

John Muir Correspondence (PDFs)

1883-01-08

Letter from Anna G. Galloway to Louie [Muir], 1883 Jan 8.

Anna G. Galloway

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence>

Recommended Citation

Galloway, Anna G., "Letter from Anna G. Galloway to Louie [Muir], 1883 Jan 8." (1883). John Muir Correspondence (PDFs). 742.

<https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence/742>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in John Muir Correspondence (PDFs) by an authorized administrator of Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact mgibney@pacific.edu.

Port Hope, Wis.,

January 8, 1883.

Dear Aunt Lizzie, —

This is to acknowledge the receipt of a certain box which came to us laden with the breath of summer from some sunny land far away from our wintry Wisconsin, and I assume you it was duly appreciated by us all. Will you accept the love and 06145

Thanks of your Galloways niece.

Some of the most tender specimens were a little frozen during their long cold journey. I planted the one you marked, also the geranium, but it is such cold weather here now that I very much doubt their growing, though I very much hope they will.

Those that would freeze were laid away carefully in books and some day I am going to decorate the house with the evergreen and bright berries. The last will be a constant reminder of California and all our folks there.

And now hoping that some day we may see each other and get a little more acquainted with one another, I close by subscribing myself,

Truly,

Your niece,
Anna G. Galloway.