DEBATERS SWEEP MID-WEST WITH RECORD-BREAKING SCORE

Competing against over fifty colleges from eight states, the University of Pacific debate team swept to victory in the recent Bradley Invitational tournament at Peoria, Illinois. Ten Pacific debaters led by forensic director Paul Winters returned with twenty-two high awards in eight different events. Over 650 students were involved in the tournament competition.

The Pacific squad tied for sweepstakes honors in debate and took first place sweepstakes in individual events scoring the highest total point score ever recorded at the Bradley tournament.

Jinny Kahle and Ted Olson were the two top individual scorers in the tournament with three first place awards each and with Kahle getting an excellent rating in a fourth event.

The debate team of John Beyer and Ted Olson were undefeated in the championship division of debate for a first place in that event. Olson was also rated first among 80 students in discussion and was given a top rating of superior in extemporaneous speaking. Beyer received an excellent rating in discussion and extempore.

The debate team of Jinny Kahle and Brenda Robinson had a 4-1 record as did Jane Drobnick—Pat Ferrill and Dave Quadro—Kit Cornett. These three teams were given superior ratings. Gerry Chong and Roger Randall received an excellent rating in debate.

Kahle took a superior in after dinner speaking and oratory, and won an excellent in radio-news-casting. Brenda Robinson took a superior in oratory, an excellent in listening, and an excellent in radio-news-casting.

In discussion Roger Randall also won a superior award while Gerry Chong and Pat Ferrill were rated excellent. In listening Randall took an excellent. Kit Cornett took an excellent in after dinner speaking, Chong an excellent in extempore, Ferrill a superior in extempore, and Jane Drobnick an excellent in Interpretative Reading.

In the Western States tournament, held recently in Fresno, three Pacific debate teams placed in the final rounds. These were Lois Koller and Karen Beatie, Linda Becker and Albertha Hillman, and Stan Zimmerman and Mike DiAsto. Lois Koller took a first place in oratory.

SPECIAL TO WEEKLY SEN. TOWER ON CAMPUS

John Krehbiel, Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, announced today that United States Senator John Tower, Republican from Texas, will be on the University of the Pacific campus at 4 o'clock at the top of the "Y" Tuesday, Dec. 5th.

Krehbiel said, "Senator Tower, at 35, is the youngest Senator in the 87th Congress and the first Republican to be elected to the Senate from Texas since the Reconstruction."

Tower led a field of 71 candidates in a special election to fill the vacated Senate seat of Vice President Lyndon Johnson and was elected Senator on May 27, 1961.

SENATOR JOHN TOWER

NEW ADVENTURE IN THEATER: "GOOD WOMAN" OPENS TONIGHT

University of the Pacific will present a new adventure in its 37-year-old theatre history when it stages Bertolt Brecht's "The Good Woman of Setzuan" in the Pacific Conservatory Dec. 1, 2, 7, and 8.

The first presentation on the West Coast of the new version of the popular German play, the production will extend the writing technique of the Oriental theatre often found in Brecht's works by using the make-up, movement, and traditional stage managing found in Chinese theatre. People in black, for instance, will carry on stage symbols of locations and structures such as banners for buildings and cloths to show richness or poverty.

Part of the Oriental style also is to make no pretense that the stage is really some other place but that it is really just a raised area at the end of the hall, an area decorated for the actors to use to be better seen by the audience.

Noted for his style, which has been translated as epic theatre, Brecht seeks in his works a way to make modern theatre more dynamically effective in the lives of the audience.

Set in the mythical town of Setzuan, the play deals mainly with the question of how people can achieve happiness and good fortune and still be good.

The production, which will be repeated Dec. 7 and 8, is under the direction of John Hurd.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Dec. 1, 2, and 8, and 8 p.m. on Dec. 7.

Tickets will be available at the box office during the week and at the door the nights of the performances.

Another Tuition Raise For Pacific Next Year

The Board of Regents of the University of the Pacific approved a tuition raise of $50 per semester beginning in the fall of 1962, at their meeting last Thursday.

The tuition increase will be used for advancement in faculty salaries and improvements in facilities and academic programs.

Room and board fees will remain the same.

In making the increase, Pacific will retain relatively the same position among comparable private co-educational colleges regarding tuition rates.

Other private institutions in California already have announced tuition increases for the coming year or are to do so in the near future.

The increase still will mean that Pacific students are paying only about 70% of their total educational costs. The other 30% is supplied through gifts and contributions from alumni and others interested in the ongoing life of the institution.

"Struggle For Supremacy In Asia" To Be Topic At Convocation Dec. 7

By RAOUL D. KENNEDY

World famous author-correspondent Vincent Sheehan will discuss "The Struggle for Supremacy in Asia" at the President's Convocation Thursday, December 7, at 11 a.m. in the Conservatory. Mr. Sheehan, an expert on Far Eastern affairs, thinks that the destiny of mankind lies in that part of the world. He has been deeply disturbed by the coming of the Atomic Age and has sought to use the teachings of Mahatma Ghandi to solve the problems posed by nuclear fission. A native of Pana, Illinois, Mr. Sheehan attended the University of Chicago, with time out for World War I. After college he became a reporter in Chicago, later in New York, and still later he became a foreign correspondent for the Paris Herald. His assignments took him from Spain to Palestine, from Salzburg to Bayreuth. He was an established journalist when his first book appeared in 1925 and his prolific writing gained him stature in both the fiction and non-fiction fields. "A Certain Rich Man" became a Book-of-the-Month Club selection while "Personal History" and "Not Peace But a Sword" were best-sellers. Mr. Sheehan's extensive travels afforded him the opportunity to develop yet another career through his love of music. He has written two books on the subject including a scholarly study of Giuseppe Verdi.

His long, successful life as a correspondent has been marked by an incredible ability to be on the spot when history is being made. Vincent Sheehan was on hand for the German invasion of Austria and he was in Prague when Hitler's armies seized Czechoslovakia. He was in Spain for the revolution, in France for the fall, at Dunkirk for the evacuation, and in London for the blitz. During a round-the-world trip in 1941, Mr. Sheehan was on the last plane to leave Wake Island before the Pearl Harbor attack. During World War II he served in the Army Air Force in North Africa, Sicily-Italy, China-India-Burma, Austria and Germany. In 1944, he was placed on the inactive list and became a war correspondent with Patton's Third Army. After the war, he covered the founding of the United Nations, and then retired to write "This House Against This House." Sheehan was soon back in Asia and was only a few feet from Mahatma Ghandi when the Indian leader was assassinated.

Mr. Sheehan has subsequently returned to India many times and has become a student of Eastern philosophy. His close association with Ghandi's successor supplied the material for "Nehru: The Years In Power."

Reply To NSA Stand

Dear Mr. Olson,

Having recently returned from a National Student Association Conference on international affairs, I would like to use some facts which I discovered there to show you how wrong you were in your editorial entitled "Taxation Without Representation" which was published in your November 3 issue against the NSA. In this editorial you have seriously misrepresented the NSA. I firmly believe that with the PSA decision to join NSA our campus was presented with the most tremendous opportunity for action we, as students, could ever hope to have. It should be your job to make them aware of this.

The only facet of the NSA which was mentioned in this editorial was the point of the NSA's stands on vital issues. This in itself is neglecting a large part of the work done by the NSA, but even it was not treated fairly. Perhaps you don't realize what goes into the stands which the NSA takes. Every summer at the national conference of the NSA representatives from all of the 392 member colleges meet to form basic policies. These national conferences entail months of intensive research and study on all major issues. At the conference delegates are confronted openly with all possible viewpoints of each issue before any decisions are reached. The final basic policies which are passed provide the basis for stands taken by the NSA through its Executive Committee for the ensuing year. No stand is ever taken without careful consideration of all the facts available, and always on the basis of policies passed at the national conference. This process not only allows for the greatest possible representation of student opinion in the United States, but is the only measure of national student feeling.

As I said before, this phase of the NSA work is only a small part of its actual effectiveness. Programs such as the World University Service (WUS) which allows students from all over the world to work together for better education for everyone without political consideration; Action which acts as a student community development program in Latin America; Operation Understanding which serves as a similar program for Africa; Foreign Student Leadership Program (FSLP) which serves as an exchange of future leaders from countries all over the world inevitably bringing increased world understanding; International Student Conference (ISC) with 40 member nations bringing students from all over the world together to express common feelings and aid each other; Educational Tour Institute (ETI) which provides students from every university associated with NSA with the opportunity to travel all over the globe at rates which they might not otherwise be able to afford and to get the most from their travel; all these programs and more are sponsored and made available to us as members of NSA.

Most important, the students who realize the values of the NSA are shown the opportunities to do something about the world beyond the ivy-covered buildings. There is no reason why each student can not show his awareness in accomplishing some real good for himself, his country, and his world, and the NSA points out some ways he can do it. It would be a ridiculous mistake to lose this chance because of the small sum paid as dues to the NSA.

Sincerely,

CYNTHIA WOODRUFF

P.S. You will notice I have ignored your mistaken statements that the NSA has a permanent lobbyist in Washington and that the member universities do not receive conference materials. It would be good if you would at least make an attempt to gain correct information before wasting valuable newspaper space blasting something about which you obviously know so little.

Jester Hairston Returns For Pacific's Christmas Convocation

The Knolens Christmas Convocation on Thursday, December 14, at 11 a.m. will feature Jester Hairston, the noted radio, T.V., and musical arranger and conductor. Recently returned from an international good-will tour, Mr. Hairston will include anecdotes from his trip in the program, as well as singing Christmas songs and leading community singing.

A frequent visitor to the Pacific campus, Mr. Hairston has his own choir for choral backgrounds in motion pictures. He also arranges musical scores. One of his most recent compositions is "Mary's Little Boy Child," a calypso number most popularly sung by Harry Belafonte. As an actor he has appeared on television in "Rawhide" and "Gunsmoke" and in both radio and TV as Leroy in "Amos 'n Andy."

Mr. Hairston has been a guest conductor at the Pacific Music Camp for many summers, as well as participating in the winter Music Clinic. Last year he conducted a chapel service based on a program of old and varied Negro spirituals.

The regular convocation schedule has been changed to accommodate Mr. Hairston's plans.

ORPHANS TO BE GIVEN CHRISTMAS PARTY BY AKL AND ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Each year the fall pledges of Zeta Phi, now Alpha Chi Omega, sponsor a project of public service. This year it is to be a Christmas party for the orphans of the Stockton Children's Home. The Zeta Phi pledges have combined with the pledges of AKL in order to make the project even more worthwhile than it has been in past semesters.

The project, inspired by the spirit of Christmas, is similar to the PSA Christmas pageant, but on a smaller scale. On December 8 the members of AKL and Alpha Chi Omega will go to the Stockton Children's home to entertain the orphans with carols and games. Santa Claus will be present to pass out gifts and candy to the children.

According to the members of Zeta Phi this event is as meaningful to them as it is to the children.

KEN STANLEY: BEST ON THE WEST COAST

"He's the greatest basketball player on the West Coast this year," quotes University of San Francisco coach Pete Peletta.

"There's not a phase of the game he doesn't play well," says Pacific coach Van Sweet. "The finest player I've ever coached."

These are just a few of the praises lauded on the Tiger's outstanding guard, Ken Stanley. Tomorrow night California's Golden Bear quintet might very well utter many of the same comments about the 6' 3", 185 pound senior when they host Pacific in the initial cage bout of the season in Berkeley. The local five twelfth in the nation. Stanley needs a little over 400 points this year to break the school record set by John Thomas a few seasons ago.

Ken, one of the quietest and most likable players on the 1961-is out to score its first victory over Cal since 1954, and the key factor whether it succeeds in doing so will probably lie with Stanley.

Ken was the top scorer in the West Coast Athletic Conference last year with a 25.1 average and was chosen to the all-league team. He amassed 624 points throughout the season to lead all scorers on the West Coast and placed 62 Pacific cage edition, hails from Oakland. Born in Arkansas, Stanley played his first three years of high school basketball in his native state before finishing his prep career at Caselmont in Oakland. After spending part of a year at Oakland City College, he enrolled at Pacific, only to have a number of injuries hamper a successful sophomore season. Despite these ailments, Ken managed to sink 351 points that year.

NETMEN OPEN SEASON AT CA

By JOHN GREGORY

Preparing his Tiger basketball quintet for its opener against the University of California on December 2, Coach Van Sweet feels that the 1961-1962 edition is "50 per cent better than last year's squad." After five weeks of practice, the team has looked sharp in its offensive patterns and is predicted to win its share of games on the tough 26 game schedule.

"On our squad of 15 prospects," stated Sweet, "we have eight top-notch shooters which will give us a good scoring punch this year. Right now our biggest problem lies in our defense, for we have ten sophomores on the team who have not had varsity experience."

The Tiger mentor has been impressed with the efforts of guards Ken Stanley, Jack Shallow, Rich Davey, Jim Shiel, and Dave Balsley; center Leo Middleton; and forwards John Nichols and Charles Strambler. This week Jack Sparrow, a 6' 4" junior, joined the team to give the Tigers added strength at the forward position.

One weakness of this year's squad lies in its lack of height at forward and in the reserve depth. This could be a deciding factor in the West Coast Athletic Conference, for the Tigers must contend with last year's winners, Loyola, and the "mile-high" Santa Clara five. Sweet feels that after these two teams, the league "will be a wide-open race." Pacific is predicted to finish better than its last place showing the previous season.

The emphasis this year, as far as the Tigers go, is a fast-breaking offense and a multiple pressing defense. Pacific may use four or five different defenses in one game, which should make them one of the most colorful clubs in the league.

The local hoopsters play on nine games of their tough schedule at home. These contests will be staged at the Stockton City Auditorium, except for the Loyola game on March 2, to be played in our gym. Attendance will be up this year, due to the fact that Pacific has a much improved team and possesses the top scorer in the league in senior guard Ken Stanley.

Concerning the opener against California in the Berkeley gymnasium, Sweet said the Bears also have a relatively inexperienced team. He added that the next two weeks of practice will determine whether Pacific can match Cal's defense or not.

Students are asked to pick up their tickets for the game in advance at the Tiger gymnasium. There is no price for admission for those showing student body cards.

DU Takes Two Firsts

Delta Upsilon fraternity emerged victorious in two different intramural championships recently. The D. U.'s were winners over Phi Sigma Kappa for the Intramural Football championship and won the team trophy in the Intramural Cross Country competition. The individual winners in the cross country event were Ned Benedict and Robin Bowen, 1st and 2nd respectively.

This week the Sigma Delta Psi Physical Performance Test was performed. This test consists of events in the 100 yd. dash, broad jump, shot put, 120 yards low hurdles, high jump, handstand, football punt, baseball throw, mile run, handspring, rope climb, and 100 yard swim.

There was a meeting of basketball managers from all men's living groups to discuss the organization of Intramural Basketball which begins in December.
