Dear John Muir:

I meant to write
you again, but am
just getting able to use my eyes, after serious trouble.

I am sorry about your sister. It is very hard for you - When the years multiply the sorrows do also.

I am loth to give you
up. A talk from you,
of 35 minutes, say,
on the Forests! I would mean so much, and

04821

be fruitful of so much
awakened interest
and good on this needed, vital, question.

Would you reconsider?
It need be any of our dates of meeting between September 20th
and next April, to suit yourself.

No, I have not "tick-ers." I have none of your books. They all went in the fire —
even your manuscript
"Water Ouzel" which I had had carefully
bound — so many precious things! the

dear letters — all!

Kitt, you know,
is failing. Dear, fault-
ful Kitt!

I pray this many good things better with you.

Your long time friend,
Lara Colbrith.
