Love to the dear little one may also be offered to be a comfort and blessing to her parent —

Dear Daniel & Emma

I sincerely sympathize with you both at this time of sore trial and bereavement. How sad to lose the little one, around whom our affections so readily and firmly cling — but in our distress let us ever remember that the dear one is not lost but only gone before — and we will look forward to a happy reunion in a happier clime where there is no more death —

For some days past Margt. has been quite sick with summer complaint but today is much better. and John has been in Minnesota for the last two weeks, and will be there for some time yet -

Joanna's health is wonderfully improved she is now able to take a short walk or make a short call How thankful I am on her account -

Anne is again teaching she sends you much love and sympathy -

We will still expect a visit from you all, some time this fall

I think you will stand more in need of a vacation than before it will doubtless do you both an amount of good -

I trust you will be able to realize the comfort to be derived from resting on those precious promises made to us by a loving Saviour suitable for every position in which we may be placed -

That God may bless and comfort is my sincere prayer for you - affectionately

Your Mother
