the game

UOP's Tigers will be trying to lengthen a winning streak and cut short a losing streak in the same breath(s) here tonight when they challenge powerful San Diego State in a battle many observers contend will determine 1973's eventual Pacific Coast Athletic Association champion.

Tonight's tussle pits San Diego State's productive, pinpoint passing attack against UOP's quickly-developing defense and sends the Tigers' ground-gobbling triple-option running attack into a confrontation with the Aztecs' aggressive and often impenetrable defense.

And, if Chester Caddas' 3-1-1 Tigers can knock down enough passes and burst through enough running holes, they'll succeed in their challenge to the streaks.

The first involves a great deal of Tiger winning. UOP has now emerged victorious in nine straight home games, dating back to Oct. 16, 1971 when Idaho administered a 13-12 Homecoming spanking. Not since the 1950-51 teams ran up eight straight loss-less evenings in Stockton (that included a tie) has a Tiger squad been so hospitable for such a long time to its fans.

The second streak encompasses a lot of Tiger losses. Not since 1958 has a UOP team defeated a San Diego State team. That night, Dick Bass ran wild in a 68-17 Tiger Triumph. UOP teams have come close since. The last time San Diego State appeared here, the Tigers' watched the Aztecs execute a last-minute miracle pass to sneak out of town with a 14-13 victory in 1970.

Needless to say, Caddas and his squad would like to strike that streak down tonight.

San Diego State comes to Stockton without Don Coryell for the first time in over 10 years. Claude Gilbert has replaced Coryell, who is now dazzling the NFL with his passing attack at St. Louis.

ON THE COVER

But, the coaching change hasn't affected SDS at all. The Men of Montezuman are 3-1. Their lone setback was a tough, 14-9 loss to high-powered Houston. They'll constitute the Tigers' toughest home-field test since the winning streak began.

Caddas' Tigers are off to another excellent start. Last week's hard-fought 10-6 victory over Long Beach State here has typified the season so far. "There's no such thing as a UOP team playing an easy game," says Caddas, who hasn't had a breather anywhere amongst his 11-4-1 two-year coaching record.

"I'm very pleased with the progress we're making," he adds. "If I could go through the rest of my coaching career knowing I wasn't going to lose 4 of every 5 games I coached, I'd take it, that's for sure."

Mistakes have hampered a UOP offense that is threatening to explode. The Tigers are averaging 363.4 yards a game . . . more than any UOP team since the 1950s. More than 300 of those yards have been registered every game on the ground, with Willard Harrell (No. 39) and Mike Mangrum (No. 32) leading the way. UOP leads the PCAA in total offense and rushing offense.

UOP's rejuvenated passing attack is averaging an amazing 25.2 yards a completion on the strength of a knack for opportunism, the element of surprise and the arms of Bruce Keplinger (No. 21) and Carlos Brown (No. 10).

UOP's aggressive, improving defense hasn't allowed a touchdown in any of the Tigers' victories. Guys like Steve Capozzo (No. 28), Larry Bailey (No. 68), Dennis Ramsey (No. 56) and Chuck Knutson (No. 50) have been the ring-leaders. Knutson has been averaging nearly 14 tackles a game as the Tigers signal caller on defense.

If the Tigers get past San Diego State, they'll try to extend their Stadium Streak against Santa Clara next Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. in the school's annual Homecoming tussle. L.A. State (Nov. 3 at 1:30) and Fresno State (Nov. 10, 1:30) will follow in rapid-fire succession.

Little Eyherabide Makes Big Contribution

Steve Eyherabide is a working example of many of the things that are right about college football.

It's becoming increasingly fashionable these days to pinion college football and its attendant philosophies and traditions in a negative straitjacket. The influence of money and creeping professionalism have created a warped impression of the game in many minds.

But, look at Eyherabide. He's small (5-9, 160 after a big meal). He's not fast. His uniform doesn't look like it fits. He runs like he's having fun . . . not trying to attract a pro scout's eye. He came to UOP on a half-scholarship because nobody else really wanted him. He wants to be a lawyer not a split end.

Yet, the gutty, little receiver has made as much of a contribution to UOP's football success the past two years as anyone. And, he's done it because he loves the game.

The former four-sport high-school letterman from Bakersfield is really what many cynics would term a sports cliché.

He's self-effacing, content with his situation and full of pride and admiration for that old-fashioned phenomenon called "team work."

"He's an amazing guy," Tiger Head Coach Chester Caddas says. "He's always hustling, working hard and making a contribution. I don't think I've ever heard him complain. He's a real good little player."

Right. So far this year, Eyherabide (AY-er-uh-bee-dee) has caught 7 passes for an average of 23.3 yards and three touchdowns. He's been a steady and effective blocker in UOP's triple-option running attack and, believe it or not, a pretty effective monkey wrench in the other guys' works as a tight end at times.

"It just takes a lot of hard work," the soft-spoken Eyherabide explains of his pass-catching heroics so far this year. "I know I'm not blessed with great speed or anything. So, I work hard on my moves and I just try to get into an open space whenever I see one."

Already this year, Eyherabide has fooled more than his share of defensive backs. They take one look at him and are easily deceived. So, he gets behind them to catch two 41-yard touchdown passes and another for 18.

"You're going to have to stop going deep so often," Caddas quipped at Steve after a recent trip. "Or people'll start thinking you're fast."

"I don't know if it's a question of outthinking them or not," Steve responds to a question. "It's really your moves (jukes and fakes as pass patterns are run) and your deception. We have such a good running game that a lot of times the DBs (defensive backs) start sneaking up on the run. We'll notice that, tell the coaches and try to take advantage of it."

"I watch film and try to get an idea of the other guy's speed, the kinds of defenses they're in and all that. Usually it's just a matter of being prepared to act when you see something happening," Eyherabide adds.

One thing Eyherabide didn't figure to see when he came to UOP was much playing time. "I never thought I'd get to play," he remembers. "I was just decent I guess, with no great speed. But, finally I got the opportunity to play and I guess the coaches liked what they saw."

What they saw was a gutty, hundred-percenter with few qualms about undertaking the rigorous blocking chores required of the ends in a triple-option running attack.

What Steve didn't see were many passes coming his way. During 1972, UOP only threw 70 times en route to an 8-3 record. Eyherabide caught his only two passes last year against San Diego State, running out of the Tigers' offense as a tight end . . . a chore he undertakes frequently to this day.

"I guess we receivers were a little depressed last year," says Eyherabide, who harbors every pass catcher's dreams about the long, game-winning touchdown catch. "We didn't catch many passes. I didn't mind the blocking. But, the only people who knew we were making a contribution were the coaches and players."

"But," he says in all honesty. "I just like to play. I really don't care where or what I have to do. As long as we win and I'm helping, that's what's important. We've been winning because of team effort. Everyone helps everyone else. This game is an emotional one. Inspiration has a lot to do with it and you have to be well-prepared."

Eyherabide should be both inspired and well-prepared against San Diego State tonight. A bunch of his Bakersfield JC and high school buddies populate the Aztecs' tough-nosed defense (Pat Cassady, Rick Ash, Bruce Algra, et al). His older brother, Pascal, was a starting defensive lineman for SDS two years ago.

"It's exciting playing against your buddies," Steve says. "It's friendly competition, but it's very intense." Does beating San Diego State have special meaning? "Oh, for sure. I want to show them we're winners up here, too."

If Steve Eyherabide sounds a bid old-fashioned, he's not.

How can a slow, little guy running around out there on the football field in this day and age be old-fashioned?

STEVE CAPOZZO

Steve Capozzo, 5-11, 180-pound senior, is the leader of UOP's defensive secondary. The fiery rover is also one of the team's leaders. As a tri-captain, Capozzo has earned the respect of his teammates. He's rapidly earning the respect of the Tigers' opponents, too. Last week, Capozzo got in on 10 tackles, deflected two passes and recovered two fumbles to key a spirited Tiger defensive effort that turned Long Beach State back in a vital, 10-6, UOP victory. He earned PCAA Defensive Player-of-the-Week honors for his efforts. Capozzo is the team's fourth-leading tackler this season and has added 6 pass deflections, three fumbles recoveries and three tackles-for-loss to his 31 tackles. An Oakley resident, Capozzo came to UOP after a standout career at Diablo Valley JC.

University Games Reeder's 'Greatest Honor'

Rick Reeder, UOP's three-time All-America swimmer, represented the United States at the World University Games this past summer in Moscow. Reeder won a silver medal by swimming a leg on the U.S.'s 800-meter freestyle relay team. He's shown below proudly wearing the medal after the race. These are Rick's impressions and recollections of the University Games.

By RICK REEDER

The World University Games held in Moscow August 16-24, 1973 were an unforgettable experience.

Russia, as the host nation, provided magnificent facilities for the games. The Russians, considered possible hosts for the 1980 Olympic Games, took every step possible to prepare the facilities for positive evaluation by visiting coach's and officials. Probably no city in the world has such complete sports facilities in one central area as Moscow.

The University of Moscow served as the home for some 3,600 athletes from 60 countries. Next to the Olympic Games this was the largest group of athletes ever assembled in one place for international competition. The sports included were basketball, volleyball, gymnastics, tennis, diving, fencing, swimming, waterpolo, track and wrestling. Being part of the 300-member U.S. team was the greatest honor of my life.

Selection to a team such as this is an honor won out of hard work and personal sacrifice. Special thanks must go to my coaches, Bill Rose and Gordon Collett, for their unending support. Also Mr. Tom Egan and the Egan family were a source of unending support for me.

Spending 16 days in Moscow helps one to appreciate more the life we have in a free country like the United States. Simple, everyday pleasures gain greater importance when they are taken away for two weeks or more. I will never forget the feeling of relief that was evident aboard the plane after it landed at the airport in Chicago. Everybody was so glad to be home. All 150 of us gave the pilot a standing ovation. It's a feeling you get only from having gone through a period of absence.

Athletic competition is taken very seriously in the Soviet Union. Pictures of famous sportsmen are seen on billboards above the main streets of Moscow. The Russians love to watch a winner . . . as long as it's a Russian winner. Most crowds sit quietly until a Russian athlete participates. Newspaper accounts of daily events are the same. Foreign competitors get little recognition for their victories in the newspapers.

For the first five days of the competition Russia showed a clear advantage in the collection of medals. Track and field and gymnastics provided nearly a clean sweep for the Russians.

For five days our swim team had to sit back and wait for its chance. By the time the games were over our swimmers had accounted for 16 of the 20 gold medals won by the U.S. I had the privilege of swimming on the 800-meter freestyle relay team. Our team was touched out by the Russian team by a mere four-tenths of a second for first place. At that time, winning the gold medal seemed to be the most important thing in my life.

I soon realized, though, that winning gold medals isn't all there is to athletics. There's more gold in finding something valuable within yourself than in any award. These things are not always directly observable. But, they're important. Character development, sportsmanship, self-discipline and honor are greater rewards than Gold Medals.

Participation in the World University Games was the greatest event in my life. What I have learned about life and myself can never be measured in Gold Medals. The University Games were truly a lesson I will never forget.

This former Tiger receiver played pro ball for the Cleveland Browns and Hamilton Tiger-Cats before going into high-school coaching. He also holds the distinction of being on the receiving end of the school's longest-ever pass play, an 80-yard toss Jim Reynosa threw to him in 1956. Who is he?

the SPANOS SPORTS QUIZ

Here's a chance to test your knowledge of Pacific football and have a little fun too!

1. In 1968 a running back turned quarterback scored on a long run with just two minutes left to play to give Pacific a home opening victory against Miami of Ohio. Who scored the touchdown and who made the PAT for the 21-22 win?
2. The longest punt return in Tiger history took place against U. of Nevada-Reno in 1949. The Tigers went on to win 47-6. Who made this historic 100-yard punt return?
3. It has always been an occasion when UOP football teams play schools from the Pac-8. In the last 20 years UOP has played present-day Pac-8 schools 34 times. What is Pacific's overall record against Pac-8 schools?

After three hours in hard wooden seats, spilled mustard and a roaring crowd, recuperate in Monte Carlo.

A football stadium is a great place to spend a Saturday afternoon in autumn. But, after the game, you're ready for some peace and quiet, some comfort and some elegance.

That's why the Monte Carlo is a great place to spend a Saturday evening in autumn.

Monte Carlo's radial-tuned suspension is designed to let you enjoy the advantages of its steel-belted radial ply tires.

The result is the kind of confident handling and comfortable ride you might expect from a fine personal luxury car.

Power disc/drum brakes and variable-ratio power steering are standard, of course. Because it just wouldn't be a Monte Carlo without them.

When you're ready to leave the roaring crowd behind, get behind the wheel of a 1974 Monte Carlo by Chevrolet.

Tigers' Talented Signal-Callers

UOP has had the rare luxury this season of having three talented quarterbacks available. During the past few years, lack of depth at the all-important signal-calling position has proven costly. But, with Bruce Keplinger (left, top), Steve Towne (left, bottom) and Carlos Brown (bottom, right) all capable of stepping in to any situation at any moment, UOP's coaches have felt a lot more secure during 1973. Keplinger, a sophomore who was the team's miracle-worker when he came in to lead the Tigers to eight victories as a freshman last season, is the team's option expert. Brown, the nation's No. 10 passer as a sophomore in 1971 when UOP was forced to throw the football, is the team's best passer and is quickly adapting himself to the option. Towne, a JC transfer this season, has continued to improve and impress people with his ability to throw and run the option. Towne, as a matter of fact, owns UOP's longest run from scrimmage this year . . . a 49-yard jaunt against Wyoming. This kind of depth at quarterback is rare and valuable. College Football "Plays It Again" Sunday

by GRAYLE HOWLETT, NCAA Promotion Director

As it is popularly conceived, the instant replay is a split-screened, isolated, slo-mo, stop-action piece of art which lets you see the play you didn't see a few seconds earlier.

But popular conceptions are far too confining. An instant replay—in every sense of the term—takes place every Sunday morning on most ABC stations. It even has a name—ABC College Football Highlights Show.

Putting the Sunday morning highlights show together is a game in itself; and when you consider that the "working day" in Chicago for the show is 11 p.m. Saturday until 11 a.m. Sunday, you can bet it's the only game in town.

For at least three members of the Highlights Show team, it's an away game. Dick Snider, director of NCAA Films and executive producer of the show, checks into Chicago Saturday night from his home in Wichita, Kan. Kemper Peacock, the producer-director, journeys from New York; and Bill Flemming, the host, comes from his assignment on ABC's college football telecast of the week.

Snider minimizes his role in the production, but the five-year reign of the show is to his credit. "You know, the whole thing's impossible," he confesses. "The good thing is that we never have time to stop and think about that when we are putting the show together."

Snider's involvement with the show really begins the Monday before. That's when he huddles with ABC executives to determine what games will be featured.

"We'll film on the average of 12 games a weekend, and then pick the five or six top games. Those games are determined on the importance of the contest, logistics or even if one of the teams has a player everybody would like to see."

"The most important thing about the show," Snider continued, "is getting the film into Chicago. When I get there Saturday night, I contact the cameramen and find out what flights the film's going to be on. Then I make sure that our messengers—who race to O'Hare and Midway airports on motorcycles—get out there and get the film."

Important Motorcycles

"Kemper Peacock has been all over the world and has to be one of the best in the business, Bill Flemming has covered every major sporting event in the world, and I've been around a little, too; but we all are helpless if one of those guys in a helmet and leather jacket can't get his bike started."

In the five years the show has been on the air, only one shipment of film has been lost in transit. "I know the plane schedules into Chicago better than the airlines," says Snider, "but sometimes things go wrong. We had an important game coming in from the South on Piedmont Airlines. It arrived on time, but the messenger didn't, and Piedmont closed down its baggage counter. We had to call Piedmont's home office, get the manager's name in Chicago, get him out of bed and down to O'Hare."

Bill Flemming

Kemper Peacock is the head of a production company by the same name. "I know I'm good with deadlines but this is ridiculous," Peacock said as he sat at a desk surrounded by some of his own photography. "It's tough, but we get it done. I work with three editors in Chicago on the show. I'll edit the main game—the one we spotlight—and the rest of the work is parcelled out to the others. We have roughly four hours to do the work . . . and we do it. That's all."

Each cameraman provides a play-by-play account of the game with the film. It's up to Peacock to edit the footage into an exciting, five-minute piece.

"At 4:30 a.m. we transfer the material from film to video-tape and have our first run through. Bill Flemming arrives on the scene between 5:30 and 6 a.m.; and we must have the show completed by 10 a.m. We have roughly three hours to get everything right. We have the edited film and any other features that I might have worked on in New York that we have to get into the show. But, Bill's got to get his narration in; and we have late scores to include. You know, it just might be impossible."

WLS, the ABC affiliate in Chicago, has to have the show by 10 a.m. to insure at least one run through. But, the station has been persuaded to take the show later.

Show Must Go On

"Our record is 10:57," Peacock admitted. "WLS had 'Water Skiing from Cypress Garden' all racked up, ready to run. But, we made it. We've made every show."

The "interior linemen" of the show are the writers. Jeff Elliott, who doubles as the assistant director of the Big Ten Service Bureau, and Kay Schultz, Chicago journalist, spend their time looking over shoulders and getting people out of bed.

"I just try to compile as much information as possible," Elliott explains, "and when you work through the night, that means disturbing some people."

Flemming is the man up front. According to Snider, "He is super. He's one of the few sportscasters who could do this show. He knows the game, and you can't shake him up."

Flemming smiled at this comment and said, "They do call me 'one-shot Flemming.' Let's face it, that's my strength. I can get the thing done in one take. And fifty per cent of the time, that's all we have time for."

Flemming is on the college football scene every Saturday afternoon working a game for ABC. After the game he hops into his own plane and heads for Chicago.

Upon arrival in Chicago, Flemming reads the first edition of the Tribune to get a bead on some of the games. Preparation is his hallmark. He compiles information throughout the week on the games which will probably be used then adlibs this information during the taping of the show.

After getting a wake-up call at 4:30 a.m., Flemming heads over to begin the taping. He gets the script outline then the cameras roll. Often the narration is material Flemming is seeing for the first time.

"I think this is an advantage," he says. "I put everything into the present tense. It's like I'm announcing the game for the first time. To us, the game isn't in the past."

Flemming Cares

Flemming is a perfectionist. "With Bill you have to be prepared," says Elliott. "If he sees a name he's never seen before, he wants to know how to pronounce it. His standard line is 'Are you sure?' I'd hate to tell you how many times we've run to a phone at 6 a.m. to check out a pronunciation, a statistic, a record or even a home town."

Peacock rolls the cameras at 6 a.m., and Flemming begins reading. If he makes a mistake, the film is still rolled because the important item is to get all the film onto video-tape. After that is accomplished, then the backtracking is done. When Flemming is happy with the script and is sure that everything is correct, he proceeds in his one-shot fashion.

The result is an exciting football show, which provides information—an entertaining news show.

UOP's Athletic Program Takes Step Forward

UOP's athletic program has taken another step forward with the construction of the multi-purpose "Pacific Club" on the east rim of Pacific Memorial Stadium.

The $250,000 facility, a gift to the University from Stockton construction company executive and UOP regent A. G. Spanos, provides a new campus site for meetings, conferences, lectures and other University and public meetings.

The unique facility, which was officially dedicated at UOP's season-opening football game with Sacramento State, Sept. 8, features glass walls which provide a panoramic view of the UOP campus on one side and the football field on the other.

"We are very grateful to A. G. Spanos," says Athletic Director Ced Dempsey. "This facility is a tremendous step forward for our athletic program. It gives us a beautiful place to hold meetings, luncheons and special functions. And, it will provide an excellent meeting area for other groups on campus and in the community."

The complex, which is called "The Pacific Club," provides some 4,000 square feet of meeting space. A food service area permits catered meal service in the building for 300 people. The Pacific Athletic Foundation seating section is located in front of the new building.

Spanos, a UOP alumnus, says of the facility, "I have been aware for many years of the University's need for a multi-purpose facility which could be used by many segments of the University community. I know the building will serve the many needs of the students, faculty, alumni, parents and friends of Pacific.

"It will provide benefits for those who are interested in intercollegiate athletics," Spanos continues, "as well as those who are interested in the educational and cultural pursuits of Pacific. I am also sure that this new facility will serve as a stimulus for developing greater involvement in UOP activities and will cultivate new interest in our University.

The "Pacific Club" caps off a series of improvements undertaken in Pacific Memorial Stadium last summer. In addition, 175 aluminum bench-back seats have been installed just below the pressbox on the 50-yard line and 1,800 seats in section "O" have been covered with aluminum tops.

This view of the newly-built 'Pacific Club' looks south toward the enclosed portion of the stadium. The Club can seat 300 people for meals.

Photos by Bob Crawford

The 'Pacific Club' is also ideal for meetings and group get-togethers. This view looks north. The window on the left looks out on Pacific Memorial Stadium while the window on the right provides a panoramic view of the entire campus.

UOP owes a great debt of gratitude to Stockton construction company executive A. G. Spanos. Spanos' contribution of the "Pacific Club" is recognized in this plaque which is displayed on the building's north wall.

CLAUDE GILBERT
Head Coach

One of the most explosive collegiate football teams in the country invades Pacific Memorial Stadium tonight.

And, UOP's Tigers will be trying to defuse San Diego State's high-powered attack as they pursue the PCAA title. "Explosive" is no idle description of Claude Gilbert's Montezumans.

During the past five years, San Diego State has ranked as the nation's No. 1 collegiate passing team (280 yards a game), the No. 7 scoring machine and the seventh-best total offensive unit.

Gilbert's got his men operating a mild version of the triple-option running game this year. But, keep your eyes on the Aztec receivers tonight. They're still the center of the SDS offense.

Quarterback Jesse Freitas (No. 17), ranked in the nation's Top Ten this week, has completed 60 per cent of his passes for 786 yards already. He likes throwing to tight end Darold Nogle (No. 14), running backs Dave Darden (No. 36) and Tim Thorn (No. 1) and speedy outside threats Keith Denson (No. 9) and Greg Moses (No. 18).

Darden and Thorn key the Aztecs' improved running game, operating behind a massive offensive line that averages 253 pounds a man and is anchored by behemoths like Claudie Minor (No. 72), 6-5, 285, and Jonas Jackson (No. 77), 6-2, 265.

SDS' defense has long been underrated. It's been a solid piece of the Aztecs' puzzle for years. Veteran linebackers like Joe Amaral (No. 37) and Pat Cassady (No. 50) team with down linemen Avery Clark (No. 67) and Rick Ash (No. 85) to make San Diego State a difficult team to probe effectively.

That defense has yielded just 7.5 points a game this year and has allowed only powerful Houston to score more than 10 points in a single game. The dynamic Cougars struggled to sneak by the Aztecs, 14-9, earlier this season.

The 3-1 Aztecs constitute UOP's toughest home-field challenge to date, that's for sure.

Know Your Football

AUDIBLE—A vocal signal by the quarterback at the line of scrimmage that changes the play called in the huddle. A key phrase, word or number inserted into the starting commands, called when the quarterback feels the defense is stacked against the first play or is vulnerable in some area. Also called check off or automatic.

BALL CONTROL—An offensive technique of retaining possession of the ball by making a sustained series of first downs, rather than attempting long-gain plays.

BLITZ—Commitment by defensive backs and/or linebackers to rush the passer. The defensive player tries to crash through the offensive line into the rival backfield before the play has a chance to develop. Also called Red Dog or shooting the gap.

BOOTLEG — A sneak sweep by the quarterback, who fakes a handoff, then takes off around end alone with the ball concealed against his hip.

CLIPPING—An illegal block in which the player runs or dives into the back of an opponent, or throws his body across the back of the leg or legs of an opponent other than the ball carrier.

DRAW PLAY — A trap play in which the quarterback lures in defensive linemen by dropping back apparently to pass the ball. When the linemen are screened to the outside, the quarterback or another ball carrier takes the ball up the gap cleared by the on-rushing defenders.

FAIR CATCH—An intent by a player, signalled by raising his arm above his head, not to advance a free kick. The player then cannot run with the ball, nor can he be blocked or tackled by an opponent.

FLANKER—A back stationed wide to either side, used primarily as a pass receiver.

FRONT FOUR — Four-man defensive line, the tackles and the ends.

"I" FORMATION — An offensive formation in which all four backs line up in a straight line behind the center. Usually one back will move out to a slot or wing position. This gives a balanced attack to either side with minimum advance notice to the defense.

LINEBACKER—A defensive player operating immediately behind his line where he can either aid linemen in stopping a running play or cover a receiver if a pass develops.

LONG COUNT — Quarterback calls several numbers to slow action as much as is legally possible.

MAN-TO-MAN DEFENSE — Plan of pass defense wherein defensive backs cover receivers wherever they go rather than field areas.

MONSTER — A floating linebacker, positioned either in or out of the line, on either side, or in any spot. His purpose is to confuse the offense, varying his tactics from play to play.

PLAY ACTION PASS—A forward pass thrown from an offensive formation simulating a running play.

POST—A pass pattern in which the receiver goes downfield to a predetermined depth, then cuts at an angle toward the goal posts.

PREVENT DEFENSE—A strategy replacing linebackers with additional backfield pass defenders, sacrificing strength against short gainers to prevent a long pass completion. Most often used by a team protecting a lead late in either half.

PULLING GUARD — Guard who pulls out behind scrimmage line for a trap block or to lead a sweep blocking for a ball carrier.

ROLL-OUT — A sweeping run by the quarterback who, instead of dropping straight back on getting the ball, swings out in a wide arc to one side or another, ready to run or pass as the situation demands.

SCREEN PASS — Pass to a receiver behind a wall of blockers, who have allowed defenders to penetrate.

SLOT — The gap left when an end is moved out from the tackle on his side. A back stationed in this space is called a slot back. When the back is stationed outside the end he is called a wingback.

SPLIT END—A lineman, who, like the flanker, is set wide for pass receiving purposes.

STRONG SIDE—Overbalance of either offensive or defensive linemen to either side of the center.

STUNTING—Defensive players changing positions as the ball is snapped to confuse offensive strategy.

SWEEP — End run with a wave of blockers leading the ball carrier.

TIGHT END — Offensive player who lines up in close formation where he can either block or be used as a receiver.

TRAP—A play permitting a defender to penetrate quickly, only to be blocked from the side by a pulling guard or tackle.

ZONE DEFENSE—Plan of pass defense wherein areas are covered rather than individual receivers. Opposite of man-to-man.

Pacific Coast Athletic Association

The Pacific Coast Athletic Association, which achieved major-college classification in football this past summer, is in its fifth year of growth and development. The PCAA's five major-university schools will be augmented by small-college power Cal State Fullerton when it is admitted to the league July 1, 1974. Los Angeles State and UC-Santa Barbara will drop from PCAA ranks at that time. At present, the seven-member PCAA is one of the fastest growing conferences in the nation, serving the major population centers of California and boasting a combined student enrollment of over 150,000.

Here is a brief rundown of the PCAA's member institutions:

Fresno State — Located in Fresno with a population of 162,326, Fresno State has an enrollment of 17,000 . . . Ratcliffe Stadium seats 13,000 for football.

Long Beach State — The conference's largest school, Long Beach State has an enrollment of 30,000 and is located just south of the Los Angeles area. Long Beach's population is 346,975 . . . Veterans' Memorial Stadium seats 15,000 and Anaheim Stadium 48,000.

Los Angeles State — Located in the largest metropolitan area (2,781,289) in the state, L.A. State shows an enrollment of 25,000 students . . . East L.A. College Stadium seats 22,000.

San Diego State — The league's southernmost school, San Diego State is located in San Diego, which boasts a population of 675,790 . . . San Diego State has an enrollment of 27,000 students . . . San Diego Stadium seats 53,000.

San Jose State — Located in San Jose, just south of San Francisco and the Bay Area . . . San Jose has a population of 436,965 and the school boasts an enrollment of 26,000 . . . Spartan Stadium seats 18,155.

UC-Santa Barbara — Located in Santa Barbara, north of Los Angeles, UCSB has an enrollment of 14,000 . . . Santa Barbara's population is 69,631—smallest in the PCAA . . . UCSB does not compete in football.

UOP — The PCAA's smallest school with an enrollment of 5,000 and the only private school in the league . . . Located in Stockton (112,363) it is the league's northernmost institution . . . Pacific Memorial Stadium seats 31,295.
