Alumni To Return Tomorrow For Study Tour, Honors, Get-together

"The Professional School in the Pacific Picture," theme of tomorrow's Alumni Day, is expected to draw over 300 Pacific alumni back to their Alma Mater.

Alumni Day is planned to afford an opportunity for "publicizing the future plans and facilities of the schools of the University, and for the meeting of alumni," according to Larry Leasure, campus coordinator of the program.

Thus in keeping with the theme, various individual sessions are scheduled from 2:30 to 4:30. Pacific seniors have been invited to attend these sessions so that they can "meet with alumni and people established in the professional fields that seniors might be considering."

Events for the day begin with registration in front of Anderson "Y" at 2:00.

Five schools will be represented in individual sessions, starting at 2:30: College of the Pacific, meeting in 210 Ad. Bldg.; School of Pharmacy, 104 Weber Hall; Conservatory of Music, Conservatory; School of Education, Anderson Lecture Hall; and School of Engineering, Top of the 'Y'.

Alumni who do not attend the sessions may visit Phi Sigma Kappa (Rhizomia) fraternity house for a fashion show and card (Continued on Page 3)

Pacific Parents Plan To Enjoy Campus, Band On May 4 Parents' Day

Pacific's Spring Parents' Day will be held Saturday, May 4, from 10:00 to 4:00.

Parents have been invited to visit the campus to meet and talk with professors with whom they have made previous appointments, and to see the campus in a green, Springtime atmosphere, according to Mr. Donald Smiley.

Registration will begin at 10:00 on the north lawn of Anderson Y. At 12:30 a sack lunch will be sold for $1.50 in front of Anderson Dining Hall.

The day's afternoon program in the Conservatory at 2:00 will feature two musical presentations (Continued on Page 3)

Band Concert To Climax Parents' Day Program

The featured attraction of Parents' Day, May 4, will be the performance of UOP's concert band under the direction of Gordon A. Finlay. This concert will climax the band's successful spring tour. From two until four p.m. in the Conservatory, the band will present the parents and students with a diversified program.

After opening with the overture of The Flying Dutchman by Wagner, the band will perform Rene's Passion in Paint, a tone painting of three famous masterpieces. Featured next on the program will be trombone soloist, Larry Tyrell, with his interpretation of Love's Enchantment by Pryor.

Slavonic Rhapsody No. 2 by Friedmann will follow on the program. The first half of the program will be concluded with Our Fighting Fleet, an original march by Mr. Finlay.

After the intermission, Dave Mulder, assistant director, will lead the ensemble in the finale of the Shostakovich Symphony No. 5. Mr. Finlay, Mike Vax and Joe Barron will then be featured in a cornet trio, Trumpeter's Carnival, composed by Mr. Finlay.

The two concluding numbers will be two ever-popular arrangements, selections from West Side Story by Bernstein, and the 1812 Overture by Tchaikowsky.

Sac State Prof. Talks At Philosophy Meeting

The Central California Philosophical Association met yesterday, May 3, on the University of the Pacific campus. The philosophy students, Dr. Nietmann, and Dr. Reinelt of the philosophy department of UOP all attended.

They heard John Linnell, professor at Sacramento State College, deliver his paper on John Wisdom, a contemporary English philosopher and Cambridge scholar.

Pacific Debators Off To Hawaii, Humbolt

Four members of the U.O.P. debate team, under the direction of assistant coach Hugh Hood, will participate in the annual Pentathlon Tournament at Humboldt State in Arcata. Each student will enter all five events which serves to make this tourney a sure test of versatility.

Monday, the graduating seniors on the squad, Kit Cornett, Dick Kibby, Weldon Moss, Roger Randall, and Gary Wiler, will leave for Hawaii where they will enter the annual Invitational. Pacific has done exceptionally well at this tourney in past years and has taken top speaker award for two years running.

Rev. Martin Luther King Scheduled To Speak At Thursday's Convocation

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, whose message of the "social gospel" has landed him in Southern jails more than a dozen times, is still scheduled to speak at Convocation on May 9, even though he is in jail at this writing (Monday) in Greenville, Mississippi.

The Rev. Dr. King is also scheduled to be guest of honor at Raymond College's High Table on Wednesday evening. In regards to his message of the "social gospel" Rev. King has said, "Any religion that professes to be concerned with the souls of men and ignores social and economic conditions that cripple the soul is a spiritually moribund and dead religion only waiting to be buried."

Because of his dedication to do his best to carry out this "social gospel," Rev. King has become the Moses of the wandering Negroes in their fight for civil liberties. He maintains that "the church has always stood against the evils of the day." Therefore, Rev. King has endeavored in all his actions to speak out against what he considers to be the "evils" of his Southern homeland.

While a minister in Atlanta, Georgia, Rev. King first led the now famous "bus boycott" that drew the nation's attention to the injustices of racial prejudice in the South, as no other action since the Supreme Court "desegregation" had been able to do. Since then Rev. King has continually been in the lead of responsible attempts to eradicate segregation in the South.

The theme for Rev. King's Convocation talk will be "The American Dream"; on Wednesday night, he will speak at Raymond on the topic, "A Stride Toward Freedom." Admission to these talks will be by student body card only. All students who want to be sure of getting a seat for the Convocation should plan to come well in advance of the scheduled 11:00 starting time.

Rev. King has been brought to UOP as a partial result of a $1000 grant from Sperry and Hutchinson to Raymond College.

Strawberries, Biscuits On Y Breakfast Menu

Prices for this traditional affair are $1.00 for adults, $.75 for students, and $.50 for children. Proceeds will go to the Anderson "Y."

Letter 'Petition' Asks Explanation Of Uses Of Hike In Tuition

Deep dissatisfaction over the announced raise in the University of Pacific's tuition has been expressed by 363 students who this week signed a "petition" in the form of a letter to the editor. Drafters of the letter, as far as the Pacific Weekly can learn, are anonymous. Nevertheless, the editors consider it of sufficient student interest to print verbatim. The signatures are currently being posted in the windows of the Weekly office.

To The Editor:

The Board of Regents has recently decided to raise the cost of tuition at Pacific $75.00 per semester. We are sure that the board must have good reasons for this increase and many of us are willing to scrape and save to meet this extra amount. However—we think that since we, as students, have much to do with the functioning of this school as a university, we are entitled to be informed of the proposed manner of expenditure of this $150.00 per year-raise in tuition.

We hope that when the board resolved the tuition increase they were possibly contemplating the improving of the deplorable working conditions which exist in the chemistry labs of Weber Hall. A university laboratory which is so poorly equipped that even paper towels cannot be supplied surely deserves some financial recognition. The fact that the labs in Weber Hall are in worse condition than many high school laboratories does not add to Pacific's stature as an institution of higher learning.

We are hopeful that this raise in tuition, which was thrust upon (Continued on Page 3)

"Judgment In Rome" Is Theme For Interfaith Banquet On May 7

"Judgement In Rome" in the title of the May 7th Interfaith Banquet. The annual event will be held in the North side of Anderson Dining Hall. The dinner will begin at 6:15 p.m. and tickets are on sale for $.50 for students with meal tickets and $1.75 for students without meal passes. The banquet tickets will be available to each living group next week.

Admin. Considering Revised Drinking Rules

The Administration, last week announced plans to consider a revision in the University drinking rules. Several campus groups, including Spurs, Knolens, and Blue Key, have been asked to form committees to study the problem and to make suggestions.

Presently drinking is forbidden at any place on campus or at any college function held off campus. Additionally, students are forbidden "to have alcoholic beverages in their possession on the campus . . ." Finally, "no student may appear on campus while under the influence of alcohol . . ."

Dean Betz explained that three criteria must be kept in mind in formulating any change in the policy. First, that, by state law, no one under 21 may drink anywhere; second, that U.O.P. is a church-related institution and this factor must be kept in mind; and, third, the University has a responsibility to the parents of the students. The wishes and desires of the parents must also be taken into account.

Mrs. T. C. Harris, Canterbury advisor, believes "there is an unusually good cross section of religious emphasis this year." The emphasis and purpose of the banquet is to combine religious thoughts of all Catholic, Anglican, Protestant, and Jewish faiths on campus. This year a cross section of several themes will be stressed according to Mrs. Harris.

The banquet will include, after the dinner, a talk by the Reverend Frank B. Norris, and a panel discussion resulting from questions raised during his talk. The panel will be represented by various religious views. The moderator will be Dr. Herbert Reinelt of the Congregational Church.

Reverend Norris is a noted instructor and lecturer. He graduated from St. Patrick's Seminary in Menlo Park. He received his degree in Theology in Rome at the Angelicum. He has spent much of his time lecturing in the San Francisco bay area and is presently involved in talks on liturgy and biblical study by the combined interests of the Pacific School of Religion, St. Patrick's Seminary, and the Church Divinity School of the Pacific.

Co-chairmen working on the banquet have been Valerie Horan and Cap Hancock.

EDITORIAL:

Has Anybody Heard Of Campus Communications?

When any organization or body makes far-reaching changes there are always groups within that body who have something to gripe about. The Pacific Weekly is hereby joining the possible throngs of complainers who want some change in the new constitution (provided it passes).

If changes are made in the status quo, those who know what revisions are needed are usually consulted. Unfortunately the Constitution Revision Committee did not speak officially with any of the managers of any of the communications media on our campus. Neither the "Pacific Weekly," the Naranjado, nor the radio station (KUOP) were counseled before making up the new document.

Unofficially the advisor and the editor of the Weekly suggested that the office of editor-in-chief be held for one year rather than for one semester. This change was made but because the staff was not officially contacted, some important specifics which needed revision have been left unaltered.

Perhaps the committee avoided alteration in order to preserve the Weekly's autonomy. For this the newspaper staff is grateful. Nevertheless some consultation was needed.

An example of needed change can be seen in the process of electing the Weekly editor. Both the old and new constitutions state that the editor and business manager "shall be nominated by the incumbent staff and approved by the communications commissioner-elect. The problem is, who is the staff? Does it include only the major office holders—such as editor, assistant editor and business manager or does it include all contributors to the paper? If it includes only the staff editors, which editors?

Similar confusion has resulted from the new document in its dealing with the radio station. The constitution indicates that policy and choosing of staff will be regulated by the PSA. Here the problem is that the policy and programs of an FM station are regulated by the Federal government. Pacific's FM station is licensed to the Board of Trustees and not to the PSA. Nevertheless, the PSA does have a vital interest in the radio, as it is a student service.

These are significant areas which should have been considered in revising the constitution. Perhaps this situation can be remedied by a constitutional amendment at some future time. This process will be an additional burden on an already overcrowded Senate agenda.

Kennedy vs. J.S.H.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

In last week's paper you made the following criticisms of me:

(1) That as Communications Commissioner, I had failed to notify the "Weekly" "of what has been happening regarding the constitution." Article II, Section 3, Clause b of the old constitution states that my duties are supervising publications, acting as chairman of the Publications Board and submitting certain positions for Senate approval. I am not the public relations man or a one man publicity committee for the PSA. After two years on the "Weekly" you should know that providing information of this type is not among my duties.

(2) You also asserted that the "communications board" had never met, implying that I was neglecting my duties. As you also know, this board does not meet every Wednesday at three like the French Club. Rather, it is convened to consider ratification of editorial positions and to consider major policy shifts affecting campus communications. There has been no need during this past year to do either.

(3) Finally, you claimed that "Weekly" printing costs could not be reduced by 50%. Earlier this semester I negotiated with Simard Printers for the publishing of the PSA Handbook. Mr. Simard quoted me a price some 50% less than that of Muldowney Printers, which currently handles our work. Simard said he could make a similar offer for the Weekly. Shortly before last week's Senate meeting, Mr. McCalib informed me that he was considering allowing Simard to do the paper next year. I, therefore, passed this information on to the Senate.

Perhaps if you took the trouble to find out what was going on before you sounded off, you wouldn't be so dissatisfied with campus communications.

Raoul D. Kennedy

Dear Mr. Kennedy,

FACT No. 1: Your job as Communications Commissioner, as stated in the old constitution, includes "supervising publications." Thus, if you wanted to, you certainly could have seen to it that the Weekly was informed of what amounts to the most important piece of PSA legislation since 1958. Just as your job does not require such action, neither did mine require me and my staff to devote much of one weekend putting out the Weekly's first 12-page last Homecoming. I felt the school would benefit if we did, however, so we took the extra time and effort to do it. Why didn't you?

FACT No. 2: There IS no "communications board." You never organized one. Perhaps if you had, we (myself and the other "members" listed in the old constitution) WOULD have decided on some policy improvements. Even when the Weekly's advisor, Paul T. McCalib, asked you to call a meeting, nothing was done. And, if you feel that a change in the Weekly's printer is not a "major policy shift" you are in serious disagreement with my business manager and myself.

FACT No. 3: If you had taken the trouble to find out what was going on before you acted, you would have found that Muldowney is about 50% more reasonable when it comes to newspapers than when printing outside material such as the PSA Handbook. In a conversation with Simard this week, he stated almost word-for-word what I wrote last week: due to the uniformity of printer union's wages, the margin of difference in cost would be very slight—perhaps 5%—and he did not state in which direction.

FACT No. 4: I had to wait and

Top Criminologist Speaks Out On Crime And American Society

Many students at Pacific, especially the sociology majors, still feel the impact of Joseph D. Lohman, the Dean of the School of Criminology at the University of California, Berkeley, who spoke here last week.

From a vast experience in all phases of criminology from crime detection to the fascinating and vital studies of the causes of criminality, Dean Lohman delivered two main addresses on April 21 and 22 and took the floor in several sociology classes.

Dean Lohman's experience includes not only that gained from a successful term of office as Sheriff of Cook County, Illinois, but also from a term of office as treasurer of the State of Illinois, so that his understanding of Crime and American Society is from a political and economic perspective also.

His first major address was at the Anderson Y center. Here Dean Lohman outlined the problem. One of the major points stressed in this address was the vast threat of "organized crime" in America such as gambling and racketeering of all types. He emphasized that crime is a symptom of a disorder in American society as a whole. There are sub-cultures in America which have necessarily different values from the dominant culture from whose values we derive our laws. "Every man has to live as best he can," Dean Lohman said. "The pressures of his existence will often drive him to behavior that from the point of view of his own sub-culture is perfectly permissible and even honorable behavior, but from the point of view of the law is wrong."

Another main point brought out in this first lecture and then reiterated as a major point in the second evening's lecture, was the increasing awareness by law enforcement bodies that the very law enforcement and penal system in operation now is itself contributing to the problem it is trying to solve.

This became a major take-off point for Dean Lohman's lecture on "Creative Approaches to Solution" at the conservatory before a large audience made up partly by leading men in San Joaquin law enforcement. In this lecture radical changes in our outlook on crime and our consequent methods of testing with it were called for.

Among the many topics which came up for discussion during question periods was that of capital punishment. Here Dean Lohman came out strongly opposed to capital punishment. "It cannot be proven that it is in any way a deterrent to crime," he said.

The lecture series was sponsored by the Anderson Y center.

Phi Sig To Announce Moonlight Girl Tonite

Phi Sigma Kappa will announce its first Moonlight Girl tonight at a dinner-dance at the Stockton Country Club. The nominees, chosen by the fraternity from the girls' living groups, have been to dinner at Phi Sigma Kappa, after which the girls performed. The Fraternity judged on talent, appearance, and personality. The girls are: Sue Henry and Bonnie Walker from Theta, Donna Reinecke and Jo Ellen Ocko from Tri Delta, Ann Atkinson from Delta Gamma, and Pat Liddell from Covell.

Both the Moonlight Girl and her princesses will receive presents from Phi Sig. The Moonlight Girl Contest is a national Phi Sigma Kappa function and this is the first year that Pacific's chapter has had the contest. Although they are not entering national competition this year, they hope to do so in the future. Benny Kwong, Vice President of Phi Sig,

MANY of you like our button-downs so much that you can hardly bear to wear anything else even on special evenings; now there is no reason why you should. And since we already make button-downs in 386 fabrics, patterns, and colors it would have been unthoughtful of us not to make it an even 387 with this button-cuff button-down of fine broadcloth.* You can find it at the best men's shops although not always under our label (many stores like our shirts so much they sell them under their own names). If you'd like to know which in your vicinity please write us: Eagle Shirtmakers, Quakertown, Pennsylvania.

*Notice it bulges gracefully at the collar just like the other 386. One time a man, new to our button-downs, wrote to say that the collar didn't lie flat. When we told Helen Mohr, in Collars, about it she said that she was relieved.

Golf Is An Interesting Sport To Watch And Play In The Spring

By NANCY MacALLISTER

Picture this if you will please: a nice sunny day, not too hot or too cold; no studying to do, and a beautiful green golf course stretching out in front of you. If you golf, this might sound delicious. If not (and I don't) it still might sound interesting!

This is the picture I had in mind when I went over to talk to Al Fagundes about writing a story on golf. For some reason that perhaps only he knows, I did not go away quite as blissfully. Those of you who know how a golf match is scored might laugh, but I got so mixed up with "best balls" and winning holes and everything that I didn't know what had hit me. But, anyway, I will try to straighten it out here so you girls can go to the Crosby next year and know what's going on.

First of all, there are six men on our team. They are Al Fagundes, Ernie Segale, Tom Strain, Jay Dumond, Ron Fields and Frank Bearden. Their coach is Van Sweet, and like the tennis team, the men are ranked by the coach, one through six. Al could not give me the rank order because, as he said, it's always changing.

A match consists of three four-somes playing eighteen holes. The number one and two men pair up with the first and second men on the opposing team and so on. As the players finish playing a hole the score is recorded, usually by one man on each pair. At the end of the game, the scores are converted to points to determine the winner.

There are 27 points in a match. The man who wins the most holes from his opponent (the two first men, the number two men, etc.) on the first nine holes gets one point. The same is true for the second nine holes and the total for all 18 holes. That takes care of 18 points since there are six pairs of men opposing each other with three points possible for each pair. The other nine points come from what is called "best ball." The man who gets the lowest score in a foursome for the first nine, second nine and total holes gets one point each. That would add three additional points per foursome and, if I figured right, that makes the last nine points.

Our golf season is almost over for this year with the WCAC (West Coast Athletic Conference) Tournament being the last match. It will be held Monday at the Spring Valley Country Club in Milpitas. I don't expect all of you to hop in the nearest car and tear down there, but when you see one of the fellas, wish them luck. Golf receives very little publicity as a rule and I'm sure the guys would appreciate your acknowledging their talents.
