

John Muir Correspondence (PDFs)

1897-11-22

Letter from Cornelius B. Bradley to John Muir, 1897 Nov 22.

Cornelius B. Bradley

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence>

Recommended Citation

Bradley, Cornelius B., "Letter from Cornelius B. Bradley to John Muir, 1897 Nov 22." (1897). John Muir Correspondence (PDFs). 2032.

<https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence/2032>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in John Muir Correspondence (PDFs) by an authorized administrator of Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact mgibney@pacific.edu.

C17

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 22, 1897.

My dear Mr. Puris,

I have had to send that bibliography to the printer as it was, without the information I hoped to get from you. But there will be a chance to amend it in the proof. I am writing just now, however, to ask if you can furnish me volume and page of that article on Diogenes in the World's Best Literature — or otherwise locate it. If you can, please don't fail to let me know. I cannot get hold of the publication anywhere, short of sending east — and there isn't time for that. I have been able to add three or four titles to your list.

Sincerely yours,

Leonidas B. Bradley.

02362

C23

Post-Scriptum. — Tuesday noon. Yours of the 21st has reached me. — Thank you for the two new titles from the Senate Executive Documents. I have just looked them up. I wish you could give me the number of Sum Xum papers you, ^{actually} have on your file, and some little indication of the subjects touched upon — especially one or two of the sub-titles inserted in the body of the letter by the editor. — I am in earnest to hunt down everything that can be found.

Sincerely yours,

Leonidas B. Bradley.

02362