

1911-06-28

Letter from R. B. Marshall to John Muir, 1911 Jun 28.

R. B. Marshall

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence>

Recommended Citation

Marshall, R. B., "Letter from R. B. Marshall to John Muir, 1911 Jun 28." (1911). John Muir Correspondence (PDFs). 6123.

<https://scholarlycommons.pacific.edu/muir-correspondence/6123>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the John Muir Correspondence 1856-1914 at Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in John Muir Correspondence (PDFs) by an authorized administrator of Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact mgibney@pacific.edu.

Personal.

RBM-AMF

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
UNITED STATES GEOLOGICAL SURVEY
WASHINGTON

TOPOGRAPHIC BRANCH

June 28, 1911.

Mr. John Muir,
#1 East 69th St.,
New York, N. Y.

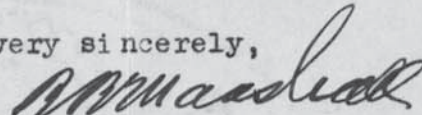

My dear Mr. Muir:

I have been delayed in answering your kind letter of June 8th although the maps were sent to you promptly. I hope they will give you all the information you need. In locating particular spots and general scenes from memory, your brilliant mind needs no map to guide it while talking to the people through your books about that wonderful country.

I noticed in the paper that you are still hobnobbing with the big people at Yale and taking the Doctor of letters degree. Even this No. 1 East 69th Street, New York City, reminds me that our simple plain John Muir is continuing his giddy life in his old age.

If you do make that southern trip, I wish you all pleasure of course, but, if it were in my power, I would not let a man who means so much to the world, and especially to these United States, go alone. I am almost tempted to write Mrs. Harriman personally and ask her to use her good influences to keep you among us. With kindest regards,

Yours very sincerely,

05058