The boundaries of Portage are enlarged year by year so we now have quite a city and we think it is a very beautiful city

The children of the Baptist Sunday School have a Picnic today. They have a sail on the River to a piece of land some miles from home. Anne of course is with them.

We are all in usual health and hope the time will come when we will meet again.
I close with kindest regards to Emma and the children & yourself affectionately Mother

Dear Dan,

Your letter of July 10th was gladly received.

I would have written to you sooner, but thought I would wait until Sarah came home. She is now a grandma and has been many weeks in the country, so our home has been like a ship without a rudder, driven with the wind and tossed.

Have you had any news of John lately. perhaps you know he has been in Scotland and has had the pleasure of visiting the Old Home at Dumfries now a Temperance Hotel. He got permission to go upstairs to his bed room and to climb up to the roof where he and David used to walk in their Night Dresses. I gave him a list of all our old friends and he has called on all of them that are left.

He also went to the Cemetery and found the resting places of my dear Parents and Sisters & Brothers.

Then he went to Edinburgh and visited an old Scotchman. Then to Leith and found a ship for Norway.

When at Leith he sent me the Jubilee Number of the Free Church of Scotland, containing pictures of all the Ministers that were present at that time of the Disruption.

David is prospering in Coal. He likes the work and is doing well.
