Dear Mr. Union,

I beg your pardon most sincerely for my delay in sending you the letters which go by this mail. I was very careless here, but the matter slipped my mind completely. I have been in camp for a week, so it would have been attended to before.

Of the letters I send you, that to Dr. (or rather Sir Dietrich) Brandis will, I think, be the most valuable his position as a botanist as well as his achievements as a forester put him in a position to introduce you to the most interesting men in Europe in these two sciences.

Let me ask you again to excuse my delay, and thank you for the delightful letter in New York.

Very sincerely yours,
Gifford Pinchot.

In haste,
