President Bush signed into law a bill providing the former Soviet Union a $10 billion interest-free loan, used to replenish about $15 billion in U.S. arms and underwriting billions in debt from a former Soviet Union, according to The Hill. The measure also provides assistance for the destruction of nuclear weapons in Russia and other former Soviet states and for the conversion of military facilities for peaceful use.

The bill authorizes $40 million in direct U.S. assistance for basic security purposes, improvement of the food-distributing system, lab programs, civilian-nuclear reactor and environmental programs and also endorses a $12 billion increase in U.S. contribution to the International Monetary Fund.

Reported Crime in U.S. Decreases

The amount of reported crime to police declined two percent in the first half of 1992 compared to the same period of the previous year, the FBI reported earlier this week. Some criminal justice experts expressed surprise at the drop, particularly the decrease in the number of murders.

In total, the number of reported rapes increased in the FBI survey, some experts suggested that women, in the wake of the Anita Hill-Clarence Thomas sexual harassment case, may be more willing to report rapes. Violent crimes reported to law enforcement agencies increased three percent compared with the same period last year, while property crime dropped three percent.

AIDS Researchers Say Congress Acts Improperly

The federal government's top scientists are presenting a recent decision by Congress to bypass medical researchers and approve $28 million for testing the effects of an experimental AIDS vaccine. Plans are in progress to test a suit of leading AIDS experts to decide whether expanded testing of the vaccine is advisable.

The efficacy of the vaccine, developed by Merck & Co. Inc., is not in doubt. Preliminary tests suggest that it may be valuable in reducing the spread of AIDS among people infected with the HIV. However, the full effects of the vaccine are not yet known.

AIDS researchers are assailed instead, claiming that Congress "stopped a very promising trial" by voting this month to approve the trial of an AIDS vaccine, which could make AIDS patients more vulnerable to the disease.

The plan includes about 20,000 patients, who have not been exposed to HIV infection. Many experts believe that the federal government's AIDS experts did not have the information to make an informed decision about the trial.

The plan is "improper" and "unethical," said Dr. Anthony Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases. "We have to do better in terms of providing data that will help us make decisions about the safety and efficacy of these vaccines," he said.

Spanish in the U.S.:

The State Department reported that 30,000 people in the U.S. have taken Spanish-language classes in the past year, an increase of 15 percent over the previous year. The department said that "Spanish is no longer a minority language; it is a major language in the United States."

The report also said that "Spanish is the second most widely spoken language by people over the age of 18 in the U.S., after English."

In addition, the report noted that "Spanish has become the second most widely spoken language in the U.S., after English."

Resolution to Ban Wet Bush Passed by COPA
Justin Levy
Staff Writer

During a College of the Pacific Association (COPA) meeting held last week, a resolution was passed that could ban wet hair from the campus Creek System. If accepted by the Interfraternity Council (IFC), this resolution would prohibit fraternity rush functions that could include the "sudsy" and consumption of alcohol by brothers or during scheduled rush events.

Although the resolution would minimize the possibility of liability claims made on the University, the main objective of the resolution was to promote a more academic atmosphere on campus. The primary reason that led to the majority vote for the resolution, according to COPA, was to prevent alcohol-related incidents from occurring during fraternity activities.

In the past, rush was a five week process during which rush functions that included alcohol commonly occurred. Consequently, evidence would generally force students for six weeks as opposed to two or three week dry period, according to COPA.

In order to bring an end to and end wet fraternity rush, student representative performance in the Spring would improve due to "better class attendance, increased study time and less time drinking" since the rush period would consist of only three weeks as opposed to the previous two weeks, according to a COPA student, as well as faculty members from different departments.

Hmong Studies In Rainbow of Cultures

Junior Mee Vang, background of the Hmong culture, presented a powerpoint presentation to the University of the Pacific's student body on the Hmong culture, its past and future.

As an individual from the Hmong culture, Vang shared his experiences and insights about the culture, its history, traditions, and future. He discussed the challenges faced by the Hmong community, including discrimination, poverty, and cultural assimilation.

Vang also highlighted the importance of preserving Hmong culture and traditions. He emphasized the need for the Hmong community to continue to celebrate its heritage and pass it on to future generations.

The presentation was well-received by the audience, who were interested in learning more about the Hmong culture and its contributions to American society.

The event was organized by the University of the Pacific's International Student Life office, and was part of the Rainbow of Cultures series, which aims to promote cultural diversity and understanding on campus.

The presentation was attended by a diverse group of students, faculty, and staff, who were all eager to learn more about the Hmong culture and its rich history.

The event concluded with a Q&A session where attendees had the opportunity to ask questions and engage in meaningful discussions about the Hmong culture and its impact on American society.

Overall, the event was a success and provided a valuable opportunity for the University of the Pacific community to learn about and appreciate the Hmong culture and its contributions to America.

The New Republican Way

By Randy Thelen and Jennifer Rollins

President George Herbert Walker Bush, is a disciple to the United States' economic " cliques " and environmental " policies " of the past. He has been labeled as the " candidate of the American Free Trade Area of the Americas Treaty Agreement because his job was under these new trade policy that could have caused the Mexican Government to sell off the oil reserves of the United States. But, President Bush's secretary of labor estimates a loss of 500,000 jobs over the next year. Mr. Bush's GOP staff is currently working on the 20th century role of the Department of Labor. Mr. Bush has been in office for five years. He has been in the service of our country. Mr. Bush feels that " his people " are going to take care of " the people ".

THERE’S ONLY ONE! Today’s column will deal with treacherous cancer. This is the most common form of cancer in men from the ages of 15-35. Although approximately 5,900 new cases of treacherous cancer are diagnosed every year in the United States, an early diagnosis is already about cureable. Consequently, most men are unaware that they should examine their own testicles to catch any suspicious lumps.

In the past, lumps or masses that may be suspicious for cancer are tested by a biopsy or a scan. If the scan indicates that there may be a lump present, a biopsy is performed to determine if it is cancerous. A biopsy involves inserting a needle into the testicle and removing a small piece of tissue for laboratory analysis. If the tissue is cancerous, further treatment is recommended. If the tissue is not cancerous, no further treatment is necessary.

You may have heard that a lump in the testicle is a sign of cancer. This is not true. A lump in the testicle can be a sign of many different things, such as a cyst or a tumor. The only way to be sure that a lump in the testicle is cancerous is to have a biopsy. A biopsy is a minor procedure and is usually performed in a doctor’s office. If the biopsy results are positive, further treatment will be recommended.

When you see a lump in the testicle, you should see a doctor as soon as possible. If the lump is painful or if it changes in size, you should see a doctor immediately.

To find out more about cancer prevention and treatment, contact the American Cancer Society at 1-800-227-2345.

Who is Responsible for Your Health?

By now you may have noticed that every time you go to the grocery store, there is a person on TV telling you how to live a better life. These people are called television personalities, or TV personalities. TV personalities are paid to tell us how to live a better life, but they are not paid to tell us how to die a better death.

The reason why TV personalities are so popular is that they are easy to relate to. They are not doctors or nurses, so they don’t have to deal with the unpleasantness of death. They can tell us that death is a natural part of life, and that we should all try to accept it.

But who is responsible for our health? The answer is ourselves. We are responsible for our health, and we should take responsibility for it. This means that we should eat a healthy diet, exercise regularly, and get enough sleep.

Sandra is nine years old, and weighs will over 90 pounds. She is an American of Indian and Mexican heritage, and her parents are of mixed heritage. She is part of a family with six siblings. She is picky and a bit of a diva, but she can be quite amusing at times, especially when she is around her younger sister, who adores her. She often makes her own clothes and enjoys painting her nails. She is also quite good at playing the piano. Sandra always wears her hair in braids and she loves to listen to music. She is very smart for her age and is always eager to learn new things.

Funds, Fantasies and Future Focus

Burt Nadeau
Director, Career Services

I recently had the privilege of meeting and talking with several students in our community about the future. They are thinking about the future and the steps they will take to achieve their goals. Some of them have already started working towards their goals, while others are still in the planning stage. The future is uncertain, but it is also exciting. I encourage everyone to think about their goals and to take action towards achieving them.

Literacy is the Theme for a Special Event

Kathleen Brown
Guest Writer

You were great!" Kathleen Brown, who co-authored the book on literacy, stated. "And every day, the majority is a bit closer to achieving their literacy goals. But the reality is that not all are equally accessible. Basic literacy in students is a step-specific, and important, for their development. It is a skill that should be emphasized in every classroom, and in a subject they are feeling engaged. For example, during the spring, third grade students in subjects they find interesting and enjoyable, and not unrelated, the teachers do them better. These individuals really don’t concern themselves much with ‘career-related’ issues when making their decisions. You might be surprised to know that I think this is a fine approach. Everything doesn’t have to be hands-on, I know. It’s a shock to hear this from a career counselor, but they will not do what they do not like. In many instances, one’s major does not equate with one’s job search or career goals. English majors can enter banking, advertising, sales or publishing. They do not have to be teachers (although that would be a wonderful choice). I know officials are so concerned who needs it permission to major in a subject which is intellectually stimulating and academically challenging. Once you have learned how to relate subject-specific concepts, how to time your work as well as verbal and non-verbal communication skills and how to use data to come up with information, you can complete the training required to set up your own career counseling firm. basics, selecting a major usually more important to students as an issue in themselves. However, this might be an issue of a student who has decided to study abroad, or who is not sure what she wants to study.

UOP Lacrosse traveled to Sacramento for its first tournament of the year.
UOP Lacrosse took the field as a team this year and boasts a 35-man squad, with many of the younger players game time and experience to prepare them for the regular season in the spring. The Tigers managed to get everyone of their players into all of these games they competed in last Saturday.
That was a crucial learning experience for the large number of rookie players.
UOP has on its roster. It was important that they get that playing time because they gained confidence that will be invaluable to the team in the spring.
Homecoming weekend, the lacrosse team faced off against the following year.
The talk gets even bigger after winning a game in a new role. The mystic word "steeprose" starts to flow into the team's vocabulary, numerous sports' columns across the country. It comes around four years ago at Lake Tahoe when players first encountered the term.

Sacramento State tournament, UOP lost to the Old Boys, relinquishing a lead, but beat last year's conference champions, Cal Poly.

Women's Volleyball Falls To Stanford

The UOP Women's volleyball team played one of its most intense matches of the year against Stanford University. The Women's volleyball team has been preparing for this final home game with the hope that their efforts will be rewarded with an attendance of 10-19 spectators.

The scores were 15-3, 15-12, and 15-6 in favor of the Women's volleyball team. The game was decided by a strong performance from setter Lisa Johns, who made 47 assists, and the defense of Natasha Soltysik, who recorded 10 digs.

The match started with a strong performance by the Women's volleyball team, which led to a 15-6 win in the first set. In the second set, the Stanford team was able to get back into the game, but the Women's volleyball team maintained a strong lead, winning 15-12. The final set was a battle of wills, but the Women's volleyball team was able to secure a 15-3 win and secure their victory.

Intramural Update

B-LEAGUE

Unlike the A-league, B-league has two conference opponents. The first round games pitted No. 1 ranked Dayton versus No. 2 ranked Stanford. The match was played at the Alhambra-Paris Delta gym in the very close first set, 15-13. The second set saw the same score, 15-13. The third set was the one to watch, as the Stanford team was able to edge out the Women's volleyball team, 15-13.

The second-year players for the Stanford team were able to put their best foot forward in the third set, scoring 15-13. Assistant Coach Joe Wilkins commented, "Stanford has a more powerful offense than us." Stanford is now 15-1, while the Women's volleyball team is 16-1-1. It makes the difference between Stanford and the Women's volleyball team a big one.

The total individual statistics for the Women's volleyball team were as follows: the leader for offense is Johnson who scored 220 digs with a total of 10.0 of the matches, followed by Diggs with 138 digs. Setter Lisa Johns made 47 assists with a total of 1.0.

The Women's volleyball team was able to outscore the Stanford team, 22-18, in the third set. The Women's volleyball team was able to outscore the Stanford team, 22-18, in the third set. The Women's volleyball team will be playing against the Stanford team again on October 29, 1992.
Tigers Show Promise in Loss to Washington

The Pacific football team traveled to Seattle last Saturday, and played well against the Washington Huskies, but lost 37-7. The Tigers held on until the fourth quarter when two long drives put the game out of reach. The night before the game, many Pacific players were optimistic and ready to take on the No. 1 team in the AP poll.

"The game plan for the defense was to do what we have been doing all year," said safety Dimitri Geltas, "and that was not to give up the big play." Nathan Young had one simple thing to say about what the offense needed to do. "We need to score a lot," Benjamin commented, "especially if we are going to have a chance to win." The offense started off well for Pacific, as the Tigers took the opening kickoff down field. With the aid of penalties, the Tigers drove into field goal range, but Eddie Aukerman could not connect on the kick. In all, Aukerman had a tough day, missing field goals from 42, 49 and 39 yards.

The Huskies got on the board first in the game, scoring a touchdown with four seconds left in the first quarter. The score was set up when Benjamin finished a pitch on his 12-yard line. Washington's Napoleon Kaufman scared the touchdenvdown, as he ran eight yards through the Tigers' defense.

At halftime, the Huskies had a 14-0 lead, but both scores did not come easy. The first one was off the Benjaminumble, while the second was set up by a 96 yard kick return by Jorgen Gylow. In the first half, the Tigers' Kaufman, and fellow senior Cameron Denton, showed no fear, as he adorned 12 solo tackles, 12 to Jorgen Gylow. Cunnigan had 1 solo tackle, while Shawn Johnson, Matt and Dominic Kekuo had at least seven tackles each.

It was not until the fourth quarter that the defense gave up the end of the third quarter, it was 27-0 Huskies, with all the scoring off of drives of 28 or more yards. The defense was holding the offense was trying hard to score.

The fourth quarter opened with a beautiful punt by Jack Schuster. His kick was downed by the Tigers at Washington's 10 yard line. The biggest offenSive hit for the Tigers of the line of scrimmage. The Huskies, with all the scoring off of drives of 28 or more yards. The defense was holding the offense was trying hard to score.

The offense finally scored a touchdown, as Troy Kapey passed to a wide receiver for 97 yards for a touchdown, 27-6 lead. This drive was the longest in the game, and when the Pacific defense was considerably tested.

It was the biggest weekend of the season. The offensive line was outstanding, and the defense was hitting on all cylinders. The biggest play of the game was a 96 yard kickoff return by Jorgen Gylow. In the first half, the Tigers' Kaufman, and fellow senior Cameron Denton, showed no fear, as he adorned 12 solo tackles, 12 to Jorgen Gylow. Cunnigan had 1 solo tackle, while Shawn Johnson, Matt and Dominic Kekuo had at least seven tackles each.

Tigers Hang Tough

Allie McHugh
Sports Editor

I was like David and Goliath, of Reign and Mandrake, yet it was different. The Tigers did not knock off the Huskies like David, or disappear like Mandrake. What the players did was play their hearts out and play one of the best games of the season. We should all be proud of our team, because they showed the world what the Tigers are made of. Now the question is what the Tigers are made of and what they are capable of doing.

Henigan played a yard pass. Kopn played the game at the Tigers, the game was a great experience for the players. They were rewarded with kudos to play well in the Tigers on Saturday, you should also. It takes a lot to take the No. 1 team in the nation and not be intimidated by them. The Tigers played the game of the year and had to be on their game. After the game I saw the players, and there were many smiles on their faces.
