Dear Brother John:-

I have been putting off writing to you for some time hoping that writing might not be necessary but that instead we might see you "in the flesh" and renew our acquaintance with you. Annie's letter however seems to indicate that you are uncertain when you can leave your vineyard and "worldly goods". We shall most with whom to leave the management of the work, for we do want to see you and your wife and little daughter.

Our little folks are well and growing, if you could see how full our little phantom is when we go out to ride you would think we were quite a good sized family.

Minnie is a sweet tempered baby, but does not look as if she would be naturally so strong as Ethel. I shall
