ABOUT PACIFIC

University of the Pacific, California's first and oldest university, is a national comprehensive university ranked in the top 100 in the nation. Established in 1851 Pacific has more than 6,300 students and nine schools and colleges across three campuses in northern California. The majority of students and the NCAA Division I athletics program are based on the Stockton Campus, often cited as one of the nation's most beautiful college campuses. The Sacramento Campus, in California's state capital, is home to the McGeorge School of Law and the new School of Health Sciences. The renowned Arthur A. Dugoni School of Dentistry is based on the downtown San Francisco Campus, along with additional graduate programs. Pacific takes pride in providing the highly personalized and caring educational, social and residential environments of a small college combined with the choices and opportunities of a major comprehensive university.

PRESIDENT CHRISTOPHER CALLAHAN

President Christopher Callahan joined Pacific in July 2020 after more than 25 years in higher education leadership, most recently as the founding dean of the Walter Cronkite School of Journalism and Mass Communication at Arizona State University, CEO of the university-owned Arizona PBS TV station and vice provost for ASU's downtown Phoenix campus.

A first-generation college graduate, the New York native earned his BS degree in journalism from Boston University's College of Communication and an MPA from Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government. Before entering higher education, Callahan was a journalist for The Associated Press in Washington, D.C. and state capitals in New England.

At Pacific, Callahan is focused on building on the strengths of California's first university: the personalized immersive learning environments created by gifted and dedicated master faculty, with a focus on experiential learning and public service across all three of its northern California campuses.

Callahan has set the ambitious goal of Pacific becoming the best student-centered comprehensive university in the nation within a decade, focusing on the hallmarks of a Pacific education while dramatically accelerating the pace of innovation, building new partnerships and becoming a model for diversity, equity and inclusion.

When he is not in his office, Callahan can be found meeting with students, faculty, staff, alumni, prospective students and university supporters, visiting classes, observing student and faculty presentations or attending Pacific Tigers athletic competitions, Conservatory of Music concerts and a host of other events.

PROVOST AND EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS MARIA G. PALLAVICINI

Maria G. Pallavicini joined Pacific in 2011 as provost. In this role, she led the creation of a new Academic Plan and the refresh of Pacific 2020, the university's strategic plan. She has overseen the creation of numerous new undergraduate, graduate and professional programs on Pacific's three campuses.

Pallavicini served as Pacific's interim president in 2019-20 during the search for the university's new president and the start of the COVID-19 pandemic. Under her leadership, the university not only successfully transitioned to remote learning and working, but also established the new School of Health Sciences, created Benerd College through a merger, and transformed the William Knox Holt Memorial Library and Learning Center into a modern hub of learning and innovation.

Prior to joining Pacific, Pallavicini served nearly 10 years at UC Merced as professor and founding dean of the School of Natural Sciences. Prior to joining UC Merced, she was a professor at UC San Francisco, where she taught and ran an active research program.

Pallavicini holds a BA in biochemistry from UC Berkeley and a PhD in Pharmacology from the University of Utah, Salt Lake City. She has held academic positions at Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory and Ontario Cancer Institute in Toronto.

Her research interest is in stem cells in leukemia and breast cancer. Pallavicini has authored or co-authored more than 80 peer-reviewed articles in scientific journals and has presented at scientific conferences around the world.

OUR SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

Pacific's 9 schools and colleges on its three campuses offers our students more than 100 areas of study, including more than 30 graduate programs and 12 accelerated programs. Students can go directly into professional programs, including pharmacy, dentistry and law, or accelerated programs in business, engineering, education and health sciences.

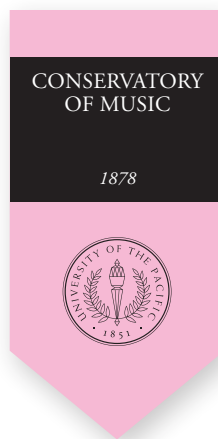

School and college banners signifying each of the academic units of the university precede a unit's students and faculty in the procession and are displayed during the ceremony. The color of the banner symbolizes the academic discipline.

COLLEGE OF THE PACIFIC

The College of the Pacific is the oldest and largest academic unit, encompassing 18 departments and 29 majors in the natural sciences, social sciences, humanities and the fine and performing arts. Based upon its foundation of a rigorous liberal arts curriculum, the college champions experiential learning through undergraduate research and creative activity, fieldwork, internships and study abroad. The college prepares graduating students to command a broad perspective in their professional careers, ready to assume the responsibilities of leadership.

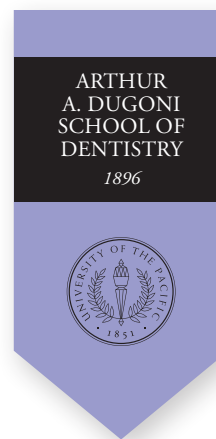

The golden yellow field of this banner represents the sciences.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Conservatory faculty artists/scholars provide a rigorous and supportive learning environment. Students have access to a recording studio, technology and composition labs. Seminars and masterclasses with accomplished alumni and visiting artists, along with numerous performance and other experiential opportunities, help prepare graduates for professions in music.

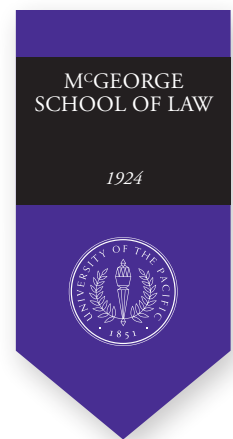

The pink field is the color for all disciplines relating to music.

Its programs include an accelerated year-round pre-doctoral DDS program that enables students to complete four academic years of instruction in three calendar years.

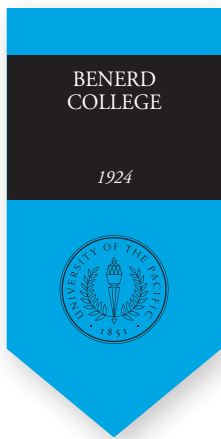

The lilac color of dentistry forms the field for this banner.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

James D. Mair '68

James D. Mair with his wife, Gretchen, from Homecoming 1968

Prominent Silicon Valley real estate executive, former regent and alumnus Jim Mair '68 is receiving an honorary doctoral degree from University of the Pacific—one of the university's highest honors—in recognition of his transformative impact on California and the state's first and oldest university.

Mair, president of South Bay Development Co., which he founded in 1978, negotiated the purchase of the current San Francisco Campus, the university's largest real estate acquisition since moving to Stockton in 1924. Located downtown in the South of Market area, it was recognized by the San Francisco Business Times as the best office real estate deal in San Francisco in 2011.

"It was a fairly hot real estate market at the time, and we had to jump on it to get the building," Mair recalled. "It's worked out great for the dental school."

The deal allowed the Dugoni School of Dentistry to expand its footprint into a state-of-the-art facility and created space for other programs to be added.

"Moving into this beautiful space eight years ago has transformed how our students learn and allowed us to expand oral healthcare services for our patients," said

Nader A. Nadershahi, dean of the Dugoni School of Dentistry and vice provost of the San Francisco Campus. "We are extremely grateful to Jim for securing this facility and his guidance through the entire building project."

Mair's connection to Pacific began more than 50 years ago. A Minnesota native, he moved across the country to attend Pacific without ever visiting the campus.

"Back then we didn't tour colleges. When I got off the plane in San Francisco I said, 'why are we going back East?' he recalled with a laugh. "But from the minute I got there I loved the school."

Mair earned a bachelor's degree in business administration. He was part of the men's swimming and water polo teams and a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. He also met his future wife the first week of college. Gretchen (Wolf) Mair '68 earned a bachelor's degree in psychology from Pacific. She was a member of Delta Gamma sorority and voted Homecoming Queen her senior year.

The Mairs' connection to Pacific continued through their daughter, Carolyn '97 and their late daughter Meredith '94, as well as their son-in-law Clint Fleener '94.

After graduating from Pacific, Mair earned a master's degree from Santa Clara University and stayed in Silicon Valley to work in commercial real estate.

Students have directly benefited from the family's generosity. The Mairs have created two endowed scholarships in their late daughter's name to support Media X students and those pursuing careers in education.

"We got a wonderful education at Pacific, and we would like to see that happen for more people," Gretchen Mair said.

The Mairs also have made donations in support of the Alex and Jeri Vereschagin Alumni House, the Eve Zimmerman Tennis Complex and the sand volleyball courts.

"Jim has been very generous with giving back to Pacific," said Kathy Lagorio Janssen '68, former chair of the Board of Regents. "He truly is one of those who give time, talent and treasure."

Mair, who served as a regent from 2008-2016, was recognized with the Pacific Alumni Association Distinguished University Service Award in 2015.

"Jim's dedication to Pacific, first as a student leader and later as a regent, is unsurpassed," President Christopher Callahan said. "The impact of the Mairs' generosity on our students will continue to be felt for decades to come. And on a personal level, Jean and I are very grateful for Jim and Gretchen's support and friendship. They are both truly great Pacificans."

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

Originally a weapon used in medieval warfare, the mace evolved by the 12th century into a symbolic device used on ceremonial occasions and borne before monarchs, mayors and parliaments. The mace, as an academic symbol, dates back to the 15th century at the University of St. Andrews in Scotland. The use of maces as symbols of academic authority spread to other universities in the British Isles and, from there, to America.

Robert E. Burns '31, '46, Pacific president from 1946 to 1971, asked Stuart Devlin, an internationally known London silver designer, to create University of the Pacific's mace. It was commissioned in recognition of the university's transition from a college to a university and was first used at a Founders' Day ceremony on March 6, 1966. Constructed entirely of silver with a gold-plated seal of the university in its head, the mace weighs 15 pounds and is approximately four feet long. It was a gift from Mrs. Winifred Olson Raney, a regent of the university. The mace is displayed at all official university functions, including Commencement and Convocation. It is traditionally carried by the chair of the Academic Council or a faculty member to symbolize the role of the faculty in university governance.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

TASSEL At Pacific, tassel colors represent fields of study at the undergraduate and master's level. Generally, bachelor's and master's tassels are black, and doctoral tassels are gold. After graduation, the tassel is worn on the left side of the mortarboard. An individual's degree is revealed by the type of gown and width of the edging on the hood.

GOWN Distinctive academic dress can be traced back to the universities of the Middle Ages when university students and faculty wore the robes of the clergy. Today, three ranks of degrees are distinguished through variations in the robes, which also indicate the discipline and the university that awarded the degree.

In the United States, gowns generally are black. The color of the edging of the hood, and occasionally the color of the facing and crossbars on the doctoral gown, indicate the field of learning in which the degree is awarded. The colors of the lining of the hood are those of the institution awarding the degree. Bachelor's gowns have full, pointed sleeves with no trimming. Hoods have a two-inch edging. Master's gowns prior to 1960 had full, closed sleeves with the arm emerging through a slit at the elbow.

In 1960, the gown was modified to replace the elbow slit with an opening at the wrist, and the gown was made to close. Hoods have a three-inch edging. Doctor's gowns are traditionally made of silk, have rounded sleeves, velvet facing down the front and three velvet crossbars on each sleeve.

HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTIONS

Phi Beta Kappa

Founded in 1776, Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest academic honor society in the United States and the first fraternity to use a Greek letter name. The society embraces principles that lay the foundations of personal freedom, scientific inquiry, liberty of conscience, and creative endeavor. Phi Beta Kappa recognizes the highest achievement in the liberal arts, with a small number of members selected from among the top 10% of their class. Nationwide each year, about one college senior in a hundred is invited to join Phi Beta Kappa.

Phi Kappa Phi

Among honor societies that induct members from all academic disciplines, Phi Kappa Phi, founded in 1897, is the nation's oldest, largest, and most selective. Invitation is extended to graduating seniors and graduate students in the top 10% of their class, and to juniors in the top 7.5% of their class. The mission of the society is to recognize and promote academic excellence and to engage the community of scholars in service to others.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Founded in 1776, Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest academic honor society in the United States and the first fraternity to use a Greek letter name. The society embraces principles that lay the foundations of personal freedom, scientific inquiry, liberty of conscience, and creative endeavor. Phi Beta Kappa recognizes the highest achievement in the liberal arts, with a small number of members selected from among the top 10% of their class. Nationwide each year, about one college senior in a hundred is invited to join Phi Beta Kappa.

I will willingly do no harm and always strive to provide care according to the profession's standards.

I will act to benefit those needing care, striving to see that none go untreated.

I will practice when competent to do so and refer all others to practitioners capable of providing care in keeping with this oath.

I will aspire to personal and professional conduct free from corruption.

I will keep in confidence all information made known to me about my patients.

As a Doctor of Audiology, I agree to be held accountable for any violation of this oath and the ethics of the profession.

While I keep this Oath inviolate, may it be granted to me to enjoy life and the practice of the art and science of audiology, always respected by all persons.
