TONIGHT'S GAME

by Dick Kranz
Assistant Sports Editor
The Stockton Record

A delightful tradition hinges on tonight's game and coach Doug Scovil doesn't like to break a good habit, and, certainly, not this one.

Each time Pacific has opened a football season under the direction of a new head coach, the Tigers have responded with a victory. The odds are against the "reclawed" Tigers tonight when they face one of the West Coast's toughest elevens, the Los Angeles State Diablos.

Pacific, which has a 31-15-1 record in football inaugurals, defeated the Cal Aggies, 7-0, when Erwin "Swede" Righter was the Tigers' head coach for the first time in 1923. Amos Alonzo Stagg won his C.O.P. coaching debut, 13-7, over the Cal Aggies in 1933.

When Larry Siemering took charge in 1947, Pacific trounced Williamette University, 56-0, and Ernie Jorge's inaugural in 1951 resulted in a 33-7 win over Hardin-Simmons.

In 1953, Jack (Moose) Myers' Tigers won the first game, 25-20, over Stanford. John Rohde bowed in with a 12-7 triumph over Long Beach State in 1961; and Don (Tiny) Campora led his first Tiger eleven to a 23-7 decision over Montana's Grizzlies.

However, none faced the rebuilding program in so little time as Scovil has undertaken since becoming Pacific's head coach after successful years as quarterback coach at the U.S. Naval Academy.

Los Angeles State, also led by a new head coach Jim (Red) Williams, had a 9-1 record in 1965, including a victory in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento. The Diablos enter Pacific Memorial Stadium with a nine-game winning streak achieved under Homer Beatty, who stepped down this year because of illness.

The L.A. Staters, three-time defending California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) champion, lost the 1965 opener, 21-0, to Bowling Green and then swept everyone else aside.

In contrast, Pacific aims to end a six-game losing string. And since the Tigers have won only four games in the last three seasons, they are eager to get in the good graces of their followers.

Pacific leads 2-1 in the overall series with Los Angeles State, winning 45-27 in 1961 and 34-13 in 1962, while the Diablos won, 32-13, in 1964.

Last season's meeting was rained out when L.A. State officials reported the Rose Bowl (site of the game) was unplayable. The decision to cancel came in the middle of the week when Los Angeles area was drenched with flooding rains.

However, the skies cleared and a couple games were played in the Rose Bowl that week and many Pacific fans felt the game was called too quickly and that the Diablos didn't want to play in fear of injury and of being scouted by Camellia Bowl opponent, Santa Barbara.

Then this spring, despite being notified the Tigers' spring game would be played behind locked gates, Los Angeles State sent two coaches to Stockton to scout the contest. They were barred at the gates and, probably went away not feeling too happy with Pacific coaches.

Thus high scoring and controversy has marked the short series between the two rivals. Tonight's meeting should be a wide-open affair, too.

LOS ANGELES STATE COLLEGE AND ITS CAMPUS

DR. JOHN A. GREENLEE
PRESIDENT

JIM "RED" WILLIAMS
HEAD COACH

THIS IS L. A. STATE

Progress in athletics through opportunity and achievement has marked California State College at Los Angeles' growth since its rather crude beginnings 17 years ago.

Established in 1949 on the campus of Los Angeles City College, Los Angeles State shared facilities with the punior college while two permanent campuses were being constructed; one at the junction of the San Bernardino and Long Beach freeways, and the other in San Fernando Valley.

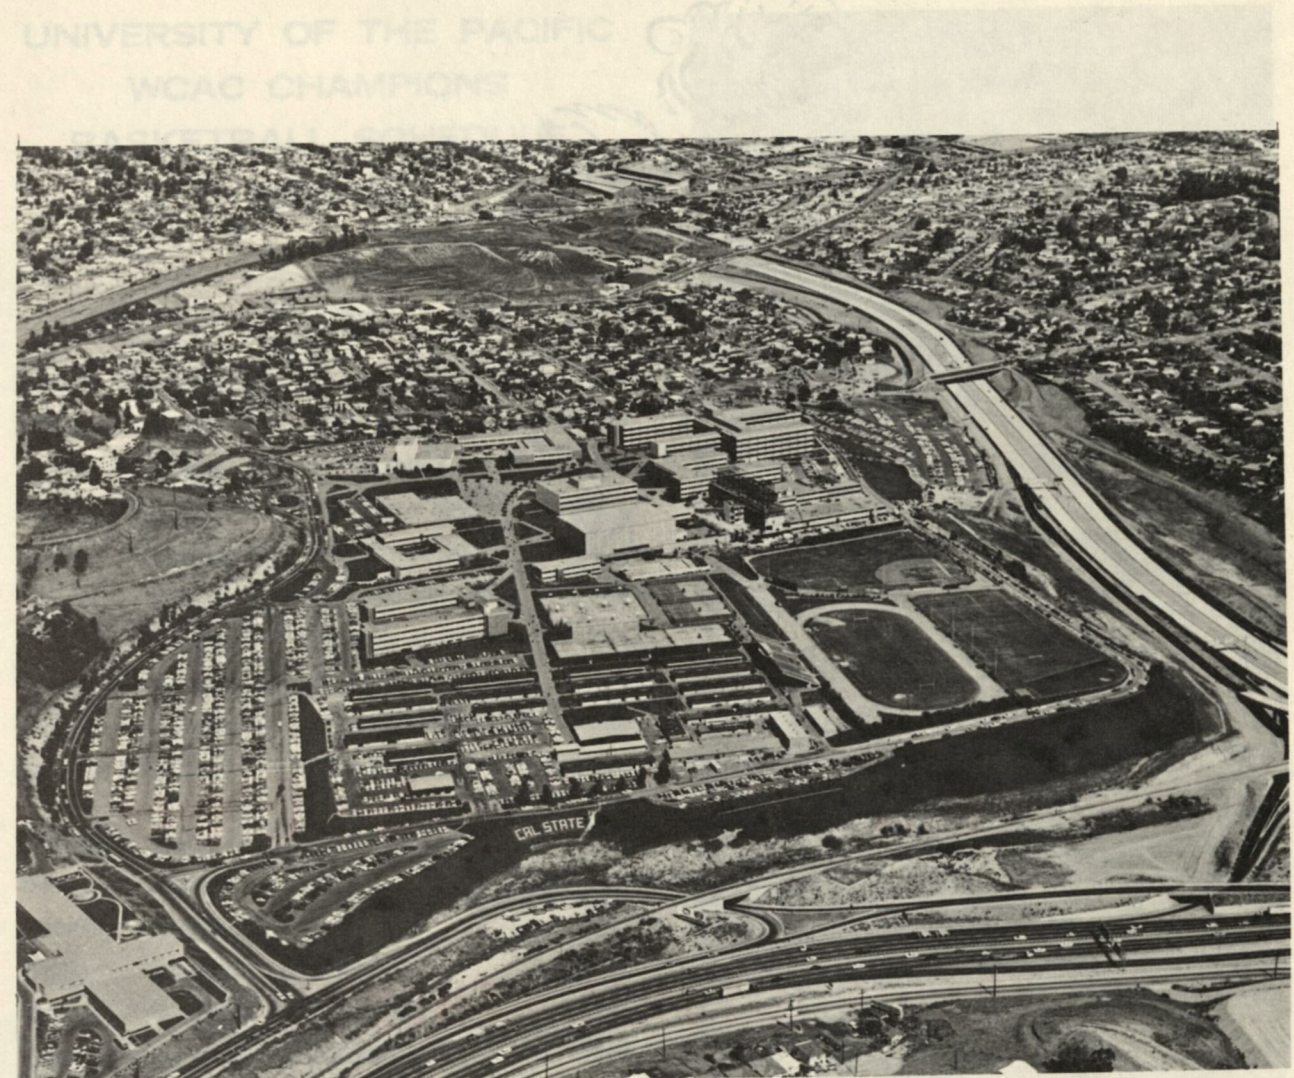

The latter became known as San Fernando Valley State College in 1958, while the former grew to become Cal State LA, fourth largest institute of higher learning on the west coast, and an athletic powerhouse on the national college scene.

Cal State LA has prided itself on being able to offer young athletes the greatest opportunity to perform on championship teams in 11 inter-collegiate sports, each one utilizing the finest playing facilities available, and competing in the strongest, best-balanced college division conference in the nation, the California Collegiate Athletic Association.

Home fields for the Diablos range from the world-renowned Rose Bowl in Pasadena for football, to the college's $3,000,000 gymnasium for basketball, wrestling and gymnastics; its recently completed, two-pool swim stadium; 5,000-seat CSCLA Stadium for track and field; and CSCLA Baseball Field, regarded as the best on-campus diamond in the country.

The college's athletic growth has been matched by its academic and structural growth, step for step, to the point where the campus now confers some 3,500 degrees annually and has handed out nearly 30,000 in 19 years.

Football Fashions

by MALINDA WIESNER

Fashion Editor, Des Moines (Ia.) Register

FASHION is on a kick for the football season.

Designers have scored with fashions made just for the game whether you're cheering beneath the southern sun or huddling in the stands up north.

It's the fabric that keeps you comfortable no matter where you follow the team.

often short if the skirt is pleated at the waist. Longer tunic styles will end where the skirt fullness begins. Dresses with matching coats make versatile combinations—ready for the game and subsequent celebrations.

Warm-weather wraps include the all-weather coats—they are handsome enough to make you laugh at a cloudy day. Nearly any fabric can be treated to resist the rain so corduroy, faille, wool and silk will join vinyl slickers on the bleachers.

A poncho makes a sporting accessory. Some are hooded or high colored. Try a co-ordinating plaid or textured knit over a tailored dress.

Coats of double-faced wool may be reversible with a contrasting color turning out on the notched collar. In order to fit over full skirts, coats take on a flared shape. Some reach near tent proportions flaring from the shoulders and have wide sleeves. Keeping a slim look at the bodice and sleeves, some flare from a slightly raised waistline.

Collars include wide rims standing high to muffle the neck. Some roll out into a hood for the chilliest climates.

Furs are popular in all parts of the country—even the southern evenings cool off enough in autumn to make them appropriate.

Mink goes casual with double-breasted closings and notched collars. Or try a fun fur for the festivities. Just about any animal found in the woods could turn up at the game. Fox might be disguised in "spank" red and raccoon will be updated. Coats are even lined in fur, some being reversible.

Fashion needs to be co-ordinated but you don't have to buy everything matching—it makes the game more exciting to call your own plays. Your gray all-weather coat will go with a brown suit. Then blend the two with a scarf hat of brown and gray paisley. The print may have gold accents you can pick up in an alligator bag. Brown shoes and creamy white gloves complete the ensemble.

Color knows no season—especially this year. Stands will be full of classic camel and bronze with olive accents. But the aster family joins the team too, from pale pink to rich purple and blue. Other surprises include navy—no longer just for spring. It will even be seen with white or deep red trim. Other colors making their bid are rusty oranges and berry reds.

Ensembles feature tri-color combinations. A coat dress may have a blue skirt topped in brown banded in the middle with creamy white. Outfits such as these are fun to accessorize as it is a natural to pick up more than one color in the accessories.

Accessories offer a chance to play a game of color and textures with your ensemble. Shoes of textured leathers, alligator and even wool are in the footnotes.

Shoes should be comfortable and designers have obliged with low sturdy heels and rounded toes. You're climbing, walking and on and off your feet for the duration so treat them kindly. Shed your spikes in favor of a new sporting pair. Trims will include buckles, straps, lacing and tailored bows. There will be straps, toe-less and heel-less styles for variety. Keep in mind boots—not as clumsy as other seasons—for cold stadiums.

Handbags are smaller so let the men tote their own thermos of coffee—you won't have room. Like shoes there is a distinctive array of colors and materials.

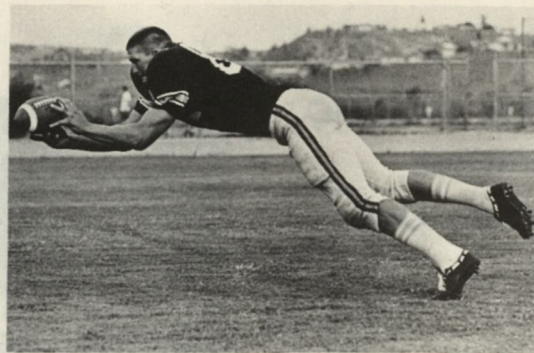

Topping the accessory field are hats. They are small and fit down over the new sleek hairdos. They are decorative and do the job of keeping ears warm.

Appropriate helmets are done in crushable felt. There are also berets, beanies, hoods and caps that are styled in soft fabrics. Even fall's small brimmed roller can be packed with ease.

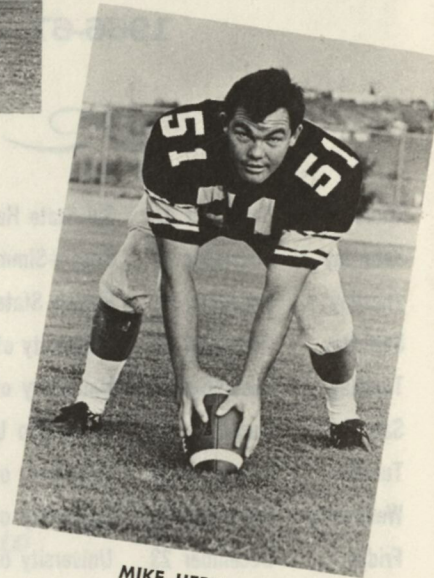

If an especially bright future is forecast for the team and you will be headed for a southern bowl game, knits are suggested. Chances are weather will be sunny. A sleeveless knit will be appropriate with a co-ordinating jacket or coat. It can be dressed up or down as the occasion demands.

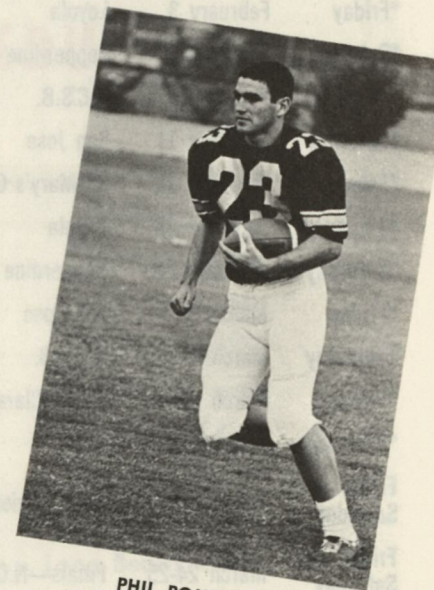

Do take time out to think of your wardrobe when backing the team. You shouldn't punt—be prepared.

QUARTERBACK CLUB

In 1948 a group of civic-minded sports enthusiasts formed the Quarterback Club to "encourage, promote and maintain support of athletic activities in this area".

The work of the club speaks for itself. Our teams have received state-wide and national recognition—and we want your support. We need at least 1000 members to do an adequate job. Send your Sawbuck ($10), Half-Century ($50) or Century ($100) to Box 1473, Stockton, and become a booster for all amateur programs in Stockton.

Half-time entertainment is being presented this evening by the Lincoln High School Trojan Marching Band under the direction of Henry Avila, a Pacific graduate.

The Lincoln Band, one of five high school bands in Stockton, is currently preparing for its busy fall marching season.

Along with their own school activities the band has been quite active in past seasons participating in various college band days, the East-West Shrine Game and at the California State Fair.

Directing the band on the field is drum major Rick Ratliff with majorette Kit Fairbanks.

Next week: West Texas State
The all new University of the Pacific Marching Band, under the direction of Jim Douglas.

Campus Calendar

The University of the Pacific will begin its 116th academic year this coming week as classes begin on Wednesday, September 21. University officials expect more than 2350 full-time students to enroll for the fall semester on the Stockton campus.

Classes at Raymond College began on August 29 and the School of Dentistry in San Francisco began classes last Wednesday, September 14.

REGISTRATION SCHEDULE

Monday, September 19—8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.—University gymnasium
Regular full-time students will register.

Tuesday, September 20—8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.—University gymnasium
New entering freshman and those who did not register on Monday will register.

Wednesday, September 21, to 12:00 noon, Saturday, September 24—Registrar's office

Part-time students carrying from one to six units will register.

Wednesday, September 21—classes begin

Students carrying more than six units must register on Monday or Tuesday, September 19 or 20, to avoid paying a late penalty fee of $10.

Students carry six units or less have until noon on Saturday, September 24, in which to enroll without paying the late penalty fee.

All students, including part-time students, should attend the first meeting of any class, even though registration has not been completed.

Many late afternoon and evening classes for teachers and others who want the opportunity to add to their college education are offered at the University of the Pacific.

Afternoon classes generally begin at 4:15 p.m. and last until 6.00 p.m., while evening classes usually start at 7:15 p.m.

For a full schedule of late afternoon and evening classes, as well as any further information, on registration, contact the Registrar's office at the University.
