SORORITIES COMPLETE PLEDGING WINTER CARNIVAL SCORES AS SOCIAL SUCCESS

Forty Men Take Vows As Ladies Hand Out Bids

Campus Rampant With Functions For New Sorority Maids

Rushing At Low Ebb Until Pledging In April

A whirlwind rushing season conducted by five fraternities and four sororities on the local campus closed yesterday when sororities pledged various women on the campus to their respective organizations. Fraternities were busy last week pledging some forty non-fraternity men to membership, and as a result activity in this respect will be at low ebb for the remainder of the semester and the first part of next semester. Pledging will occur again in April.

The lawyer system has been in vogue on the Pacific campus for the last four years and was used both in the pledging of men and women.

Formal pledging services for the men were completed last week and tonight sororities will complete informal gatherings, open houses, Christmas parties and formal pledging services for the newly elected members.

Following are accounts of the various sorority functions in honor of pledges:

ALPHA THETA TAU

Alpha Theta Tau entertained their new pledges at a buffet supper last evening, following the acceptance of bids. An informal program of cards, dancing, and music concluded the evening. Tonight formal pledging ceremonies will be held at the sorority house, and the members of the organization will preside at a formal dinner party for the new girls.

Those pledged to Alpha Theta Tau were: Leone Hunt, Audrey Squires, Francine Palmore, Jean Eccleston, Dorothy Aiken, Dorla Powell, Gladys Pagel, and Rowena Hardin.

TAU KAPPA KAPPA

The new pledges of Tau Kappa Kappa were welcomed at the sorority house late yesterday afternoon just after the bids were delivered. Bridge and music entertained the girls at 9:00 o'clock last evening. Formal pledging dinner will be held at the sorority house this evening at 7:00 o'clock to be followed by the pledging of the new girls into the sorority.

Those pledged to Tau Kappa Kappa were: Veryl Bishop, Ruth Kapp, Harriett Farr, Caroline Diffenderfer, Evelyn Burke, Martha Clausen, Margaret Spooner, Irene Edson, Beth Maithner, Anita McCombs, Lucille Brubaker, Bernita Swain, Eleanor Derby, Edith Griswold, Emma James, Janette Beebe, Pearl Reiger, and Ruth Dodge.

EPSILON LAMBDA SIGMA

Pledges of Epsilon Lambda Sigma were the guests of honor last evening at a Christmas party given in the sorority house.

The living rooms were decorated in holly berries and mistletoe, the central decorative feature being a Christmas tree.

A clever program was arranged carrying out the Christmas motif. At the end of the program Santa Claus visited the girls distributing gifts.

Light refreshments were served after which dancing concluded the evening's entertainment.

Those in charge were: Marie Uebels, Genevieve Onal, and Helen Shambau.

Attending the affair were: Dr. Sib-

Large Audience Present To Hear Handel's Messiah

Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah", had its fourteenth annual presentation by the College of the Pacific conservatory, Sunday afternoon in the high school auditorium. Charles M. Dennis, dean of music, directed the performance, which has been rehearsed since the opening of school this fall. It is said that this year's chorus was the best yet heard, as given by the college. Much praise is being given all those who aided in the success of "The Messiah".

Robert Barron acted as concertmaster, and Bozenna Kalas as accompanist. Soloists were: Frances Bowerman, soprano; Murray Verbury, contralto; Robert Battison, tenor; and William J. Wright, bass. With these were the chorus and orchestra of over two hundred students.

A collection was taken up which will be given to the Community Chest fund. "The Messiah", which was written by Handel in the year 1741, is one of the most famous of oratorios even to the present day. The enthusiasm with which it was received Sunday is a tribute to that great composer. The large auditorium was nearly filled with an appreciative audience.

Ladies Of Women's Hall Plan Party

Plans for the girls' dormitory party for January 5th are being completed this week. Dancing and cards will feature the evening, with other entertainment presented by the girls. Several clever dancing and singing stunts are being worked out, and a clever idea is being planned for decorations, etc., for the party, but that will be a surprise to those who attend.

The party, an annual affair in the dorm, will probably be given in the gym, and the gentlemen who will be fortunate enough to receive invitations should look forward to a good time.

Twelve Students Will Graduate At Semester Closing

Twelve students will be graduated from Pacific on January 25, 1929, and will, therefore, be excused from the fall semester final examinations.

The names of the students and their major subjects follow: J. Titus Aungst, history; Robert Buchanan, chemistry; Elizabeth Jones, public school music; Jane Leist, Spanish; Margaret Minasian, history; Edwin McArthur, economics; Huang Neyuen, political science; Ella Owen, religious education; Genevieve Onal, history; Alice Pylman, biology; Everett Stark, structural engineering; and Dillip W. Throckmorton, history.

A Cappella Choir To Return From Tour Of Bay Cities Tonight

Members of the Pacific A Cappella Choir will return this evening from their last program tour. They entertained at the San Francisco State Teachers' College, Alameda High School and at the Grace Methodist Church in San Jose Wednesday and Thursday.

Christmas and other carols were given by the choir at the various points of their trip, and a group of pleasing solos were also presented by different members. The choir is directed by Dean Dennis of the Conservatory.

President Knoles' Merry Christmas

Almost immediately upon receipt of this copy of the Weekly, you will be on your way home for the vacation and for the family reunion and joys of the Christmas and the New Year season. Is it necessary to remind you that Trustees, Administration and Faculty are all more interested in you, your welfare, your happiness and your success than you yourself are? Let me assure you that it is true and with all of our hearts and service we wish you a most joyous occasion and we trust that you will return to the work of the school refreshed and renewed in body and spirit for the development of yourselves for service to mankind.

Music Prevalent In Europe Avers Dean F. L. Farley

By Pacific News Bureau

"Europe is a continent of music," said Dean Fred L. Farley in a recent interview concerning the 1928 College of the Pacific Summer tour of which Dr. Farley was one of the leaders. "From the time of arrival until departure the music presses the American visitor."

"Music was very much in evidence, beginning with our welcome in Glasgow by a group of twelve bagpipe players who were commissioned by one of the Scotch companies to greet the incoming student tourists. From the street music of London to the Opera in Paris all was enjoyable. In Southern Italy every little restaurant had its orchestra playing on the sidewalk for the evening meal. On the beautiful Sorrento-Amalfi Drive near Naples we stopped at Amalfi for lunch, in a hotel which was formerly a monastery, high above and looking out upon a bay, and while eating we were entertained by the last remnants of the old wandering minstrel singers," he said.

"The late evening serenades on the canals of Venice were delightfully entertaining. But one of the most outstanding musical events of the trip for most of us was when on The Square of Saint Mark's we heard the two operas, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" conducted by Pietro Mascagni himself. It was a magnificent production and one long to be remembered. Some of the party also had the privilege of hearing "Il Trovatore" in Nice and "Thais" in Paris."

Local Barometer Predicted Storm Almost To A Tee

The recording barometer in the Science building predicted very accurately the storm last Monday.

At 9:00 a.m. during the terrific southwest wind storm, the barometer made a vertical drop amounting to .1 of an inch under mercury. The downpour of rain followed at 11:30 and during the drenching the barometer went up .15 of an inch under mercury.

The barometers do not tell altogether whether or not precipitation will take place. The moisture content of the air enters into it, declared Professor Jonte. However, the atmosphere pressure is one of the chief means in determining the weather. And as was shown Monday, worked almost accurately, for when the mercury dropped the rain soon followed and when it went up the rain ceased.

The recording barometer makes a chart of the weather conditions throughout a week and then a new chart is placed on the instrument, making it possible for one to see at any time just what the reading is.

Anyone interested in studying this barometer will find it in the offices of the Chemistry and Geology departments, room 109, Weber Hall.

Drama No Trick For Faculty In Chapel Monday

By passing out a cup of tea to her guests at the critical moment, Jane, the poet's wife, alias Dr. Gertrude Sibley, was able to avert dire calamity upon the stage Monday morning when certain members of the faculty presented a one-act comedy, "A Cup of Tea," for the benefit of the Y.M.C.A. Phil Broughton played the perfect poet with his rumpled hair and passing fancies for ladies with red, gold, or dark hair, but he was dominated by his very practical-minded wife, Jane. Although she was sympathetic with his amorous affairs, she did insist that a murder was too messy to be committed in her parlor, nor could it be done while the poet Willie was shaving, for whoever heard of murder being messed up with lather?

Azalea in a flaming red dress, played by Miss Martha Pierce, was the cause of the almost dire tragedy, averted merely by three cups of tea, most of which went on the floor, with the aid of marshallow cakes and Jane's calmness.

Azalea would leave the sonnets from Willian Hinsdale, who directed the play, and however difficult it might be to direct college professors to act like ordinary people, there was probably little difficulty in coaching Willie how to look when he found that the Lady with the Golden Hair was on the phone.

Much of the success was due to Miss Willian Hinsdale, who directed the play, and however difficult it might be to direct college professors to act like ordinary people, there was probably little difficulty in coaching Willie how to look when he found that the Lady with the Golden Hair was on the phone.

Archania Given Greatest Array Of Cinch Cards

Thanksgiving celebrations were accompanied by decorations in blue and yellow as the result of the warning cards sent out by the Scholarship Committee.

The fraternities and sororities to celebrate in the gayest array were Alpha Kappa Phi, 60%; Alpha Pi Alpha, 45%; Alpha Theta Tau, 26%; and Mu Zeta Rho, 25%. More conservative decorations were doled out to Epsilon Lambda Sigma and Tau Kappa Kappa with the percentage rating of 4%. The fraternities bringing up the lead were Omega Phi Alpha, 40%; Rho Lambda Phi, 35%; and Alpha Chi Delta, 16%.

Percentage rates are based herein on the first report drawn up by the Scholarship Committee of which Professor G. Warren White is chairman. Reports from each instructor were due one week ago Wednesday but undoubtedly a supplementary report will be issued.

Heretofore the competition between the fraternal living groups on the campus has been calculated on the number of persons who receive cards. This report, states Mr. White, is based on the number of cards sent to active members. The administration files complete statistics which show additional important factors but a closely correlated rating.

Students Pack Gym As Dance Caps Carnival

Dreams For Sale Is Outstanding Song Hit Of Evening

Campus Talent Shown As Extravaganza Is Staged

The A. W. S. Winter Carnival has again become one of the outstanding events on the fall social calendar of the campus. The come-back carnival, with its featured extravaganza, staged last Thursday night, scored a distinct success that promises to carry over until the event of next year.

Unquestionably much of the success of this year's carnival and much of the failure of those in past years, is due to dancing. For the first time in the history of dancing at Pacific, there was a crowded floor and a regular "push". This, of course, was partly due to the fact that only a portion of the gym floor was used, but nevertheless it was good to see a crowded floor.

Too much credit cannot be given Helen Keast and Mel Bennett for the revue which formed a major part of the evening's entertainment. Original melodies and lyrics, sung by popular campus songsters added a touch of charm and interest. "Dreams for Sale", feature song by Bennett and Keast, scored an unqualified success and is now a campus favorite. Plans are being made to have Mel Lawson sing it over the local radio station, and it is hoped by many he will include it as a feature song in his repertoire.

Herbie Ferguson, in a dance with Charlie Bottarini and in a line of patter and dance all his own, again delighted the student audience. Herbie is famous for his acts, and Thursday night was at his best. Kent Schuman, although he appeared to be struggling with a cold, and Betty Hyde, accompanied by a dancing chorus, sang other original songs including melodies, written by Gertrude Schuckman and Dwight Humphreys.

"CAMPUS CANTER"

Under the direction of Helen Wilcox, three couples presented the "Campus Canter", original dance number modeled somewhat after the variety drag. Babe Schrandt with his monologue aroused shouts of laughter and the several interspersing skits and scenes, written by Mel Bennett, were very clever.

Of the several concessions on the floor at the close of the revue, that of the Block P society undoubtedly was most successful. Eleven pledges to the organization, including Pacific's star athletes, obligingly stood, with beaming faces protected by football helmets, as targets for balls and eggs. Eggs were few and far between, but were excellent missiles when they did reach the mark.

CARNIVAL ATMOSPHERE

Confetti and serpentine, vari-colored balloons and peanuts contributed to the carnival atmosphere, the orchestra was excellent and those who did not dance had plenty of other amusement.

Miss Frances Poage is president of A. W. S., which organization is to be congratulated for its staging of the carnival, with the hopes that next year a similar affair will be even bigger and better. Miss Helen Keast was general chairman of the evening and assisting

What The 'Devil', Editor Becomes 'Printer's Devil'?

Editor becomes "Printer's Devil."

Horrors! That would probably be the remark made by one unschooled in newspaper lore on hearing such an isolated statement. Yet this is exactly the job that Herbie Ferguson, editor of the Pacific Weekly, had to pursue in last week in order to get the publication before the student body on Thursday.

But not only did Ferguson perform in this occupation, but he did everything else under the sun in newspaper work from using the complicated linotype machine to actually printing the "sheet", let alone preparing the "copy".

Why? No, it was not that the paper had taken up a Scottish policy and planned to do the mechanical as well as the journalistic work of the paper, as you might conceive from the above, but was made necessary when a mighty "flu" epidemic swooped down upon the John E. Barnes Print Shop and left in its wake a long list of casualties and when the memorable day of December 3, 1928, rolled around, but one able-bodied person was available for the "type tenure".

Then when you consider that poor Mister Ferguson has but three aides in preparing these six pages of news for you, well, you can consider the ponderous task that he was confronted with.

First Matinee Gratifying As Faust Is Done

J. Henry Smith Scores
In Leading Role
As Mr. Faust

Greydon Milam Again
Shows Ability In Satan Part

"Mr. Faust", a highly dramatic play in four acts, was presented by the Pacific's Little Theatre Saturday afternoon and evening, at the college auditorium. The matinee performance brought a large attendance, as did that in the evening, also. The play, by Arthur Davidson Ficke, was directed by DeMarcus Brown.

J. Henry Smith, Jr., played the title role in a professional manner. The play is of a heavy dramatic nature throughout and it was a pleasantly surprised and pleased audience that viewed the performance. Those who attended agree that the fourth act was very near perfection. Those scenes between Mr. Faust and Satan were rich in drama and were handled in no amateur fashion. The agony that Faust goes through, as, on dying he finds he has lost faith again, is unforgettable. Satan paints a ghastly picture of the life after death which seems to tear Faust's very soul and it was a tense audience that

For Men Only

By LAWRENCE BERGER

As the Christmas season again rolls merrily around we of the male sex find ourselves lost in a quandary as to what would prove appropriate for the lady friend. This enigma indeed is no laughing matter. Quite to the contrary, it is a vexatious reality.

If by some turn of vocation your lady friend happens to have intellectual leanings (needless to say this is the exception that proves the rule) you might get off by sending her a book. Of course this calls for a certain amount of thought and discrimination, yet you have at least limited yourself to one field. And needless to say the financial consideration is one that should not be overlooked here. Books are not the most inexpensive things in the world, but when it comes to purchasing feminine articles I can think of things that might demand a greater outlay of "hard cash".

But do not allow me to disillusion you by the sanguinary nature of my remarks. No, if the law of averages still holds true you are doomed. The young lady whom you honor with your acquaintance and your gold, will be one of the ninety-nine out of a hundred that insists upon the personal touch. If you expect to remain in her good graces and satisfy her fastidious tastes, only the gift with the "personal touch" will do. It is hard, I know, but we must face facts.

Now for those young men whose exchequer is of substantial enough size we might suggest a little patronage of the local jeweler. Jewelry offers a wide field of choice and is always acceptable. Brooches, buckles, necklaces, bar pins, bracelets, vanity cases, wrist watches, stamp boxes with jade figures, toilet sets, cigarette cases and lighters (of course such a gift would only be scorned at by a Pacific girl), and rings for the sentimentally inclined, are all possibilities. In glancing over Vanity Fair I find "a carved emerald ensemble, consisting of a choker necklace, a brooch, two rings and a bracelet (the necklace having for its central motif a magnificent emerald, exquisitely carved, and flanked with decorations of diamonds and smaller emeralds)" being offered at the insignificant sum of $15,000. Of course such a mere nothing would hardly be worth the consideration of a college man.

Our more opulent friends might also be interested in furs. But I, like all our great Americans, in true democratic fashion, address my remarks to the common people and not to the idle rich. Let us come to earth then and make more practical suggestions. Perfume is always a welcome gift. There are three essential requirements that must be fulfilled when making its purchase. First, it must possess a high-sounding French name; second, be acclaimed by the smart world, and third, recommended by some such national figure as Clara Bow. For the poetically minded young gentleman, perfume offers an excellent opportunity to compose some little ditty dwelling upon the analogy between the alluring aroma of the perfume and the "me and only's" fragrant breath.

Bags are quite appropriate. There is great variety among them, but the beaded bag is probably the most welcome because of its serviceableness and correctness. I fear, though, we are getting out of the range, again, of the American college man's pocketbook.

Lingerie—but oh, why bring that up! Probably fortune has favored you with an understanding and exorable sister to whom you can secretly disclose all your trials and tribulations. Well, ere's hoping.

Chic bodice costumes will be received royally. There is something in the unconventional and daring of such a gift, that intrigues even the most staid of school teachers.

A photograph of your "likeness" might prove acceptable. Of course this is purely a personal matter. If you think one would help the cause along, why "more power to you," but remember you are wholly responsible.

Handkerchiefs, oh! An oasis in a desert of mental and moral despair. If you are really sorely pressed you can always fall back upon this old stand-by, and still maintain your self-respect.

There are yet two injunctions I would like to impress upon my male friends. First, be sure and get your gift off in good time. See that it arrives at its destination in time to acquaint the lady friend of the fact that you are materially remembering her. Thus she may have ample opportunity to return the compliment. Second and last, unless your gift is of an exceptionally imposing sum, be ever vigilant in removing the price tags. This is not deception. One may be very truthful and yet reveal only a portion of the truth. Truth often hurts.

Now that I approach a close, allow me to wish you the greatest success in your efforts to overcome the formidable obstacles of Christmas shopping. May the best side win.

Coats For The Campus

By HOWARD TURNER

This cold weather brings up just about one thought when you step outside—a coat. The overcoat is not worn much in this section of California for it is really never cold enough to force the necessity of the inconvenience of carrying one. However, the overcoat, when worn, is a dark blue or Oxford gray which serves very well for formal wear. It may be either single or double breasted, though the general style is the single. In the East there are a great number of the fly front coats that are seemingly very unpopular in the West. While this style presents a very trim appearance there is some difficulty in putting on and taking off that the Westerner dislikes.

The topcoat, the Westerner's all-purpose coat, is, generally, the single-breasted box model with button front, fairly long but something under forty-seven inches. They are full cut without any fitting around the waist. The colors are in the lighter shades of gray, grayish-blues, tan, and heather mixtures. The weaves—herring-bone, diagonal, and diamond. The camel-hair coat is becoming increasingly popular as one whose color, warmth, and general appearance is very pleasing.

There has been a decided change in the raincoats during the last year. It was only last spring that a group of men in several of the Eastern colleges started to wear the trench coat of tan or gray gabardine. Though many still had the yellow or green slickers they found enough money to buy one of the new type. As the result those coats have spread all over the United States and will be seen at all the leading stores as the raincoat. They have become very popular at Stanford and California.

In the West one coat is all that is necessary and usually all that is owned. However, at universities such as Princeton and Yale, a man may own as five; there is a tendency on the part of the Westerner to increase the number and have one for every occasion:

heard Smith's death rattle and watched him sink into terrible depths of despair. The awful stillness was then torn by a shriek of diabolical laughter from Satan as he won Faust's soul another time. Greydon Milam, as Satan, proved again his remarkable talent in characterization. The wicked, cunning, and cynical of the part were well played. Few persons could have listened to the performance without being moved.

SYMBOLIC CHARACTERS

The use of symbolic characters in "Mr. Faust" was probably rather confusing to many. Satan represented the temptations of the man, Faust, the noble influence of the religion of Buddhism. When Faust found this insufficient he was led back into his rut of unbelief in all the world. A climax was reached, when, after thinking he has found peace in the Christian religion, the devil shatters his faith, as before. Carl Page's acting in this scene in the third act was very commendable. In a heated fervor against Faust for his damnation of God, Page, as Brander, strikes him the blow that finally cost Faust his life.

Ruth Ramsey, as Midge, was a pretty picture in the cathedral scene and in the end guarded Faust's soul when the devil strove to take it from him. A second shriek of awful laughter, was given by Satan when he found that he had failed to hold the soul of Faust.

Other parts were also of a highly dramatic character. Wesley Sawyer as Oldham gained considerable attention. Floyd Taylor played the Holy One, another difficult role to portray. James Jory was an attentive butler and Robert Spense as the Doctor, completed the cast.

EFFECTIVE SETS

Sets for the four acts were designed by DeMarcus Brown and were extremely effective.

Holiday Parties Feature Pre-Christmas Calendar

The social calendar during the past week has been filled with many delightful holiday parties, previous to the trek of the students to their homes for Christmas vacation. Sorority bidding which is the big event of this week, has also furnished the incentive for affairs in the various sorority houses.

Christmas Party Lends To Dining Hall Merriment

Social Hall presented a festive appearance Monday evening, December 10, when Mrs. Lynch was hostess to the students at a Christmas party. Holly wreaths, softly shaded lights, and a tall, glowing Christmas tree gave the large room a holiday spirit. A dinner party in the dining hall preceded the latter part of the evening's entertainment. In the center of each table stood a miniature Christmas tree. At the conclusion of the dinner, the students adjourned to the hall where a five-piece orchestra greeted them with dance music. At the close of the evening the guests were served with refreshments in keeping with the informal occasion, candy, nuts, and apples.

Miss Janis Van Thiel spent the week-end at her home in Martinez.

Miss Yel Bishop visited in the bay region Saturday.

Miss Marion Harvie spent the week-end in Rio Vista visiting friends.

Brilliant clothing,

And rotund belly.

Thus the Elizabethans celebrated the establishment of universal good-will toward man.

In 1928 this spirit still predominates.

"It isn't the thing you give, it's the spirit in which you give it."

The ideal situation is the combination of the Yuletide spirit in a gift of practical value.

Epsilon Hosts To Freshman Gridders

Epsilon Lambda Sigma was hostess on Monday evening to the members of the freshman football team at a waffle feed given in their honor.

The table was decorated with red holly berries and lighted red tapers. A lighted Christmas tree furnished the atmosphere of the season. Waffles were served informally during the evening.

The committee in charge was: Mildred Jackson, Vera Raymond, Mildred Mini, Elizabeth Twigg, Adella Bristol, Rita Melville.

The guests were: Messrs. Righter, McCart, Cunningham, Schrader, Taft, O'Dale, Bowman, Poole, Winston, Parsons, Jurs, Hall, Dodson, Trigon, Root, McCann, Nurse, Berry, Ijams, Seagerstrum, Smith, Van Dyke, Donovan, Tallestrup, and Higby.

Block P Society Feted By Women Of Mu Zeta Rho

The Mu Zeta Rho sorority house was the setting for a dinner party Monday, December 10, when the members of the organization presided in honor of the Block "P" Society.

Cardboard blocks, painted in black and orange, made the place cards and similar blocks piled in the center of the tables formed a huge "P".

An original feature of the evening program was a skit presented by the members of the house which traced the growth and development of an athlete from babyhood to an old man. Those taking part in these acts were: Aileen Butterworth, Lynette Robb, Lucile Threlfall, Margaret Biddle, Harriet Wilson, Mildred Hunter, Barbara Young, Helen Keast, Loma Kellogg, Louise Warren.

Dancing followed the dinner party. Guests of the evening were: C. E. Righter, Harold Cunningham, Ray McCart, Victor Ledbetter, Mel Lawson, Paul Campbell, John Decatur, Beverly Barron, Clarence Royle, Vernon Stoltz, Lehman O'Dale, Frank Heath, Cecil Disbrow, Robin Dunne, Bill Klein, Cyril Owen, Alfred Keyston, Ray Wilson, Floyd Russell, Everett Stark, Eugene Farr, Clarence Whaley, Everett Ellis, Harold Jacoby.

Miss Hilma Olsen returned from Sacramento Sunday, where she has spent the past few days visiting.

Dr. Pease Given Welcome To Pi Gamma Mu

Members of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, met in the college dining hall last evening for a banquet honoring Dr. Pease who had recently been elected to the California Alpha Chapter.

The dinner was followed by Dr. Knoles' welcome extended to Dr. Pease on behalf of the organization. Professor Eiselein told of his research work for his master's thesis on the political science of Benjamin Franklin for which he had access to a number of valuable Franklin collections. The nationalism of Europe as sensed by Professor Schilpp during his stay in Europe last summer was given by him.

Arrangements for the dinner and program were cared for by Miss Berta Beers and Alice Pylman, president and vice-president of the local chapter of Pi Gamma Mu. A poinsettia, mistletoe and red tapers were used as decoration. Dr. Werner added much to the popularity of the organization by his demonstration of the historical significance of mistletoe. The key of the national organization was used on the place cards.

Members of Pacific's California Alpha Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu in attendance at the banquet were: Dr. Knoles, Dr. Bonner, Dr. Harris, Dr. Pease, Victor Hunt, Prof. Root, Lorraine Knoles, Dr. Stanford, Alice Pylman, Clarence Quick, Dr. Werner, Prof. Schilpp, Berta Beers, Clara Morris, Prof. Kroeck, Prof. Eiselein, Chester Hoar, George Knoles, Mrs. Wynne and Dr. Wood.

Verda Frannlin On Way To Recovery

Miss Verda Franklin, who has been seriously ill at the infirmary, has continued to improve since her removal to an Oakland hospital.

She wishes to be remembered to her kind and loving friends at Pacific and is anxiously looking forward to visiting us in the near future.

Miss Ruth Baun Weds Dr. Edmund Sayer In Texas

A wedding of much interest to college circles is being announced through the mails. Word is received by friends of the marriage of Miss Ruth Baun to Dr. Edmund A. Sayer, of Providence, R. I. The ceremony was read by Reverend Dr. Kern in the Travis Park Methodist Church of San Antonio, Texas on Wednesday afternoon, December 5.

Mrs. Sayer has been closely associated with campus activities. She is a graduate of the College of the Pacific and for the past three years has been a member of the faculty in the physical education department. Her sorority affiliation is Epsilon Lambda Sigma.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Sayer, of Philadelphia, and is now practicing in Providence, R. I. For the past three months he has been in training at the School of Aviation Medicine at San Antonio, Texas, from where he has just graduated as a flight surgeon.

After an extended trip to New Orleans and Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Sayer will return to Providence to make their home.

Misses Pearl Reiger and Evelyn Sawyer spent Friday and Saturday in San Francisco.

Tau Kappa Kappa Entertains With Christmas Party

Tau Kappa Kappa members were hostesses Monday evening at an informal Christmas party and had as their guests a group of college men.

Evergreen wreaths, mistletoe, and holly were used in decoration, and a large Christmas tree had at its base a pile of packages which were later distributed by Santa Claus. Guests, at their arrival, were presented boutonnieres of mistletoe.

Vivian Drown, assisted by Marian Van Gilder, Esther Edwards, Peggy Rader, Helen Russell, Lenora Coffman, and Marjorie Ryland, planned the affair.

Those who enjoyed the evening were Misses Alice Pylman, Margaret Beattie, Vivian Drown, Thelma Doty, Esther Edwards, Anna Louise Keck, Relda Congdon, Elsie Reimers, Amy Smith, Olive Hangar, Alice Wilmarth, Eunice Farrington, Mayme Burris, Margaret Rader, Helen Russell, Berta Beers, Hazel Morford, Marian Van Gilder, Marjorie Ryland, Donna Shaffer, Helena Jurgensen, Helen Sales, Felice Wise, Jean Williams.

Manager Gives Explanation Of Weekly Change

By MAX PHILLIPS

I was very much surprised last Friday when at the student body meeting, the recommendation for the reorganization of the Weekly was voted down almost unanimously. Especially was I surprised when two people closely connected with the campus publications strongly advocated a change in the relative salaries of manager and editor. Perhaps it is little wonder that the student body as a whole should miss the point of the whole reorganization when those entrusted with responsible positions do so.

The recommendation as presented last Friday was submitted last year by a committee composed of members of the executive committee, a past manager, the present editor and the present manager. The whole reorganization was planned to put the Weekly on a business basis. It was hoped that under the proposed system the paper would be a student body paper, not the work of some two or three.

The principal changes came in the managerial department.

The most outstanding change was that of election. Instead of making anyone eligible for election the candidates were limited to the assistant managers. This insured someone in the position who had some previous experience.

Next in importance was the change in salaries. Instead of receiving a commission as in previous years, the manager was to receive a straight salary with a bonus on all advertising receipts over a specified amount.

This seems to be the bone of contention. The manager's salary is to be higher than that of the editor. Perhaps a statement of the comparative expenses would help to clear this point.

In the first place the assistant managers receive at least fifty dollars a semester in commissions, said fifty dollars coming from the manager's salary.

In the second place, the very nature of the manager's duties, entailing, principally, work among the merchants of the town, requires a greater outlay of money for transportation.

The matter of the bonus also seems to have caused some stir. This clause was inserted to provide an incentive for the manager to increase the productivity, size, and value of the paper, thus insuring a better paper for the students.

The total gross receipts from advertising last year were approximately $1900.00. The minimum limit for the manager's bonus was set at $1500.00 and later raised by the present executive committee to $2000.00.

This recommendation was submitted to the present executive committee and passed with the amendment cited above.

The whole situation, as I see it, is that of misunderstanding, such misunderstanding being fostered by the voluntubility of others equally in the dark.

San Joaquin Alumni Hold First Meeting

The San Joaquin County Alumni Association held their first meeting last Saturday night since the organization of the association. The banquet was held at the Hotel Lincoln.

The meeting was held in the form of a banquet which was a preliminary to the Alumni and Pacific Varsity basketball game.

Besides the regular business meeting, Mel Lawson rendered two vocal solos, accompanied by Helen Keast. Also Miss Alma Cella sang "Dreaming," an original composition by Miss Gertrude Schookman.

At the conclusion of the social business meeting the alumni went to the game, forming their own rooting section.

The Association was organized on November 2, which was the night before the Homecoming Game.

Alpha Theta Tau Freshmen Hosts At Xmas Party

The freshmen of the Alpha Theta Tau sorority were hostesses to the senior members at an informal Yuletide party at their house on the campus, Tuesday evening, December 11. It is a tradition of the organization that each year at this season the younger girls present an evening of entertainment.

The group gathered before an open fire and a brightly burning Christmas tree, at the bottom of which were placed joke gifts for each member of the sorority.

The program arranged by the presiding members of the house included: "The Night Before Christmas," a parody, written by Maida Strong, and read by Harriet Smith; "Misery in 'A' Flat," a trombone solo, by Alberta Hite; A Chinese dance in costume, Frances Falconbury; "Silent Night, Holy Night," duet, sung by Eloise Ames and Ruth Ramsey; "Nettie's Visit at Grandma's," read by Ruth Ramsey.

Helen Honegger was chairman of the committee for the party and made all arrangements for the affair.

At the conclusion of the program Santa Claus' assistant, Harriet Smith, distributed the presents and much merriment was aroused by the original verses found within the packages and which were read aloud by the recipients.

Miss Mitchell, house mother of the sorority, was presented with a gift from the members of the organization. At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

Nineteen Year Old Prof.'s Son Makes Seal For Evansville

Evansville, Ind.—Gordon Legg, nineteen-year-old son of Prof. Howard F. Legg of Evansville College, has designed a seal for Evansville College, which has been adopted by the faculty of the school. The design shows the doorway of the college, within which is a seven-branched candelabrum representing the well-rounded life, the seven candles being emblematic of the seven points brought out by President Earl E. Harper in his inaugural address, namely: economic welfare, recreation, intellectual development, health, social fellowship and artistic appreciation, with the central candle denoting religion, or spiritual development. Young Legg is a sophomore at Evansville.

Carnival Nets Women Students Sum Over $100

Helen Keast, General Chairman, Extends Gratitude

Over one hundred dollars was realized by the Associated Women Students as the result of the sale of tickets and money taken in on concessions at the A. W. S. Winter Carnival staged in the gymnasium last Thursday night, according to the financial statement of Polly Brewster, treasurer of the organization, submitted at the meeting of women students held Tuesday in the auditorium.

This amount exceeded all predictions or expectations as to the amount that could be earned from such an affair and served to attest the success of the carnival from every angle.

Miss Frances Poage, president of the Association, presided at the meeting.

Miss Helen Keast, the general chairman of the occasion, wished that her thanks be expressed to all who co-operated and so generously gave of their time and assistance in making the Extravaganza and Carnival such a worth-while function.

The program of the meeting featured much interesting talent

TIGERS - AMBLERS CLASH TONIGHT

BENGALS SEEK THIRD WIN OVER STOCKTON CLUBMEN; RIGHTER NAMES STARTERS

Renewing their annual clash with the Stockton Amblers, the Pacific Tigers tonight go into action for their second game of the season at Pacific gym. The Amblers, although minus all of its veteran stars of former seasons, has a wealth of new material which will cause the Bengals plenty of worry before the evening is over. Coach "Swede" Righter is sending his strongest quintet into action and is confident that they will win, but the Amblers always present a tough battle and the Tigers will have to be at their best to win for the third consecutive season. The starting line-up will be the same as that which started the Alumni game last week with McArthur and Heath, forwards; Captain Disbrow, center; Shuman and Russell, guards.

The Amblers opened their schedule last week and failed to take an extra-period game from the Galt College five, which presented plenty of unlooked-for opposition. The Arabs were playing on the small high school court and it cramped their style a good deal.

Two Arab players who will attract plenty of attention from Pacific rooters tonight are "Cherub" Royse and "Jake" Jacoby who are playing on the reserve list for the clubmen. Both are Pacific stars of last season and as soon as they get into the swing of the clubmen's style of play, they will probably become leading performers for the Amblers.

The Tigers have been showing plenty of class during the last week in their workouts, with the offense being perfected to a degree hardly to be expected at this time of the season. Races for various positions on the team are mighty close, and several of the present first string will have a plenty tough job to keep their jobs.

Bill Klein is giving Heath a real battle for the one forward position while Paul Crandall seems almost certain of nosing McArthur out of a place unless the veteran stages a brilliant come-back and gets his shooting eye into form. Crandall is just about as effective as McArthur on the floor, and is certainly a better shot.

Robin Dunn is out to take Disbrow's place at center and is showing a lot of stuff in the effort. However, as long as the big boy keeps at top form, he will retain his job, but the knowledge that there is somebody ready to step into his place at any time, will keep the Tiger captain at top form all of the time.

Shuman looks good to take over the running guard post, but both

Henley and Countryman have plenty of ability and either may sneak in to take honors. Shuman is consistent and plays a hard game all of the time and is developing steadily into a worthy successor to Royle.

The really outstanding performance of "Kusty" Russell at standing guard last week makes his position at standing guard seem almost assured, but a couple of lads by the names of Hurd and Portier figure that they can take over the job. Both showed well against the Alumni and will probably get a chance tomorrow night.

The Tigers face plenty stiff opposition during the next couple of weeks with the second Amblers' game in the offering and the annual clash with Stanford slated during the holidays. Stanford is mighty anxious to beat the Bengals this year because of the manner in which the local lads showed up the farm boys last season. There is feeling of feeling at Stanford over the game and the Tigers are out to repeat.

Pacific has a tough schedule lined up for the season, and will meet plenty of opposition in the race for the Far Western Conference title. Righter, while not predicting the title, believes that the Bengals have the makings of a powerful squad which should be able to come through with a mighty high rating in the final standings.

Pianists, Organists Engage In Hot Debate

Piano and organ students held a lively open forum discussion Wednesday evening, on the relative merits of the piano and organ as instruments. Material had been gathered on both sides extensively, and although there was no decision those present found the forum instructive in that it brought out the values and possibilities of both instruments very clearly.

The discussion followed Mr. Elliott's piano class meeting, at which several students played selections. This class is training pianists for public performance.

BENGALS SWAMP ALUMNI, 37-15

Disbrow Leads Scorers With Eight Points

A fast and smoothly working Tiger five opened its schedule in Pacific Gym, Thursday night, by trouncing the Alumni stars by a 37 to 15 count. Coach "Swede" Righter's squad displayed plenty of class for a first game, and the squad appears to be stronger than at the same time last season. The first five minutes were all that was needed to prove that the Alumni would not be able to check the Bengal offense which was remarkably smooth considering that there had been only about a week's practice.

Captain "Moose" Disbrow went on a scoring spree in the first half of the final period to sink four field goals. He was taken from the game as he made the fourth one, but he took high point honors with him. Heath and McArthur, the starting forwards, were next in line with six points each, while Crandall, who went in at forward later in the game, also collected six markers.

"Rube" Wood and "Cherub" Royse were the stars for the Alumni, each gathering five points. Failure of "Ham" Truman to make an appearance made it impossible for the Alumni to start their All-Captain five, but Bob Robertson filled in at the standing guard position. The Alumni started out with a flash and scored three points before the varsity got started. However, when the Tigers did swing into action they took the lead and held a 15 to 7 advantage at the half. The pace began to tell on the Alumni in the last period and the Tigers were able to score 22 points in the last half while the grads were gathering 8.

Disbrow looked to be in the best of shape during the flash in the second period and seems able to handle the center position to good advantage. Dunne did not get a great deal of opportunity to show at center, but made two field goals while he was in the game.

Ed McArthur played the same type of game at forward as in the past, missing some comparatively easy shots only to come back the next minute to sink one from an "impossible" position. McArthur (Continued on page 5)

Righter Says 50 Per Cent Of Win Is Spirit

By Pacific News Bureau
"Fifty per cent of an athletic team's success is based on the spirit of the team," says Coach "Swede" Righter. "The will to win" is placed secondary to this. He declares that it is not necessarily the will to win for every athlete would rather win than lose, but the spirit of being willing to sacrifice himself that the team may win, is of more significance.

Coach Righter goes on to explain that an athletic team is composed of individuals who must not only act together but must think together also. He is a stickler on training rules, claiming that every athlete who keeps them receives a good object lesson on the benefits of clean living and he also shows by keeping them that he is willing to make his sacrifice for the good of the team.

"Training rules are a great producer of team spirit as well as keeping the men in good physical trim," avers the coach. "The rules are simple and number three. They are: no smoking, no intoxicating liquors and home at 10:30 p. m."

These three training rules are rigidly enforced on all Pacific teams in keeping with Coach Righter's belief in the close correlation between the strict enforcement of these rules and the physical well being and spirit of the team.

Coach Righter points out that in the years when Pacific achieved her greatest success on the gridiron the rules were strictly enforced and the fighting spirit of the team was never higher.

"The more a man puts into a thing the more interested he is in it and the more he gets out of it," reiterates the coach.

Conference Meet Slated For Saturday

Arrangement of the Far Western Conference football schedule for 1929 will be made Saturday at the Hotel Whitcomb, in San Francisco, with coaches and graduate managers of the colleges in annual session.

Various rumors are floating about over the circuit that St. Mary's and St. Ignatius will withdraw from the conference, seeking competition on a free lance basis. Whether this will materialize or not, remains to be seen.

The admission of Chico State into membership in the conference is almost assured and the northern college will be included in the majority of schedules of the conference members.

Pacific's schedule will include games with Fresno State, Cal. Aggies, Chico State, Nevada, San Jose State, Sacramento Junior College and Modesto Junior College.

Graduate Manager Bob Breeden and Coach "Swede" Righter will represent Pacific at the meet while Prof. Luther Sharp will represent the Tigers at the faculty representatives, meeting at the same place tomorrow afternoon.

Syracuse Library Is Made Gift of 10,000 Historical Letters

Syracuse, N. Y.—The library of Syracuse University has received a gift of more than 10,000 letters covering a period of American affairs from 1790 to 1875, and including correspondence of such men as Wendell Phillips, William Lloyd Garrison, John Brown and Charles Sumner. The donor is Gerrit Smith Miller, of Peterboro, N. Y.

The letters are chiefly addressed to Mr. Miller's grandfather, the Honorable Gerrit Smith of Peterboro. There is also a group addressed to Peter Smith, the father of Gerrit Smith. The former group contains letters from such men as Conklin, Van Buren, William Ladd, William L. Garrison, Charles Sedgwick and many others. The latter group is rich in information dealing with the period beginning in 1790, and tells of Indian affairs, the sale and opening of parts of New York State, and of transactions with the firm of John Jacob Astor, with which Peter Smith was at one time connected.

Mr. Miller's choice of Syracuse University as a custodian for the letters was the result of a contact formed by Professor William Freeman Galpin of the School of Citizenship. Professor Galpin in a study of the Peace Movement in the United States frequently encountered the name of Gerrit Smith. Inquiry revealed the fact that his grandson, Gerrit Smith Miller, had in his possession the letters of Gerrit Smith. Professor Galpin's request for an opportunity to study these original documents led to the transfer.

Frosh Cagers Drub Escalon By 42-2 Score

Unleashing their full power for the first time this season, Coach Ray McCarty's Pacific Frosh cagers buried the weak Escalon High School under the overwhelming score of 42-2 in a preliminary to the Pacific-Alumni fuss on Saturday night. The prep hoopers were baffled though and undoubtedly were "lost" on the big court, for they did not offer even an inkling of opposition.

After the first few minutes of play when the Baby Bengals began to roll up points with machine-like precision Coach McCarty took the opportunity to give all of the boys a chance. Van Dyke, Bowman and C. Smith, a diminutive forward from Lodi, were the leading scorers of the contest.

But a single field goal was all that Escalon was able to record during the game.

The performance was a vast improvement over the night previous when the Frosh were drubbed by Stockton High School. Coach McCarty expects his charges to show up well during the remainder of the season now that the first victory has been chalked up.

Student Body Cards Must Be Presented For Rate At Games

Student body cards must be presented tonight if students wish to be admitted to the Tiger-Ambler game for the student rate of 25 cents, Graduate Manager Bob Breeden announces. If the student card is not presented, the regular charge of 75 cents will be made.

A good many students have failed to call for their student cards, while others have been securing the student rate without presenting the card. In order to make a complete checkup, the cards must be presented at all games hereafter.

Pacific Will Have Aviation Club Chapter

A new organization is being started at the College of the Pacific known as the Intercollegiate Flying Club. Aviation majors will be entitled to join this honorary organization.

The Intercollegiate Flying Club was started in Illinois in 1919. During its short history it has spread throughout the United States. Now twenty-four of the outstanding colleges of this country are members.

Professor Lusk invites anyone who is interested in this national flying club to see him as soon as possible. The Engineering and Aviation officers are located in room 309 of the Administration Building.

Miss Wilkinson Leaves Pacific $1200 In Will

A bequest of twelve hundred dollars was left to the College of the Pacific by the late Miss Ivy B. Wilkinson, a member of the Chemistry department. The legacy is in the form of a note, and will be in the hands of the College authorities as soon as the estate, approximating $12,000, is settled.

Bulldogs Have Veteran Cage Squad Working

FRESNO, Dec. 12.—With a week's regular practice behind them, the Fresno State College basketball squad was sent through the first scrimmage of the season today. It was a light session initiating stiffer ceremonies to follow the rest of this week.

Although not fully satisfied with his prospective quintet, Coach Art Jones has decided on a tentative lineup to be used for practice purposes.

George Telonicher, Erwin Ginsberg and Charles Jiggs Andrews are the veterans on this list while Joe Yruegui and Louis Ogren are the newcomers. All, however, have had plenty of basketball service.

Telonicher and Yruegui will work out as forwards and should develop into a mighty sweet com.

Tarzans Hand Frosh Beating

Now, if you believe in omens the 33-5 mauling that the Pacific Frosh took at the hands of Coach "Pete" Lenz's Stockton Tarzans last Friday night augurs well for a successful season for the yearlings. That is if you have faith in sorcery, for last season during the first game of the season the Frosh basketballers scored 5 points to their opponent, Antioch's 8. This may be a happy (or unhappy?) coincidence for following their first defeat in the 1927-28 season, an enviable record was made.

Getting back to the game, itself, Coach Ray McCart pulled a surprise by shoving his second combination in at the opening whistle instead of his first string lineup. After the preps had piled up a substantial lead, the regulars were injected into the fray, but they proved less effective than the reserve combination and the gap in the scores widened during the remainder of the half.

At the third quarter mark the score was 22 to 4.

Herds of players were employed by both coaches during the contest, but the superior team work of the Tarzans accounted for the rout. Numerous fouls were committed by the Frosh and the accuracy of the high school at the free throw line helped to boost its score.

Pacificites To Be Prominent At Asilomar Confab

Harold S. Jacoby Is To Preside As Chairman

Pacific's representatives are to feature in a leading part in the personnel of the Annual Conference of College men to be held at Asilomar from December 26th to January 1st. The Conference is an annual affair supplementing a college education with an opportunity for informal discussion sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and federated student bodies.

PACIFIC'S PLACE

Harold Jacoby, '28, is the chairman of the conference. The Knoles' Quartet is to furnish the music throughout the meeting.

Of the representatives from the leading colleges in Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Oregon, and California, Pacific is given a quota of 25 to make up the California delegation numbering 75. Eighteen Pacificites are now sure of making this conference a part of their holiday activities and with the interest prevalent the entire quota of 25 to represent Pacific will undoubtedly be filled.

OUTSTANDING MEN PRESENT

Men of national and international fame as leaders are to be present to lead and listen in on the frank discussions which make up the life of the Conference. This personnel includes such men as Tully C. Knoles, Sherwood Eddy, Roy H. Akagi, Raymond C. Brooks, Hudson J. Ballard, J. Stitt Wilson, and George M. Day.

ASILOMAR STRATEGY

The buildings and surroundings of Asilomar are especially appropriate for such a conference. Forums, recreation, friendship will fit into the environment in such a way as to make the conference valuable for every man.

Jean Lackey spent the week-end at her home in Oakland.

Miss Edna Truman motored down from Oakland and was the guest of Lorraine Knoles over the week-end.

Miss Helen Glaister, accompanied by her sister Hazel and brother-in-law Bob Robertson, motored up from Delano to visit with friends over Saturday and Sunday.

Advice To The Love-lorn

(EDITOR'S NOTE)

Aunt Hepsabah has consented to give advice to students on the Pacific campus who are inclined to fall in love and who would be bothered by the old adage of pastimes. Address all communications to Aunt Hepsabah, care Pacific Weekly. Aunt Hepsabah is an old hand at this game, having raised several pairs of love-birds in addition to a number of canaries.

Dear Aunt Hepsabah:

I am a Freshman in college and I don't know any one of the opposite sex and I would like to go out with some nice college man. I am five feet high and I wear glasses and I am cross eyed but I am of a very lovable nature. Please advise.

Sincerely,

Winsome Winnie.

Dear Winnie:

Don't lose courage, try hard to show your good qualities and cover up your eyes, and sooner or later you will come across your chosen man. Because you know love is blind.

Your friend,

Aunt Hepsabah.

My Dear Aunt Hepsabah:

I took my new girl to the movies and spent a dollar on her and when I took her home she refused to kiss me good night, do you think she is playing fair?

Worriedly yours,

Willie.

Dear Willie:

Some girls have little regard as to the amount of money a young man spends on her, and I believe that she is playing you dirt and why not find a new girl to flourish your money on?

Your friend,

Aunt Hepsabah.

Dear Aunt Hepsabah:

I want to unfold my heart to you about the man I love. He has taken me to two dances and both times he has gotten tight and taken another girl home. Then the other night he made me walk home. Do you think he loves me?

Sincerely,

Doubtful Doty.

Dear Doty:

I think yours is a case for you to decide; however, he may have a lack of memory and can't remember who he has taken places, however I wouldn't place too much faith in his love.

Aunt Hepsabah.

Aunt Hepsabah:

I have read your column many times and I have great faith in you and so I am going to ask you to help me solve my great problems. I don't know whether to ask Polly or Nelly to go to my Fraternity Formal. Beings as you don't know them I will have to explain the situation. Nelly is a very sweet and lovable girl but she doesn't seem to care much for me. Polly has been giving me the cold shoulder till I mentioned the Formal and then she suddenly came to like me so what should I do. I like Nelly the best.

Yours,

Jensen Smith.

Dear Jensen:

I think Polly should be taken to your Formal because it seems that she has shown you by her sudden attention that she favors you highly.

Respectfully,

Aunt Hepsabah.

Antioch Given 53-17 Beating By Frosh Team

Snowing the Antioch High School hoopers under a storm of field goals and free throws, Coach McCart's Pacific frosh won their second combat of the season, Tuesday night, by the one-sided score of 53 to 17. It was the second time within four days that the heavy artillery of the first year men got under way, having smothered Escalon High School completely on Saturday by a forty point margin.

But then there is no reason for the yearling hoopers to go strutting around busting the buttons off their shirts for it must be admitted that the opposition faced during the last two games has been comparatively soft compared to the caliber of teams that will be met during the remainder of the schedule.

Bowman and Van Dyke starred against the feeble Antioch brigade. Bowman tallied 19 digits. The entire squad performed in a much better fashion than in previous fuses.

This evening the frosh collide with the Manteca High School in the preliminary to the Ambler-Pacific combat. This will be the final game for the frosh before the holidays.

The next tilt is slated on January 4 against the Stanford frosh, a preliminary to the struggle between the Tigers and Cardinals at Stanford.

Bulldogs Have

bination by the time the conference season opens.

Telonicher is a veteran from last season and is a fighting floorman. Yruegui was the scoring sensation of last season's yearling outfit and enters his sophomore cage season doped to set a fast stride.

Erwin Ginsberg, former captain and standing guard, will play center in the absence of a satisfactory candidate for the berth. Ginsberg is a fast floor man, shoots well and although new to the position should prove as good a pivot man as he is a guard.

Andrews will play running guard and Ogren standing guard. Unsuong for a number of seasons, Ogren has, nevertheless, made things hot for other guard candidates. This year, with additional weight, he should prove to be a good safety man.

Andrews has difficulty in refraining from frequent fouling on the court since his development from a football player to a cage star, but he showed plenty of promise last year and plays a good game. This fault of his should be overcome in plenty of time this year to land him a regular berth.

The lineup is by no means final, but merely arranged for practice purposes at the time. However, it appears to be the one that will start the first half of the season.

It is by no means a championship team and will need plenty of practice. There is plenty of speed and a lot of potential individual ability, but it will have to be developed.

Whether or not Yruegui and Telonicher will work together is a big problem that will stump a lot of guessers, while Ginsberg has not yet proved at center. Ogren has the stuff and providing Andrews comes along as is expected the guard detail should be ironed out in the very near future.

Flint Hanner's freshmen were slated to get under way today or tonight after some preliminary practice last week.

Conflicting practice periods, denying the yearlings use of the court except during odd hours will hamper the freshmen in their season drill.

Scholarships Offered To Stir Aviation Interest

To interest more college students in aviation, the Alexander Aircraft Company at Colorado Springs offers a new Alexander Eaglerock Airplane or a complete University Course in aeronautics for the best series of four short monthly articles on aviation from January 1 to May 1, 1929, written by undergraduate college students.

The winner will be awarded a four-year scholarship in a leading aeronautical engineering school, or in a school of business administration where he can get an aeronautical background. Competing students who receive undergraduate degrees June 1 may win a graduate scholarship in a technical school of aeronautics, leading to a master's or a professional degree. As an alternative award, the winner may receive a completely equipped Eaglerock. Articles of superior merit but below winning quality will win their writers 10-hour flying courses. The awards will be made June 1.

The papers, technical or non-technical and 400 to 600 words in length, must be submitted to the Committee on Awards on the first of each month from January 1 to May 1. Suggested subjects include, "Future Aircraft Development," "Flying For Recreation," "Commercial Possibilities In Aviation," "The Airplane as a Future Decentralizer of Cities," etc. Candidates will be judged 30 per cent on content of their articles, and 70 per cent on their qualifications to do justice to the scholarships. The winner, if he qualifies, will be employed in the engineering or some other department of the Alexander Aircraft factory. The best contribution each month will be published in the Alexander Aircrafter, a magazine with 20,000 circulation among pilots, business executives, and others interested in flying.

ALEXANDER EAGLEROCK AWARDS

In order to encourage an interest in aviation in all its branches, technical, commercial, etc., among the young men and women in American colleges, and to provide an educational opportunity for aeronautical training and understanding for some of those who will be entering the field of aviation, The Alexander Aircraft Company has established the following awards, to be known as the Alexander Eaglerock Awards for 1929:

1. To some candidate who is able to qualify, and is now regularly enrolled in an undergraduate course in a standard college, either liberal arts or professional, The Alexander Aircraft Company will award a scholarship in Aeronautical Engineering, or in Business Administration and Aeronautics, at the option of the candidate, in an approved institute of technology or an American university of first rank. This scholarship will be for either undergraduate or graduate instruction, depending upon the educational qualifications of the candidate.

(a) If undergraduate instruction is elected by the successful candidate, the stipend will be an amount sufficient to pay all tuition; fees, and other regular costs of instruction for a period equivalent to a four-year course leading to a baccalaureate or first degree.

(b) If the candidate is qualified to enter graduate study in either of the above fields, the stipend will be an amount sufficient to pay all tuition, fees, and other regular costs of instruction for a course of study leading to a master's degree, or its equivalent, and an additional amount for other expenses to make the total stipend equal to that which would have been received if the candidate had pursued an undergraduate course in the same school.

POSITIONS WAITING

At the conclusion of the candidate's course of study under this scholarship, if he can qualify, he will be given a position in the engineering or some other department of the Alexander Aircraft Company, subject to the employment regulations of that company.

2. If the successful candidate, because of some other plans for his future occupation, does not elect to accept either a graduate or undergraduate scholarship as outlined in One above, The Alexander Aircraft Company will give him, as an alternate award, a standard equipped Eaglerock Airplane with a ninety horsepower motor of the model current at the time he qualifies for the award.

3. To a certain number of candidates who do not succeed in qualifying for the award specified in One or Two, but, who through their outstanding qualifications should receive some encouragement in aviation, the Alexander Aircraft Company will award a Ten Hour Flying Course. The instruction in these courses will be given in the flying schools of the distributors of Eaglerock Airplanes providing each candidate can pass the U. S. Department of Commerce requirements for such instruction. The number of such courses to be awarded will be determined by the Committee on Awards.

PERIODS OF COMPETITION

Competition for these awards will be governed by the following conditions:

1. The Awards for 1929 are open to both men and women, married or unmarried, regardless of race, color, or creed. The only limitation placed upon competing candidates is that a candidate must, during the period of competition, be regularly enrolled as an undergraduate student in a standard college, either liberal arts or professional. Regular students in standard, recognized junior colleges are eligible to compete.

2. The period of competition will extend from January 1, 1929, to April 30, 1929. Awards will be made June 1, 1929.

3. Candidates for the Alexander Eaglerock Awards for 1929 will be required to submit a series of short papers on any phase or phases of aviation that the candidate may select. The papers may be either technical or non-technical, and there must be at least four papers submitted by the candidate. Each paper must not be over 600 words in length. Detailed instructions for the preparation of those papers will be furnished by the Secretary of the Committee on Awards.

4. The Awards will be made by a Committee on Awards selected by the Alexander Aircraft Company. The Committee's rules, interpretation of rules, and decisions will be final and will govern all cases affecting the Awards.

5. The committee will require, in addition to the series of papers specified in Paragraph Two, evidence that the candidate has the capacity for scholarship in his chosen field, and other evidence of the candidate's personal fitness.

6. The Committee will make the selection of successful candidates according to the following scale of values:

Personal Qualifications.....70%
Papers Submitted.....30%

7. A candidate must submit a preliminary letter of application setting forth his present educational status, age, sex, his plans for the future, his present knowledge of aviation, and such other details as will aid in determining his fitness for one of the Awards to the Secretary before submitting any papers in competition.

Requests for information and rules of competition, and preliminary applications must be submitted to Darrell Boyd Harmon, Secretary, Committee on Awards, Alexander Aircraft Company, Colorado Springs, Colorado.
