April 15, 1901

Dear Sir:

The meeting of the National Institute of Arts and Letters at dinner on March 12, and the informal discussion which followed, proved to be of such unusual interest that it was voted unanimously to have another dinner in May.

This will be given at the Aldine Association, 111 Fifth Avenue, New York, at seven o'clock on the evening of Tuesday, May 14, when, by request of the Institute, Mr. Augustus Thomas will read a paper on "The Drama of To-Day," to be followed by general discussion of the subject. Mr. Howells will preside.

The cost to each member, without wine, will be three dollars.

As soon as convenient, will you kindly inform Mr. Johnson, of the dinner committee, whether it is your intention to be present, inclosing check to his order in case of acceptance.

Faithfully yours,

AUGUSTUS THOMAS,

F. HOPKINSON SMITH,

ROBERT UNDERWOOD JOHNSON,

33 East 17th Street, New York.

Committee on Dinner

[JM holograph note]

Can't be present my dear Johnson will you kindly inform me whether you mean to be present at the Big Tuolumne Meeting & once more brave the canon chaparral

Do come to the Sierra banquet in the first week of July. You have no idea how warm the welcome of the flora will be, in memory of Salvation

Cordially yours

John Muir
