

1883-01-08

Letter from Anna G. Galloway to Louie [Muir], 1883 Jan 8.

Anna G. Galloway

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence>

Recommended Citation

Galloway, Anna G., "Letter from Anna G. Galloway to Louie [Muir], 1883 Jan 8." (1883). John Muir Correspondence (PDFs). 742.

<https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence/742>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the John Muir Correspondence 1856-1914 at Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in John Muir Correspondence (PDFs) by an authorized administrator of Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact mgibney@pacific.edu.

Port Hope, Wis.,

January 8, 1883.

Dear Aunt Lottie, —

This is to acknowledge the receipt of a certain box which came to us laden with the breath of summer from some sunny land far away from our wintry Wisconsin, and I assure you it was duly appreciated by us all. Will you accept the love and 06145

thanks of your Gallows
niece

Some of the most tender specimens were a little frozen during their long cold journey. I planted the one you marked, also the geranium, but it is such cold weather here now that I very much doubt their growing, though I very much hope they will.

Those that would press were laid away carefully in books and some day I am going to decorate the house with the evergreen and bright berries. The last will be a constant reminder of California and all our folks there.

And now hoping that some day we may see each other and get a little more acquainted with one another, I close by subscribing myself

Truly,

Your niece,
Anna G. Galloway.