Portland, Oregon, August 7, 1907.

Mr. John Muir.

My dear sir:

Perhaps you remember the trip in 1879 you took on the same steamer with my parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lindsley, to Alaska. On your return I had the honor of meeting you as a young girl in my father's home. Since then we have always read with intense interest anything from your pen.

I am now the proud mother of a fourteen-year old ^(+ there are others) son, who is collecting autographs of distinguished people, and he desired that I should write to you and beg the favor of yours. Perhaps I may admit that his mother is greatly interested in this collection, also.

Yours most respectfully,

Emily Lindsley Ross
