Dear Lummis:-

I first heard the sad news of your blindness from our blessed old friend, Francis Browne, and as I was at one time threatened with blindness, and was blind for several weeks, I know what that darkness is and am able to sympathize with you.

After my return from a long trip in South America and Africa I have found no permanent home or abiding place as yet. But no matter, I shall pay you a visit as soon as I can find my way to you.

I am very glad that you can write, as you say, better than ever. You have seen a great part of the world so well that you can recall it almost as if you were again enjoying God's sunshine.

With all good wishes, I am,

Ever faithfully,
