Juveniles; county support

NEV. REV. STAT. § 62.____ (new).
SB 381 (Jacobsen); 1987 STAT. Ch 166

Under existing law, the court may order the county of a child's legal residence to pay for the costs of custody.¹ Existing law also provides that the court may order the parents to pay all or part of the costs of their child's custody based on their ability to pay.² Chapter 166 allows the court to order the county where the child resides to reimburse the Department of Human Resources for the costs of support of a child committed to a regional facility.³ Under Chapter 166 the court has the option of ordering the parents, guardian, or other person liable for the child's support to reimburse the county in whole or in part for the costs of custody.⁴ Chapter 166 does not prohibit the court from providing the support and maintenance of the child in any other manner authorized by law.⁵
