Dear Muir:

I am very glad indeed that you find Palm Springs so pleasant---I felt pretty sure you would. I am mighty glad also, that Helen already begins to feel better. Pat her on the back for me and tell her to keep up her lick.

I am just on my way to the mountains for a few days and shall have to leave this to be signed and forwarded to you. On my return, however, I will forward to you some geographical suggestions and some letters to some of the people who infest that part of the geography. I am pretty tired, myself, and want to get up the cañon.

Sharlot Hall is here now, probably to stay. I just had a letter from Col. Sellers who seems to be a little better, but far from robust yet. His wife's mother died the day before he wrote.

Keep me posted as to your address.

Power to your elbows and love from all of us,

Always
