Clinton Administration Proposes to Buy Vaccines

The Clinton administration is considering a plan under which the government would buy up all the childhood vaccines, then distribute them free of charge to public clinics and doctors' offices to make sure that all children are properly vaccinated.

Currently, only 40 to 60 percent of preschool children get the recommended shots, the government reported. The number is up 18 percent in some inner-city neighborhoods. Health officials say the low level of immunization is a major reason for outbreaks of measles and other diseases in the past few years.

The idea is supported by leading pediatricians and child-advocacy groups, including the Children's Defense Fund, but opposed by drug companies, which say it will make them too much like manufacturers of cigarettes, which are considered nondefinitive. An event that may turn them to slash spending to develop new, more effective vaccines.

The strike began as a result of the university's refusal to accept the union in February. Because new members are not being hired, the membership roll won't be known until mid-February at UC Berkeley. The Santa Cruz union also agreed fall off to the same reason.

The strike by the Berkeley and Santa Cruz unions disrupted undergraduate classes at both campuses before and during final exams.

We effectively canceled a large part of the classes for the last three weeks of classes, said Russell Pascal, a spokesman for the union that represents 3,900 graduate research and teaching assistants at UC Berkeley.

If you would also like to start some intramural teams, so we can play together as well as work together," said Pascal.

He would also like to get sponsors from community and industry to enhance both the undergraduate and graduate programs.

"I would also like to start some organized Junior teams for the area we will hit extensively is Los Angeles," he said.

"I am one of the students for these programs," he said.

"The Department of Education could effectively manage such a program.

Students hotdog around U.S.

By John Williams
College Press Service

Tim Young got a speeding ticket recently on Interstate 5 near Los Angeles. Like any other hotdogger on any U.S. highway who gets pulled over by a police officer for going over the speed limit, Young was steamed.

"What do you explain to an officer that your vehicle, a replica of an Oscar Mayer hot dog that goes from 0 to 65 in about a minute, was just keeping up with the traffic flow on the northbound lanes from San Diego? By being trash, of course," Young said.

"What I drive is faster than a Ferrari, but slower than a Corvette. I wasn't the fastest car out there," Young said. "I was the fastest hot dog.

The vehicle Young was rolling down the interstate in southern California was a V-6-powered Wienermobile, a lolling publicity platform for Oscar Mayer Inc., purveyors of hotdogs and other cold cuts.

Every year 12 college students arepicked in a rigorousselection process to drive the Wienermobiles (also called "Lamborwienies") around the nation to promote events and anywhere else people gather to celebrate something.

Young, who graduated with a journalism degree in 1991 from San Diego State University, has been driving the Wienermobile on a West Coast route since last summer, chugging into the sunset with fellow hotdogger Britney Dickenson, a graduate of the University of Texas, Austin.

"We are best friends," Young said. "We're pretty much self-run. Our school officials usually don't have a budget," he said. The students get no special breaks from the fire truck and ambulance.

Since we all live in the same bed, and have to buy it together so much, it affects our ability to have friends outside the department," Young said.

"Beyond satisfaction, that's all we get," Altman said. "We have had arguments with the chief because, for example, when we went to a funeral, there were no flowers to pay for their services.

"Beyond satisfaction, that's all we get," Altman said. "We have had arguments with the chief because, for example, when we went to a funeral, there were no flowers to pay for their services.

"Everyone has the right to have friends outside the department," Altman said.

This year Young plans to drive the Wienermobile for the entire year. Young and Altman got a speeding ticket in 1991, just before the program was revamped four years ago.

There are six vehicles in the current fleet, and all have microphones, refrigerators and stoves that emit the smell of hotdogs.

Across the Campus

Solo recitals open Conservatory season

Concert pianist Ben Cooper will present the opening recital for the UOP Conservatory of Music Spring 2021 season at the Spacons Concert Hall, Feb. 5, 3 p.m., in the Fine Arts Complex. Cooper, a senior and former board member of the UOP Student Concert Hall, will perform a solo recital on the piano.

Cooper holds degrees from the Conservatory of Music, the Juilliard School, and the University of Kansas. He has performed in the United States, England, France, and Italy. Most recently, he has played recitals and presented master classes in Utah and Idaho. He will present a recital on the piano at the Spacons Concert Hall on Feb. 5, 3 p.m.

Conservatory sponsors

Dr. Herman Frankel, Director of the Portland Conservatory of Music, will present his annual lecture, "The Phenomenal Idea of Conservatory Music," on Feb. 5, 12:30-1:50 p.m., in the Fine Arts Complex. The workshop is co-sponsored by the UOP Conservatory of Music and the Conservatory Student Senate.

Frankel is an award-winning physician and counselor in the field of Mind/Body Interaction, Relaxation and Mental Imaging. He has worked with a wide variety of clients, including musicians and elite athletes. For example, Mike Powell, a world-class athlete, broke the world long-jump record in 1991 after several months of practicing Dr. Frankel's mental rehearsal technique. Members of the Portland Youth Symphony Orchestra, leaders in the Anderson Center's kids programs and Celebrate Diversity Work Week are asked to help the community.

Keyboard concertist to play in Morris Chapel

Keyboard artist Ken Modena will perform in concert at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 10, at Morris Chapel. His focus combines his experience of being born blind and his love for music.

As a part of his concert, Modena will explain the method of testing for blood type and the importance of giving blood.

Field study, internships and other volunteer opportunities can be arranged by contacting Bangladesh Women who assists students in finding great service learning opportunities in the community.

Chapel introduces new worship program

The University of Pacific Department of Art is featuring the master works of Stocktonian Henry Paine at the Earl J. Washburn Gallery in the Art Center.

The exhibit will run through Feb. 25. A special reception for the artist will be held at the gallery on Saturday, Feb. 6, from 2-4 p.m.

In the tradition of well-known California photographers Ansel Adams, Brett Weston and Don Worth, the Paine collection features black-and-white photographs of landscapes, architectural structures and details of plants. Paine's work blends the challenges of pictorial design with the nuances of light, layered form and texture.

His work has appeared at the California State Fair, the Friends of Photography Gallery in Carmel, the Montecito Museum of Art and the Archival Framing Gallery in Sacramento.

He also owns and operates a fine art repair shop in Stockton where he does a great deal of his own work. Gallery hours are Mon-Thur, 8:30 a.m.-9 p.m., Fri-Sat, 8-5 p.m. and Sun 1-5 p.m.

Art department features photos by Henry Paine

Two non-profit organizations, Project Ploughshares and the American Friends Service Committee, will offer a workshop titled "Crack in the Wall," featuring in the TV special, "Two Days in the Life of an Activist," on Sunday, Feb. 7.

Summer jobs for students

Glacier Park to hire 900 college students

Glacier National Park, located in the northwest corner of Montana, is best known for its rugged mountain wilderness area. In its history, Glacier Park, Inc., is looking for students to fill more than 900 summer jobs in all segments of the hotel and hospitality sector. Jobs include a large variety of hotel positions such as front desk, room attendants, cooks, wait persons and bus drivers. Some students also participate in the guest entertainment, another Glacier Park tradition. Students are needed this year from mid-May to early October. The demands for this job are900 people in the hospitality field will be hired.

In addition, students are needed through late September and early October. Internships are available for hotel/restaurant, culinary arts, travel/tourism and accounting majors.

The seven hotels and lodges and the famous red vantage tour coaches operate throughout the park. Currently, there are 43 reports for non-criminal incidents. They included aid to people with events, battery jumps, unlocking doors and checking suspicious circumstances.

Grateful Dead celebrates Chinese New Year

The Grateful Dead appeared at the Cow Palace last week, recently performing three nights in a row, to celebrate the Chinese New Year. It was the kick-off of a 12-city tour of the U.S. and Canada. The tour is part of a series of events being held nationwide to introduce the Dead's music to a new generation of fans. The concerts are part of a larger campaign to promote the band's music and to raise money for various worthwhile causes.

The performance at the Cow Palace was a sell-out, with thousands of fans lining up outside the venue hours before the doors opened. The audience was electric, with fans of all ages and from all walks of life coming together to celebrate the Dead's music.

The Grateful Dead is a San Francisco-based rock band formed in 1965. The band is known for its unique blend of rock, folk, and psychedelic music, and its innovative use of electronic equipment and light shows. The Dead has had a significant influence on the development of rock music, and its music has been praised for its beauty, its complexity, and its ability to transcend cultural and linguistic barriers.

The Grateful Dead's music is often associated with the counterculture movement of the 1960s and 1970s, and its songs have become a soundtrack for generations of fans. The band's concerts are known for their improvisational nature, with members often donating their time and efforts to raise money for worthwhile causes.

The Grateful Dead is one of the most beloved and influential bands in rock history, and its music continues to inspire fans around the world. The band's legacy is secure, and its fans can look forward to many more years of music to come.

Homosexuals in the military

Brian Kroll
Staff Writer

It has been less than two weeks since the new president took office and already the troops have begun. All of the Republicans are crying foul because the days of Bragging and Groin-grinding are over.

In the past two years we have had to live with presidents sucking up to the elite of the American society while ignoring the American Dream. For Bill Clinton. Finally there is a President that is willing to admit that the American public is wrong. Bill Clinton is willing to admit that the days of homophobia are over, just as the days of racioality towards women and color people is over.

What happened to the land of opportunity and the statement "all men are created equal"? There used to be a debate that Black people should not be in the military. The American Armed Services felt that the role of the troops would be hurt, along with the morale of the Armed Services.

But in fact, during World War II and the Korean War, thousands of Black men served proudly and gave their country everything they could. They died defending the freedom and democracy we enjoy today. Their sacrifice was the same that women should not be allowed in the Armed Services.

I believe that there is no need to separate armed services and gay people into two different groups. There is an issue here. Are we going to have a more stringent set of rules and regulations that will separate everyone who is gay from everyone who is not gay and not put them in the same military branch?

There is a reason to assume that a gay person is going to go out and give all the rules and regulations that are in the Armed Services. Not everyone is going to be gay and not everyone is going to commit the same crimes as gay people are. There is a reason to separate armed services and gay people into two different groups.

With Bill Clinton we are乐器 to join the Armed Services, and the debate is dead. Now we have another minority that is trying to join the military and the debate has been totally ignored. There is a minority that is being ignored and the hatred and persecution of gay people is still growing. If you do not like a person because of their skin color, you are a racist. If you do not like people or treat them badly you are a racist.

But what if you support discrimination against gay people, but yet you support discrimination against all of minorities. The United States government does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, etc., when they hire government employees, so why would sexual preference make a difference?

There have always been gay people in the military. However, they would never admit they were gay for fear that they would receive a dishonorable discharge. Why don't we let them come out of the closet? Why don't we let them serve?

I believe that the United States Armed Services is scared that they would have an Army of lovers not fighters. I have never met a person that has no much respect and dignity towards the United States Armed Services. After all, they did not let the soldiers that they could draw with people of the same sex.

Tigers go 1-1 through Southern California
Matt Neuenburg Sports Editor

The UOP Men's Basketball team ended a two-game road losing streak, while starting another two nights later. UOP defeated UC Irvine at the Bolen Event Center 68-62, then fell victim to the Titans of Cal State Fullerton 71-58. The Titans are now 9-8 overall and 5-4 in the Big West Conference.

The Irvine Anteaters, looking for its first Big West win this season, came up short against a balanced Pacific team. Three Tigers scored double-figures, scoring both in and outside the paint. Tony Amundsen led the way for the fourth consecutive game with 18 total points, shooting 6-12 from the field. Glenn Griffin went 9-12 from the free-throw line to finish with 15 points, grabbing six total rebounds as well. One-time Anteater, Ben Simms, scored 11 points against his former teammates.

The loss was Irvine’s eighth straight, but that streak ended when they defeated the Titans on October 27 at San Jose State University.

When Pacific faced Fullerton in the Big West. The two teams were tied for the position going into the game, but the Titans took sole possession of fourth place with their win. Fullerton then went 7-9 and 5-10 in the Big West conferences. UOP led at one, but were unable to hold onto the lead as Fullerton took over in the second half.

The Tigers face the toughest competition of the season tonight. The UNLV Rebels are currently ranked 11th nationally in the Associated Press Top 25 poll. The Rebels are 1-3 overall and 0-2 in the Big West, with only one loss to arch-rival Long Beach State. The Vegas and Long Beach State rivalry began as a co-op with Terry Tarkanian went from Long Beach during the seventies.

Few students remember what they were doing the second week of the fall semester. It would not be true for the Tiger Women’s swim team, that is when they started work-outs.

January was not a month where the team could be described as taking part in leisure activities. Days consisted of two water work-outs and leisure activities. As a team, UNLV is ranked fourth in scoring and fifth in 3-point field goal nationally. The team’s bench strength includes Dedan Thomas, ranked second nationally in assists; Ken Gibson, who leads the nation with a 54.5 percent three-point field goal percentage and destined future first-round pick J.R. Rider, ranked 5th nationally among scoring leaders.

This past weekend, Pacific went on a road trip to take on the Titans and an upset win. The Tigers are 6-2 at home and the Tigers could not stop the Hayward offense.

The 200 meter free style was won by junior Melissa Pugh placed first with 2:04.88. Pugh also dominated the 400 meter individual medley, finishing first again, with sophomore Grace Waltz taking third.

The 100 meter butterfly, junior Melissa Pugh placed first with 2:02.14, while senior Shannon Haas latched onto 2:17.32. Pugh also dominated the 400 meter individual medley, finishing first again, with sophomore Grace Waltz taking third.

Outstanding individual winners were freshman Jeremy Wickham in the 1000 meter freestyle with 10:50.31 and freshman Sedina Lemings with a second in the 200 meter backstroke.

The team’s bench has really come together over the last month with our intense training," said Takan.

This Saturday at noon, the meet will be hosted on Fresno Sunday, with both the Anteaters and Titans scheduled to give their all.

Irville, hungry for its first league honor, shot a horrid 39.3 field goal percentage for the game. The Anteaters’ defense held the Tigers to just 42 percent shooting.

The UNLV Running Rebels are currently ranked 11th nationally in the Associated Press Top 25 poll. WWF returns to Spanos Center

When you thought it was safe to go into the Spanos Center, the WWF brings its unique form of entertainment back to Stockton. On February 14, Valentine’s Day, at 7:30 p.m. the Spanos Center will be rocking.

‘Macho Man’ Savage returns to Pacific, almost a year after his appearance last spring. Other superstars include: Yokozuna, Shawn Michaels and the tag-team combination of the Steiners Brothers.

Tickets are available on campus or any Bank or Ticketron outlets.

See details in next week’s Pacifican about how to win front row seats, and a chance to actually meet some of the wrestlers.

Act now, this will be a Valentine’s you will never forget.

Baseball wins first game
Allie McHugh Sports Editor

Last Saturday, the Men’s Baseball team won its first game of the season against the Stanford University Cardinal.

In the first game of the season, the Tigers lost to Hayward 10-2.

This game was at Hayward, and the Tigers could not stop the Hayward offense.

Pacific won the middle game, 10-7, but lost its third game, 9-6.

This year, the team welcomes back nine starters, including Doug Bane, who ended last year with some impressive numbers.

In the first three games, game has five hits, while hitting at an average of .455. Spalding is starting well for Pacific, hitting at a .400 average, with four hits, including a home run. In fact, all of Spalding’s base hits are doubles or better.

The pitching staff has 16 players in its rotation card. Jordan Turner and Antighting are shown the most playing time.

Last weekend the Anteaters and Titans found out why. This past weekend, Pacific defeated conference rivals UC Santa Barbara, 4-0, in the SEC. It was the third SEC win in the past month.

The Tigers are 6-2 at home and go out and support the team.

The season is young and the team is optimistic. The Tigers play San Diego State throughout the weekend, so go out and support the team.

The Pacific Men's Volleyball team was on a roll after winning a hard-fought conference game on Friday, Feb. 9, at the Spanos Center. They return to the Spanos Center for a couple of home games this weekend.

The Tigers returned to the Spanos Center for the conference game against UC Davis (9-4) on Friday, Feb. 9. Despite being short-handed due to injuries, the Tigers defeated the Aggies, 14-16, 16-14, 16-14.

The win put the Tigers at 6-8 overall and 2-3 in the Big West Conference. The Aggies finished with a 5-9 record and 1-3 conference mark.

The Tigers' win against UC Davis, however, was a struggle. The team was short-handed, with several players injured. The Aggies entered the game with a 4-7 conference mark and 3-3 overall. But the Tigers fought hard and pulled off the win.

Men's volleyball falls to Fresno State

Mike McHugh
Sports Editor

Making the jump from club to varsity in the Division I volleyball scene can be difficult. The Pacific Men's Volleyball team found out how hard the transition can be, as the team fell to Fresno State in three games.

Fresno, ranked in the top five, came into the Spanos Center and cruised by the Tigers, 15-6, 15-3 and 15-2. The loss dropped the Tigers to 1-2, while Stanford moved to 2-1.

Pacific's Davis Laie had 10 kills, while teammate Jeff High had eight. Stanford played a great match, hitting .326 in three games. Dave Goss, Stanford's leader, hit .292 for the game.

The Pacific Men's Volleyball team should have a good year, and the transition to Division I could make this team better as a whole. The Tigers are very young and things should continue to improve for the team.

The Pacific defense was incredible throughout the game. The team was able to elude them. The score then dramatically changed in favor of Let's Do It. The score suddenly was 12-8. Let's Do It also had a great dozen against the Aggies. The match went into overtime. In the end, the Innominants came out on top 16-14. So the final box score read 16-14, 16-14, 16-14. Wow, what a match!

Co-Rec B: This was also an exciting match that ended in a surprise. Southwest Stephanie, who was undefeated during the regular season, was going up against The Who. The Stephanie had defeated The Who twice, but this match belonged to The Who. They won games to 1.

Co-Rec C: The league's final was fairly predictable from the beginning of the year. John B2 prevailed by defeating Jessie 2 games to 1.

Welcome back for another semester of Intramural activities!! Last semester was a huge success, unfortunately, we did not have a chance to report the final results of the volleyball season. So, with no further ado here are those results.

Four Person A: Archimeda defeated the Corner Shoots 2 games to 1.

Four Person B: The RTS won the championship by forfeit.

Co-Rec A: This game was one of the most exciting that this program has seen in a long time. Let's Do It looked unbeatable going into the final round. They did not lose a single game all year. But they had to face the Innominants. Not only are the Innominants a great athletic team, but it was also their last as they graduated at the end of the last season.

The match was terrific. The Innominants won the first game 16-14. Then Let's Do It came back to win the second game 16-14. The third set started out very differently then it would end. The Innominants were sporting a 6-2 lead when Let's Do It realized that not only was their undefeated season in jeopardy, but the championship was also about to elude them. The score then dramatically changed in favor of Let's Do It. The score suddenly was 12-8. Let's Do It also had a great dozen against the Aggies. The match went into overtime. In the end, the Innominants came out on top 16-14. So the final box score read 16-14, 16-14, 16-14. Wow, what a match!

Co-Rec B: This was also an exciting match that ended in a surprise. Southwest Stephanie, who was undefeated during the regular season, was going up against The Who. The Stephanie had defeated The Who twice, but this match belonged to The Who. They won games to 1.

Co-Rec C: The league's final was fairly predictable from the beginning of the year. John B2 prevailed by defeating Jessie 2 games to 1.

Well it is time for hoops to begin and entries were due on Feb. 16, with play beginning the 8th. The games will be held in the main gym, Sun thru Thurs from 7 until 10PM. There are several divisions to be entered from Men's, to Women's, to Napoleon (under six feet tall), and Co-Rec. We are expecting one of the largest turn outs of the year for this sport. We hope that you will participate either on the floor or in the stands.

The Basketball Free Throw competition will be held on Feb. 17 and 18 between 5 and 6 PM. The format will be two sets of 25, with the best of the two sets taken.

The spring semester Racquetball tournament will be held in the Baun Fitness Center. The Schick Super Hoops tournament will be held on Saturday Feb. 20. This will be in the main gym. For more information about this event come by the Intramural office.

And last but not least, the outdoor soccer entries are open. They are due no later than Feb. 17. Like last semester, the tournament will be held in the Baun Fitness Center.
