

1902-09-03

Letter from Melville B. Anderson to John Muir, 1902 Sep 3.

Melville B. Anderson

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence>

---

Recommended Citation

Anderson, Melville B., "Letter from Melville B. Anderson to John Muir, 1902 Sep 3." (1902). John Muir Correspondence (PDFs). 4713.

<https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence/4713>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the John Muir Correspondence 1856-1914 at Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in John Muir Correspondence (PDFs) by an authorized administrator of Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact mgibney@pacific.edu.

Menlo Park, 3 Sept., 1902

Dear Mr. Muir:

I was not thought to be well enough to go with the Sierra Club this summer, but am now sufficiently recovered to be vaguely considering a trip to the mountains somewhere. Perhaps I am not quite equal to going off alone, and at this season my friends are all, so far as I know, busy with their affairs. I had written to John Fox at Millwood, but Jordan tells me he has disappeared. Dead? Do you know of anyone I could get employ to accompany me and do my packing & cooking? Someone of course acquainted with some part of the mountains. I am sorry to bother you to write, but you can make it short.

I am getting better, tho. my face is still half dead on one side and my right eye will not work for more than an hour or two at a time.

Remember me very cordially to Mrs. Muir and the young ladies. My wife wishes me to add that she is still hoping to see Mrs. Muir here. I pledge myself to see that you are not ambushed and forced to make a speech, if you come.

Yours faithfully,
Melville B. Anderson