John Muir

Author and Naturalist who has made all the World love the Sierras of California.

Dear Sir

Several years ago I read your publications in Scrubners and became deeply interested in the Yosemite - I was then in Massachusetts.

My home has been in California nine years, but I did not see the wonderful valley till this present summer

Standing before the Yosemite Falls I recalled your descriptions and fancied I saw you climbing the cliffs and sporting in the spray.

My feelings were so wrought upon by the Falls that I tried to give expression to the impression which swept through me and have written something in verse.
If I have your permission I would like to dedicate the lines to you - Would you be willing to have your name in that connection?

Sincerely Yours

Francis E. Corey
