Season Ticket Sale Extended

By GEORGE FOWLER

Parents Have Day On COP Campus May 9th

Parents Day on College of Pacific Campus will be May 9. The Saturday program will begin at one o'clock with a sign-up for parents in the conservatory at which time they will receive their "Tiger Tag."

After the registration, at 1:30, a regular assembly will be given for the parents. At this assembly a panel of parents, college students, and teachers will discuss various college-life problems. At this event the A Cappella

Choir will provide the program.

Next, at 2:45, the parents will go to Anderson social hall or the lawn thereabout, for tea or coffee. This will give the parents a chance to visit and renew old acquaintances as well as meet new friends. At this time the Pacific band will give an outdoor concert.

A tour of the campus with its thirty principal buildings and seventy-two acres of land will next be available to parents. At fourteen all the living groups on campus will have open house at which our parents will be honored

as guests of the day. At five-thirty the visitors will have dinner in the dining hall or at a sorority or fraternity house. If they wish, of course, they may take their student out to dinner specially. That evening at 8:30 there will be a performance of "Good News," musical comedy given by College of Pacific, for the parents to attend.

On Sunday the parents may join in a worship service at the Morris Chapel. At this time Chancancellor, Dr. Tully C. Knoles, will give the main address. The service will be presented by students of the college.

CRA annual banquet

Election of officers for the coming year and a personal challenge to each individual from Dr. Burns, were the highlights of the annual Council of Religious Activities banquet which was held in the small dining room of the cafeteria on May 6.

Following the introduction of the officers of the various religious groups represented, Dr. Burns spoke on the topic, "First Things First." He emphasized the idea that each generation of college students has had some problem or general theme of interest; the theme of the 1950's is co-operation between all groups. "It is up to the college student of today to exclude the trivia from their lives and concentrate on things that will push their generation forward," according to Dr. Burns.

New officers elected for the coming semester were Dr. Potter, president; Arden Farey, first vice president; Coralita Carlson, second vice president; Mary Lou Conrad, secretary; Dr. Stocking, treasurer; Bob Mir, ass't treasurer. All religious organizations on campus will also have two representatives on the CRA executive council.

Special recognition was given to Phill Wogaman, Ursula Herick, Marian Gercke, Ed Womack, Dr. Stocking and Dr. Ding, this year's officers.

The Student Ticket campaign, to insure a finer sports picture here at Pacific, will be climaxed next Tuesday, May 14, with a gigantic student drive here in Stockton. The unified efforts of the students will be used in a door-to-door canvassing campaign similar to the one used in the Script drive in the Spring of 1950, which resulted in the erecting of COP's gigantic "Valley Bowl".

This drive is one of the steps to be taken to offset possible football losses, one of the problems the campus faces. In addition, it will be a further guarantee of athletic scholarships for spring sports; golf, tennis, basketball, baseball, swimming and rugby.

This campaign has been extended for another week, in order that the largest possible number of season tickets be sold. May 14 is the final date for selling of the tickets, and it is hoped that every person will oblige himself of the responsibility.

The faculty, administration and the Pacific students are being combined in one final drive to put over the season ticket sale. Besides actually taking an active part in the campaign, the faculty and administration have put out an extended hours bulletin for the girls in order to provide them with a free reign in pledging the season tickets.

The Stockton Record, the Stockton Quarterback Club, Radio Stations KSTN and KGDM, plus the downtown business organizations have pledged their full support for the drive.

The PACIFIC WEEKLY urges

students to go out on their own

before the final drive, either singly or in groups, and contact prospective buyers.

Many areas available for possible contact are open to the ambitious COP student. It is urged that the men and women of Pacific contact friends, relatives, business acquaintances and anyone who may be in the position of being a potential purchaser of the season tickets.

The need for you, the student,

to actively take a part in this drive cannot be too greatly emphasized. It is for the benefit of our school, and ourselves, that we put the ticket drive over by our enthusiasm and hard work.

Education assembly to be held Thursday

"Teacher Education in a Church Related College as Seen by a College President" will be the title of the Dr. Robert E. Burns' address to the student body at the School of Education assembly Thursday, May 14.

Dr. Burns will be the main speaker at this assembly, the first presented by the School of Education. Future plans for this department include a semi-annual assembly.

Staff members of the School of Education will be introduced by Dr. J. Marc Jantzen, Dean. There are ten full-time and nine part-time members on the staff. One member, Dr. Charles Hamilton, is on leave of absence. An addition to the staff will be made in the fall when Mr. Roy E. Learned, COP graduate with the class of 1915, joins the department.

DEBATE SERIES INAUGURATED

A new tradition is being created at the College of the Pacific. The first of a series of annual debates, sponsored by Gov. Earl Warren, will be next Wednesday.

Up to this time, debate, a very important part of the school's curriculum, has been seriously over-looked. Very few students on the campus actually have witnessed a live debate.

Over the past years, Stockton and the surrounding communities have shown an increased interest in the C.O.P. speech department. Realizing that both of these conditions exist, C.O.P. has instituted an annual debate with our old rival, San Jose State College.

This year's topic will be: Resolved, That California Should Adopt a Unicameral Legislature. For the affirmative will be Jim Lewis and Sheldon Nicolayson, C.O.P.'s top debate team.

Since students will be admitted by student-body card, it offers the student a chance to stop wondering about debate and actually hear one.

Tickets will be sold to the general public for one dollar, but the pasteboards admit the bearer and one guest. Don't miss the opportunity.

Knoles will speak in Sunday chapel service

As a climax to the events of Pacific's Parents' Day, Morris Chapel will be the scene of a campus-wide chapel service, at 9:30 on the morning of Sunday, May 10, with Dr. Tully C. Knoles, Chancellor of the College, as speaker.

This service, a special event in that it will culminate the activities of Parents Day will be one of the few times during the year that a Sunday morning service is presented in Morris Chapel. It will follow the familiar pattern of the weekly Tuesday chapel service.

Feeling that such a religious event would represent the highest central purpose of the College's activities, the Parents' Day Committee has planned the service for the participation of the entire student body and all those who will be visiting the College this coming week-end.

"Dr. Knoles' address is being planned so as not to conflict with previously scheduled church services. Pacific's entire student body will want to be present at this special service, Sunday at 9:30 a.m. to make it a truly significant event."

Good News... no news, says reviewer

By JACK FRANCIS

No news is Good News, to use an old pun. If you've seen the current theater musical production, there is nothing to say. If you haven't, don't bother.

Congratulations, Mr. Director, for choosing this type of Spring production. It couldn't possibly have been more ill chosen for the cast available this season.

This is not an attempt to compare Good News to A for Alonzo, for we realize that the latter script was written for the students involved, and interest was at the highest pitch in years.

Some of the leads were hampered by being poorly cast. Even such faithfuls as Ray Fry, Bill Sibley and Larry Berscheid, who can always be counted upon to come through, didn't have their hearts in it, being judged by performances in past Pacific productions.

On one point we will admit the director played it smart. He emphasized the supporting players who had the lines, and played the music fast to cover up some of the singing. The music was, perhaps, adapting the Gracie Fields idea, "If you can't be good, be loud!" The addition of a sax was a fine move, but we missed the strings.

Barbara Baglini and Marshall Breeden are the saviours at the box office, providing for a welcome relief from the weighty and often stereotyped interpretation of the plot.

For the singing and dancing choruses, we have nothing but praise. The guys and gals were on key and in step, and showed the results of weeks of practice. The Varsity Drag number, however, provided the only variety in the choreography. Well done.

Costumes: somehow we doubt it.

Scenery: we didn't notice it. You can't win 'em all.

COP significance told by students in chapel

Janice Comstock, Don Jessup, Marty Kostal, and Geoff Thomas will be the speakers in the May 12 chapel service, on the subject of "Marks of COP on My Life."

The following week, an interfaith service is to be held, based on the theme: "Live Up to the Call of Your Faith." Dean James H. Malloch of the St. James Cathedral of Fresno will be guest speaker of the day.

Amid frenzied screams of excitement, Carmelita Castro announced her engagement to Dean Finney at Epsilon.

A music major, Miss Castro is a resident of Honolulu, a member of Epsilon Lambda Sigma, and is in the A Cappella Choir.

Dean Finney has also been a music major at COP, but is now serving in the armed forces. At the time he attended school here, Mr. Finney was a member of A Cappella, and president of Phi Mu Alpha. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Finney, of Oakdale.

Margaret Nash read a poem to announce the engagement, and followed it by the traditional passing of a box of candy. The wedding plans are indefinite.

AWS banquet Thursday closes year's events

Dr. Burns will give the invocation for the event. Later in the evening, Miss Monroe will speak on "The World, Our Pathway to the Future."

After the introduction of guests by Jeanne Lane, the Sophomore Women's Honorary and Knolens will tap their members for the future year. Finishing this, the outstanding college women will be named.

Elections don't deter So Hall engagement

Last Thursday night the girls of South Hall were waiting patiently for the big news, but the campaigning PSA candidates kept interrupting. When the news was announced, it was the engagement of Nancy Howe and Art Dull.

Miss Howe, who attended COP the last three semesters, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Howe of Monrovia, Calif. She was a member of 'Y' while at COP and lived at South Hall.

Dull is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dull of Lafayette. He is a high sophomore and active in Theta Alpha Phi, the radio department, and the Pacific theatre.

The wedding date has been set for a year from this June.

Phi Kappa Phi, the upper division honor society, held its annual spring banquet and initiation service to coincide with the Honors Day Assembly on May 7.

Beginning in the morning, all of the new members were recognized at the assembly. These new members had previously been elected to membership on a basis of grade point standing with their class. Both faculty and students are members of the organization.

Following the formal initiation ceremonies held in Morris Chapel, the groups met at Minnie's at 6 P.M. for the banquet. Main speaker of the evening was Dr. Richard L. Greene, professor of English at the University of California, who spoke on the topic, "The Pleasures of Scholarship."

Pacific Weekly's Athlete of the Week

Pacific Weekly's Athlete of the week is Gene Wellman. Gene was the starting pitcher in last Saturday's game with Sacramento State and although he lost the game he collected five hits in seven times at bat. These included four singles and a double. Wellman makes his home in Hayward where he attended Hayward High School. He came to Pacific from Napa Junior College where he played football and basketball. Last year he was first string end on the Tiger eleven, and also on the basketball team.

Wellman will be seen on the gridiron again next fall, as he is still holding down his first string end position.

Gene is known as the iron man of the baseball team this year, as he played left field, shortstop, catcher and pitcher.

Baseballers hang it up for season

Bengals sport a 10 won, 14 lost record as they bow in finale to Sacramento State

Pacific's Varsity baseball squad, tutored by Coach Van Sweet, hung up their last performance of the season here last Saturday. An afternoon doubleheader with Sacramento State saw the Bengals on the losing end. Both seven inning affairs, the Bengals came out on the short end of a 10-2 and 22-10 score, to give the Tigers a 10 won, 14 lost season record. Turning in his eleventh chucking role of the season, Dave Tivio allowed but two earned runs by the Hornets in the opener.

Gene Wellman started the mound duty in the second tilt, with Jerry Streeter taking over in the fourth, and Dick Decristofaro hurling the final two innings. Wellman also belted a double in the finale.

Tivio ended the season with an 8-3 win-loss record, striking out 55 for the year, and chalking up a 2.63 earned run average. Dave clobbered his way to the third highest average at the plate.

Outstanding at the plate were Dub Doshier and Larry French with .307 and .286, respectively. Doshier batted in 2 runs, while French accounted for 14 talies.
