

John Muir Correspondence \(PDFs\)

---

1903-05-04

Letter from Melville B. Anderson to John Muir, 1903 May 4.

Melville B. Anderson

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence>

---

Recommended Citation

Anderson, Melville B., "Letter from Melville B. Anderson to John Muir, 1903 May 4." (1903). John Muir Correspondence (PDFs). 2613.

<https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence/2613>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in John Muir Correspondence (PDFs) by an authorized administrator of Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact mgibney@pacific.edu.

Menlo Park, 4 May, 1903

My dear Mr. Muir:

The invitation is most kind and highly appreciated by all of us. Malenka is again in Alaska, but Robert is wild to go of course and perhaps it may be managed, - although several of his college examinations fall in the week following May 16.

I have with me now one of the best men I know, Francis F. Browne, Editor of The Dial, who comes loaded with introductions <sup>I superfluous, I venture to think</sup> to you from C. F. Sumner. Browne is a man you would particularly like: a gentleman in the best sense.

03230

2

May we come to see you next Friday? Can you give us that day without inconvenience? If not, please tell me so with friendly frankness. By that time I can tell you and Helen definitely what Robert can do with respect to the trip.

I thank you both for my part in the invitation, - but I am afraid I should be an encumbrance to the young people.

With cordial regards to all, especially to Mrs. Muir,

I am faithfully yours,

Melville B. Anderson

03230