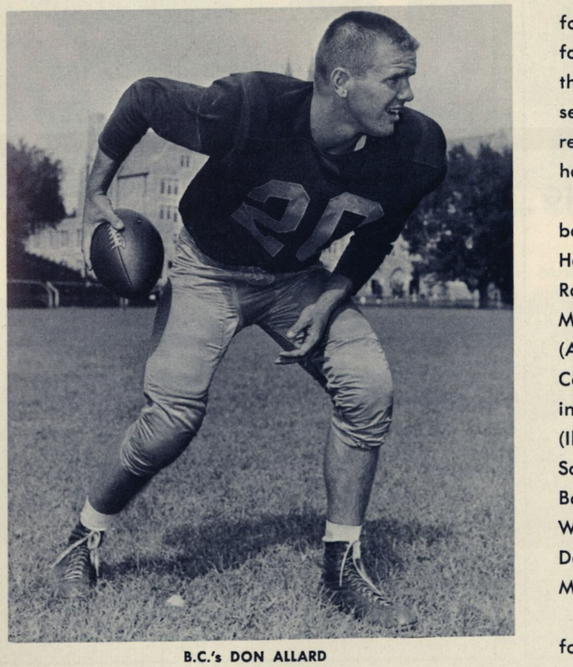
EARLY ALL AMERICANS

While they've never met one another B.C.'s Don Allard and C.O.P.'s Dick Bass were on the same team together four years ago.

Allard, a senior quarterback at Somerville High School, and Bass, Vallejo High School halfback in California, were named to the 1954 All American High School Football Squad picked exclusively for Scholastic Magazines.

Neither one has embarrassed the selectors for their being selected as Allard has certainly borne out his quarterbacking ability and certainly Bass, currently the Nation's leading ground gainer, has proven his salt.



B.C.'s DON ALLARD

C.O.P.'s DICK BASS

Today the two gridiron greats face one another for the first time. Allard, of course, is appearing today for the first time this season since he was injured in the first half of the Syracuse game. Bass, who for two seasons suffered torn ligaments and a broken leg, has remained healthy—too healthy for the opponents—and has been an exciting player to watch.

There were others on that "All" team four years back who have continued to rate headlines — John Hangartner (Arizona State), Lee Grosscup (Utah), Randy Duncan (Iowa), Tom Secules (William and Mary), John Maio (Boston University), Tom Lorino (Auburn), Dick Gay (Texas A.&M.), King Dixon (South Carolina), Bobby Price (Tennessee), Luther Carr (Washington), Nick Pietrosante (Notre Dame), John Delveaux (Illinois), and Homer Floyd (Nebraska) were all backs. Some notable linemen, of today, on that team were: Bob Prescott (Iowa), Doug Shively (Kentucky), John Wooten (Colorado), Bronko Nagurski, Jr., (Notre Dame), Charlie Horton (Baylor) and B.C.'s own George Mancini.

It would appear that 1954 was a good year for football players.

Boston College Coaching Staff

MICHAEL J. HOLOVAK
Head Coach

Mike celebrated his fifteenth anniversary as an alumnus of Boston College last June and as an anniversary present the 39-year old Eagle mentor hopes this year's football team will be his best.

He's starting his eighth season as head coach at University Heights and looks to this 1958 squad as possibly the strongest in size, depth and experience.

The former B.C. All American hasn't suddenly gone overboard as an optimist but he does feel that this year's varsity has all the savvy and strength of material to make it click successfully.

Mike, who was born in Lansford, Pa., came to B.C. in 1939 after he had graduated from Lansford High and spent one year at Seton Hall Prep. As a sophomore, in 1940, he became the regular fullback on the National Championship team that defeated Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl. In the Orange Bowl, two years later, Mike, a co-captain of the Eagles and a T-formation halfback, scored all three B.C. touchdowns and averaged 15 yards per carry against Alabama. While 'Bama won the game 37-21 Holovak's running feats ranked as one of the best individual performances in the history of Miami's annual New Year's Day classic. Mike graduated from Boston College in 1943 and immediately went to Navy officers' training school at Northeastern. He later served, with distinction, three and a half years with a P.T. boat squadron, including 15 perilous months in the Pacific.

After the war Mike played one year of professional football with the Los Angeles Rams and then two seasons with the Chicago Bears. He came to B.C. as freshman coach in 1949 and succeeded the late Denny Myers as head coach in 1951. In 1954 Boston's football writers, radio and TV sportscasters named Mike as New England's Coach-of-the-Year. His 1953 and 1954 teams were also voted New England's best.

This past Summer, Mike spent two weeks of active duty with the Naval Reserve aboard a destroyer in the Atlantic.

ALVINI (VIN) ST. PIERRE
Line Coach

The 22-year old St. Pierre was a regular B.C. guard during the 1953-54 seasons but a severe back injury, during the Summer of 1955, curtailed his football playing days. The injury also brought about his medical discharge from the Marine Corps Reserve.

So, during the Fall of his senior year, Vin served as freshman line coach and before graduation assisted Coach Holovak during the 1956 Spring drills. He became Mike's regular line coach in 1957.

His home is in Taunton, Mass.

NEIL WORDEN
Backfield Coach

Neil, former Notre Dame and Philadelphia Eagles fullback joined the B.C. coaching staff last Spring.

The 27-year old Notre Dame All American who was born and raised in Milwaukee, originally came to the Heights for just the Spring drills but agreed to remain fulltime at Mike Holovak's request.

Worden gained more than 2000 yards in three years of competition at Notre Dame and scored 29 touchdowns to establish a new scoring record at South Bend. When he graduated from N.D. in 1954 he was the Philadelphia Eagles' first draft choice. After one season of professional football Neil spent two years in the Army and returned to the Eagles for the 1957 season.

LOUIS (LOU) FLORIO
Assistant Coach

Lou came to the Heights in 1950 and became a regular tackle under Coach Holovak. Upon graduation in 1954 he was commissioned in the Marine Corps Reserve and continued to play football while stationed at Camp Lejeune.

Lou joined the Chicago Bears after doffing the Marine Corps uniform but a severe knee injury sidelined him before the 1956 season got underway. This year he again tried the pro ranks with Calgary in the Canadian League but the same knee injury cut short his playing days.

LARRY SULLIVAN
End Coach

Larry, for the past four years head coach of football at McGill University and former Notre Dame star, has been named to Mike Holovak's coaching staff at Boston College according to an announcement made by William J. Flynn, Director of Athletics.

A graduate of Brockton High School, 1938, Sullivan attended Tilton Prep in New Hampshire before entering Notre Dame where he played under both Elmer Layden and Frank Leahy.

After graduation the new B.C. assistant coach spent four years with the U.S. Marine Corps and received the Purple Heart for wounds received at Okinawa.

Upon separation from the Marines at the rank of Captain, Sullivan became head coach of football at Cathedral High School in Hamilton, Ontario, remaining there until 1953. From 1948 to 1952, before his high school team went into drills Larry served as an assistant coach with the Hamilton professional team.

College of the Pacific Coaching Staff

Head Coach
JACK MYERS

At the age of 33, Jack "Moose" Myers is in his third year as College of Pacific's athletic director and his fifth season as head grid coach. When he was appointed head coach five years ago he was the youngest man in the country to coach a major college football team.

An all-around athlete, Myers was a member of the 1946 UCLA Rose Bowl team and was a heavy-hitting first baseman on the Bruins' baseball team. He also lettered in basketball one year. Myers was considered pro football's top blocking back while playing for the Philadelphia Eagles in 1948 and 1949 (world championship years for the Eagles) and 1950. He was named Philadelphia's most valuable player in 1950.

After a year as COP backfield coach in 1951, Myers joined the Los Angeles Rams for one year previous to his head coaching appointment.

JOHN ROHDE

Assistant Coach John Rohde was the favorite target of passes by Quarterback Eddie LeBaron at College of the Pacific from 1946 through 1949. At the close of his college playing days he was a member of the West team in the annual East-West Shrine game. After a shoulder injury cut short Rohde's playing days with the Washington Redskins, he came back to COP as an assistant in 1950. The following two years he was in business in Arizona and rejoined the Tiger staff in 1953.

SID HALL

The winner of COP's Outstanding Senior Player award in 1950, Hall is in this his second year as freshman coach of the Tigers. Also the school's baseball coach, Hall spent four seasons as coach (two as an assistant and two as head coach) at Porterville junior college before joining the COP staff. Hal was a center and linebacker for the Tigers during 1948-50.

GEORGE DICKSON

A new addition to the Tiger mentor list, backfield Coach George Dickson, was an assistant to Coach John Druze at Marquette in 1956. A standout quarterback on Notre Dame squads of 1947-49, Dickson held assistant coaching posts at New York University; Mount Carmel high school, Chicago; the University of Dayton and the University of Southern California as well as with Marquette, coming to College of Pacific this fall.

CHARLES CHATFIELD

A letterman right halfback on last year's College of Pacific eleven. Charles Chatfield is in his first year as a Tiger assistant coach. A standout ball player in 1957 Chatfield was seventh in the nation in pass receiving and kicked 13 out of 13 extra point attempts. He was also a pitcher for four years on the Tiger baseball squad.

DON "TINY" CAMPORA

One of the all-time Tiger greats, Don "Tiny" Campora is in his first year as COP line coach. He performed for the Tigers during 1946-49 and later played pro football with the San Francisco 49ers, and with the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian League. Other coaching positions were as line coach at Arizona State college in 1951 and as head coach at Stockton college 1955-58.

ROLAND RUTTER

A letterman center for the Tigers in 1956-57, asisstant line Coach Roland Rutter received the team's Most Loyal Player and Most Improved Player awards in his senior year. Rutter played for El Camino junior college before entering College of Pacific.

Boosters of Boston College

May we offer our best wishes to the Boston College Football Team for the coming season and to the University for its lasting contributions to the community.

SWEEP DOWN THE FIELD

Sweep down the field for Boston,
Marching on to glory,
Forward fighting Eagles.
Carry home the spoils of victory.
OH! We'll crush the foe before us
As the Boston men of old;
So, Fight! Fight! Fight! Fight!
Fight! Fight! Fight!
For the old Maroon and Gold.

Cheered to victory our team sweeps on,
The foe is vanquished and their spirit gone.

HAIL! ALMA MATER!

Hail! Alma Mater! Thy praise we sing.
Fondly thy mem'ries round our heart still cling.
Guide of our youth, thro' thee we shall prevail!
Hail! Alma Mater! Hail! All Hail!
Hail! Alma Mater! Lo! on the height,
Proudly thy tow'rs are raised for the Right
God is thy Master, His law thy sole avail!
Hail! Alma Mater! Hail! All Hail!

FOR BOSTON

For Boston, for Boston,
We sing our proud refrain!
For Boston, for Boston,
'Tis wisdom's earthy fane
For here men are men
And their hearts are true,
And the towers on the Heights
Reach to heaven's own blue.
For Boston, for Boston,
Till the echoes ring again!

For Boston, for Boston,
Thy glory is our own!
For Boston, for Boston,
'Tis here that truth is known;
And ever with the Right
Shall thy sons be found,
Till time shall be no more
And thy work is crowned.
For Boston, for Boston,
For thee and Thine alone!

NO FOOTBALL...

Next year, The Great A&P Tea Company will observe its One Hundredth Anniversary.

The first store was opened in 1859 on New York City's waterfront. The founder was George Huntington Hartford, a native New Englander.

Long before the first touchdown on an American gridiron thrilled a few puzzled spectators, A&P was serving the public with quality foods at low prices.

And just as the great fall sport has continued to attract more and more fans down through the years, so A&P has continued to attract patrons in increasing numbers.

We predict that American football can look forward to even greater days ahead.

We hope, too, that our company can go on and on serving satisfied customers for many years to come.
