my dear friend

To think of your arriving in Los Angeles, and not being there in the old spot.

Our belongings are heaped up about us here, while plumbers and carpenters keep up a din all day long. After a while we hope to be settled, but meantime my fancy flits! I am going to Los Angeles again. I expect to arrive next Monday morning with my brother Edward and his wife. We are to make some motor trips together, just since I don't know till we get there and arrange with Johnson, the chauffeur as to routes.

I shall hope to see you.
Marian will stay here, she prefers work and staying to motor trips.
My eyes are bad and I must not write much.

Affectingly yours
Katharine Hooker
