

1-1-1994

Symposium Editor's Note

University of the Pacific, McGeorge School of Law

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/globe>

Part of the International Law Commons

Recommended Citation

University of the Pacific, McGeorge School of Law, Symposium Editor's Note, 7 TRANSNAT'L LAW. xv (1994).

Available at: <https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/globe/vol7/iss1/4>

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals and Law Reviews at Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Global Business & Development Law Journal by an authorized editor of Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact mgibney@pacific.edu.

Symposium Editor's Note

As the current Board of Editors prepares to send this edition of The Transnational Lawyer to the publishers, I would like to acknowledge and express our appreciation to the people who made it possible for the journal to publish its first symposium edition on "Doing Business in Central and Eastern Europe."

This symposium began last year when the 1992-93 Board of Editors initiated the proposal and completed the topic selection. Throughout the process, members of the McGeorge School of Law faculty contributed their time by attending meetings and recommending participants for the symposium. Additionally, many U.S. and international practitioners and professors offered their expert advice and suggestions for authors. The symposium would not have been possible without these contributions.

The advice, suggestions, and lessons learned from the compilation of this symposium will be passed on to future editorial boards so that The Transnational Lawyer may continue to improve in its efforts to provide subscribers with comprehensive coverage of timely transnational issues.

Julie A. Shepard

