Dear Mr. Calkins:-

I have often thought of you since I returned and I assure you that you are far from any danger of being forgotten.

As you say, I have had a grand saunter over two continents, and have had wonderful success not only in finding what I was looking for in particular, but a great deal that I was not looking for and did not expect to see. I am now writing up some of my notes, but it is a long job to get them in anything like shape, and a harder job than traveling, even in those hot countries like Brazil and Rhodesia, and the equatorial regions at the head of the Nile.

I am going to try and get to see you some time when I need a rest, but I cannot get away so easily as I used to, since my good friends, Mr. Hooker and Colonel Sellers, have passed away.

In the meantime, hoping that you all enjoy your California home among the oranges, I am, with thanks for your kind letter and invitation,

Cordially yours,
