January 9, 1902.

Dear Mr. Muir,

I found your letter of December 23rd awaiting me on my return from a visit West, and have only waited until I could get a report on the sales of the National Parks book. I find there were sold up to the end of the year about 1800 copies, which is a very good start, and may, we hope, lead to results sufficiently generous to make you want to finish the other books that you have in mind, especially the Yosemite book, and later the autobiography, in which I have become peculiarly interested.

Thank you very heartily for your good wishes for Christmas and the New Year, and if it is not too late, I hope you will take my good wishes for the New Year in return.

Sincerely yours,

W. B. Parker.

Mr. John Muir.
